

Girls Leave For Brewster Friday, May 31

Girls Appointed to Companies for Period at Camp; Officers Are Prominent

Teachers Are Councilors

One Captain and Two Lieutenants
Named for Each Company

Companies of the girls' camp with their councilors, captains, and lieutenants were announced by Elinor Bennett, director of the camp, at a meeting, on May 8, of the girls going to camp. About 160 girls and eight teachers will leave Friday, May 31, for Camp Brewster.

In Company A the councilor is Miss Juliette Griffin, history teacher, while Geraldine Van Arsdale is the captain. The two lieutenants are Alyce Venrick and Betty Durran. This company consists of: Elizabeth Wentworth, Alma Kastman, Lydia Harper, Eloise Barnhart, Florence May Ripley, Guinevere Ohlsinger, Mary Ward, Vivian Elsassner, Virginia Boucher, Lorraine Larson, Anna Mae Fitzgerald, Grace Steavenson, Maxine Stokes, Marie Ellis, Carol Love, and Alice Whitcomb.

Nineteen in Co. B

Miss Elizabeth Kiewit, history teacher, was chosen as councilor of Company B. The captain is Virginia Jones, and Nadine Shrader and Lois Thompson are the lieutenants. The members of the company are: Marian Wilhelm, Holly Droste, Jane Masters, Mary Jane Hughes, Verna Armstrong, Elinor Johnson, Mary Anna Harrington, Beatrice Beranek, Ruth Miller, Alice Marie Hannibal, Lillian Scott, Dorothy Thompson, Dorothy Haugh, Evelyn Over, Marian Bradley, and Jayne Brenner.

Miss Smith in Co. C

The position as councilor of Company C is held by Miss Floy Smith, dramatic arts teacher. Louise Sondergerger was appointed as the captain with Helen Richardson and Marjorie Cooper as lieutenants. Placed in this company are: Charlotte Towl, Dorothy Porter, Mary Frances Hughes, Eloise Pounds, Eva May Livermore, Martha Watson, Dorothy Juckness, Gloria Osborne, Nadine Patton, Virginia Myler, Mary Stander, Evelyn Schnackel, Mary Brown.

Senior Glee Clubs Hold Election For New Officers

Koory, Ralph, Stafford, Rosenblatt Newly Elected Presidents

Election of new officers, to take the place of those who were dropped from the Senior Glee clubs because of their participation in "sneak day," was held May 7 and 8, I, II, III, and IV hours, in Central's auditorium.

Officers for first hour Girls' Glee club are: president, Louise Koory, who was formerly vice-president; and secretary-treasurer, Mariel Russell. Other offices will not be filled this semester, because the girls decided that only two officers were necessary.

Second hour Girls' Glee club elected Virginia Ralph for their president; Wilma Greenway, vice-president; Mary Erion, secretary-treasurer; and Jean Richmond and Winifred Briggs, sergeants-at-arms.

In the third hour Boys' Glee club, Harry Stafford was elected president; William Ramsey, vice-president; Charles Gardner, secretary-treasurer; and Allen Davis and Robert Johnson, sergeants-at-arms.

Herman Rosenblatt, who was formerly vice-president of the fourth hour Boys' Glee club, was chosen for president. The other officers remained as they were at the beginning of the semester.

The officers as elected will hold their offices until the end of this semester.

Senior Wins Prize

Jennie Laird, a senior at Central, was awarded the championship of Nebraska and $15 as a cash prize in the sixth annual meat story contest in which high school girls took part. The contest, which closed April 1, was held under the auspices of the National Livestock and Meat board of Chicago for the purpose of boosting the sales of their products. "Evolution in Meat Cookery" was the title of her essay.

Faculty Members Have Varied Plans For This Summer

Miss Viva Anne Craven is Victim of Cupid's Net; Many to Travel

Many and varied are the vacation plans of Central high instructors. They will spend the summer in many different parts of the country, with the exception of a few, who will teach summer school here. Several have already made arrangements for extensive trips, while others will spend the summer working in their gardens. Most of them admit that they are tired and need a rest. With the exception of Miss Viva Anne Craven, all will return to Central at the opening of the fall semester.

Those who are undecided and may go anywhere on the spur of the moment are: the Misses Sara Vore Taylor, Nell Bridenbaugh, Jennie E. Hultman, Jane T. Fulton, Ella L. Phelps, Annie C. Fry, Bessie M. Fry, Elsie Fisher, Mrs. Fanny B. Davies, and Mrs. Elizabeth Craven.

Dan Cupid will find one target among the Central teachers this summer. Miss Viva Anne Craven will be married to John Scott Irwin in the early summer, after which she will attend the summer session at the University of Chicago. Next year she will be at Northwestern University where Mr. Irwin is a French instructor.

Those who plan to attend summer sessions at various universities are as follows: Mrs. Margarita Vartanian, University of Chicago; Mrs. Catherine S. Blanchard, Northwestern university; and Miss Edith C. Field, either Harvard or Columbia.

Omaha will be the summer residence of Miss Nelle Randall, Miss M. Hazel Crandall, Miss Helen L. Sommer, and Mr. J. W. Lampman. Mr. Lampman has the greatest number of plans of any Central teacher. He says, "I intend to sell a thrift savings bond to every girl and boy over 16, in Nebraska. I will also try to find a subterranean passage between here and China and will encourage a new mode of transportation between the two countries. I expect to sell under $1,000,000 worth of insurance. My new Ford can use about 10,000 miles of travel this summer and it's going to get it. I'm sure, with all these new projects on hand, that my summer will be a full one."

Miss Jo von Mansfelde and Miss Julia T. Carlson plan to teach summer school at Central this year, and Miss Mary Angood, while not entirely decided, may teach art at the University of Omaha.

Western trips are being planned by Mrs. Grace Holmes McManus, who will spend a few weeks with Mr. McManus in Wyoming and Colorado;

Lininger Travel Club to Feast Tomorrow Night

The Lininger Travel club will hold its annual banquet tomorrow night, May 18, at the Y. W. C. A. at six o'clock. Esthyre Steinberg will be the toast mistress. The theme of the banquet will be "Sailing." The room will be decorated with flags of various nations.

There will be three toasts, "Upside Down, Away," by Joan Guiou '31, "From the Depths," by Carletta Clark, and "The Captain's Log," by Frances Melcher, and two readings on "Sailing," by Virginia Jonas '29 and Hazel Niles '31.

Chemistry Students Win State Honors in Essay Contest

McMillan, Needham Win Firsts;
Oest, Randall Gain Second Places

Contest Is Yearly

Two prize essays in the state division of the sixth national chemistry contest were written by John G. McMillan and Gretchen Needham, both '29, with Irma Randall and George Oest carrying off two second places. The winners were announced to Mr. Masters on Friday, May 10, in a letter from Paul Smith, National secretary of the Committee on Prize Essays.

The contestants had a choice of any one of the following six topics: "The Relation of Chemistry to Chemistry to Health and Disease; to the Enrichment of Life; to Agriculture or to Forestry; to National Defense; to the Home; or to the Development of an Industry or a Resource of the United States." John's prize essay was on "The Relation of Chemistry to the Enrichment of Life; Gretchen's on "The Relation of Chemistry to the Home." "The Relation of Chemistry to the Enrichment of Life" was the topic chosen by Irma; while George's topic was "The Relation of Chemistry to National Defense."

This contest was sponsored by the Omaha section of the American Chemistry society, with Dr. William Barr as the state chairman.

The winners of the state contest are given a chance to compete in the national contest at Washington, where the winner will receive a four-year scholarship to any university in the country and an annual $500 endowment. The first prize winners in the state contest are given $20 in gold; while the second prize winners will receive a copy each of "Chemistry in Medicine," and honorable mention.

The contest was begun and financed by Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Garvan, of New York City, as a memorial to their daughter, Patricia.

"We are very proud to have four of our students place in this contest," stated Mr. Masters, and added smiling, "It shows the remarkable qualities of our chemistry here."

Bushes and Trees Placed on Campus

Masters Asks Aid of All Organizations in Making Payments

Spirea bushes, juniper, evergreens, red oaks, spruce, and many other varieties of trees have been set out on the campus of Central High school within the last two weeks, by A. G. Andrup of the Ak-Sar-Ben Floral Gardens, and his assistant.

The plans for the landscaping were drawn up by George Hood, landscape gardener, and a member of the civic beauty committee of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce.

Joseph E. Hummel, city park commissioner, has donated a flower bed on the south side of the building in the square between the steps, and Mr. Andrup has planned another bed of flowers above these.

"We are very happy over the flowers and shrubbery, and plan to water and take care of them during the summer months," stated J. G. Masters.

"The Board of Education has generously allowed $195 for the cost of the labor, and Central High school has spent approximately $500 in purchasing the trees," declared Mr. Masters, "and as there is not that much money in the treasury of Central, we would be very glad if some organization of Central High school would help us to make up the deficit."

Masters is President

J. G. Masters, principal of Central High school, was elected president of the Nebraska Schoolmasters' club, Friday night, at the Cornhusker hotel, in Lincoln, Nebraska. O. A. Wirsig, superintendent of schools at Kearney, was made secretary-treasurer. The membership committee was named as follows: O. H. Bimson, assistant superintendent, Lincoln; W. J. Braham, superintendent, Gothenburg; H. B. Simon, superintendent, Norfolk.

At the meeting on May 8, Lois Small '30 presided in the absence of the other officers.

Dawson Adams '29 Wins First Place in Art Contest

Miss Towne, Miss Reed, Mr. Almy Are Judges; Miss Angood Supervises

Gallup Wins Second

Because his entry was judged the most original and pronounced in style, Dawson Adams '29 won the first prize, $15 in gold, in the Senior Art contest, sponsored by the Greenwich Villagers, Friday, May 10. The judges were Miss Jessie M. Towne, Miss Reed, supervisor of art in the grammar schools, and Mr. Frank Almy, assistant director of the Omaha Art Institute.

The subject which took first prize was a mask of oriental style done in dull violets, peacock blue, and emerald green. It has a yellowish cast and according to Miss Mary Angood, art instructor, is "an extremely decorative object."

The second prize, $10, was won by Charles Gallup, who entered two heads, both done in oil. Irma Randall won the third prize of $5 for redesigning a yellow velvet evening gown. She also drew and painted miniature pictures of the gown before and after being redesigned. The front panel of the redesigned dress is hand painted.

Seven students entered the contest which was open only to Seniors. Others entered in the contest were Ella Swoboda, who entered an embroidered plaque; Lillian Scott, who entered several soap carvings; Mildred Brown, who entered a group of fashion plates showing the change in styles; and Helen Johnson, who entered a felt panel and a telephone screen in modern treatment.

The rules of the contest as well as other details were published in the Weekly Register for May 10.

Titians Hold Election For New Officers

Members of Central's most exclusive club, for red-heads only, the Titians, held their election of officers for next year in room 148, Wednesday, during home-room.

Nora Thornton, a junior, was elected president, Carol Love, a sophomore, vice-president, and Ruth Allen, a freshman, secretary-treasurer. Nadine Patton and Helen Craig, both juniors, will be head ushers for the coming year.

Plans are being completed for the annual party for the graduating girls and the girls' mothers to be given Tuesday, May 21, in Central's cafeteria. Nora Thornton will be in charge of the decorations, and four freshmen, Ruth Allen, Barbara Carter, Catherine McMahon, and Flora Marie Handley will be waitresses. The seniors to be honored are Desdemona Connors, Dorothy Lustgarten, Virginia Seabrooke, Marjorie Smith, and Catherine Tholl. Miss Jessie Towne will be an honor guest.

The Titians are now completing their fifth year of service since their organization by Mrs. Irene Haskins Jensen. They were organized as a girls' service club, and have ushered at every performance of importance this year with the exception of the Road Show. Each morning they have their special home room in 148 in order to be ready almost instantly to do any service they are called upon to do. At present there are 22 active members of the club.

Annual Cadet Camp Preparations Being Definitely Planned

Will Leave May 29 for Valley; to Drill Four Times
Every Day

Return June 8

Very definite preparations are being made for the annual cadet encampment to be held in Valley, Nebr., May 29 to June 8, inclusive. The cadets are painting their boxes, buying their cots, and doing everything in preparation for their ten days of army life.

The military department issued a special order at drill Monday telling about camp and listing the things each cadet must bring. Everyone will have a box on which will be his name and address and in which he will keep all of his personal equipment. Tuesday morning, May 28, beginning at 7 o'clock, an express company will pick up all of the boxes at the owners' homes and take them to the depot where they will be sent to Valley.

The regiment will leave on the afternoon of Wednesday, May 29, and return the afternoon of Saturday, June 8. On Sunday, June 2, Protestant and Catholic church services will be held. Friday, June 7, will be "Visitors' Day," and the annual competition drill will be held on that date.

There are four drills during the regular day which come at the following times:

Company Drill.....7:35—8:40 a. m.
Battalion Drill.....9:20—10:30 a. m.
Dress Parade.....4:20—5:15 p. m.
Company Drill.....7—7:30 p. m.

Cadets are free from 10:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. There is opportunity for baseball and other sports in camp, and in the afternoon, men will be allowed to swim at McCann's beach near Valley. A squad of life guards, under the direction of an officer will be on duty at the beach every afternoon. No swimming will be allowed except at this beach. The daily routine includes fifteen minutes of calisthenics before breakfast every morning.

A group of engineers will leave for camp Saturday, May 25, to lay out the camp and get it ready for

Announce Students to Take Journalism

All Students Accepted Were Recommended by English V Teachers

Announcement was made on Wednesday, May 8, of the names of a second group of students who are eligible to take journalism I next semester. A similar list was published in last week's Register for the students who filled out application blanks last September.

The following are the applicants who filled out blanks this semester, and who have been accepted by Mrs. Anne Lane Savidge, journalism instructor, for the beginning course offered next September: Wilma Carter, Dorothy Cathers, Evelyn Chalken, Mary Jean Clapper, Bess Greer, Joe Horwich, Douglas Johnson, Meredith Johnson, Rebecca Kirchenbaum, Eleanor Larson, Dick McNow, Jack Melcher, Frank Musgrave, Kenneth Smith, Rose Steinberg, Betty Tebbins, Virginia Tedrow, Florence Whitebook, and Howard Wilcox.

Responsibility, co-operation, accuracy, and industry, as well as punctuality, good manners, and enterprise were listed as the desirable characteristics for a journalist to have. No student was accepted unless he was recommended by his English V teacher.

Graduate is Honored

Helen Le Counte '27 was recently elected president of the campus service division of Stephens college in Columbia, Mo. She is also a member of the honorary art sorority, Tau Sigma Tau. Gretchen Foster '28 also a student at Stephens college, was elected treasurer of the Pan-Hellenic council at the college for the year of 1929-1930. Gretchen is a member of the Phi Theta Kappa, the junior college honorary scholastic group, she is also a contributor on the board of the "Stephens Standard," the school literary magazine.

Mr. Frank Almy Gives Last Lecture of A Series of Six

Renaissance Art is Subject;
Faculty Very Grateful for Favor

"Renaissance Art" was the topic on which Frank Almy of the Omaha Art Institute spoke to the students of Central, Tuesday morning, May 14 in the auditorium. This lecture was the last of six lectures on the art and architecture of the early nations.

Mr. Almy received his undergraduate work at Grinnell college, and his graduate study from Harvard college and the Chicago Art Institute.

"I enjoyed my work at Central High immensely, and appreciated the attention the students gave me," declared Mr. Almy. His lectures were divided into six divisions; Primitive, Oriental, Greek and Roman, Byzantine, Romanesque and Gothic, and Renaissance.

Slides were shown to the pupils of the works of great artists such as Michael Angelo, Leonardo de Vinci, and many others. While each slide was being shown on the screen, Mr. Almy described the kind of architecture used on the buildings, and also the sculptorings and paintings.

"If a statue can be rolled down a hill and no piece will break off the sides," said Mr. Almy, "it is a good piece of work. To tell whether a piece of sculpturing is good, one must look at it from all sides, and if it does not have a pleasing effect all over, it is not good. This is shown in the 'Head of David,' a work of Michael Angelo. From one side the head shows a face of character, and on the other side a face with no expression on it."

Mr. Almy stated that during the Renaissance period, the people used over-decoration, and a good example of this was shown in a slide of the Louvre Art Gallery in Paris, France. Renaissance means "rebirth," and the people of the time went back to Greek and Roman ways for their ideas.

"I think Mr. Almy has done very interesting work, and the students have learned a great deal from the lectures. We are glad to have been able to cooperate with him, and are looking forward two years, when the Art Institute will be across the street at the Joslyn Memorial," stated Miss Juliette Griffin, who has been in charge of the lectures.

"The school is very grateful to the Art Institute of Omaha for Mr. Almy's able talks on art, both here and at the institute. We feel that it gives great verve and interest to the courses, where Central teachers are trying to present man's finer achievements in the history of civilization," declared Miss Towne, dean of girls.

East Entrance Floor Being Resurfaced With New Concrete

The concrete floor of the east entrance to the building is being resurfaced. Peter Kiewit, of the firm of Kiewit and Sons, is doing the work free of charge in reply to an appeal from Mr. Masters.

"The work was never done properly," said Mr. Masters, "and it has always been crumbling, but we had no money for redoing it. Since Mr. Kiewit was working on the Joslyn Memorial just across the street, I asked him if he could help us, and he very kindly offered to resurface it as a donation to the high school."

Glee Concert Given Tonight at Tech High

Marie Uhlig to Accompany All Numbers; Male Quartet
to Sing Three Songs

Mrs. Pitts Directs

Boys' and Girls' Choruses Give
Group Numbers; No Admission Charge

The eighth annual spring concert of the Senior Glee clubs of Central High under the direction of Mrs. Carol Marhoff Pitts will be given tonight, May 17, at Technical High school at 8 p. m. Miss Marie Uhlig is accompanist.

The program will be divided into two parts of four groups each. The first group on the program will be two numbers by the mixed chorus. One of these, "A Roundelay," by Louis Victor Saar, has a soprano obligato. The other is "Oh! Hear the Lambs A' Crying" by Nathaniel Dett, a famous negro composer.

Girls Win First

"Sweet O' the Year," by Mary Turner Sandall, expressing the joy of springtime, and "Pueri Hebraeorum" an antiphonal double chorus sung in Latin, giving the musical setting of Christ's entry into Jerusalem will make up the second group of the program to be sung by the girls' senior glee clubs. Members of this group won first place in the state music contest held recently in Lincoln.

The male quartet, composed of Fred Segur, first tenor, Jack Wright, second tenor, Harry Stafford, baritone, and Herman Rosenblatt, bass, which won first place in the recent state music contest, will sing "Friend O' Mine" by Sanderson, "Mother O' Mine" by Protheroe, and "Invictus" by Bruno Huhn.

The last group of part I will be given by an eight part chorus, singing a cappella. "Carol of the Russian Children" arranged by Harvey Gaul, "Alleluia! Christ is Risen," the Easter song of Little Russia by Andre Kopyloff, and "O Praise the Name of the Lord" by Gretchenoff are the numbers to be given. Obi-

Register Receives Trophy of Class A in Midland Contest

Five Central Boys Attend Banquet at Fremont; Cup Presented

At the banquet held Monday, May 13, at Midland college in Fremont, Nebraska, Richard Hiller, managing editor, was presented with a silver loving cup as a result of the Tri-State Press contest under the direction of the Theta Gamma Epsilon, honorary journalistic fraternity, in which The Weekly Register won the honor of being the first Nebraska publication to win a first place in Division A. There were 63 high school papers entered from Kansas, Iowa, and Nebraska. The issues of the Weekly Register for February 22, March 1, and March 8, were sent in.

The five boys from Central who attended the banquet were Richard Hiller, William Ellsworth, Howard Rose, Lawrence Cooke, and John Sullivan. The staff was as follows: Richard Hiller, managing editor; Esthyre Steinberg, city editor; and Margaret Hennessey, Burtis Emith, and William Ellsworth, associate editors.

In Division B, The Holtonian of Holton, Kansas, for the second straight year won first place. Professor Charles L. Saunders, journalism instructor of Creighton university, acted as one of the judges for the contest.

French Club Meets

Attended by 27 members and four French teachers, the annual girls' French club luncheon was given Saturday, May 11, at the Fontenelle hotel. Mme. de Locneville and Mlle. Vieville were guests. Adele Barnhart, president of the club, presided. A luncheon beginning with cocktail and ending with ice cream and cake was served. The wienie roast has been postponed until Wednesday, May 22.

ANNUAL SENIOR GLEE CLUB CONCERT TONIGHT.

The eighth annual Senior Glee club concert will be presented this evening at the Technical auditorium. As a contrast to the first concert in which only 88 students participated, about 200 students from the four Senior Glee clubs will take part in this concert.

Each year the glee clubs are striving to attain a higher standard so that an A Capella choir can finally be established. In this last year the goal has almost been reached, most of the selections being sung, unaccompanied. Because of the need of another teacher in the music department, only a few of the Junior Glee club people can be promoted to Senior Glee club.

The music that will be sung this evening is of a varied character. Most of the finest composers, both ancient and modern, will be represented. The beauty of the voices and the tone quality is such that is not always found in more mature voices.

George Harrington and the quartet, both winners of first places in the state music contest, will present special features during the program.

THANK YOU, MR. ALMY.

Tuesday morning, Mr. Frank Almy, director of the Omaha Art Institute, completed the last of his series of six art lectures given in our auditorium this year. Each lecture covered a period of art development, the lectures being given in the following order: Primitive, Oriental, Greek and Roman, Byzantine, Romanesque and Gothic, and Renaissance.

These wonderful lectures have been of great help and benefit to Central students who are interested in such a study, and the beautiful pictures that Mr. Almy used in making clear his explanations added greatly to the enjoyment of the lectures. We feel that we are heavily indebted to Mr. Almy for his kindness and willingness in this matter, and we wish to take this opportunity to extend to him our most sincere thanks and appreciation.

AND THEN TO CAMP.

Just think of it! Only one more week and then to camp. Doesn't it just thrill you—just the thought of it. It will be such a change. No brain fatigue but the physical fatigue that results from a day of pleasure—of fun. How one can sleep out in the open after a full day of playing, swimming, hiking, and what not.

For the girls—there is swimming, hiking, horseback riding, all kinds of sports, eating (oodles of food), talking, and more fun. For the boys—there is all that but with it a more reserved sort of life. A real soldier's life. It is just the thing that the real he-boy enjoys and that is what camp is for—"he-boys." Boys that enjoy drilling and the general routine of Cadet camp, and they are mighty proud of that uniform. They work for a promotion and then "visitors' day"—and her. It's a thrill of a life-time, but every Central student has the chance of experiencing this life every year at this time.

Only one more week, or seven days, or one-hundred and sixty-eight hours, or ten-thousand eighty minutes, or six-hundred and four thousand, eight hundred seconds before exams.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO YOU, DR. SENTER.
"Birthday greetings to you, Dr. Senter! Our good wishes come a little late, for your sixty-first birthday was May 9, but an error was made by us as we thought the date was May 18. But though our greetings are delayed, they are no less heartily extended."

This is Dr. Senter's thirty-second year of teaching in Central. He is at present Dean of the Faculty and Custodian. During his years in Central he has performed many valuable services for the school and shown remarkable understanding of students that has won for him many friends.

So again we say "Happy birthday to you, Dr. Senter."
Only 9 more shopping days before camp—get busy and purchase necessary material.

TO LOIS ROBERTS.
The teachers and pupils of Central High wish to pay their tribute of gratitude and reverence to this girl whose passing makes life more bare and lonely. Having been ill since November, Lois Roberts, '31, died of acute nephritis Monday, May 13, at Wise Memorial Hospital. To one more of the large group of devoted, sympathetic and loyal students of Central who have done much to promote the spirit and ideals of this school, we sadly say our farewell, and shall often send our thoughts and our love.

So Milt Altsuler has been to so many "talkies" lately that he can't read the lines in the silent pictures.

A certain fair Centralite says she has changed her mind about "Dusty" Rhoades. She thinks that he may be a man some day after all, in spite of his size.

Incident in Miss Rockfellow's French IV class.

Miss Rockfellow, "They have cars for women only, there."
Jane Owen, "How terrible."

Now, Teddy Helgren, of all the popular and privileged boys, getting letters from girls just for "Art's" sake.

Strange rumor—Marie Ellis can now commit suicide, get married, (either or both) and with her mother's consent.

"Rosy" seems to have fallen pretty hard for "Helen" of Nebraska City. He met her last Saturday in Lincoln and since then has written her three letters in two days. Pretty bad, "Rosy."

Whew! An hour and a half is a pretty long time to talk to some girl whose last name you don't even know, isn't it, Kenny McGaffin?

And speaking of $6 taxi rides, see the honorable William Potter.

So Benita Elrod thinks that Central's football players do not have the good looks that Benson's do. Hmmm—now we wonder why???

Just where did Warren Smith get that all important "huh" of his?

Betty Burrell thinks that women just learning to drive are the most contemptible creatures alive—especially when they deliberately back into some one else's car!

Youngest Graduate Leaves with Honors

By the remarkable feat of being graduated from high school at the age of 14, Elizabeth Kieser has the honor of being the youngest senior of this year's graduating class. Throughout her years at Central, Elizabeth has had a wonderful scholastic standing. When she was a junior, she had the distinction of making 5 1/2 A's.

Beginning school at the normal age of 5 years, she entered a small district school which had only three grades. She was excused from attending the kindergarten and skipped the fifth and seventh grades. At the age of 11, Elizabeth came up to Central and made the course in the ordinary number of years.

Elizabeth is a member of the National Honor society, Central Committee, Debate club, Debate team, Junior Honor society, German club, and Girl Reserves, chairman of the Project committee, and a monitor in the library.

During her four years at high school, Elizabeth has been very prominent among the Girl Reserves. Having been a secretary of Central club and a very active member of the All High School Inter-club Council, she was recently awarded a Girl Reserve honor ring.

THE PULSE OF DARKNESS

Edward Noble
"Om! Mani padme, hum," that universal prayer of the mysterious East was carved on the teak shield that formed the escutcheon of the Kow-Loon, the ship which twice by chance came under Harold Grey's command, the second time in the Carimata Straits, where his father had been murdered while in command of the Sorisha, when the boy was twelve years old.
There was something of the mysterious powers of the East in Harold Grey, and so a vague suspicion, linked with dim memories, formed in his mind when he saw Captain Shadara Williams, a fanatic Eurasian, who was given the command of the Kow-Loon, although Grey and the crew believed the choice to be unfair. Because of this suspicion, Grey consented to become chief officer on the ship in the summer of 1882. Williams hated and feared Grey and his brother, Raffles or Billee, and caused all sorts of trouble for them.
The Pulse of Darkness throbbed over the Kow-Loon during black, velvety nights and burning cloudless days, when the sky was flecked with copper and the sails hung lifeless over the amethyst waters of the Straight. Pungent, impalpable dust fell out at sea, and Harold Grey was convinced that somewhere all was not as it should be.

Earthquakes, monsoons, volcanoes, and a horrible deep-sea animal all play their parts in this tale of the East Indian seas, and the rescue of the crew and passengers from a ship set fire by molten lava added its thrills. One of the passengers, Madeline Challoner, and Grey fell in love, but she added one more problem for the over-worked young officer, who had been forced to put his captain in a straight-jacket.
The story is highly interesting and was written by a man well qualified to write this kind of book. Edward Noble has had long and varied experience on all sorts of ships. He has sailed on many seas and wandered for ten years in Australia, South America, and the East. If you like sea-stories, you will want to add this one to those you have read; if you do not, read The Pulse of Darkness and be converted.

Donald B. Douglas '25 has been appointed by Mayor Dahlman to serve part time in the city chemical laboratory. Among his duties will be the testing of milk for butterfat. Donald has been student assistant in the laboratories of the University of Omaha, which he attended for three years.

Dorthea Brown '28 is one of 14 students at Wayne State Teachers' college elected to membership in the Sigma Tau Delta, a national professional English fraternity, in the annual May election.

While at Central, Dorthea was very prominent in school activities. She was editor-in-chief of the 1928 O-Book, was on The Weekly Register staff, was reporter for her junior class, was a member of the Le Cercle Francais, of the Lininger Travel club, of the Central Colleens, of the Speakers' Bureau, of the Junior Honor society, of the Junior Girls' Glee club, of the Senior Girls' Glee club, was secretary-treasurer of the Mathematics society, was a monitor in the library, and took part in the state scholarship contest in her freshman year.

Mrs. George Sims, formerly Margaret Colegrove '28, was in Omaha last week-end and visited Central on Friday. Mrs. Sims now lives in Chicago, Illinois.

Walter P. Senter '25, who attends the University of Nebraska, has achieved a scholastic standing of such quality as to merit the inclusion of his name in the list of students to be recognized for High Scholarship at the Honors Convocation, Wednesday evening, May 8, at 8 o'clock, in Grant Memorial hall.

Jean Stirling '25 and Jessie Stirling '27 assisted at the organ recital which was given at the First Presbyterian church on May 12.

Ben Cowdery '27, was elected a member of the University of Nebraska students council for the year of 1929 and 1930.

THE PARTING OF THE WAYS

We Recommend--

Thirteen Fridays in every year falling on the thirteenth of the month, every month beginning with Monday and ending the fourth Saturday thereafter, and an extra month, "Sol," between June and July, are the feature of the cots worth calendar. Very interesting is Mr. Eastman's prophecy of more leisure and simpler, more profitable business regulations in "A New Calendar by 1933" in the May issue of the Popular Science.

The beans boiled over! Blowing bubbles into a glass through a stick of macaroni and scraping two pieces of sand paper together produces a bubbling imitation of beans boiling over on a stove. The article, "Radio's Gay Deception," in The Musical Digest for May 1929 tells of many unusual things used over the radio to imitate the most ordinary sounds.

If Lindbergh had lived during the Renaissance, his great plane, "The Spirit of Saint Louis," would probably have been the invention of the immortal Leonardo De Vinci. The man who painted the Mona Lisa was, besides being an artist, and inventor, a mathematician, a musician, and an engineer. This almost superhuman man is well described in "De Vinci Did It First" in the Popular Science for June 1929.

Have you ever thought of bullfights as matters of grace and beauty? Salvador de Madariaga compares the bullfight to some of our American sports, and ours don't seem to profit by the comparison. "Why the Spanish Like Bullfights," in The Living Age, May 1929.

What of this modernism in furniture—is it really so different? Can there really be any beauty in it? Are there any points about the modern furniture that are improvements over the older styles? "To Place Modernism" by Paul Chafin in the April issue of the House Beautiful will answer all your questions about furniture.

A LULLABY

There's a lullaby that's singing
In the falling of the rain,
And it's in the pitter, patter,
As it hits the window pane;
And it's in the dripping, dropping,
Of the water from the eaves;
And it's in the misty whispers
Of the flutter of the leaves;
In the swishing of the branches
As the wind goes brushing through;
In the soft and gentle slushing
Through the long green grasses, too;
In the dashing and the splashing
Of the water in the street;
In the everlasting patter
Of the rain's increasing beat.
There's a lullaby that's singing,
And it's putting me to sleep,
With its softly swishing music
In a song I'll always keep.

Alma Returns After Twenty-Seven Years

"They had just finished building the new building around the old one when I left; so I taught in the old building only," explained Mrs. George Haverstick who left Central in 1902, just 27 years ago, and came back to visit Monday. Miss Bell Dintuff was her name when she was here.

"Yes, eight or nine teachers who taught then are still here; I lunched with them this noon," she said laughingly, "and I'm just a loafer now. That doesn't sound very nice, does it?"

Mrs. Haverstick explained that she left Central in order to marry Mr. Haverstick. They stayed in Omaha for a while. Since his death she traveled in Europe, and now is back to visit Omaha for about three months. This is the first time she has been back to Central since she taught here.

"Miss Copeland and I were classmates at Vassar college; so we're going to bring her into the agony of this interview," she declared. "I was in the science department where I taught botany, biology, and physics."

"No, they didn't have many activities at Central when I was here; they did have some plays though. There were 500 or 600 students here then. It seems to me they did have a little monthly paper then."

Mrs. Haverstick has dark brown hair with a little gray sprinkled through it, and her glasses cover dark, kindly eyes. She has a very jolly disposition.

"No, there was no "sneak day" then, and I don't believe I ever heard of "sneak day," she said in a very, very serious manner, although her eyes were twinkling. "There were only nice children here then."

Perseus Certainly Started Something

"Conspetu capetis Gorgonis homines in Saxum vertebantur. Ob hanc causa Minerva speculum Perseodederat. Ille, igitur, tergum vertit, et in speculum inspiciebat." That's Latin, but don't worry; you don't have to translate it. It just tells how Minerva gave Perseus a mirror so that he wouldn't be killed if he looked at the Medusa. Perseus just turned his back, looked in the mirror, and killed the Gorgon; awfully simple.

Perseus surely started something. Why even the comic papers copy his idea. (He should have patented it). Rudolph Nebb is fouled by the villain who, by glancing in the looking glass, sees Sherlock Holmes alias Rudolph Nebb peering in the portfolio. Then a few weeks ago on the Orpheum stage, a big strong man from the West played tricks with his gun. While looking in the mirror, he shot at a target behind him. He hit it almost every time.

But Mrs. Catty is the most famous user of the mirror idea. She isn't quite sure whether that woman sitting behind her is Jeannette Loff or Nancy Carroll. Out comes Trusty Compact. One glance in the mirror suffices. "That girl is only a dime-store clerk." Yes, Perseus surely did start something.

Johnny (asking for third helping of potatoes): "Mother, pass the potatoes."

Mother: "Johnny, you're a little pig."

Dad: "Johnny, you know what a little pig is, don't you?"

Johnny: "Sure! A pig is a hog's little boy."—Exchange.

Of Interest to Women

I have curly hair now. For exactly sixteen days my locks have been a mass of waves and ringlets. And oh, how I love every twist and curl! The hairs on my head are numbered, and I feel that I know each curl tenderly, intimately, for I was painfully close at hand when the change took place.

After due deliberation, persuasion, coaxing, and coercion, I arrived at the beauty parlor, firmly bent on a permanent wave. The operator was effusive. "Oh, lovely! Mam'selle will sit here please. Oh, I know you will be so happy with a lovely wave!"

She swung the beauty chair in front of the mirror. I gave a last look at my dear old reliable straight hair. I began to feel sentimental—a bit maudlin. "Permanent" did sound so everlasting. But there was no time for remorse; the wave was started. Hair slicked back dripping wet.

"Mam'selle will hold these, please, so. Then hand them to me, so: string—tube—wool—string—tube—wool, so."

Wave going in dead earnest. One two, three, jerk. One, two, three, jerk. One, two, three, jerk. Head getting sore, then numb, then happily calloused to jerks. Then twist, twist, twist. Every little iron tube covered with hair, sticking out like a Zulu head-dress. Then wrap, twist, jerk, wrap, twist, jerk. More complicated now; clamp, clamp at the tortured roots themselves. Now all ready for the gigantic black octopus, the waving machine. Pull, slide, clamp. The awful, grasping tentacles clung tight to the little iron tubes, so firmly fastened to my hair, and my scalp jumped three inches away from my skull. (Well, it felt as though it did.) And then, heat. A baking inferno of my very own. The heat waves beating down—the infernal machine pulling up—and the poor little hair roots trying so hard to stay with the scalp they had known so long.

And then relief. The heat shut off, the machine taken off, and all my happy dancing little ringlets set free. Then oiling, grooming, and setting curls, and after a while a finished wave. Torture? Yes. Vanity? Why, yes. But worth it? What a foolish question!

Central Girls Defeat Tech Debate Team

Girl Debaters Win Over Tech and North Teams; Boys Win One

A. L. Debaters Judge

In the two debates held last week in room 129, one with Tech and one with North, the girls' team came out victorious, but one of the boys' teams lost the debate. The judges were the veteran debaters from Abraham Lincoln High school.

The girls' team from Thomas Jefferson, composed of Lois Hatch and Alleen Brandon, won the debate with Dick Anderson and Dan Wagstaff held at Central last Monday. They will probably become members of the regular squad.

Jury System Debated

A dual debate was held at Technical High school last Wednesday, May 15. The members of the affirmative team from Central are Martha Lippett, Rose Stein and of the negative team are Frank Lerman, Ben Shrier, and James Harris. In the debate with North High school, held on Thursday, May 16, the same members of the debate team participated, excepting that Dan Wagstaff substituted for Frank Lerman. In this debate, next year's question of the "Jury System" was debated.

Seniors Doped to Win

It has been anticipated that the seniors will probably win the inter-class debates, which were of much interest to the school during the semester.

The Iowa question for next year will be "Resolved: That a Substitute for the Jury System Should Be Found." It has been customary for Central to debate both the Nebraska and Iowa questions.

Juniors Enroll for Fall Monitorships in Central Library

Enrollment for monitorships in the library for next year began this week. Anyone wishing to be a monitor, must have sent in his application last Tuesday, Wednesday, or Thursday. 119 monitorships were to be filled.

It is an honor to the students, since only those recommended by three teachers, and having clear records in the library, are chosen. Not only good students, but capable, energetic, and sensible people are wanted. One point of activity credit is given to monitors.

Monitors have constant access to the library material without registering, and are always sure of having a seat in the library one hour of the day. They can get acquainted with the system and the tools of the library before they go to a college or public library.

Dr. Senter Shows Films to Students in Chemistry Class

Illustrates Process of Purification of Water for City of Omaha

To illustrate the purification of water in Omaha, and the composition of a molecule of water, two films were shown second, fourth, and sixth hours in the auditorium, Wednesday, May 8, to the chemistry classes.

The first picture was obtained from Colonel Theodore Leisen, general-manager of the Metropolitan Utilities district, and showed the process of preparing Missouri river water for drinking purposes. The water is run through large basins, where the sediment in it settles. Although these basins are flushed out every day, they must be washed out every so often to clean out the mud that remains. The first picture also showed how mains are laid, with much trouble during bad weather and more rapidly in good weather.

The second showed the decomposition of a molecule of water into hydrogen and oxygen and each gas into its electrons. This film was obtained from the laboratory of the General Electric company. It showed that pure hydrogen will burn in a flame, and that pure oxygen will burn white hot steel almost instantly.

Members of the faculty were guests second and fourth hours, and Miss Caroline Stringer's biology class and Miss Myrna Jones' expression class were guests, sixth hour.

Harrington Gives Two Selections for Third Glee Concert

Eight Part Mixed Chorus to Sing S. R. Gaines' "A Shepherd's Song"

Eight parts will be taken by the following: Sopranos, Mariel Russel Marjorie Smith, and Jane Matthal; Contraltos, Frances Melcher, Ruth Welty, and Jean Richmond.

The first group of the second part of the program will be two flute solos, "Andalouse," by Pessard, and "Whirlwind" by Kranz, to be given by George Harrington, winner of first place in the flute section at the state music contest.

The girls' glee club will give "Flower of Dreams" by Clokey, and "Summer Evening" by W. Berger. The boys' glee club will sing "The Flag without a Stain," "Rolling down to Rio," and "Londonerry Air" by John Hyate Brewer. Both of these glee clubs were first place winners in the state music contest.

Concluding the program will be an eight part mixed chorus singing, a cappella, "A Shepherd's Song," by Samuel Richard Gaines, which won the W. W. Kimball prize given in 1920 by the Chicago Madrigal club, and "The Four Winds" by Protheroe, depicting the characteristics of the four winds.

This is the third of the annual concerts to be given in the Technical High auditorium instead of in Central. No admission will be charged.

Cadet Camp Plans Shown to Officers

Burke and Anderson Speak at Annual Banquet of C. O. C.

Gulgard Chairman

The annual banquet of the Commissioned Officers' club of the Cadet Regiment was held at the Elks' club, Thursday, May 16, at six o'clock featuring an exact miniature model of Cadet Camp the way it will be this year including the Third Battalion from North High school.

The tables were arranged in a square in the center of which was the model of camp. At one side of the square was the speakers' table where Commandant F. H. Gulgard, who was the toastmaster, and the Regimental Staff were seated. To the right of the speakers' table was Major Arthur Pinkerton and the First Battalion officers, to the left, Major Wilbur Wilhelm with the Second Battalion, and directly opposite was Major Edwin Callin and the Third Battalion from North High school.

McNamara Speaks

Mr. Gulgard introduced Major Pinkerton who in turn introduced the representative speaker from that battalion, Richard McNamara, a major in Central's Regiment in 1925. Representing the Second Battalion, he introduced Dr. C. Linea Anderson, Omaha dentist and former colonel at Central. Major Callin of the Third Battalion introduced Mr. E. R. Burke, president of the Omaha School Board, and Mr. E. E. McMillan, principal of North High school.

Churchill Entertains

The speakers for the staff were Lieutenant Colonel F. Robert Vierling and J. G. Masters, principal of Central High school. Entertainment was furnished by Charles Churchill on the accordion. All arrangements were under the direction of Arthur Pinkerton, president of the C. O. C.

Lucile Davis '29 played at a piano recital at Schmoller and Mueller's on Friday night. She is a pupil of Jean P. Duffield.

Central Girls Form Athletic Association for Award Earners

Elinor Bennett to Supervise Organization; First Meeting Held

For the girls trying to earn the local and state awards in athletics, a club, the Girls' Athletic Association, was organized under supervision of Elinor Bennett. At the first meeting of the organization, held Thursday, May 2, officers were elected. Charlotte Towle '31 is the president. Dorothy Hughes '30 has the position of vice-president, while Betty Tebbins '31 was elected as secretary-treasurer.

To change the school awards to a chenille numeral for the first 600 points earned and a "N", chenille like the "O", as an award for the girls obtaining 1200 points, was part of the discussion.

Since sometimes there would be a need for a large amount of money to buy the awards and at others not so great, the club decided not to have dues but each member to pay for the school awards as she earns them.

In order to earn points towards the letters and to have their points counted by Miss Bennet, the girls must belong to this association.

The day for meetings will be determined next year, because the close of the semester is so near. If the girls are not present at the future meetings, they will be forced to forfeit points toward their awards.

Faculty Members Have Varied Plans for This Summer

Miss Martina Swenson; Mrs. Edna S. Dana, who plans a trip to California; Miss Ida A. Ward; and Miss Caroline E. Stringer.

Miss Juliette Griffin, history teacher, plans to tour the Pacific coast, and will probably spend most of her time in Washington. Mrs. Irene Jensen is another who finds the Northwest an enjoyable, as well as an interesting place to visit.

Teachers who may visit in the East are Miss Marie L. Schmidt, Miss Margaret Mueller, and Miss Chloe Stockard. Miss Stockard will leave for Chicago early in June. She will meet her sister and a friend there, and the three will visit historical and scenic points in the east, besides visiting several high school and commercial cafeterias. From July 1 to 5, Miss Stockard will attend the Home Economics convention in Boston. She will return to Omaha in August, after having taken leave of her sister, who will go to Alaska to teach school.

The Misses Alice West and Helen Lane are planning motor trips. Mr. Andrew Neilsen intends to go to Canada and catch some real fish, while Miss Autumn Davies will be at her home in Yankton, S. D. where she will spend her summer, gardening. (continued next week)

Central Teams Conquer Tech in Tennis, Golf, and Baseball Games

Purple Nine Beats Tech by 2-0 Score

Purple Infield Gives Strong Support to Bruner—Lungren Stars

Bruner Hurls Well

Last Tuesday the Central High athletes obtained sweet revenge from their bitter rival and foe, Tech, by making a clean sweep over the Maroons in three sports—baseball, tennis, and golf. The Eagle niblick artists trounced the Cuming Street lads 8 to 0 while the Purple racquetters downed the Techsters 2 to 1. The Eagles sank their talons deeper into the city baseball championship when they defeated Tech 2 to 0 at the Tech field, Tuesday, May 14. The victory was not only a victory over Tech, but also over the so-called "hoo-doo" or jinx that the Tech teams have had over the Central teams that were on their way to a championship.

Ronnie Bruner, with the best support in the city, again pitched a steady game. He was determined, that Maroon men should not score and they didn't. In fact, not a Tech man reached third base. Ronnie struck out eight batters, allowing only three hits and no walks.

Make Double Play

The infield, headed by "Oggie" Lungren, scooped up every ball in sight to throw the Tech men out at first. Oggie accepted six chances and did not make an error. He started the only double play in the game when he picked up a steaming grounder and threw it to Levinson who in turn threw it to Gloe on first. Lungren also ended the game when he picked up a sure hit with one hand while he was on the run and threw it to first just in time.

Creighton Keeps Lead

"Andy Cohen" Levinson started off the scoring in the first inning when he was hit by a pitched ball thereby getting to first. He stole second and came in on Tech errors before the next Purple batter was up. After continually placing men on bases, the Knapplemen finally scored again in the fifth when Haynie walked, Levinson doubled, and Giangrasso hit scoring Haynie. Giangrasso led the Eagles in batting honors by getting two hits out of two trips at bat.

While Central was winning over Tech, Creighton was beating South thereby retaining their half game lead over the Purple. Central has won four games and lost one, while Creighton has won five and lost one to Central who beat them 9 to 0.

Three Games Played by Girls' Ball Teams

Three games of the series between the four girls' baseball teams were played Monday and Thursday, May 6 and 9, and Monday, May 13, on the south campus with Mrs. Glee Gardner Case as the umpire.

In the first game Louise Sonderegger's team was victorious over Faye Henderson's outfit by a score of 13-6. Evelyn Schnackel's team defeated the team of Anna Henrikson by a score of 15-13. The result of the third game was a victory, 9-6, for the team with Faye Henderson as captain. The defeated team was that of Evelyn Schnackel.

Eagle Tracksters Win Fourth Place

Wilhelm Leaps to High Mark in Broad Jump Event—Poff Scores Second in Shot and Discus Events.

Coach J. G. Schmidt's Central track team won fourth place in Group IV in the twenty-seventh annual state track and field meet, which was held at the Nebraska University Memorial Stadium last Saturday afternoon, May 11. Lincoln High school won the championship in Group IV by scoring a total of 27 points, and, as the strongest team were entered in this group, the winner was crowned the state champion.

The Links, after trailing Omaha Tech during most of the meet, staged a garrison finish and won the last two events which enabled them to nose out the Maroons by a three point margin. Scottsbluff was second with 21 points, and 16 points were enough to give the Central trackmen fourth place.

The Eagle cindermen were able to score only one first place. Captain Wilbur Wilhelm's leap of 21 feet 11 inches in the broad jump was the best jump of the entire meet, and it gave "Wilb" the Group IV and event championships. Captain Wilhelm was the only Omaha athlete to capture an event championship. He also came through with a fourth in the 440 yard dash despite an injured leg. Jack Poff proved that he is one of the best weight men in the state by winning second place in both the shotput and discus events. Poff and Wilhelm led the Purple in individual scoring with six points apiece. Booker Gordon, a Central freshman, provided one of the surprises of the meet by tying for second place in the pole vault with two other contestants.

The Central half-mile relay team composed of Wallace, Wilhelm, Niemann, and Wright placed third, being led to the tape by the Scottsbluff's and Hastings' teams. Only two state records were broken. Asher of Scottsbluff bettered the record in the half-mile, and Gilmore of Comstock broke the javelin mark. The other group championships were won by Trumbull in Group I, Cambridge in Group II, and Gothenburg in Group III. A fair sized crowd attended the meet.

Perry Garver Leads Golf Artists in Win

Again Perry Garver, the Bobby Jones of the city golf league, flashed a pro's ability as the Purple squad made a clean sweep of the individual matches and won an 8-0 decision over the Maroon golfers of Tech, Tuesday, May 14, on the Dundee links.

The state champion showed class by turning in the best score of the day, an 83. Rod Bliss drove and putted his way to a 2-0 win over Zitnick; Clarke defeated Olseon; and Rexford downed Johnson, both by scores of 2-0 in other matches of the afternoon.

This victory places Central in the undisputed possession of second place, and since this is the last match before the city tournament next week, that is the place they will be at the end of the season.

The chances of the Central squad in the city meet are promising, the Purple has lost only one match, that to Benson in the early season. Since that time, however, they have won every meet and have shown a marked improvement over their early season form. Garver is the favorite to win the singles title, while the two man event may go to the Eagles. Benson will present the stiffest competition since they have not been beaten to date.

Bliss, Rexford, and Clarke are also expected to show up well in the tourney.

PURPLE NINE CONTENDER FOR CITY TITLE

Central High Golfer Beats Benson Flash at State Golf Meet

Four up and three to go—This was the margin by which Perry Garver, Central High golfer, won from Carl Rice in the finals of the Nebraska Interscholastic Golf tournament, held last Saturday, May 11, at Lincoln.

The Eagle representative, after playing par golf throughout the opening rounds of the meet, flashed a consistent brand of golf in defeating Mr. Rice, sterling Bunnie from Benson.

In the finals a very queer game was played; only on four different occasions was there any difference in the scores of the arch foes. Garver, one of the two veterans on the Central squad, is playing his second year of high school competition, and with the improvement that he will probably make, he should be one of the best golfers in the city at large by the time he is graduated.

Other Central Golfers did not fare so well in the meet, all except Garver failing to reach the semi-finals. The Purple niblick artists have half of the season yet to play. They have lost only one match so far, to Benson. In this match Garver was the only Centralite to win his match. He has won every match to date with the exception of his defeat in the semi-finals of the first flight of the school golf tournament by Rodney Bliss 3 up and 2.

Four Girls Remain in Tennis Tourney

In the girls' tennis tournament, arranged by Miss Elinor Bennett, gym instructor, the second round was finished last week. The games are played at the hour most convenient for the participants within a specified time.

By defeating their opponents, four girls remain to play the third round. The winners are now placed thus: Margaret Gloe against Louise Sonderegger and Esther Weber opposing Coleen Masters.

The former opponent of Margaret Gloe was Rose Marie Swanson, who was defeated in two sets by scores of 6-2, 6-1. Louise Sonderegger eliminated Anel Creel from the tournament by the score of 6-1, 6-4, 6-1.

Central Net Team Gains High Honors in Tennis Tourney

The Purple mound ace, Ronnie Bruner, out-Henningsend Henningsen by striking out 11 men, allowing only three hits, which were well scattered and only walking one. The support behind Bruner was perfect, excepting for one misjudged pitched ball by catcher Haynie, who otherwise played a real game. "Oggie" Lungren, "Andy Cohen" Levinson, and "Davy" Means handled the ball from the infield like real major league players when they picked up steaming grounders or caught flies. The most spectacular catch of the day was made by "Dusty" Rhoades when he dashed 20 yards to nab a long fly that looked like a hit in any man's league.

Purple Net Team Defeats Technical in Tennis Contest

While the Central diamond and golf teams were making merry at the expense of the teams wearing the Maroon of Tech, the Purple netsters were also trouncing their arch foes. The Eagle racquet squad won in a decisive fashion, 2-1, on the courts at 39 and Cuming streets.

Thomson led the onslaught by beating Cook by a 7-5, 6-3 score, besides participating in the doubles which Central also won. His partner in the doubles was Goldner, and they downed the Tech combination of Becker and Cook 6-2 and 6-4.

Becker was the only Techster to win a match, defeating Zoesch of Central 6-2 and 6-3. This was the first defeat of the season for the Maroon team and came rather as a surprise. The Maroons have now complete their season, and they are at present perched on top of the heap. The Purple squad will have an opportunity to tie the Maroons, however, as they have a match with South scheduled for today. The Eagles are favored to win this match.

In the other meet of the day, the Benson Bunnies won every match from the requeteers of Abraham Lincoln. The Bunnies won both the doubles and both singles events. Norris and Darward represented Benson in the singles, while the doubles found Young and Armentraut on the court. These men found little difficulty in downing the boys from the other side of the "Big Muddy."

Central Net Team Gains High Honors in Tennis Tourney

In the Nebraska state high school tennis tournament, which was held at Lincoln on May 10 and 11 in the large Coliseum, the Central High school net squad minus the efforts of "Oggie" Lungren, veteran, placed high in the tourney, snatching honors in the finals and semi-finals.

Thomson Runner-up

Ralph Thomson, main cog in the Central machine, reached the finals of the singles but balked, failing to down the speedy little Lincoln net star, Kuklin. The runner-up played hard, fast, and brilliant tennis and did not meet a strong opponent until the fight for the title. Kuklin didn't throw away a single point during the entire tourney. An illustration would be when he trounced Becker of Omaha Technical 6-0, 6-0. However, Kuklin almost met his match against Hoag of Wesleyan in the semi-finals. After three sets of hard tennis Hoag lost 6-4, 1-6, 8-6.

Central's other entrant in the singles was eliminated in the second round of the tournament. Burnett, Purple, easily won his opening round from Wulf of Avoca 6-3, 6-3. In the second round Burnett was defeated by Hoag from Wesleyan in two straight sets, 6-4, 6-2.

Purple Doubles Lose

In the doubles flight in the state high school tourney Central's doubles team, consisting of Goldner and Zoesch, reached the semi-finals, whereupon they were defeated by Jackson Hi of Lincoln. In the first flight the Purple pair won by default from the team of Wakefield. In the next flight Goldner and Zoesch won without much trouble from Wulf and Fager of Avoca 6-1, 6-0. Then, in the semi-finals match Barrett and Smith won from the Central team in a hotly contested match 4-6, 8-6, 8-6.

League Leaders Drop Contest to Purple

Purple Bats Horsehide All Over Lot Against Prep, Winning by Score of 9 to 0; Prep Uses Four Pitchers in Duel.

The dust of defeat settled all over the Creighton Prep baseball nine when the "little giants" from Central rained a 9 to 0 victory over them at 32 and Dewey last Thursday, May 9.

Prepster Leaves Box

The Eagles pounded the ball so hard that Coach Eddie Hickey of Creighton was forced to use four pitchers, including the mighty "no hit-no run" king, Ed Henningsen who was the third one to be knocked out of the box after giving four hits and four runs in two innings. He was relieved by Decker who didn't allow the Eagles a hit in the fifth frame, but in the sixth frame, he was pounded five hits and five runs.

Bruner Fans 11 Men

The Purple mound ace, Ronnie Bruner, out-Henningsend Henningsen by striking out 11 men, allowing only three hits, which were well scattered and only walking one. The support behind Bruner was perfect, excepting for one misjudged pitched ball by catcher Haynie, who otherwise played a real game. "Oggie" Lungren, "Andy Cohen" Levinson, and "Davy" Means handled the ball from the infield like real major league players when they picked up steaming grounders or caught flies. The most spectacular catch of the day was made by "Dusty" Rhoades when he dashed 20 yards to nab a long fly that looked like a hit in any man's league.

A summary of Central at bat is as follows:

First inning: Rhoades hit by a pitched ball. Levinson sacrificed. Giangrasso sacrificed, putting Rhoades on third. Bruner fled out.

Second inning: Lungren walked. Means reached first by a fielder's choice. Carlson sacrificed, Lungren going to third. Haynie reached first on a fielder's choice and Lungren was put out at homeplate. Rhoades fled out.

Third inning: Levinson walked. Giangrasso singled. Bruner singled, scoring Levinson. Lungren got to first on a shortstop's error, scoring Giangrasso. Means bunted a fielder's choice and Bruner was put out at home. Carlson fanned.

Fourth inning: Haynie hit by Henningsen's pitched ball. Rhoades singled. Haynie going to third. Dukkan, trying to catch Haynie at third, overthrew and Haynie and Rhoades scored. Levinson singled and stole. Giangrasso was thrown out at first. Lungren going to third. Bruner fanned.

Fifth inning: Decker went into the box for Henningsen. Lungren fled out. Means followed suit. Carlson tipped out to the catcher.

Sixth inning: Gloe reached first on Henningsen's error. Haynie singled. Gloe going to second. Rhoades bunted a safe hit, loading the bases. Levinson singled, scoring Haynie and Gloe. Levinson, Rhoades, and Giangrasso scored when the latter hit to the first baseman who didn't know what to do with the horsehide. Giangrasso got around on errors. Bruner popped out to Henningsen. Lungren singled. Means went to first on a fielder's choice. Everetts fled out and Lungren was caught off base in the same play. Central got five hits and five runs in this inning.

Seventh inning: Not at bat.

Track Meet Is Scheduled for Saturday

Five City Schools Have Entries in Annual Prep Event Takes Place at Tech

Maroons Favored

The annual city track and field meet will be held at Tech field tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The preliminaries will be held this afternoon at the Maroon oval. All the Omaha high schools except Benson will compete, and the Council Bluffs schools will send representatives from across the river. The meet is doped to settle down into a dual between Tech and Central with the Maroons a slight favorite. The other schools are not conceded much of a chance to win the meet.

This year finds no outstanding stars in the 100 and 220-yard dashes. Dixon and Dickerson of Tech, Adams of North, and Wilhelm and Niemann of Central seem to have the best chance of coping firsts. Much the same field will be favored in the 440-yard dash event. Wahlstrom and Layton, of Tech, lead the hurdle toppers with Gordon and Niemann of Central next in line. No outstanding runners are found in the distance events, but the competition is certain to be very close. Price Nelson, Niemann, and Bledsoe are the distance men whom Coach Schmidt is banking on.

In the field events, the Eagle cinder path artists should count heavily. Jack Poff should cop first place in the shotput, and at least second in the discus throw. Poff won second in both of these events at the state meet last Saturday. Captain Wilhelm, state broad jump champion, is nearly certain to win this event, while Booker Gordon will probably win the pole vault as his performances in this event this season have been the best in the city. The other Central entrants in the field events should show up well. The Purple and White relay teams have showed class this season, and they are the relay favorites.

100-Yard dash—Wilhelm, Wallace, Wright, Willard, and Niemann.
220-Yard dash—Wilhelm, Wallace, Wright, Willard, and Niemann.
440-Yard dash—Wilhelm, Phillips, Cissell, Kvenild, and Bledsoe.
880-Yard run—Bledsoe, McClarrinon, Sexton, and Niemann.
1-Mile run—Nelson, Price, Peterson, Weiler, and Niemann.
Low Hurdles—Gordon, Bell, Price, Erment and Niemann.
High Hurdles—Gordon, Emmert, and Niemann.
Discus—Poff, Wilhelm, Niemann, Mixon, and Kvenild.
Shotput—Poff, Mixon and Wilhelm.
