Creedon Heads Central Battalion; Nell Evans Is Honorary Colonel

Underneath the sparking saber arch formed by the officers marched a boy and a girl, the new commanders of Central's ROTC battalion. Cadet Lt. Colonel Richard Creedon and Honorary Lt. Colonel Nell Evans were thus honored, climaxing the most spectacular military presentation ever staged by the school's military unit.

Peony Ballroom Is Success

Held in the Peony Park ballroom for the first time, the ball was a complete success from its musical opening with a concert by the battalion band to the symmetrical, smooth-running grand march of the officers. Presentation of awards, short drills, and announcement of promotions completed the evening's program, after which the cadets and guests danced to the music of Web Peierman's orchestra. Much of the credit for the success of the ball is due to general chairman Dan Katzman who coordinated the committees and managed the affair.

Both Richard and Nell participate in numerous activities about the school. Richard served as captain of Company D during the past year, is commander of the Crack Squad, president of the Cadet Officers' club, and was a representative of Central in the Nebraska Boys' State last year. Nell, in addition to being elected to the position of honorary commander of the battalion by the cadet officers, is sergeant at arms of the Student Council, a member of Lininger Travel club, and has taken part in the Road Show and the opera.

Trustin, Wilkerson Majors

Yale Trustin and Bob Wilkerson received the other high promotions, both being appointed majors. Major Trustin will be in command of the freshman battalion, while Major Wilkerson will serve as ROTC battalion executive officer.

Other promotions announced at ball were Captains Richard Nordstrom, Robert Melcher, Herbert Miller, Burton Howard, Richard Coyne, and Irving Allison; First Lieutenants William Otis, Carl Milone, and Sumner McCartney.

Mack and Beck Get Awards

Cadet Sgt. Bob Beck and Private First Class Milton Mack were picked as the outstanding junior and sophomore cadets, respectively. Lt. Colonel H. J. Brooks, PMS&T of Omaha and Council Bluffs high schools, then presented each boy with arm cords in the school colors.

Colonel Raymond W. Briggs, ROTC officer of the Seventh Corps area presented awards to the rifle team. The five cadets on the team who shot the highest total average were called onto the floor and received a plaque on which their names were engraved. They are Captain Herb Miller, Second Lt. Barton Greenberg, Second Lt. Bob Best, Corporal Fred Bekins, and Private John Abrahamson. Captain Herb Miller was given two medals, one for shooting the high total average, 369.9, and the other for shooting the high standing average, 80x100.

Crack Squad Entertains

The Crack Squad then presented a short precision drill exhibiting a new and well executed routine. Members of the squad were presented with arm cords by Dr. Arlo Dunn, chairman of the military affairs committee of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce.

Heading the long list of guests of the battalion were Governor Dwight Griswold and Mrs. Griswold, and many other civil and military personages.

Girls Prepare to Elect 'Miss Central' At Eighth Annual Party Here Tonite

One of Fifteen Girls Will Be Central's Queen

Dancing, Floor Show, Costume Competition Highlight Program

One of fifteen senior girls will step from behind the eight ball as Miss Central VIII at the annual all girls' party to be held tonight at 7:30 p.m.

The fifteen candidates, elected from 46 senior girls previously nominated in senior homerooms, are as follows: Laurel Childs, Eleanor Chin, Doris Clancy, Linda Sue Colley, Bette Evans, Gay Follmer, Marge Heyn, Marilyn Hughes, Phyllis Johnson, Jeanette Magnussen, Janet Rosenstock, Nina Scott, Barbara Steberg, Lois Jean Turner, and Nell Evans.

From among these, each girl attending the party will vote for her favorite, and the identity of the most popular will thus remain a secret until she steps before Miss Jessie Towne, retired dean of girls and assistant principal, to be crowned.

The ball, maintaining the tradition as a costume party, will offer entertainment to hundreds of Central girls with dancing, a floor show, and competition for costumes. Prizes will be given for the most beautiful, the most unusual, the most in keeping with the ball, and other "mosts." Prizes will be supplied by local stores.

About ten o'clock the girls attending the party will go to the new auditorium to witness the coronation. Down the aisle will come the queen's lovely retinue—the princesses, dutchesses, countesses, and ladies-in-waiting, followed by the lucky girl and her four pages from the freshmen class.

The queen's ladies-in-waiting will be the two girls with the next highest number of votes, these too remaining secret until the grand march down the aisles of the auditorium. In contrast with the queen's traditional bouquet of calla lilies, the ladies will carry mixed roses, the princesses, American beauty roses.

The dutchess of the queen's retinue are the following seniors: Barbara Claassen, Betty Compton, Nadyne Coon, Lila Cramer, Mary Lou David, Barbara Doud, Beverly Duda, Mary Jean Fisher, Genevieve Fitzpatrick, Adele Hackett, Virginia Hefflinger, Ida Longo, Jan McConnee, Lois Middleton, Sara Ann Moelette, and Margaret Moran.

'Man is Almost Here for Dinner'

Rehearsals are well under way for "The Man Who Came to Dinner," the senior play to be presented May 1. Kaufman and Hart's sophisticated comedy is being supervised by Miss Myrna Vance Jones, head of the expression department, while Alynne Weiss, Bette Evans, and June Schoening are co-student directors.

Both the cast and action revolve around Sheridan Whiteside, the dynamic, witty "Man Who Came to Dinner." This difficult character is being portrayed by Thom McManus.

Patsy Crummer plays Maggie Cutler, Whiteside's secretary, who is practically the only one having nerve enough to stand up to Sherry, as Whiteside is called by his friends. Bill Otis, as the newspaper man Bert Jefferson, plays opposite Maggie.

The beautiful and glamorous actress, Lorraine Sheldon, is played by Margaret Moran. Hollis Wilson is Miss Preen, Whiteside's frightened nurse, who is insulted by almost every other word Sherry utters.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley, to whose house Mr. Whiteside not only "comes to dinner" but remains for several weeks with amusing consequences, is played by Howard Sherman and Lorraine Triska. The parts of their son and daughter, Richard and June, are handled by Charles Christiansen and Beverly Duda.

Herbert Benson and Kathleen Anderson play the Stanley's servant couple. Banjo, Sherry's lively, comical friend from Hollywood, is played by Morris Richlin. Pat Hazard is Harriet Metz, the slightly insane sister of Mr. Stanley.

Beverly Carleton, the conceited English actor, will be played by Joe Ricard. June's boy friend Sandy is played by Ray Rosemont. The eccentric Professor Metz, who brings Sherry a "city of roaches," is portrayed by Arthur Kulakofsky.

Jeannette Magnussen and Helen Eyre, playing Mrs. McCutcheon and Mrs. Dexter, bring Mr. Whiteside gifts and are thoroughly insulted by him. Dr. Bradley is portrayed by Don Howe; Maxine Chapin is Richard's girl friend. Albert Nachman and Renee Greenberg play Mr. and Mrs. Gibbons.

Wescott is played by Van Ketzler. Bob Fischer is Mr. Baker and Lorrie Muller and Bill Wiseman are the expressmen. Luncheon guests are Dwayne Feecken, Charles Divoky, Jay Dudley, Calvin Gould, and Bill Lambert. Burke Clements and Bob Kalmansohn play two deputies, while Frank Lepinski is a plainclothes man.

Radio technicians are played by Walter Malland and Harvey Sapot. The carol singers are Louise Baright, Byron Demorest, Gay Follmer, Ray Gould, Regina Hoyer, Mary Herman, Mary Louise Mayer, Joan Meyer, Arlan Salman, Nina Scott, Barbara Steberg, Violet Sunderman, and Doris Vanecek.

The non-acting angle of the play is headed by Herbert Benson as business manager. Ben Sylvester is ticket manager assisted by Grace Campbell, Eddie Cahill, Bill Lambert, Darwin Marcus, Peggy Palmer, Ann Pearson, and Almee Smith.

Chairman of the publicity committee is Bob Billig. His assistants are Mary Louise Carlson, Maxine Chapin, Dorothy Devereux, Herbert Dolgoff, Mary Jean Fisher, Shirley Miller, Jean Okeson, Eleanor Ranieri, Joyce Sadler, George Scholnick, Amanda Sorenson, and Betha Wade.

Handling properties will be co-chairmen Byron Demorest and Jack Cunningham. They will be assisted by Irving Allison, Robert Best, Stuart Berg, Eddie Cahill, Eleanor Chin, Betty Compton, Barbara Doud, Margaret Hughes, Phyllis Johnson, Joan Lewis, Richard Linke, Mary Louise Mayer, Gisa Neuhaus, Lucille Nigro, Lucille Perelman, and Frank Roberts.

Mrs. Richards is New Music Accompanist

New accompanist for the music department is Mrs. Esther Richards, wife of Lloyd Richards, Central English teacher. Perhaps the most outstanding thing about Mrs. Richards is the fact that she was born in India. Her father, then a chemistry teacher at a university in India, is now retired and living in Washington.

Before coming to Central, Mrs. Richards taught Latin and English in a school near Hastings, Nebraska, where she was also the head of the music department.

Who Says That the Seniors Don't Work Hard

According to the figures obtained, it seems the longer you stay in school the more chance you have of making the honor roll. Either the subjects become easier in the junior and senior years, or the pupils become more intelligent.

The Register's new system of classifying the honor roll grades shows that the number of honor students per class increases with the years in high school. While the freshmen placed 69 students on the honor list, the sophomores had 82. The juniors topped this with a total of 98, but the seniors surpassed them all by placing 107 among the selected group.

Gay Follmer '42, Dan Peters '44, and Sylvan Siegler '43, led the school with 6 A's apiece. Following is the grade tabulation for the school:

Seniors	107 A's
Gay Follmer	6 A's
Laurel Childs and Barbara Byrne	5 1/2 A's
Jack Busch, Nancy Davis, Byron Demorest, Myrlee Holler, Gisa Neuhaus, Charles Rosenstock, Florence Rundell, Jim Stryker, and Lois Jean Turner	5 A's

Students Plan Vaccination Drive

Watch the thermometers rise! No, we're not talking about the measles epidemic. We're speaking of those card-board posters in your home rooms. So vital to public health and our war effort are small pox vaccinations that it is the aim of the present campaign to have each thermometer register 100 per cent by May 1.

The home nursing students, under the guidance of Miss Veta Pickard, R.N., and Laurel Childs '42, have planned and executed the vaccination drive. The president's proclamation that May 1 be recognized as Child Health day was taken to heart by the home nursing group, and this campaign was the result.

"The present war has brought close to home the ever-pressing problem of public health," said Miss Pickard. "Every child can take an active, worthwhile part by keeping himself well and strong. An epidemic would be twice as disastrous in time of war, and how unnecessary it is when it could be so easily prevented if everyone was protected by a vaccination."

A vaccination may last a few years or it may last a lifetime. It is best for one to be safe and have it taken over if several years have elapsed since your last. If it then fails to "take" you can be pretty sure that you are still immune.

Debaters Take First and Second at Creighton Prep Invitational Tourney

Two Teams Undefeated; Another Survives Till Finals of Consolation

Two Eagle debate teams competing in the "A" bracket of the first annual Creighton Prep invitational tournament held at Prep on Monday, April 6, automatically won the first place trophy when they found themselves facing each other in the finals after going through six rounds of debate without a defeat. Another Central team debating in the finals of the "C" bracket lost to North.

Members of the two teams winning the "A" bracket were Sylvan Siegler, Erwin Witkin, Bob Kalmansohn, Colin Shack, and Jim Stryker. Muriel Goldberg and Irene Roadhouse make up the team which was defeated by North in the finals of the "C" bracket.

Central entered the first round of the Creighton Prep tournament with fourteen teams in the "A" bracket. With tournament rules calling for a team suffering its first defeat to move to the "B" bracket and a team suffering its second defeat to move to the "C" bracket, Central had only three of its fourteen teams in the tournament at the beginning of the finals. The Central entry in the Creighton Prep tournament was the largest squad ever to represent the Purple and White in any debate tournament, according to Coach Don Warner.

Other members of the Central debate squad participating in the Prep tournament were Jerry Rosen, Bob Cohn, Neal Davis, Bud Malashock, Lee Ferer, Floyd Kuklin, Stanley Schack, Leonard Blankschien, Bill Campbell, John Bower, Peter Peterson, Jack Barton, Tyler Gaines, Phil Wilson, Ray Gould, L'Ornaeclair Triska, Betty Poole, Norma Jeanne Michaels, Mary Gray, Norman Thomas, Fred Whitcomb, David Glickfield, Stanley Perimeter, Lenke Isacson, and Jean Roadhouse.

Andy Kopperud, who was instrumental in the Central victories in the Missouri Valley boys' and mixed tournaments and in the district N.F.L., and also scheduled to be a member of one of the teams which helped Central win the "A" bracket of the Prep tournament, was unable to participate due to illness.

There were 54 teams in the Creighton Prep tournament which was sponsored by the Prep debate squad and L. F. Cervantes S.J., Prep debate coach.

Federal Inspection Looms for ROTC

As the last thoughts of the military ball fade away into memory, the battalion is giving all its attention to the preparation for the federal inspection to be held May 27, starting at 12:30 p.m. A tentative schedule has been arranged, and the companies are working toward that schedule at the present time.

According to the promotion order of April 10, newly promoted first lieutenants are John Bower, Bill Lambert, Sebastian Piccolo, and Franklyn Roberts; Technical Sergeant Walter Miller; Staff Sergeants Don Allen and Richard Svehla; Sergeant Robert Coverdale; Corporals Don Henningson and Everett Gantz.

With only seven weeks remaining, Company B leads the flag race with 113 points. Company A is surging forward and now totals 107 points, only six behind the leader, while Company D is in third place with 92 points. Company C is in fourth place with 91 1/2 points.

War Stamp Sale Hits $1,775 Mark

Linger Travel club is proud to announce that to date $1,775 worth of defense stamps have been sold. This is just a fraction of what they expect to sell, but even so, this amount caused Miss Mary A. Parker, teacher in charge of the sales, to give a sigh of relief when she received the good news.

Each week the amount to date will be posted on the bulletin board in the east hall. After sales have been made in the homerooms each Wednesday and Friday morning, the blackboard will be changed according to the amount sold.

Jeanne Johnson and Josselyn Broadwell have been appointed to assist Gisa Neuhaus with handling the money.

Believe Alumni Are Fighting on Bataan

Among the sixty Omahans believed to be on Bataan peninsula which fell to the Japanese on April 9, there are according to last reports, several former Central students and relatives of Central students.

Sol Amato, brother of Frank Amato '42, who was reported to be in the Philippines at the time of the Pearl Harbor incident, is believed to be among the troops stationed on the peninsula when it fell.

Yano Magimelli, who left Central in October, 1939, to join the army and who was reported by his brother Tom '43 to be at Fort Mills in the Philippines on December 7, was stationed on Bataan peninsula when last heard from.

Charles Uphoff, brother of Mary Uphoff '43, who was reported to be somewhere in Hawaii during the Pearl Harbor attack, is believed to be on Bataan peninsula at the present time.

Lucille Nielsen '44 and her sister, Ruth '45, recently entered Central from St. John's High school. Other students new to the school are Frank Tamai '44 and Gladys Tamai '43 who entered last week from Gonzales High school in Gonzales, California. Betty Loomis '45 came from Bloomer High school in Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Japs Breath Sigh Of Relief--Mr. G. Remains in Town

Well, the army is getting everyone else and it's not passing up the Central faculty. Mr. Gulgard, or "Mr. G" as he is familiarly called by his students, has answered his country's call to service.

A well-known and well-loved figure, "Mr. G" has been called into active duty as a reserve officer and was ordered to leave for Hensley flying field "deep in the heart of Texas." However, as he was preparing to go, a telephone call came from Washington, instructing him to remain in Omaha until further notice. Now he does not know when he is leaving; but in spite of that, he will no longer be plain "Mr. G" henceforth, he will be known as Captain Gulgard.

In Last War
This is not the first time he has been called from his teaching duties, as he spent two years abroad during the last world war. He met his wife in Paris. She was an Omahan who was stationed there in the Red Cross.

Born in Brooklyn, "Mr. G" came to Omaha at an early age and was graduated from our own Central, then known as Omaha High school. As for college, "I'm an old boiler-maker from Purdue." He spent a short time in Pennsylvania before he came here to teach in 1914.

At Central 28 Years
"Mr. G" has been teaching Central students physics for the past 28 years. We also know him as the "traffic cop" who keeps order in the north lunch room every day. But all these verbs may be in the past tense before long, for possibly we won't be seeing "Mr. G" around our halls for a long time. So if you see some melancholy looking faces around here, you'll know they are wondering how they are possibly going to get along without "Mr. G."

"I surely don't want to leave Central," sighed Mr. Gulgard, wistfully, "I'll miss all of my classes." But when you gotta go, you gotta go, and we're all proud of the part he is going to play in this war. And when he goes, we'll all be waiting for him to come back.

She's in the Army Now!

The army has struck again! One of Central's most efficient faculty members, Miss Mildred Goosman, left last week to do secretarial work in the army.

Although she is remaining in Omaha, Miss Goosman will not be associated with Central. A graduate of Central, she worked here for the past three years. Previously she worked in the bookroom for a short time.

All those who knew Miss Goosman join in wishing her the best of luck in her new position.

Miss Central VIII Will Be Chosen from Fifteen Girls

The girls of the Student Council, as Ladies of the Council, will be on stage as Miss Towne's court. They are Marjorie Allen '44, Kathleen Anderson '42, Barbara Byrne '43, Carolyn Covert '43, Josephine Falla '44, Helen Gearhart '43, and Betty Legge '44.

The officers of the freshman, sophomore, and junior classes will march as countesses. They are freshmen, Eleanor Dent, Patricia Nordeen, Carolyn Driscoll, Barbara Busch; sophomores, Ann Haggerty, Mary Martin, Joan Srb, Jane Weinhardt; juniors, Lenke Isacson, Donna Deffenbaugh, Bonnie Baysdorfer, and Billie Wilson.

Responsible for the success of the party are the various committees which have charge of the executive end of the business, and all of which are under the capable direction of Mrs. Irene Jensen. The courtesy committee, headed by Miss Ruth Pilling, will receive guests at the door. Miss Maybel Burns and Miss Veta Pickard assist here.

Keith Wilson Entertains Central High Players

With first hand knowledge from Keith Wilson, the Central High Players were introduced to the personalities of several stage and screen stars when he spoke to the club, April 7, in the old auditorium.

Mr. Wilson is the dramatic critic for the Omaha World-Herald, but because of the scarcity of plays in Omaha, he prefers to be called merely a "movie" critic.

He gave brief sketches of prominent movie individuals that he had met personally, telling of the "flamboyant eccentricity" of Orson Welles, the fine acting ability of Boris Karloff that had been hidden by Hollywood "typing." Preston Sturges, the writer-director, and Rosalind Russell are two of the personalities that he greatly admires. He commends Miss Russell for her fine quality of acting ability and her sincere emotion.

Joan McCague introduced Mr. Wilson to the audience.

Miss Elinor Bennett, from South High school, Miss Adrian Westberg, Miss Margaret Weymuller, and Mrs. Elsie Swanson officiate on the ballot committee. In charge of collecting and counting the ballots are Mary Margaret Bell, Penelope Anderson, Maxine Chapin, Lucille Perelman, and Nancy Davis.

The flower committee, with Mrs. Irene Jensen as sponsor and Marion Keller as chairman, will see that the participants of the march have the proper flowers. The girls working on it are Glennis Kimerlie, Virginia Payne, Mary Ann Korb, Marion Cooper, Beverly Bush.

The coronation committee has Eleanor Chin as chairman, and Jeanette Magnussen, Adele Hackett, Marge Heyn and Lula Mae Zajicek as committee members. Barbara Byrne and Laurel Childe have charge of tickets with Miss Angelina Tauchen and Mrs. Edna Dana as sponsors.

Chairman of the publicity committee is Dorothy Devereux with Rosemary Webb, Virginia Hefflinger, and Ruby Artisan assisting. Mrs. Savidge is the faculty chairman for this committee. Supplying entertainment for the floor show will be Hollis Wilson and Jacqueline Ekdahl, Miss Frances McChesney as faculty chairman. Doris Clancy with Josephine Falla, Jean Roadhouse, Jean Goode, and Mrs. Baker of the cafeteria assisting, make up the refreshment committee. Two boys will be chosen for the honored position of taking charge of the pop stand.

Miss Virginia Lee Pratt, Mrs. Augusta Turpin, Miss Nell Eridenbaugh, and Miss Helen Lane will be judges for costumes with Lois Turner, Marjorie Allan, Helen Gearhart, and volunteers from the junior class assisting on the committee.

The seven boys who will be officially present are Bob Beck, Oscar Beasley, Bill Wiseman, Lorrie Muller, Don Gorman, Lyle Mortensen, and Louie Oppido, members of the stage crew under the direction of Frank Rice.

With a precedent for success set by seven hilarious parties before it, "The '8' Ball" will prove to be well worth leaving the boys at home for this one night when the fairer sex reigns supreme.

The a cappella choir of 1939 is pictured in a pamphlet showing various choirs from state music contests. This pamphlet is put out by the Remick Publishing company and is nationally circulated on high school publicity.

Billig — BOB — Fromkin

For Central wrestlers and Coach Allie Morrison this has certainly been a gala week. A quartet of Eagle grapplers hit the headlines during the past few days and all have been under the tutelage of our wrestling coach.

Completing the foursome are the Evans' brothers, Gene and Morrie. Gene was the regular 133 pound state title-holder this season and his brother was twice state champion in '39 and '40 at Central.

Somewhat belated are the letter awards to the basketball and wrestlers of Coaches Buising and Morrison, but here they are:

Basketball: Jim Emery, Bob Fry, Dave Grimes, Richard Gray, Allen Grove, John Hiffernan, Larry Miller, George Moore, John Potts, Mel Sherman, Leroy Trigg, Tony Vincil, and Bob Melcher, manager.

Wrestling: Charles Blecha, Harold Boker, Jack Dreier, Gene Evans, Bob Kriss, Don Gorman, Ken Lebbe, Tom Mangiameli, Ted Niess, Al Pattavina, and Don Payton.

Others are Anthony Salerno, Frank Scarpello, Joe Scarpello, Art Sholkofski, Harold Sundsboe, Vito Sutera, Bill Swanson, Joe Vacanti, and Bob Root, manager.

Track season officially opens tomorrow with the Thomas Jefferson relays. Always an exciting sport, let's have a sizable Central turnout over in the Bluffs tomorrow to spur the Eagles on to victory.

Frank Knapple, Central's athletic director, was elected president of the Nebraska-Iowa coaches' and officials' association at a meeting April 6.

Knapple takes over as head of the officials at a difficult time. Transportation problems may stunt the membership, which now stands at about 80, and will prevent coaches and officials many miles out of Omaha from attending meetings.

Best bet to win the city championship in the spring sports is the tennis team coached by Allie Morrison. All but three of last year's title-holders are back, so the racketeers are looking forward to a highly successful season.

Three more alma mater grads have been sent up to Class B teams this year from the Eagle diamond. They are Westy Basso, Seb Distefano, and Milton "Bud" Parsons.

Scarpello Takes U.S. Mat 165 Crown in A.A.U. Contest

Evans Snatches Consolation Prize

Two Eagle Grapplers Make Grand Showing In National Meet

The Scarpello is mighty and shall prevail! Yessir, folks, that national A. A. U. wrestling champion among us is none other than Jarrin' Joe Scarpello, who captured the 165 pound title at New Orleans last week.

Whips Defending Champ

By copping a 6-1 decision over James Might of the Baltimore Y. M. C. A. in the finals of the 165 pound class, Joe became one of the very few high school wrestlers ever to gain a national crown. All other '42 champions had the benefit of college or athletic club competition.

Joe advanced to the finals the hard way, defeating the former king, Homer Faucett of Bowman Field, Kentucky, in a semi-final match. At the close of the regular 12 minutes, Scarpello and his opponent were tied at 7-all. After a brief consultation, the judges gave the match to Joe because of his aggressiveness in the contest.

In his first bout, Joe was too much for Lee Ecuycer of New Orleans, taking an easy fall in 1:23.

Evans Makes Good

Gene Evans, another Eagle grappler, made a very creditable performance in the national meet, winning the 128 pound consolation title. In his opening match, Gene scored one of the quickest wins in the tourney by pinning E. Gisevius of New Orleans in 1:04.

Mickey Marks, one of the many Oklahoma A. & M. matmen in the meet, had too much experience for Evans in the semi-finals and threw Gene in 4:25. Not in the least discouraged, Evans came back to win the consolation final from Eustace Sherman of New Orleans on a 3-2 decision. Marks went on to win the championship.

Joe Very Popular

Besides being the youngest title-winner, Scarpello was one of the most popular grapplers in the tourney. His good sportsmanship and unquenchable spirit earned the special notice of thousands of New Orleans spectators.

Hats off to Joe Scarpello and Gene Evans who have brought athletic fame to Central in an otherwise bleak year.

Sorensen's Golfers Win First Match

Playing in the midst of a fierce wind storm, Coach Norman Sorensen's golfers nipped the Vikings of North in the first match of the season, 365-367. Sparked by sophomore Dick Klopp with a fine 84 over the tough Indian Hills' layout, the Eagles staged a great rally which was climaxed on the eighteenth hole with two exceptional shots.

Klopp holed out a forty yard approach shot, while his teammate Bill Olson sank a thirty foot putt, with the "chips" down. At the end of nine holes Central had taken five strokes more than the Norsemen. Slowly, but surely they pulled up, until as the two teams teed off on the eighteenth, their totals were even. But due to the Purples' "money" players — the Ames avenue boys bowed.

Tom Shea, another sophomore, was second low man for Central with an 88, matched by Krause of North, also.

Central Racketeers Overcome Bunnies In Opening Match

Morrison's Boys Point for Tennis Laurels in District Competition; Busch Shines

Central's tennis team picked up where it left off last season by soundly trouncing the Benson netsters in two out of the three matches played at Dewey park on Tuesday.

Although the Eagles dropped the number one singles contest, they easily beat the remaining Benson contingent. Jimmie Harris, young sophomore star, showed that all he lacked was experience in dropping a close one to Cal Olsen in the feature by the score of 6-4 and 7-5. At all times the game was hotly contested and maintained a fast pace.

Busch Dumps Zimmerman

The Purple and white showed class in giving the Bunnies only four games in the rest of the matches. Steady Jack Busch showed the way by dumping Ward Zimmerman by the count of 6-1 and 6-0 in the number two singles. Busch was never in trouble and was never pushed.

Newcomers were featured in the doubles play as four underclassmen broke into competition. Al Granfield, Eagle star netman, took things easy by only playing one set. Helping him out were Fred Whitcomb, Harvey Sapot, Cap Offutt, and Dave Davis. In winning this contest, the Central boys established themselves as title contenders this year. Last season they swept all honors in district competition.

- Remaining matches are as follows:
- April 21—Central vs. Abraham Lincoln
 - April 28—Central vs. Tech
 - May 5—Central vs. South
 - May 12—Central vs. Creighton
 - May 19—Central bye
 - May 26—Central vs. North

Meet the National Champ

JOE SCARPELLO, the new 1942 National A.A.U. Wrestling Champion at 165 pounds, credits his coach, Allie Morrison, for his success.

Tee Jay Relays

"A tough meet, such as the Tee Jay Relays, is always problematical and cannot be predicted beforehand," spoke Coach "Papa" Schmidt, when asked about his track team entry in the Saturday relays over in the Bluffs.

Last year, Schmidt's speedsters finished third behind Tech and Fremont, but this season they are rated favorites to be on top, when the sun dips in the west tomorrow evening.

Crack relay teams are entered in the mile, freshman, sophomore, and medley events. The mile team is composed of Paulsen, Crandall, Tosaw, and either Emery or Boker. Rowan, Emery, Paulsen, and Boker make up the medley team. Kenneth Allwine strained his leg in practice, but may be in shape for one of the relays.

Dayton Smith, pole vaulter de luxe, promises to win the trophy in the sky soaring event. Along with Gilmore, he is also to run the hurdle races. Danny Wilson and Bob Towne, present favorable opposition in the sprints. High jumpers are George Moore and Bob Towne, while Moore and John Potts are slated for the broad jump.

In the weight events are Epperson, Barber, and Smith. The freshman squad is as follows: Dailey, Fleishman, Kountze, Marshall, Gould, McNeil. The sophomores are Rosenbloom, Spence, Booth, Horoska, Sherman, Berner, and Gorman.

Free Farm Training Offered to Students

High school boys interested in training for a job on a farm in the summer are given the opportunity to attend a free farm training course. The Omaha Chamber of Commerce sponsored the organization meeting held last Monday evening at 7:30 in the auditorium. The only requirement to take the course is the complete interest and regular attendance of the student.

This course will be as practical as possible, and it will be a good preparatory training for any boy. Undoubtedly, there will be a great demand for help on farms in the counties around Omaha because of the shortage of farm labor and the need for greatly increased farm crop operations.

Few city boys know just what is expected of a hired man on a farm. The first few meetings will explain what is expected of a worker and the benefits a person can obtain for doing this work.

At Monday's meeting, Dean W. W. Burr; Professor J. V. Srb from the College of Agriculture, University of Nebraska; Paul Stewart, farm service manager, Federal Land bank; and Walter Trumbull, a successful farm operator in Sarpy county, addressed the meeting.

Training school sessions will begin April 30 and will be held Tuesday and Thursday evenings for four weeks. Modern farm equipment, its use, and care will be demonstrated. The care and harnessing of horses will also be given.
