CENTRALITES TRIM SOUTH BY 1 POINT

Packers Held Scoreless in First Half, Come Back Strong in Third Quarter.

THE FINAL COUNT 14 - 13

Coach Schmidt's warriors avenged last year's defeat Friday when they trimmed the South High eleven by the close margin of one point. The final count was 14 to 13, the outcome of the affray being undecided until the last whistle blew. The entire game was closely contested throughout, the last two minutes being the deciding point. The grandstand crowd was held breathless to the finish, since every second meant so much to each

The whole team is to be praised for its work, no starring being especially noticeable on account of the excellent work of all the men. The Packers played a fast, slashing brand of football which for a time threatened to overcome the lead made by the Purple and White athletes in the first quarter when the score was 14

The Centralites played straight football for the most part, while Coach Patton's crew used the aerial and end-run methods almost continually. Both the winning touchdowns were made by hard line smashing, while the losers made their tallies by running half the length of the field after recovering fatal fumbles made by Central men.

Hoerner and Stribling Score.

At the beginning of the game the teams worked back and forth on the field, both testing out the opposite lines-and neither gaining any ground to speak of. South almost scored on an attempted field goal from the 35-yard line. The quarter was about half over when Hoerner crossed the line for the first score, after taking the ball from the middle of the field to about five yards from the goal. Beerkle's toe accounted for an additional point.

Immediately on receiving the kickoff, the Centralites proceeded to work the ball down the field for another touchdown. A combination of a 25-yard run by Holden, several line smashes by the rest of the backfield, and an end run by Stribling was the history of the final scoring of the Purple and White machine. Beerkle's toe again connected with the ball, sending it over the goal for the deciding point.

Packers Rally In Third.

In the third frame, Bernard, starting the fireworks by taking advantage of a fumble by a Central man and racing 60 yards, scored a six-point tally. Grahame kicked goal. The rest of the quarter consisted of stiff fighting by both elevens, neither being able to penetrate the other's defense.

The last quarter found both teams, as well as the audience on the verge of hysterics, as any slip would have thrown victory into the hands of the other side. Central had the margin, however, and started out to defend her goal, but on a punt, a South High man, Mr. Sullivan to be specific, upset our plans by copping the pigskin and traveling about 40 yards to place the ball behind our goal line for a second Packer touchdown. Grahame, however, failed to send the ball between the standards, and by this one point their game was lost.

NIGHT SCHOOLS OPEN

OCTOBER 10

Conducted Without Charge-Mr. Woolery in Charge at Commerce.

The night schools all over the city opened Monday evening, October 10. Mr. J. F. Woolery of our high school was in charge of the one held at Commerce High, while Mr. R. M. Mars is principal of the Evening School held at South High.

These schools are conducted free of charge every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday evening during the winter. Capable teachers direct classes in bookkeeping, shorthand, typewriting, business English, radio, office training, domestic arts, and other practical subjects.

Supt. Beveridge and Miss Ryan, as well as Mr. Woolery have requested that Central High School students pass the yord along to any who may be interested in the evening courses.

In connection with night schools, Americanization Schools are being held at Comenius, Kellom, West Side and Brown Park Schools. Many foreigners are enrolled there learning to read and write English and studying civics. Cooking and sewing are being taught on a small scale at Kellom school by Miss Gertrude Ruhnka. While space is limited and equipment meager, she is getting very satisfactory results from girls who will never be able to avail themselves of a high school education.

HOME ROOM REPRESENTATIVES MEET.

The Home Room Representatives met after school Tuesday, October 4, in Room 215 for the discussion of plans for the Home Rooms. Miss Parker opened the meeting and suggested that the members be organized. William Clarke was elected Chairman, and Francis Finch Secretary. An informal discussion of plans was then held, and each representative submitted the questionnaire which he had filled out in his own home room.

The students will certainly enjoy many entertaining and instructive programs, if the plans suggested can be carried out. Co-operation of every student with his home room officers and teacher will be necessary for success.

We've got a wonderful start-come on now, and let's all pull together.

Miss Shields has kindly consented to give for use by the Home Rooms one drawer in the vertical files at the east end of the room. It is hoped that material may be gathered which can be used in working out the programs. Contributions in the way of detailed suggestions, tenminute plays, debate subjects, clippings showing activities in other schools, etc., are requested from students and faculty.

DEBATING COMMITTEE WORKS OUT PLANS.

The members of the Debating Committee, consisting of Miss Carlson, Miss Stegner, Miss H. Clark, Mr. Woolery, and Mr. Chatelain met and discussed plans for the coming season.

A step was taken to elect two students to the committee, but no definite conclusion was reached. If this plan is put in vogue it will give the student body more representation in the debating work.

Inter-class and School Team Debates were discussed and plans were made. Miss Carlson was elected Chairman of the Inter-class organization, and Miss H. Clark was elected Chairman of the publicity committee. Try-outs for the CLASS TEAMS will precede the tryouts for the SCHOOL team, the class try-outs being held in October, and those of the School Team in November. All interested should bear this in mind and be in good condition enter training for both try-outs.

The COACH has been working on the schedule and he expects to engage in eight or ten conflicts, one half being here. He has scheduled the following teams here: Beatrice, Lincoln, Commerce, Oklahoma City, tentatively, and at least

The success of our school in the last two years in DEBATE has been marvelous and in order to further its success, it needs the student co-operation. Let's everybody boost it.

STUDENT CLUB.

The Student Club held its regular meeting, Thursday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. club rooms. The girls enjoyed an interesting pageant portraying the purposes of the Club. In the tableaux, Thelma Burke represented Scholarship, Francis McChesney, Democracy; Mildred Osman. Health: Francis Fetterman, Service; and Almedia Hamilton, Friendship.

After the pageant the girls were divided into 5 groups to discuss the purposes, and then a general discussion was held. Dancing in the gym completed one of the best programs of the year.

Inspiring Speeches Given by Miss Belle Ryan, Principal Masters and Supt. Beveridge.

IMPRESSIVE MASS MEET-

ING HELD AT RIALTO

A record-breaking mass meeting to boost the Friday game with South High was held Thursday morning, October 6th, in the Rialto Theater. It was the largest and most impressive in all the history of Central High School. Superintendent of Schools J. H. Beveridge, Assistant Superintendent Miss Belle Ryan, Principal Masters, and Lieutenant-Colonel George Johnston stirred the students to an increased spirit of loyalty and enthusiasm with their speeches.

Our faithful band played while the crowd piled into the theater. Then, when the speakers and those stalwart, handsome youths who make up our football teams filed onto the stage, everybody cheered. When they were seated Mac Ohman led the cheer, "Omaha."

Mr. Masters, who presided, complimented students on their "down-right effort" this term. He said that students learn uprighteousness by precept and by example, but mostly by practice. "Your family tries to teach you what is right; your teachers show you by their actions; but there is still a third way which I consider more important—practice. Practice honesty if you would live honestly. It is not enough to believe in honestyyou have to live it and grow into it. Growth is the finest thing in life." Referring to uprightness in sports. Mr. Masters said he had received many letters from principals of other high schools complimenting the fairness of our teams and their willingness to "play the game."

Then Bob Anderson, '21, stepped to the front. He led "America," "Battle Hymn of the Republic," and "Liza Jane." At "O-o-o-o-h Liza!" everyone stood up. Those on the stage say that this gave the appearance of the roof falling.

Next Mr. Masters introduced Supt. Beveridge. Surveying the crowd, Supt. Beveridge remarked, "This is one of the most magnificent sights that Omaha has ever produced." Then he gave an impressive talk concerning the ideals of sport. He quoted Dr. Frank S. Crane's "Commandments of Sport:"

"Thou shalt not quit.

Thou shalt not alibi.

Thou shalt not gloat. Thou shalt not be a rotten looser.

Thou shalt not take unfair advantage.

Thou shalt honor the game thou playest, for he who playest the game straight and hard wins even when he loses."

Assistant Superintendent, Miss Ryan, in her talk brought out three splendid points: First she pleaded for the conservation of both public and private property. She mentioned especially the taking away of library books and the writing on the walls. Then she explained her idea of a good student-namely, one

1921 SENIOR CLASS ELECTS BEERKLE PRES.

New Class Head is Noted 1921 Track and Basketball Man.

E. PICKARD VICE-PRESIDENT

The activities of the '22 senior class started out with a resounding smash when Willmer Beerkle was elected president and Elinor Pickard vice-president, both by an overwhelming majority, at the class election held Wednesday, October 5, immediately after school in room 215.

The senior class will without a doubt this year do bigger things than have ever before been done by a Central graduating class. They have in Beerkle a pilot who will "put things across" in the same old style that he does his work on the cinder track, the gridiron, and the basketball

Beerkle An Athletic Star.

Everyone in Central has certainly heard of the brilliant work of Beerkle in last year's athletic events. How he could shoot those baskets! As a center on the floor he appeared to have steel springs in his legs at the toss. He was always in the right place with the right

Did he do anything in last year's track meet? You tell 'em, kid! That same old pep put him over the 100-yard dash in a short ten and a fifth seconds. He was one of the big factors that helped Central to be victorious over the other participants in the meet.

Can he kick the goals? Let's leave that to those who saw him play against Council Bluffs and South High. In the coming football season he will undoubtedly play a large part in placing the Purple and White grid team at the head of the list.

As a Student Control member, he is known as a leader with extraordinary ability. The class places the utmost confidence in Beerkle to steer them successfully through all the difficulties of the year.

Elinor Pickard Vice-President of S. C. The president will be ably assisted by Elinor Pickard, a friend of everybody. Elinor has been recently elected vicepresident of the Student Control. She is indeed the unit of efficiency, as is shown by her three years of remarkable service to the school.

Have you ever tried to get by Elinor in the lunch line? If you have, you most certainly have felt her restraining hand on your coat tails as she gently but firmly pulled you back into your place.

Mr. Freshman, have you ever bought lunch checks at the south side second lunch hour? Well, the jolly, efficientlooking girl behind the cage is the new vice-president of the 1922 senior class, and you can bank on it that the class as a whole is very well pleased with her.

Arline Rosenberry, a girl outstanding in all activities, was chosen as secretary, and Orlando Smith, a captain in the regiment, and an active member of numerous activities, was the preference for treasurer. Jessie Baldwin and Oliver Sautter are this year's sergeants-at-arms. The class prophecy hangs on the good will of Winifred McMartin, the class reporter. Winifred ought to make a good REporter, because her nominator loudly proclaimed her to be a good SUpporter.

1921 Junior Sponsors Re-elected. The junior class teachers of last year, Miss Anderson, Miss O'Sullivan, and Mr. Schmidt, were unanimously and enthusiastically re-elected as sponsors for the '22 seniors. In addition to these three teachers, the class is further fortunate in having as faculty sponsors Miss Towne, dean of girls, and Miss Burns, well known for her intense interest in the promotion of mass meetings. FELLOWSHIP.

How many of us know what the meaning of fellowship really is? We are prone to believe that if there are a few people in our acquaintanceship whom we consider the axis of our little universe, we know what the value of true friendship means.

This is far from the case, however. Fellowship is the linking o one's ideas with those of all his fellows. Some people say that only a mixer can do this, but what is a mixer? He is the fellow who is the center of whatever crowd he may be in. All his associates like him, and term him "A good fellow." But what qualities does he possess that makes him this likeable, good fellow? Call to mind someone whom you know is a good mixer, and mentally note his qualities tending to make him popular. Does he fail to greet his friends in the hall? No, he greets all alike from the principal to the most unassuming freshman. He runs with a certain group outside of school, but does he center all of his attentions around this crowd and exclude everyone else from his considerations? When he sees someone whom he knows in the lunch room, does he tell this person that he is sorry he does not belong to his list of so-called friends since no one but a member of his clique may sit at his table? But you say there is no such preposterous condition as this last mentioned fact in existence! You are lacking information. Two very desirable students of Central High School were literally driven away from the school by this very state of affairs. A mixer is a desirable student, however; so a mixer would not be capable of such a monstrosity. How about people whom he has known practically all of his life? Does a popular fellow pass these erstwhile friends without even acknowledging the acquaintance? Your mental notations will run somewhat in this fashion, and what is your conclusion? It will probably run something like this:

A good mixer will acknowledge all of his friends at all times: will try to make friends with people who are backward; will avoid clanishness; and will promote whatever activity falls to his lot with the greatest energy that is in him. That is part of what goes to make a good mixer, and a good fellow.

Are you a half-baked clam that sits on the side lines content with watching others get along in school life? Are you the disillusioned party who imagines his group the highest of high society, trying to gain such a name by ignoring everyone else? Or are you that fellow who is always into everything, trying to make everyone happy and gaining boundless happiness for himself through his effort.

BOOST AND CHEER!

We no longer have the minstrels who in by-gone days traveled from court to court fitting the deeds of heroes to verse and song. The day of the sage is passed, but the Register will try to sing the praise of certain people who have given Central High School a great privilege, the appreciation of which is struggling for release in the heart of every student.

For years the eleven warriors of the Central School have assembled on the field of battle, the site of which was called Rourke Park. For years the students of Central have come to that place to give their moral support to the team which they think is the acme of perfection. And for years the students have mustered such enthusiasm that at various times the very benches and grandstands upon which they sat, and in which they congregated were ripped from their moorings and cast about without regard to their destination. Needless to say, this action has caused great expense and trouble. What is done cannot be undone, however, regardless of the fact that this past disregard of the property of others may be somewhat forgotten by future action.

This year, the management of League Park—the Rourke Park of old times-has consented to allow free usage of the Park to Central High School for her football games. In spite of the fact that in former years the Park has suffered some damage at the hands of Central's students, these men are taking another chance. Various men about Omaha believe that the student body of this High School is responsible, and have agreed to stand in part, if not all of the damage done to the grandstand by the students.

Therefore, when you are sitting on the benches, do not cease to cheer for fear of breaking the seats. Cheer with all your might, and remember that if the stand remains intact when you leave it, a silent cheer will go up from those mute benches and will be heard loud and long by the men who have placed confidence in our school.

All hail to these men who in confidence stand And link their interests with old Central's band! We'll muster our forces, and with our good crew Accept their great challenge, and what's more, see It through.

Catherine Foran: "Miss Smith, please tell us in what order we'll be called on for our stories.

Miss Smith: "No special order, I'm just going to jump around."

Overheard in the line of votes at the Student Association election: Boy No. 1: "Who are you going to vote for?" Catherine: "Don't jump on me, please!"

Boy No. 2: "Me? Oh, I-I am going to vote a straight female ticket."

"Y" PLANS BASKET BALL LEAGUE FOR HIGH BOYS.

The physical directors of the Omaha Y. M. C. A. have planned a basketball league which will begin early in October, for the Central High School boys who are not out for athletics and want some exercise to keep them fit during the fall and early winter.

Any "Y" member in the intermediate and Junior "A" classes, composed entirely of high school boys, are eligible to play in the league which will be held after school activities are over Wednesday afternoons.

The league will be in charge of Carl Weigel, assistant physical director. Already a large number of boys have shown a desire to get into the league. Several teams will constitute the league, and a regular schedule will be played off.

It will interest the high school boys to know that until Saturday, October 8th, a special rate on memberships is offered. This offer makes the annual fee one dollar less than the usual rate. Boys under sixteen may now join for six dollars; boys over sixteen may join for eight fifty, including the locker. After October 8th, the regular rate will be again put into effect, therefore, any boy that is planning to join the "Y" will do well to take advantage of this offer.

HONOR THE NAME OF O. H. S.

In some Omaha paper recently appeared a story of a certain Edythe Miller, who, upon being arrested for obtaining clothing dishonestly, attributed her love of good times and of fine apparel to her life in Central High School. She is represented as saying that she graduated from Central in 1919, after being very popular in our social sets here and much sought after. Being in need of clothes for her good times, and being unable to buy them, she developed a taste which she was unable to satisfy honestly.

In justice to Central High we wish to state the following facts: Edythe Miller was a pupil in this school from April 2, 1919 to May 30, 1919, enrolled in the freshman class. In order that she might find some interests here, she was given a trombone which would enable her to play in the orchestra, and some of the fine girls in the school tried to introduce her into organizations like the Student Club. Because of the very short period of her stay here, these attempts, of course, amounted to nothing. She was here too short a time to get in touch with the school at all.

Because people are only too apt to believe statements like these about the high school, we call upon the readers of THE REGISTER to make sure of the facts and tell them in loyalty to the school.

CENTRALITES OF '21 ELECTED OF-FICERS OF OMAHA UNIVERSITY FRESHMAN CLASS.

At the recent election of officers of the Freshman class at the University of Omaha, held September 28, the following Central graduates of '21 were among those chosen: Ray Norene, President; Elizabeth Sowell, Treasurer: and Meril Russell, Secretarr.

Dorothy Johnson, '20, University of Wisconsin.

These are all the scholarships that have been reported to the office. Does anyone know of any others?

NOTICE.

Miss Bridenbaugh has taken over the handling of all suggestions and complaints concerning the Student Control. All such complaints and suggestions must be handed in in writing and signed by the person making the complaint.

WHAT COURSE SHOULD I TAKE?

The primary object of a university course is to fit men and women so that they may attain a certain proficiency in one of the recognized professions for the service of humanity. It has long been maintained that this view has caused the courses to become narrow and too highly centralized, but, since the tendency to view the matter from the purely economic side seems increasing, there is little liklihood that there will be any immediate radical change. High schools, therefore, should not only afford as liberal an education as possible, but should also greatly help to determine wherein the student's ability and desires lie.

In the four years spent in high school, then, there should be ample opportunity for the student to form a fairly definite idea as to the class of studies which he wishes to pursue. It is by no means adviseable to make too hasty a decision, for it is better to continue in this fashion through college than to make a choice which will be regretted later. The following articles in this column will be prepared by the deans of the respective colleges of the University of Nebraska, and other colleges for the purpose of explaining the various courses in their departments, and from them some conception may be obtained as to the path to be followed.

Below are the credits which must be presented for admission to freshman standing in the State University.

The standing members are: Ruth Betts, Elinor Calvert, Virginia Frantz, Phyllis Gallagher, Helen Gifford, Kate Goldstein, Mildred Jack, Katherine Krieg, Margaret Logan, Geraldine McMasters, Mildred Nissen, Constance Page, Elizabeth Pugsley, Ann Rosenblatt, Arline Rosenberry, Rose Segal, and Geraldine Wyckoff.

The new members are: Louise Bunnell, Ruth Bruechert, Ruth Bailey, Marjorie Pool, Ruth Wilinsky, Francis Fetterman, Mae Elliot, Carmen Longman, Mildred Osman, Audrey Kilgore, and Bonnie Rugg.

The installation of the new officers and a formal initiation of the new members will be held at the next meeting.

FOLLIES OF 1921-22.

Under the stern and able presidency of Mr. Woolery, a portion of the Faculty took their mid-semester test Thursday, October 6, in Central High School Library. After tea had been served, the "Follies of 1921-22," normally new teachers, paraded the length of the room, while the examined were obliged to recognize them by name.

While the "pupils" were placed on their honor, Mr. Woolery, wisely enough, seated them one at each end of a table. The new teachers proctored. Joe Masters was not permitted to take the examination because he was posted. Jessie Towne, Helen Clarke, and Éddie McMillan behaved very badly, almost rudelyprobably due to the absence of Students' Control representatives.

To little Bessie Dumont, class of 1926, was awarded the first prize, a handsome, five-pointed star. To Herbie Senter, class of 1925, who seemed out of his 'elements" with the Follies, was awarded the consolation prize, a handsome as well as useful notebook inscribed without, "Lest You Forget." For the nature of the insides, ask Jonnie Wilmarth, well known local artist-just inquire this noon when you buy your checks for first lunch. These prizes were awarded by Mr. Masters with a suitably long and flowery speechhe "fergat" once, but then he has never had Expression I.

Tea was served in honor of the new teachers. Mrs. Atkinson and Miss Towne poured, assisted by Dorothy Sherman, Polly Robbins, Gwendolyn Cheek, Ellanore Baxter, Dorothy Guckert, Ruth Cunningham, Johanna Broderson, Dorothy Steinbaugh, Clover Shook.

Irma Costello, renowned leading lady for the Follies of 1921-22, responded wittily and prettily for the rest of the chorus. Any of our readers not knowing Miss Costello would do well to be at the West Entrance at 8:14 a. m. sharp to see her drive up in her new lavender Ford sedan monogrammed in silver and driven by a chauffeur liveried in green and gold.

IMPRESSIVE MASS MEETING HELD AT RIALTO

who maintains a good school standing and engages in school activities as well.

"We must live for those around us, Whose hearts are good and true; For the cause that lacks assistance, For the wrongs that need resistance, For that future in the distance-And the good that we can do.'

In closing, Miss Ryan paid a beautiful tribute to Miss Susan Paxson, head of the Latin Department and now on leave of absence. "Any student who has had the privilege of associating with Miss Paxson has had a great blessing bestowed on him," she said.

After fifteen "rahs" had been given for Miss Ryan, Mr. Masters expressed gratitude to the manager of the Rialto for the use of the theater. His gratitude was emphasized by the cheers with which the students showed their appreciation. Earl Wyckoff, Eddie Ballantine, and Bill Drake gave some snappy saxaphone music. They were assisted by banjo, violin, piano and drum.

George Johnston made a short talk, boosting the team. "We have a good team, now all we need is the student body back of that team-get out and cheer for them. We have before us 2500 hearts which beating as one for the team, represents the heart of Central."

With some last mighty, rousing cheers for the team, the crowd left the theater for school. Filled with enthusiasm, all the students expressed their enjoyment of the mass meeting and their determination to go to the Friday game with South High and "cheer their lungs out," if necessary.

these five, the seniors expect smooth sailing.

The meeting was a regular booster in every way and displayed all kinds of pep. D. L. Dimond, who acted as chairman, had some difficulty in bringing the meeting to order. "Hey, you in the back of the room," he shouted, "please sit down! I can't tell whether your'e sitting down or standing up."

Each nominator gave an impressive speech when picking his candidate for an office. The nominees for each individual office were not numerous, however. Each time the number for a single office reached three, Mr. George Bang, a long headed senior, moved to close the nomina-

Miss Towne and Mr. Masters in turn gave a short address of encouragement to the students. This first meeting predicts an unusually inspirational and successful year for the seniors.

Next Saturday our boys will entrain for St. Joseph on the first trip of the year. About 15 men will make the trip, in addition to Coach Schmidt and Manager Wolf. Last year we entertained the Missourians here on Turkey Day by trimming them by a score of 33 to 7. Can we do it again?

Lisle Holden has shown himself to be one of the best backfield men that Coach Schmidt has to work with. Remember the Council Bluffs game? Lisle hit the line for big gains nearly every time he carried the pigskin. He played the half position on the second team last fall.

We will have to swallow that remark about Hoerner and his touchdown record. We had not anticipated his playing fullback when we uttered said statement. He has shown ability in holding down a backfield position, being especially capable in intercepting passes. He is no mean line hitter either, when you come to consider the matter.

Fans were offered something new in preliminaries on the day of the Council Bluffs game when the fourth and fifth teams staged a battle on the rectangle. Coach Bexten states that it was football they were playing, though it looked more like a riot or a mob fight. Nevertheless, we should be proud that we have enough men interested in the sport to make five teams.

Someone recently inquired when the chess season would start this year at school. Last year a team was selected and a tournament staged. Interested enthusiasts should remember that it only takes one to start the ball rolling. The present chess club is meeting regularly but all the time is devoted to ping-pong, bowling, etc., the chess boards getting rusty meanwhile.

What is wrong with Phil Redgewick anyhow? Every week his name appears on our casualty list. This time it's a bad wrist. According to Dr. Senter, he threw it out of joint raising his hand so often to recite. As usual Phil pulls the old alibi about getting hurt during football prac-

MILITARY M

With the donning of uniforms the regiment has taken on its real military aspect, and the problem of neatness and snappiness is added to the captain's troubles in making recommendations for promotion. One rule to which particular attention is to be paid is that of wearing the full uniform-minus belts and gloves-ALL DAY.

Next spring many cadets may wonder why some man with less experience and, in his opinion, less ability, got an office while he did not. Remember that personal appearance both in and out of drill will draw attention to your other qualities. A man with a long list of demerits for incomplete, ragged, or soiled uniform, or for baggy trousers and shoes which never know of polish, has as much chance of advancement as the proverbial celluloid cat has of obtaining its object! Watch your step and clean up.

The Regiment is progressing very rapidly. Things are beginning to look more favorable now that the men are in uniform and all have rifles. They ought to be in fairly good condition by Armistice Day when the cadets will probably appear in their first parade. Discipline in the companies is better than usual this year. Still, there is lots of room for improvement. Of course there is always one or two in a group that must be different. The thing we are striving for is absolute obedience and strict attention at drill. At the end of the year we hope to turn out the best regiment the school has ever had.

DRAMATICS

Room 605 in the City Hall is filled with dainty, fairy-like costumes which are to be worn by little children in the Pageant.

The names of those who have been added to the Speakers' Bureau, and whose names did not appear in the last issue of the Register are: Fern Thomsen, Irene Sorensen, Eloise Margaret, Emma Elizabeth Smirl, Elizabeth Youngman, Elinor Calvert, Mildred Prohaska, Francis Wiles, Lucille Gannon, Ruth Carlberg, Ann McConnell, George McBride, Theron Jeffry, Jack Stoddard, William Stevenson, Mac Ohman, Wayne Pope, Chris Zees, Eugene Daniels, Lyal Quinby, Milton Abrahams, Harold Brown, Philip Handler, Carl Smith, Helen Montgomery.

The fourth hour Expression II. class has invented a very interesting contest. The teacher in charge of the class has turned work into play by offering prizes for the longest list of subjects to use for pantomine. Listing pantomines is usually very dull and uninteresting but the tally for the contest showed what a little cooperation between teacher and pupil will Allyne Burt won the record, a small one, which rumor reports was purchased in the ten-cent store. Irene Lilly was sharp enough to capture second prize, a dainty pen knife. Harriett Lillis received a tiny pair of football shoes for "defeat." Why football shoes? Guess?

STUDY OF STORY-TELLING TAKEN UP BY EXPRESSION I.

Last year a course in story-telling and extemporaneous speaking was introduced into Expression I. This year, however, it is past the experimental stage.

The text books which are being used for the subject are as follows: How to Tell Stories to Children, Sarah Cone Bryant; and Oral English and Public Speaking for Second ary Schools, Shurter. The first ook deals with the art of storytelling nd its influence on older people as well s on children. The latter volume treats with speech composition, extempore speaking, and debating.

It is hoped that within a very short time enough progress will have been made to enable the Dramatic department to send interesting story-tellers to the various public schools of the city.

ADVERTISING CONTEST BOOSTED BY SPEAKERS.

Solicit Subscriptions for Paper.

Members of the Speakers' Bureau met at eight o'clock, Wednesday morning, in Room 149, to prepare for the advertising drive of the Register.

The home room period Friday morning was used by the youthful orators to arouse interest in the advertising contest, as well as to solicit subscriptions for the Register. The speakers urged the students to contribute to the school paper anything in the way of jokes, "Bunk," personals, news, stories, and the like. They also explained the advertising rates, the point system by which the students will be graded in the campaign, and last but not least, the prizes to be given to the three people having the highest number of points, namely: First prize, white sweater; second prize, kodak; third prize, fountain pen, gold band, engraved with "REGISTER."

As almost all of the members of the Speakers' Bureau are contestants in the campaign, they were able to give inspiring

MUSIC W

Owing to the absence of both Mrs. Pitts and Miss Howe from the music department last week, Miss Grace Sorenson gladly gave her assistance in directing and teaching the music classes and the glee clubs. Miss Sorenson is editor of The Everychild's Magazine and travels for the educational department of the Victor Victrola Company.

Friday morning, September 30, witnessed the election of the officers for the Senior Girls' Glee Club. Lela Turner was chosen president; Josephine Drapier, vice-president; Helen Lynch, secretary, and Mary Gorton, treasurer.

A splendid opportunity is offered by Mr. Cox to all students of the high school who wish to learn to play the violin. Each Friday in room 49, from three until four o'clock, instruction will be given gratis by Grace Gallagher and probably by Juanita Brown. Both girls are graduates of '21 and are pupils of Mr. Cox.

The first meeting was held September 30, when about fifteen students joined the class which will be under the supervision of Mr. Cox. Each one must buy his own instruments and music, which may be purchased through the school.

The work will begin with the fundamentals of violin playing, with exercise work, and later, solos for the individual. Pupils need not stay together and have the same lessons. If it is seen that one student can make more progress than other members of the class, he will be allowed to work shead of his

Although the majority of those who began the course last year are now studying under private teachers, a few are returning to the class, to resume their work with Grace and Juanita.

At one of the sessions of the Nebraska State Teachers' Association to be held in Omaha the early part of November, the instructors will be given the opportunity of listening to a male quartet composed of Central students. Those who will sing at this meeting are: Jack Kerschner, Marian Hain, Murrel Simpson, and Kenneth Seeley.

The teachers will also be entertained by an orchestra composed of students from Commerce, Central, and South High Schools and by a concert orchestra of twenty-two students who will be directed by Murrel Simpson.

NOTICE.

Can you draw? Do you want to win a prize? The Register wants you to draw a heading for the Joke Column, the Alumni, Sports, Personals, Music, Dramatics, etc. Some may be two columns in width and some may be one column. One column in a newspaper is two and one-quarter inches wide. For further information, call at The Register office, directly opposite room 325. Everyone draw a heading and try for a prize.
