TRAINING FOR BUSINESS

IF you have that of Business as your prospective career after leaving school, you should train yourself for it as you would for success in any other field of human endeavor. Devote to your preparation all that forethought, care and enthusiasm that you would to a profession, so that when you finally enter upon your career you may do so with a trained mind and a developed personality. The young men and women who obtain such training are in unlimited demand, and their opportunities are growing with each year. The

OMAHA COMMERCIAL COLLEGE

will give you an opportunity to increase your efficiency by a thoro, practical course of study.

SGT. AT ARMS

THE SENIOR CLASS.

ABRAHAM, DOROTHEA G., "Do," German Soc. (1-2-3-4).

That the discovery of a new dish does more for the happiness of man than the discovery of a star, is the principle of her life. (N. B.—She takes Domestic Science).

ALBACH, ETHEL M.

"Who can say more than this praise, that you alone are you."

ALBERT, JACOB, "Jake," Webster (1).

He aspires to go on the vaudeville stage and is already a member of a comedy quartet.

ALLISON, IRVING B.

He hails from Florence and there is nothing that he does not know about the sciences. Has a relative among the faculty. "Nuff sed."

ALLYN CLARENCE, First Lieut. Co. C.

"His years are young, but his experience old; His head unmellowed, but his judgment ripe."

Ain't it awful, Mabel?

ANDERSON, EDITH B., Lininger Travel (1-2-3-4).

"A heart to no folly or mischief inclined."

ANDERSON, MABLE, Lininger Travel (4).
"The trust I have is in my innocence."

ANHEUSER, JULIA M., Frances Willard Soc. (1-2), Hawthorne (3-4), German Soc. (1-2-3-4).

A strict prohibitionist. Was quite athletic until cold showers were instituted.

AYCRIGG, WILLIAM A., 2nd Lieut. Co. A (4), Athletics (4-5), Track Team (4), Mandolin Club (5).

"That household god, a man's own self."

AYRES, SARA, "Peggy," Hawthorne Soc. (1-2-3-4), Vice-Pres. (4), Class Sgt.-at-Arms (4).

*There is a young Senior named Ayres,
 Who gives a brave officer scares;
 Tho an athlete quite nimble,
 She makes our president "Trimble,"
 And then doesn't act like she cares!*

BARNES, RICHARD H., "Handy," 2d Lieut. Co. G, D. D. S. (1-2-3-4), Sgt-at-Arms (2), Vice-Pres. (3), Pres. (4), Debating Ed. (4), Boosters' Club (4), Debating Team (4), Eligible Commencement Comp.

*There was once a Senior named Barnes
 Who strenuously objected to yarns (?)
 An avowed woman-hater,
 He'd see himself later
 Before he'd succumb to their charms.*

BARTLETT, EDNA, "Ed," Elaine Soc. (1-2-3-4), College Club (4).

Her quick response and ready wit, as well as her fair face, make her a joy to her friends.

BECKETT, MARGERY. "Shoots," Frances Willard Soc. (1-2-3-4), Reporter (1), Pres. (2), Vice-Pres. (3), Secy and Treas. (4), Latin Soc. (2-3-4), Treas (3), Boosters' Club (3-4).

"She was our queen, our rose, our star! And then she danced. O heaven, her dancing."

BELKNAP, THURSTON L., Glee Club (3-4), Secy. and Treas. (4).

Does scene shifting like a stage hand and yet was the manager of the minstrel show.

BERANEK, STANLEY, 1st Lieut. Co. D, Glee Club (4), Webster Soc. (4), Eligible Commencement Comp.

"Silence is his one great art of conversation." In spite of this he sings in the Glee Club and gets many A's.

BERKA, MABELLE, Frances Willard Soc. (1-4).

*"I know her by her jolly air,
Her bright black eyes, her bright black hair."*

BESSELL, ABE.

"Shut up in measureless content."

BESSELL, BLANCHE, German Soc. (1-2-3-4), Frances Willard Soc. (4).

Now Blanche has a mind of her own, but she's so nice about it that you can't help liking her.

BESSIRE, BEULAH A., "Bootsie," Sponsor
Co. H, P. A. S. (2-3-4).

"Of all thy suitors here, I charge thee, tell whom thou lovest best."

BLAKE, HARRIET, M. F. S. (1-2-3-4),
Secy. (2), Reporter (4), German Soc.
(3-4), Boosters' Club (4), Pres. College Club (4), Eligible Commencement Comp.

*"So mild, so merciful, so strong, so good,
So patient, so peaceful, loyal, loving, pure."*

BLOCK, SAM, Glee Club (4).

By this picture, a sweet-faced youth, and he has a voice that is the mainstay of the Glee Club.

BONINE, HAZEL E.

"Her gentleness hath made her great."

BREngle, LIDA E.

"They laugh that win."

*We might turn this around for Lida and say
"They win that laugh," for she certainly wins friends—also good marks—by her laugh.*

BUCK, HELEN M., "Bucky," M. F. S. (1-2-3-4), Treas. (2), Pres. (4), Boosters'
Club (4), Art Soc. (3-4), Vice-Pres. (4).

*"Fair ideas flow,
Strike in the sketch or in the picture glow."
Helen never Buck(s) at anything—not even work.*

BURDICK, EDWARD S., "Tub," Baseball (1), Track Team (1-2-3), Class Track Capt. (1-2), Class Pres. (3), Glee Club (3), Basket Ball (1-2-3-4), Capt. B. B. Team (3-4), Boosters' Club (3-4).

Ed is the best athlete Omaha ever had and he has more friends as every day passes by. As yet he is heart-whole.

BURESH, LUMIR C., "Lu," Capt. Co. D, D. S. (3-4), Secy. (3-4), Boosters' Club (3-4), Associate Ed. (3), Editor-in-Chief Register (4), Eligible Commencement Comp.

"Oh, what a deal of scorn looks beautiful, In the contempt and anger of his lips." Endowed with great constancy and a tireless industry.

BURGER, JOSEPH, Silver Medal (2), Capt. and Ordinance, Treas. Athenian (4), Eligible Commencement Comp.

BURNHAM, EDWARD M., 1st Lieut. and Adj. 2nd Bat., Class B. B. Team (4).

A basket-ball player of great renown, Who came to us from a western town; A fickle heart and a nimble brain, The world will hear of "John Smith" again.

BUSH, MARIE, "Toady," Hawthorne Soc. (1-2-3-4), Vice-Pres. (4), B. B. (2-3-4), Capt. (4).

"She strives her schoolmates all to please with manners wondrous winning; She never does a wicked thing unless when she is sinning."

BUTLIN, MURIEL, Latin Soc. (3), P. A. S. (4).

Is blessed with a woman's most persuasive and powerful argument—gentleness.

BYRD, FOREST W.

Forest is certainly a bird, because he plays the drum in the band, and he "May" study forestry at Ames.

"I have a gun, but it don't shoot."

CARLSON, HOMER, "Monk."

*"One hour in a day for study,
One hour in which to eat,
Two hours to think how tired I am,
And twenty hours to sleep."*

CARLSON, VIOLET.

"Thy modesty is a candle to thy merit."

CARNABY, JOE R., 1st Lieut. Co. B.

Joe used to go to York H. S., but rather than be one of our most hated enemies he decided to come and join us. At least one good thing has come from York. Is it possible?

CARPENTER, MARION, "Mugs," Browning (1-2-3-4), Vice-Pres. (3), Pres. (4), German Soc. (3-4), Boosters' Club (4), Secy. (4).

Marion has the sweetest disposition on record and she seems to get more friends every day.

CARR, ROSE.

Rose is so serious-minded that we absolutely refuse to try and make a joke on her.

CASE, KATHERINE.

*"There was a young lady named Case
Who surely has a pleasant face;
She looks jolly and happy,
And not a bit nappy,
Does this pleasing young lady (named Case)."*

CASE, MURILLA A., Latin Soc. (2-3).

Not a music box, but a musical Case, and a real nice girl, too.

*CHASE, EMILY M., "Chasey," P. A. S.
(1-2-3-4), Latin Soc. (3-4), Art Soc.
(3-4), Pres. (3-4), College Club (4), Corres. Secy. (4), Staff Artist (3-4).*

*"Her blue eyes sought the west afar
For lovers love the western star."*

Has never been known to be early except once. One of the inseparables.

CHRISTENSEN, NELLIE A.

"A friendly heart that has plenty of friends."

CLARK, ETHEL M.

Her one ambition in life is to join a woman's club, yet she insists on walking to school with the boys.

*COHN, BLANCHE M., Browning Soc.
(1-2-3-4), German Soc. (3-4), Sgt-at-Arms (4).*

Has won everlasting fame by solving the vexed problem. It is to deposit a large hat in a locker without injuring it.

COLE, H. FAY, L. T. C. (2-3-4), Reporter
(4), Eligible Commencement Comp.

"In stature small, but in marks all A's."

COONS, WILBUR R.

His cherub-like face has been his stock in trade for four years. He goes also on the principle that it's easier to study your lessons once than to bluff over them twice.

COPELAND, LOUISE B., Pleiades (1-2-3-4), Secy. (3), Vice-Pres. (4), Latin Soc. (3-4), Sgt.-at-Arms (4), College Club (3-4), Winner D. A. R. Medal (3), Eligible Commencement Comp.

"Oh, that I could only see my class pin more often."

*Has Earnestly pursued her Senior year with studious and thoughtful mien.
The other inseparable.*

COWELL, MONA H., Elaine (1-2-3-4), Vice-Pres. (3), Latin Soc. (2-3), Eligible Commencement Comp.

"Beauty, truth and rarity Grace in all simplicity."

CRAIG, SARA.

*"Deign on the passing world to turn thine eyes,
And pause awhile from learning to be wise."*

CUTRIGHT, JOHN L., "Cherub," 2nd Lieut. Quartermaster 1st Bat., Class B. B. (4), Football 2nd Team (4), Eligible Commencement Comp.

A beautiful child who found Lincoln not good enough for him. A natural born heart-smasher.

DAVIDSON, O. DEAN, "Davy," Webster (3-4), Secy. (4), German Soc. (3-4), Sgt.-at-Arms (4).

Did you Evers (s)ee Dean with a girl? Oh, no! A lad of Stella(r) worth.

DAVIS, J. CALVIN, "Skimp," Capt. Co. H., Ciceronian Soc (1), Latin Soc. (2), Boosters' Club (4).

*"I once was a jolly young beau,
And knew how to pick up a fan;
But I've done with all that you must know,
For now I'm a family man."*

DEAVER, BLANCHE B., L. T. C. (1-2-3-4), Pres. (2), Editor (3), Eligible Commencement Comp.

"The rule of my life is to make business a pleasure and pleasure my business."

We add that this involves good marks and the study of (one) man's character.

DEGEN, HAZEL, "Azel," Browning Soc. (1-2-3-4), Latin Soc. (3-4), College Club (4), Domestic Science Ed. (4).

*Perhaps that is the reason the virtues of the Juniors loom up so large in Hazel's eyes.
O, you Juniors! ! !*

DODDS, LOUIE H., Class B. B. Team (1), B. B. Team (3-4).

"For his acts so much applauded."

Omaha's basket ball genius. He saved the team this year after Burdick's loss.

DOUD, ELIZABETH, "Beth," Sponsor Co. D., M. F. S. (1-2-3-4), Reporter (2), Pres. (3), Latin Soc. (2-3-4), Vice-Pres. (3), Athletic Ed. (3), Boosters' Club (3-4), Class Vice-Pres. (3), College Club (4), Asst. Ed. Register (4), Eligible Commencement Comp.

"Her face; oh, call it fair, not pale."

A very remarkable girl is she, capable of editing a paper or running a company. Never got but one "D."

DUCHER, ESTHER.

A shy little Puritan who believes that patience is the necessary ingredient of genius.

EDGINGTON, CRYSTAL, "Bobbie," Elaine
(1), Exchange Ed. (4), Graduate Club
(4), College Club (4).

*"I would I were a bird," she sung,
And each disgusted one
Thought to himself the wicked thought,
"I wish I were a gun."*

ELGUTTER, NELLIE, "Cuffy," Sponsor Co.
C, Browning (1-2-3-4), Asst. Ed. of Oracle (3), Latin Soc. (2-3-4), Sec. (3),
Boosters' Club (4), Debating Squad (3),
Lit. Ed. (4), Eligible Commencement
Comp.

*"Nellie's heaven is easily made;
'Tis but black eyes and lemonade."*

Nellie has led a very eventful career during her H. S. Life—married, divorced, handcuffed, and now sponsor. But—O, you kōdak! ! !

ELMER, ZELA O., Hawthorne Soc. (2-3-4).

*"Whoever blushes seems to be good."
Now, from the number of entrancing blushes,
Zela must be an angel.*

ENHOLM, HUGO.

Hugo is a musical genius, but wears so sad an air that we think someone is worrying him.

EVERS, STELLA, "Sis," German Soc. (1),
Pleiades Soc. (4).

*"In giggling, merely giggling, she hath spent full many a day."
Will it be Ever(s) thus?*

EWERS, CLAIRE.

Claire is one of the girls we haven't heard much of. She is persistent in her studies and possesses a sweet disposition.

FAHS, MARGERITE M., "Fuzzy," Browning Soc. (1-2-3-4), Secy. (3), Latin Soc. (2-3), Sgt.-at-Arms (2).

"Good manners are made up of petty sacrifices."

FERNALD, FRED C., "Fritz," 2nd Lieut. Co. C, D. D. S. (2-3-4), Latin Soc. (2-3-4), Treas. (3), Pres. (3), Senior B. B. Team (4), Mandolin Club (4), Sgt.-at-Arms C. O. C. (4).

Fritz's occupation is getting A's and studying Greek. A little of his spare time he spends on basket ball, more of it on music, but the greater part on the girls.

"A daughter is an embarrassing and ticklish possession." (And Fred had nine!)

FINLEY, ROBERT, "Bob," 2nd Lieut. Co. B, Webster Soc. (1), Class B. B. Team (2-3), Capt. (3), B. B. Team (4), Glee Club (4), Eligible Commencement Comp.

"Good Shepherd, tell this youth what it is to love."

Bob proved to be a sturdy basket ball player and a persistent seeker of A's.

FITZGERALD, INA M.

You can never hear Ina talk—unless you're a mile off. Her favorite expression is, "I can't because I'm married."

FLEISHMAN, ANNA M.

"Mistress of herself tho' china fall."

We are sure nothing could ruffle Anna's placid disposition.

FRANKUM, ANNA J.

Anna is one of the few members of the Senior class who considers example better than precept. So she says little and does much.

FRASER, HARRY S., "Cassius," 1st Lieut. Co. A, Class Athletics (3-4), Track Team (3-4), Capt. (4), Athenian Soc. (4), Pres. (4), Manager B. B. Team (4), Boosters' Club (4).

"Famine is in thy cheeks."

A valiant track athlete and a lively Booster.

FROST, GERTRUDE.

Gertrude never was a frost and we don't think she ever will be.

FRY, DAISY J., Browning Soc. (1-2-3-4), Treas. (3).

"She's never, never frivolous, She's never, never bold."

CALE, PAULINE, Hawthorne Soc. (1-2-3-4), Reporter (2), Vice-Pres. (2), Pres. (3).

"Knowledge is the wing wherewith we fly to Heaven."

Pauline has the best of hopes.

CEIB, GEORGE D., "Alice," Major 1st Bat., Webster Soc. (1-2-3-4), Sgt.-at-Arms (2), Pres. (4), German Soc. (2-3-4), Pres. (4), Treas. (4), Boosters' Club (4), Glee Club (4), Class Ed. (3), Local Ed. (4), Class B. B. Team (3-4), Manager Track Team (4).

"Give me that man;

*That is not passion's slave, and I will wear him
In my heart's core; aye, in my heart of heart."*

George is so popular that he has cornered about all the offices possible.

GIDEON, ALICE, Hawthorne Soc. (1-2-3-4), Vice-Pres. (3), Reporter (3), Latin Soc. (3-4), Pres. (4), Reporter (4), Boosters' Club (3-4), B. B. (4), Local Ed. (4), Class Secy. (4), Eligible Commencement Comp.

A second Mrs. Pankhurst—Suffragette through and through. A shark at languages—as at everything else.

CIFFORD, GLADYS, Elaine Soc. (1-2-3-4), Latin Soc. (2-3-4), Alumni Ed. (4).

"Cooking may be acquired; Roasting is a gift of nature."

GILMORE, HENRIETTA, "Peaches," Sponsor 2nd Bat., M. F. S. (1-2-3-4), Sgt-at-Arms (1), Secy. (3), Boosters' Club (4).

*There was a young lady named Gilmore,
Just full of fun was she;
A right "peachy" girl, set your heart in a whirl,
Would this young lady named Gilmore.*

GLADWIN, ELBERT L.

*So brilliant that he doesn't have to study.
Fact is he was nearly killed once by a train of thought passing through his mind.*

GLASGOW, ETHEL.

Ethel is the pride of Mrs. Atkinson's heart because she knows almost more about history than the man who made it.

GORDON, MARIE, Elaine Soc. (1-2-3-4), Secy. (4), Latin Soc. (3-4), College Club (4), Reporter (4), Eligible Commencement Comp.

Prima donna in grand opera, the muses up-to-date, and star in tragedy, Latin class, Maker of wit, fun and fudge.

GOULD, RUTH, "Little One," Regimental Sponsor, M. F. S. (1-2-3-4), Reporter (3), College Club (4), Librarian (4), Boosters' Club (4), Social Ed. (4).

*With dancing hair and laughing eyes,
That seems to mock me as it flies,
Or light or dark, or short or tall,
She sets a spring to snare them all.*

GOULD, STUART, "Pinky," 1st Lieut. Co. I, D. D. S. (1-2-3-4), Vice-Pres. (4), Latin Soc. (2), German Soc. (3-4), Pres. (4), Treas. (4), Boosters' Club (4), Glee Club (4), Squib Ed. (4), Eligible Commencement Comp.

"I find nonsense singularly refreshing."

Pinky never looked serious in his life but once, when he had his picture taken, and that was to win a bet. Has a chronic case of Junioritis.

GREBE, MAUD.

"Nothing so well becomes true feminine beauty as simplicity." That's why she makes such a hit as just Maude.

GREEN, PAULINE M., German Soc. (1), Art Soc. (1-2-3-4).

*"A gentle maiden, tall and fair,
With honest eyes and blackest of hair."*

GRODINSKY, ROSE.

A sister of the famous William. She's got all the A's he didn't get, so the family is well supplied.

GRODINSKY, WILLIAM, "Grody," D. D. S. (1), Latin Soc. (2-3-4), Eligible Commencement Comp.

"Willie stood up like a man and looked the thing he meant."

CROSS, IRMA H., "Pokey," Browning Soc. (1-2-3-4), Latin Soc. (2-3-4), Reporter (4), College Club (4), Recording Secy. (4), Boosters' Club (4), Organization Ed. (4), Eligible Commencement Comp.

"She reads much;

She is a great observer, and she looks Quite through the deeds of men."

Pokey was ever slow. It even took her four and a half years to get through High School.

HAARMANN, ELSA, Hawthorne (1), German Soc. (2-3-4), Reporter (4), College Club (4).

Some people talk because their spirit so moves them, but Elsa talks because she just can't keep still. "Besides, you know, Kid, I have to amuse them in some way."

HADRA, ERNA L., Syracuse," Browning (2-3-4), Editor (4), German Soc. (3-4), Sgt.-at-Arms (3), Vice-Pres. (4), Girls' Athletics (2-3-4), Author O. H. S. Alma Mater (4).

"Her delight is in athletics, in skating, basket ball and tennis."

HAGER, LUCILE L.

Lucile has gained an enviable reputation in High School because she pretends to be fond of Cicero.

HAMILTON, MABEL, "Jimmy," M. F. S. (2-3-4), Latin Soc. (2-3-4), Vice-Pres. (4).

"There's little of the melancholy element in her."

HAMILTON, WARREN, "Ham," D. D. S. (1-2), Treas. (2), Mandolin Club (4).

"What a fine man hath your tailor made you."

HANSEN, HENRY G., "Shorty," 1st Lieut.
Co. F, Class Track Team (4).

"A tall and manly Saxon."

His ambition is to be a baseball player or the president of the United States.

HARDY, CHARLES F., "Chot," 1st Lieut.
Band, D. D. S. (2-3-4), Sgt.-at-Arms (3), Glee Club (4).

Not only a past master on the piano, but always "a jolly good fellow." Big smoke in the Red-Headed club.

HARGADINE, EDITH, Art. Soc. (3).

"If it were done, when 'tis done, then 'twere well,

It were done quickly."

That's why Edith's always in such an awful hurry.

HARM, WINIFRED B., "Fat," Capt. and
Ord. Officer (1st term), Webster Soc.
(1-2-3-4).

*"When turkey's on the table laid,
And good things I may scan,
I'm thankful that I wasn't made
A vegetarian."*

HAVILAND, HAROLD W., "Happy," Sgt.
Major 2nd Bat. (4).

*That's as much as to say the sweet youth's in love,
The greatest note of it is his melancholy.*

HAYNES, J. WILBUR, D. D. S. (1-2-3-4),
Treas. (3), Secy. (4), Debating Team (4).

Wilbur can put together the most odiferous compounds in chemistry that are granted to any of the elect. A shark at electricity also.

HAZE, NANCY M., "Nan," Hawthorne Soc. (1-2-3-4), Sgt.-at-Arms (2), Reporter (3), Pres. (4), Boosters' Club (4), College Club (4), Class Vice-Pres. (4).

*For Nancy's a light-hearted, merry knave,
Who just can't make her eyes behave;
She wields a brush with great dexterity,
Her works of art will charm posterity.*

HELLER, WILSON B., "Angel," Q. M. Sgt. Co. G, D. D. S. (1-2-3-4), Latin Soc. (2-3-4), Secy. (3), Sgt.-at-Arms (4), Glee Club (4).

A veritable Apollo, who is one of the few real heart smashers in this institution. Has the best trained hair in the class.

HENSMAN, LOTTIE.

*"Lottie is a home girl;
In household arts she's skilled;
Faithful in her friendships,
She's gentle and good-willed."*

HEYN, HUGO G., "Heinie," Capt. Band, D. S. (1-2-3-4), Mandolin Club (4), O. H. S. Orchestra (2-3), D. D. S. Orchestra (3).

*"The flowers that bloom in the spring tra la, have nothing to do with the case."
When Fanny is concerned, the only stock he takes is in Roses.*

HILMES, JOHN, "Longfellow."

*Blue eyes and golden hair,
Tall and handsome, girls, beware!
A jolly good fellow just the same;
"Poor John"—he's not to blame.*

HOFFERT, CHARLES S., "Chuck," Major 3rd Bat., Class B. B. Team (3-4), Capt. (4), Boosters' Club (4), Secy. C. O. C. (4).

*His dignity (?) so grand (?) and cool (!)
His egotistic wish to rule;
His air, which says, "I run this school!"
These mark the Major Hoffert.*

HOFFMAN, LEONARD W., 2nd Lieut. Co. H., German Soc. (1-2), Webster Soc. (1-2-3).

"Young as I am, I can bear my own sword."

HOWARD, MARGARET S., "Marjie," Hawthorne (3-4).

Talks just as naturally as if she did it out of habit. Gained fame as a theatrical manager in the History Pageant.

HOWARD, WARREN H., Regimental Capt. and Adj., Baseball (1), Football (1-2-3-4), Class Athletics (1-2-3-4), Class Track Capt. (3-4), 2nd Individ. Drill Medal (3), Boosters' Club (3-4), Senior B. B. Team, Pres. C. O. C. (4).

"True, conscious honor is to feel no sin."

*"Honor is like that glassy bubble
That finds philosophers such trouble;
Whose best part cracked, the whole does fly."*

HOWELL, A. BRANDON, D. D. S. (1), Mandolin Club (4).

"He seems

*For dignity composed and high exploit,
But all was false and hollow!"*

HUDSON, CHARLES B., "The Count," 2nd Lieut. Co. E, Track Team (4).

*"A moral, sensible and well-bred man
Will not affront me, and no other can."
Therefore, we are silent.*

JACOBSEN, EDITH, German Soc. (1-2), Frances Willard Soc. (1-2-3).

"Her looks do argue her replete with modesty."

JENSEN, ALMA, Hawthorne Soc. (1-2-3-4),
German Soc. (3).

The reason why people who mind their own business succeed is because they have so little competition.

JENSEN, LOTHARDT, D. D. S. (1-2),
Webster (4), Class Track Team (3), Eligible Commencement Comp.

"The great man is he who does not lose his child's heart."

Now Lothardt is the greatest of the great, for he is still a member of the once thriving Bachelor Club.

JOHNSON, ANNA E., German Soc. (2-3).

Anna is of so retiring a disposition that we couldn't find anything bad to write about her.

JOHNSON, MAY R., Browning Soc. (3-4).

*She's loyal to Omaha High School;
Her praises she gives by the peck,
And also (but keeps it a secret),
She's loyal to Boston "Tech."*

JOHNSON, TECKLA R., German Soc. (1-2),
Frances Willard Soc. (1-2-3).

"Naught is so sweet as melancholy."

Teckla is as sorrowful over the misdoings of her fellow classmates as she is perfect.

JOHNSON, WILLIAM G.

"A youth grave, thoughtful and reserved."

JONES, OTTO N., "The Cow Puncher," Sgt. Co. A (3), 2nd Football Team (3).

*From Wyoming, wild and woolly,
A gallant, so full of dash;
Makes a big hit with the ladies,
But all he wants is "Sass."*

KENNEDY, ALFRED C., "Al," Capt. Co. A, D. D. S. (1-2-3-4), Sgt.-at-Arms (3), Vice-Pres. (4), Mgr. Football Team (4), Class Sgt.-at-Arms (4), Senior Ed. (4), Pres. Boosters' Club (4), Track Team (1-2-3-4).

"I can get no remedy 'gainst this consumption of the purse."

Has succumbed to the charms of an amiable Junior who is now an ardent adjunct of Co. A. (Notice the Al-literation).

KEIRLE, CLIFFORD C.

A serious-minded youth who also came from Florence. But he gained a reputation for diligent work in the History Pageant.

KENT, MARGUERITE, Pleiades Soc. (3), German Soc. (3).

*"Who mixed reason with pleasure
And wisdom with mirth?"*

KIRSCHTEIN, IRENE B., German Soc. (2), Browning Soc. (2-3-4), P. G. Club, Eligible Commencement Comp.

"Gentle of speech, beneficent of mind."

KLINE, PHILIP.

This picture is the only place in which we ever saw Phil that he wasn't grinning and happy.

KULAKOFSKY, J. HARRY, "Kuly," 2nd Lieut Co. F, D. D. S. (1-2-3-4), German Soc. (1), Class Athletics (1-2-3-4), Class B. B. Team (2-3), Track Team (3-4), B. B. Team (4).

"Whatever anyone does or says, I must be good."

But Harry is consistent, even as far as track and basketball.

KULAKOFSKY, IDA, Hawthorne Soc. (1-2-3-4), Latin Soc. (2-3), Eligible Commencement Comp.

"A happy genius is the gift of nature."

Especially if, like Ida, you reap in a harvest of A's.

LADY, ANNETTE, Hawthorne Soc. (1-2).

"Flirt, flirt, flirt, my labor never ends."

LAKE, RUTH E., Latin Soc. (2), Art. Soc. (3), L. T. C. (2-3-4), Secy. (3), Vice-Pres. (4).

Takes life cheerfully. Gained everlasting fame in her arguments upholding caps and gowns.

LARSEN, ESTHER E., German Soc. (1-2-3-4), L. T. C. (4).

Esther once said she would rather study than eat. Thus, of course, there is no hope for her.

LEE, ADDIE M.

*"When we have succeeded, then will be our time to rejoice and freely laugh."
Addie's waiting till June.*

LINN, ISABEL, German Soc. (1-2), Hawthorne Soc. (3-4), Secy. (4), College Club (4).

*She speaks, yet she says nothing;
What of that? Her eye discourses,
And, Oh, the things it says!*

LOCKWOOD, RUSSELL N., "Rusty."

*A modest youth named Lockwood
Is of the Senior class,
But his fancy's indeed taken

Russ is the original rustler for the History Pageant.

LOMBARD, MARION L., Latin Soc. (2), M. F. S. (2-3-4), College Club (4).

*Here's to the "Chatterbox."
She gives us a few brilliant flashes of silence,
Most irrepresible of all Miss Snyder's seekers of knowledge.*

LONG, DWIGHT D.

*Long on work, long on play;
Dwight is happy in every way.*

McALLISTER, JAMES C., "Mac," 2nd Lieut. Co. D.

Four years of good marks have failed to spoil his disposition or his smile. The terror of a peaceful study room.

McCAGUE, HENRIETTA, M. F. S. (1-2-3-4), Treas. (4).

*"She says a thousand pleasant things,
But never says adieu."*

McCAGUE, ROBERT, Capt. Co. I. 1st Individ. Drill Medal (3), Tennis Doubles Champ. (2-3), Class Treas. (3), Treas. C. O. C. (4), Eligible Commencement Comp.

"A bachelor; a handsome stripling, too."

How could you do it, Robert, when you knew how bad they needed a nurse?

McCULLOUGH, PHILLIP, 2nd Lieut. and Quartermaster 2nd Bat., Asst. Bus. Mgr. Register (3).

"A harmless fellow, wasting useless days, am I; I love my comfort and my leisure."

Yes, and we might add, "his underclassmen."

MCDONALD, WALLACE B., "Wally," Circulation Mgr. (4), Eligible Commencement Comp.

*"What stature is she of?
Just as high as my heart."*

MAGNEY, VERNON, "Maggets," 1st Lieut. Co. G.

Like the measles, love is more dangerous when it comes late in life.

McILVAINE, RUTH, Pleiades Soc. (1-2-3-4), Reporter (3), Pres. (4), German Soc. (3-4), Vice-Pres. (4), Boosters' Club (4), Eligible Commencement Comp.

*"Heart on her lips, and soul within her eyes.
Soft as her clime and sunny as her skies."*

McMULLEN, ELIZABETH.

*"Graceful and useful, all she does,
Blessing and blessed where'er she goes."*

MALONE, FRED T.

"He's armed without that's innocent within."

MAROWITZ, SADYE, Hawthorne (1-2-3-4),
German Soc. (1-2-3-4).

*Believes that if you devote your time to study,
the irksomeness of slunking may be avoided.*

MARR, MILDRED W., "Mick," Sponsor Co.
F., M. F. S. (1-2-3-4), Vice-Pres. (4),
Sgt.-at-Arms Boosters' Club (4), College
Club (4), Senior Ed. (4).

She's considering seriously whether to take up kindergarten work or to go to the university and be a sorority girl. It depends upon what "he'll do."

MATHEWS, RUTH M., Latin Soc. (3-4),
Pleiades (2-3-4), Eligible Commencement
Comp.

A kindly smile, a studious mind and a good sense of humor. "Nuff sed."

MATOUSH, LEE H.

A silent lad. But when he speaks something is said.

MAYNARD, HELEN O.

*Domestic science she's been taking;
Soon pies and cake she will be baking;
For on John she cannot frown,
Will this maid with eyes so brown.*

MERCER, MINNIE.

*"The rising blushes which her cheeks o'er-spread,
Are opening roses in the lily's bed."*

METZ, PHILLIP F.

"Thinking is but an idle waste of thought."

MEYER, DOROTHY, Art Soc. (1-2).

*"Mark when she smiles with amiable cheer,
And tell me whereto can ye liken it?
When on each eyelid sweetly do appear
An hundred graces as in shade to sit."*

MILLARD, TED, Capt. and Quartermaster,
Boosters' Club (3-4), Tennis Doubles
Champ (3).

"It is almost a definition of a gentleman to say he is one who never inflicts pain."

MILLS, HUGH, "Hug," 2nd Lieut. Co. A,
Football (3-4), Boosters' Club (3-4), Class Athletics (4), Treas. Class (4), Athletic
Ed. (4).

*The girls like him for his dancing,
The teachers like him for his brains;
High School for his football playing;
It's a wonder he isn't vain.*

MOORE, AVILDA, "D," Latin Soc. (2-3-4), Hawthorne (3-4), Eligible Commencement
Comp.

A demure little Miss who just revels in lovely Latin and English marks.

MOREY, HELEN.

*You may think she's a little prig,
'Cause she likes to study and dig;
But really she's the nicest girl
That ever at night her hair did curl.*

MULLIN, MILDRED C., Pleiades (4).

Mildred brings peace with her wherever she goes. If there were only more like her.

*NASH, W. BARTON, "Rube," Major 2nd
Bat., Football (2-3), Boosters' Club (4).*

"A six-foot country man."

*NASON, FLORENCE B., "Bonnie," Browning (1-2-3-4), Editor of Oracle (3), Secy.
(4), College Club (4).*

"A shy, sweet maiden of sterling worth."

*NEALE, EDITH L., Hawthorne (3-4), Latin
Soc. (3-4).*

*"Those about her
From her shall read the perfect ways of honor."*

*NEEF, RUTH M., German Soc. (1), F. W.
S. (1-2-3).*

*Nothing, no, not even her lessons, worried
Ruth more than three minutes at a time.*

NELSON, AMY L., M. F. S. (1-2-3), Latin Soc. (2-3-4).

"Nothing lovelier can be found in a woman than to study household good."

But Amy can play the violin besides cooking domestic science cookies.

NELSON, ESTHER M.

"She was sought for by spirits of richest coat, But kept cold distance."

Thinks boys should be turned out on a pasture and guarded with a gun.

NELSON, LEON, "Swede," 2nd Lieut. and Quartermaster 3rd Bat., D. D. S. (1-2), Class Ed. (1), Track (4), Mandolin Club (4).

Whatever Leon's madness, there is always a method in it which produces the desired result.

NELSON, NORA J., L. T. S. (1-2-3-4).

*She is the teachers' joy,
She's dainty and she's nice;
She likes more than one lone boy;
She's always in love twice.*

NEWMAN, EDWARD E., "Swede," Secy. A. D. S. (4).

*"Bluff and the class bluffs with you;
Flunk and you flunk alone."
His ambition is to go upon the tragedy stage.*

NIEMAN, CHESTER C., "Dip," Capt. Co. G, Treas. Boosters' Club (4), Manual Training, Ed. (4).

"A self-made man? Yes—and worships his creator."

NYGAARD, MINNIE L.

"A woman with good principles has dowry enough." And Minnie stands up for them bravely.

ODELL, RUTH. Eligible Commencement Comp.

Afflicted with a special fondness for heroes and acting. A regular member of the A club. Descendent through Pocahontas from Socrates.

OFFUTT, CASPAR Y., Q. M. Sgt. Co. E. (4), D. D. S. (2), French Soc. (3), Mandolin Club (4).

This meek and bashful boy will soon be taught to be bold and forward, as he ought.

OSTROM, EDNA F., F. W. S. (1-2-3-4).

"To be merry becomes you, for out of question you were born in a merry hour."

PATTON, CLARENCE K., "Patty," Capt. Co. F, Class Athletics (2-3), Basket Ball (4), Sgt.-at-Arms Boosters' Club (4), Vice-Pres. C. O. C. (4), Regimental Ed. (4).

"A young man married is a young man Marred."

PAYNE, PHILIP W., "Buttin," 1st Lieu. and Adj. 3rd Bat., Eligible Commencement Comp.

"Mother's angel child." If you don't believe it, ask her.

PEDERSEN CAROLINE, Browning (2-3).

*"In thy discourse, if thou desire to please,
All such is courteous, new or witty."*

PETERSON, BERNHART, "Ben."

*"It is a pretty youth—not very pretty—
But, sure, he's proud, and yet his pride becomes him."*

PETERSEN, CECELIA M.

*"It's wiser being good than bad,
It's safer being meek than fierce."*

PETERSON, CLARA L., Art Soc. (2).

Clara has an unmistakable manner of stating things that makes what she means perfectly lucid, even to her teachers.

PETERSON, ELSIE.

Sgt.-at-Arms (2), Treas. (3), Secy. (4).
*"Truth has such a face and such a mien.
As to be lov'd needs only to be seen."
So with Elsie.*

PETERSON, RUTH C.

"The mildest manners and the gentlest heart."

PFEIFFER, GERTRUDE M., Pleiades (1-2-3-4), German Soc. (1-3).

*Miss Jenk's joy and Miss Northrup's horror,
A good cook and a good giggler. Her calm looks deceive the innocent public.*

PHILLIPPI, MARY K., "Dutch," Sponsor 3rd Bat., Browning (1-2-3-4), Treas (2), Pres. (3), Latin Soc. (2-3), Boosters' Club (3-4), Vice-Pres. (4), Secy. Class (3), Organization Ed. (3), College Club (4).

"Alack, there lies more peril in thine eye than twenty of their swords."

PHILLIPS, IRENE.

*None can be happy without exercising the virtue of a cheerful industry and activity.

PICKARD, NELLIE L.

*Sweet and retiring. Possessor of many friends and no enemies. Considered quite

PITTMAN, DON W., Eligible Commencement Comp.

*"He never flunked and he never lied—
I reckon he never knowed how."*

PIXELY, LEW B., Baseball (1), Football (1-2), Sgt.-at-Arms, D. D. S. (4).

Dapper, dashing, captivating Lew, Entrancing, fascinating and puzzling you.

PRITCHARD, NELLIE A., "Tommy," Hawthorne (1-2-3-4), Sgt.-at-Arms (3), Secy. (3), Latin Soc. (2-3-4), Vice-Pres. (3), Art Soc. (3-4), Vice-Pres. (3-4), Class Ed. (3).

A great heart smasher! Has a giddy manner about her that is most fetching. She is so giddy, in fact, that if she asked herself a serious question she couldn't fail to receive a frivolous answer.

RAMER, LYDIA M., German Soc. (1), F. W. S. (3-4).

"A good face is the best letter of recommendation."

RATCHFORD, IRENE L.

Always has a great deal to say in library. Has a calm, placid expression (usually); this might be significant.

RAU, CLAIRE.

"Be true to your word, to your work and your friends." And Claire has many of the last.

RAYLEY, HELEN M., M. F. S. (1-2-3-4), Vice-Pres. (2), Secy. (4), College Club (3-4).

"A true lady, represents modesty, sweetness and self-constraint."

RAYLEY, JOHN C., Webster (1), Secy. Ciceronian Soc. (2), Class Athletics (2-3-4), Track Team (3-4), Football (4).

"His cares are now all ended."

REDDAM, ALICE A.

"The more we study her, the more we discern our own ignorance." One of the jewels of the class.

REEL, C. EARLE, 2nd Team Football (2-3-4).

Earle is the "Sunny Jim" of the class. Anyone with a disposition like him has a sure hope of Heaven.

REFRECIER LILIANE E. Latin Soc. (2-3-4), Eligible Commencement Comp.

"A face with gladness overspread, Soft smiles by human kindness bred."

RHOADES, FLORENCE M., Hawthorne (1-2-3-4), Pres. (4), Latin Soc. (4), College Club (4), Eligible Commencement Comp.

"Her eyes are homes of silent prayer."

A sweet, demure little maiden with a habit of smiling. Has much musical ability and is a wonder intellectually.

ROBINSON, HELEN M., M. F. S. (1-2-3-4), Latin Soc. (4).

Helen follows the theory that time wasted is irrevocably lost. We're just learning to really appreciate her.

RODMAN, GISELLE A., Hawthorne (1-2-3-4), Girls' Athletics (2-3-4).

"The study of men is to her much more interesting than the study of books."

She thinks this year has been too "Darling" for words.

ROHRBOUGH, MERRILL C., D. D. S.
(1-2-3-4).

"If the girls could only appreciate my cuteness."

One of Miss Snyder's pets!

ROSENBLUM, MAX M., D. D. S. (1-2-3-4), German Soc. (2-3-4), Sgt.-at-Arms (3), Critic (4).

"Discretion of speech is more than eloquence."

ROSENSTOCK, FANNIE B., Sponsor of Band, Browning (1-2-3-4), Latin Soc. (2), German Soc. (3-4).

*"It is not every question deserves an answer."
The eternal feminine. You can see and hear her wherever Hu-go.*

SALISBURY, HIRAM A., "Sal," 2nd Lieut. Co. E (1st term), Webster (1-2-3-4), Secy. (3), Pres. (4).

Hiram sits up nights thinking of future wrangles with his teachers and vainly pining for a cap and gown.

SANDY, PINK WILLIAM.

"I could have laughed, but lacked the time."

Keeps up his reputation of a good Indian by going around with a stoical expression.

SASS, DORA W., Browning (1-2-3-4), Reporter (3), Vice-Pres. (4), German Soc. (2-3), Sgt.-at-Arms Class (3), Boosters' Club (4).

*"I smile and smile as I go Along the winding river;
Some smile on one, some smile on several,
I smile on all forever."*

SCHELLBERG, HARRY E.

"My meaning in saying he is a good man is to have you understand me, he is sufficient."

SCHNETZ, HENRIETTA E., German Soc.
(1-2-3-4), L. T. C. (4).

*Her lively looks a sprightly mind disclose,
Pleasure admitted in undue degree
Enslaves the will nor leaves the judgment free."*

SCOTT, LARREN O., "Scotty," Regimental Commissary (4).

A sight to delight in. He never did any harm that we have heard of. But he's regimental cook, so wait until after camp.

SCOTT, MARGUERITE E., M. F. S. (1-2-3-4), Latin Soc. (2), German Soc. (3),
Class Ed. (2).

*Always smiling,
Always singing,
Onward through life she'll go.*

Sgt.-at-Arms (3), Secy. (4), Basket Ball
(2-3), Treas. College Club (4), Boosters' Club (4), Squib Ed. (4), Eligible Commencement Comp.

*"The sweetest noise on earth, a woman's tongue; a string which hath no discord."
"Do you not know I am a woman and when I think I must speak."*

SHEPARD, IRENE D.

*Nothing can Rob her of her many friends.
"We saw her charming, but we saw not half the charms her downcast modesty concealed."*

SHERRADEN, JASAMINE, "Bobbie," M. F. S. (1-2-3-4), Treas. (3), Class Ed. (1).

*"She could think and ne'er disclose her mind;
See suitors following and not look behind."*

SHILLINGTON, MAURICE A., "Shilly,"
2nd Lieut. Band, Webster (1-2-3-4), Secy.
(3), Vice-Pres. (4), Debating Team (4),
Organizations Ed. (4).

Good-natured, but sometimes Pokey. Known as a debater.

"An honest man, close buttoned to the chin."

SHRUM, CLAUDE J., "Supe," 1st Lieut. and Adj. 1st Battalion.

*"You know all other things give place
When a lady's in the case."*

SIDWELL, MARY ALICE, M. F. S. (1-2-3-4).

*"By the kindness of her ways
She made sweet the sourest days."
Jolly and merry, she makes noise and fun wherever she goes.*

SIECK, MINNIE C., German Soc. (3-4).

A mathematical genius and the mainstay of the songbirds of the German Society.

SIMPSON, LAWRENCE.

*He'll make a proper man;
The best thing in him is his complexion.*

SMITH, EDWARD E., "Skinny."

Ed is a confirmed cynic on H. S. questions, yet he condescends to dance attendance on the girls and get good marks.

SMITH, FLORENCE E., "Benson," Pleiades (1-2-3-4), Vice-Pres. (3), German Soc. (2), Eligible Commencement Comp.

"A girl of the golden west."

*Oh, would I were dead now,
Or rip in my bed now,
To cover my head now
And have a good cry."*

Oh, Fudge!

SPRATLEN, SANFORD W., "Sprat."

You can't judge from outward appearances. Sanford is a would-be hunter—at least from his own tales. Is something of a scholar, too.

SQUAIR, MARGARET I.

She is on the square, but not in looks. Her tall and stately bearing, charming manner and her A's make her the joy of her teachers and the wonder of her classmates.

STERNER, HAROLD E., Glee Club (4).

*"Whose nature is so far from doing harm,
That he suspects none."*

STREHLOW, ROBERT R., Webster (3-4), Debating Team (4), Winner Burns' Essay Prize (4).

"He adorned whatever subject he either spoke or wrote upon by the most splendid eloquence."

SUGARMAN, GEORGE, "Dago John," 1st

"Let every man mind his own business."

"I loathe that low vice, curiosity."

Our bustling, busy business manager.

SWARTZLANDER, FREDERICKA, M. F.
S. (3-4), Burns' Poem Prize (3).

"There is a pleasure in poetic pains
Which only poets know."

(Think of the pleasure Fredericka must have!)

TAYLOR, HELEN E., German Soc. (1-2),
Hawthorne (4).

"None can animate the lyre

And the mute string with vocal soul's inspire,
As Helen, in whose eyes ten thousand Cupids dwell."

THOMAS, BERNICE A., M. F. S. (1-2-3).

"She, the Puritan girl, in the solitude of the forest,

Making the humble house and the modest apparel of homespun

THOMPSON, GERTRUDE E., Hawthorne
(4), College Club (4).

A typical high school girl with a sunny disposition and a heart of pure gold.

THOMPSON, ROBERT R., "Bob," Class
Athletics (1-2-3), Football (3-4), Track Team (3), All Round Track Medal (3),
Tennis Doubles Champ. (2-3-4).

Bob combines the delightful qualities of a football hero, a ladies' man and a good fellow, all in one person.

THOMPSON, WILL E., 2nd Lieut. Co. I.

*"Life is no place for mirth and laughter;
Leave all that for the world hereafter."*

TIERNEY, ETHEL, Pleiades (1-2-3-4).

Politician, railroad man, athlete, Chan's record stands unique.

TROUP, WALLACE B., "Judge," D. D. S.
(1-2-3-4), Librarian (3), Latin Soc.
(2-3-4), Alternate Debating Team (4).

*"He was a scholar and a ripe, good one;
Exceedingly wise, fair-spoken and persuading."*

TUKEY, ALLAN A., "Tuke," Capt. Co. E,
Secy. Lincoln Soc. (1), Class Track (3),
Football (4), Tennis Doubles Champ (3),
Boosters' Club (4).

*"I will not jump with common spirits,
Or rank me with the barbarous multitudes."*

UNDELAND, JENNIE, P. A. S. (1-2-3-4),
Vice-Pres. (2), Pres. (3), Sgt.-at-Arms
(4), Boosters' Club (3-4).

*"Now what could artless Jennie do?
She hadna will to say him "Na,"
At length she blushed a sweet consent
And love was ay between the two."
This is very Payneful.*

VAN AVERY, JAMES C., Webster
(1-2-3-4), Sgt.-at-Arms (2), German Soc.
(1-2-3-4), Debating Team (4).

*"You don't know how much you have to know
In order to know how little you know."*

VANCURA, IRMA B., German Soc. (1-3-4).

"Merrily, merrily, shall I live now, Under the blossom that hangs on the bough."

VAN NOSTRAND, KATHRYN.

*"Fine of the fine, and shy of the shy,
Fine little hands, fine little feet,
Dewey blue eyes."*

WALWORTH, MABEL, Pleiades (1-2-3-4).

*She is a demure and bashful maid.
"— blessings ever wait on virtuous deeds,
And though a late, a sure reward succeeds."*

WARTHEN, CLEO E., Hawthorne (3-4),
German Soc. (2-3-4), Secy. (4).

*A poetess of note.
"Her modest looks the cottage might adorn,
Sweet as the primrose peeps beneath the thorn."*

WASSBERG, CLARENCE E., "Wassy," 1st Lieut. Co. H.

A modern genius in any of the sciences or mathematics. Dr. Senter's pride and joy.

WATERMAN, EDITH L., M. F. S. (2-3-4), Latin Soc. (2-3-4).

Disgraces the rest of the class at the end of every semester by her marks in Latin and Greek.

WEEKS, F. MILTON, "Brutus," Capt. Co. C, Boosters' Club (4).

"Love is a pleasant woe."

For three and a half years an honorable bachelor and a model pupil. But now? Ye Gods!

WEIRICH, RALPH E., "Fuzzle," Class Athletics (2-3-4), Track Team (2-3-4), Capt. (4), 2nd Ind. Medal for All Round Track (3-4).

"Fuzzle!" He spends the week-ends at the "Dale(s)." Has had a hard time of it, but at last succeeded.

WENTWORTH, WILL, "Dago," 1st Sgt. Bugle Corps (4), Class Track (1-2-3), Track Team (3), Chief Bugler O. H. S. Regiment (4).

"While his off heel insiduously aside, Provokes the caper which he seems to chide."

Will has taken seven different sciences during four years of High School.

WEST, ELOISE, Hawthorne (1-2-3-4).

YEATES, JOSEPHINE E.

Josephine has erected a lasting monument of friendship in this class by her sweet disposition.

*How vain is life—
A little love,
A little strife,
A fleeting smile,
A passing sigh,
And then—Good-bye.*

In Loving Memory of Marguerite M. Fahs who was so heartlessly snatched from our midst on May 11, 1910.
She was a member of the Senior Class and beloved by all.

There is a Gardener who, with loving care,
Walks thru His garden of choicest flowers,
And takes to Himself the most beautiful there
To replant them in His eternal bowers.

In the happiest bloom of young womanhood,
With a soul as pure as a rose, new blown,
In a sheltered corner our Marguerite stood—
The Gardener came and gathered her Home.

But in the vast garden of beautiful flowers
The mem'ry of her is planted for aye;
For in each of our hearts, in companionship bowers,
We treasure some act of her friendship today.

Farewell then, sweet blossoms, we will meet thee once more
When the Gardener comes for His flowers again.
In His bowers all pain is forgotten by men
And we'll be united in love as of yore.

THE SENIOR CLASS.

Four years ago a body of boys and girls entered the portals of the O. H. S. with fear and trembling to begin their high school career. So started the class of 1910. After three years of development and growth we stand on the eve of leaving the High School and look back over these years of strenuous school life with satisfaction and a knowledge of four years of work well done. Never before or since has there been a class which showed such spirit as has been exhibited by the class of 1910. Full to overflowing with enthusiasm which nothing could check or discourage.

Never before has such a versatile class as this graduated. An intense interest has been shown in every department of school work. In studies, in athletics, in debating, in literary work, all phases of school life have received careful attention.

We first came into prominence in our Freshman year by winning second place in the contest for the Lincoln statue fund. In both Freshman and Sophomore years we excelled in athletics, furnishing a large number of men on the football and basket ball teams and strengthening to quite a degree the track teams. The literary societies also received the hearty support of the members of this class.

In our Junior year we organized, choosing for president, Edward Burdick; vice-president, Elizabeth Doud; secretary, Mary Phillippi; treasurer, Robert McCague; sergeants-at-arms, Dora Sass and Warren Howard.

Under the able leadership of Edward Burdick the class made great progress. During this year it won both the football and indoor track meet ticket selling contests. With such men as Kennedy, Kulakofsky, Burdick, Thompson, Weirich, Howard and Mills to represent it in athletics, the other classes fell far to the rear. In literary work our class, in its Junior year, was nothing behind the others. Several of the girls' literary societies elected Juniors for presidents and debating was strongly reinforced by the class of 1910. We may look back on this Junior year as one of the most brilliant years of our career.

But proud as we were of the record of this year, its glory fades when compared to the record of our Senior year. This year is representative of our talent and ability. The Senior officers elected were: President, Chandler Trimble; vice-president, Nancy Haze; secretary, Alice Gideon; treasurer, Hugh Mills; sergeants-at-arms, Sara Ayres and Alfred Kennedy. Under these officers our standards of excellence in athletics and debating have more than been upheld, while the literary societies never had a more prosperous period than this under the direction of members of the class of 1910. But proud as we are of these achievements, the greatest glory, we feel, lies in the establishing of new precedents in the High School, precedents which will in all probability be followed for many years by graduating classes to follow. When the Senior fair, as in former years, was found to be impossible, the members of the class of 1910 pluckily set to work to devise some new scheme by which their name would long be remembered in the O. H. S. The plan decided upon was the giving of a series of entertainments.

The first was the celebration on Washington's birthday. An interesting program was presented, including addresses by several of the teachers.

The second of the series was a play produced by the Latin Society entitled "The Muses Up-to-Date." This was thoroughly enjoyed by all attending.

Probably the greatest success of the year was the historical pageant, "America." This was an entirely new idea and was ably executed by the Senior class. It represented various scenes in American history. By holding two entertainments for the grammar schools, interest in American history was stimulated to quite a degree.

This series was concluded by an entertainment composed of living pictures, a violin solo by Miss Jennie Undeland, the minstrel show, Butts' manual and saber drill, and the Senior play, "Which Is Which." Not a little of the credit of these many successful entertainments is due the teachers who so ably directed and perfected the pupils in their different parts. The class one and all extends its most hearty thanks for their efficient aid.

The class of 1910 has demonstrated by its four years' work that in them is combined in right proportions the elements which make the ideal High School student; excellence in study, skill in athletics, high quality in debating, strength in literary work and enthusiasm and spirit. Either individually or as a whole the class of 1910 is worthy of marking the close of the first decade of the twentieth century.

"THE MUSES UP TO DATE."

"WHICH IS WHICH?"

"THE MUSES UP TO DATE."

The Omaha High School students have had many famous visitors this year, but surely none so famous as the nine Muses. These immortals disclosed themselves to the curious eyes of the beholders in several phases.

First, lest the shock of viewing real live Muses in their native haunts should be too great for the mortals, four school girls came forth and indulged in a tirade against this "preposterous nine." They declared most emphatically that the Muses were not up-to-date and it was ridiculous to study about them.

Next the wonderful Muses were disclosed reclining in classical poses on the top of Mount Olympus. They were bored to death, for they no longer were of any use in the world, as those "fickle mortals" neglected them shamefully. No more libations of milk and honey were offered them, and even Erato's love shafts were "blunted by a pocketbook." What could they do? An inspiration struck Polyhymnia, the serious; they would go to earth in a body and get at the root of the trouble.

So to earth they came and were next seen in the parlor of Hotel Up-to-Date. There they had a truly dreadful time; they were so bewildered they didn't know which way to turn, and poor Clio said she didn't even know the way home. The bell-boy and chambermaid looked them all over, but couldn't decide what the strange creatures were. Finally, a pert young school girl in a Merry Widow hat was called in. Their classical robes, she told them, were not at all "the thing," and though she said they did not deserve mercy at her hands because they caused her so much trouble in school, "it was such jolly fun to meet real live Muses" that she would help them become modernized. She went out and returned minus her hat and then they recognized her as their sister, Terpsichore, who had stolen a march on them. She told them she had discovered that "it was a dreadful world and it behooved them to be on their guard."

Thoroughly and well did the Muses become modernized. Thalia, who had directed the comedies on Mount Olympus, appeared in a stunning white gown and rhapsodized to the world in general about the jolly times on earth and then told Polly about her new comedy without any plot. Who was Polly, you ask? Polly was a Salvation Army lassie who sang enthusiastically "Satan Is So Very Sly" to the music of her tambourine. Long ago she was Polyhymnia, Muse of the Sacred Song. Soon Clio joined her sisters—not the old Muse of History, but a lively young person clad in newspapers, each of which she assured her sisters "had the largest circulation." The conversation was interrupted by a wild shriek, the herald of Melpomene, Muse of Tragedy. Clad in black, she gave her sisters a sample of her art.

Urania, now a serious-minded scientist in cap and gown, with medals galore, lamented how little of astronomy she used to know, and discussed the trip to earth with Caliope, a modern football enthusiast, with sweater, pennant and megaphone. They both agreed that the earth had Mount Olympus beaten to a frazzle.

Enterpe, Erato and Terpsichore appeared fresh from triumphs at the Vaudeville club and repeated their specialties. Enterpe had exchanged her flute for a violin and rendered charmingly the Merry Widow waltz. Then Terpsichore, in a black and red ballet costume, gave her "justly celebrated skirt dance," which was beyond description; and Erato sang in a soulful manner the beautiful love song, "You."

To celebrate their joyous times on earth the Muses were indulging in a waltz when Father Zeus and Mother Mnemosyne appeared. A terrible scene ensued in which poor Father Zeus was squelched by his wife and Mother Mnemosyne was actually insulted by her daughters. Mnemosyne pleaded in vain, for her daughters refused absolutely "to go straight home and change their clothes." Zeus became interested in Terpsie's dancing and finally had to be dragged away by his angry spouse.

The mortals no doubt have been asking who arranged this journey and gave them such a treat, so to set their minds at rest let it be known that Miss Peterson made all the preparations and secured the railway tickets for the Muses' successful trip to earth.

SCENES FROM THE PAGEANT "AMERICA."

"AMERICA."

If you are a Senior you will understand; if you are an alumnus you will excuse; if you are neither you will laugh. But that is a small matter, for at least our deeds are sweet in our own ears.

The mention of "America," a "Pageant of American History," calls to a Senior's memory many things, pride and relief, and memories of a great task undertaken and carried to its final success by a common effort and with many hours of good fellowship.

Given the gem idea by Mrs. Atkinson, head of the history department, the grand plan soon developed—a history pageant, "America," beautiful, gorgeous in conception and stupendous in size. With neither precedent nor example to follow, with only a glittering dream to lead the way, the class of 1910 grasped the proposition with bold daring, determined to produce something that would stand forever as the most glorious success, or, failing, the most glorious failure ever made. A bold resolve, but characteristic of the class, which has often dared and as often won.

Only a short time remained before the set date, April 19. The production was of immense proportions. More than a hundred people were drilled for their parts; over twenty tableaux must be arranged; scenery and "properties" must be gathered, and, to cover the cost of production, which amounted quickly to several hundred dollars, several thousand tickets must be sold. Well might the more timid hesitate. We were left stranded, too, on the strange shore of running the project alone, which began to look like the work of abler minds than we could command. With such a project under such difficulties only the most whole-hearted and unselfish co-operation of everyone in the class could insure success. And it was there. Every one threw himself into the work with every ounce of his power and worked. That was the guarantee of success.

But in our vain, glorious boasting, we must not forget that there were others whose contributions could not have been spared and success still have been certain. Every Senior knows the great credit due Mrs. Atkinson, who not only gave the idea, but did much of the shaping and molding of the general plan and in securing special numbers for the program. Mr. Lieben, too, contributed a large part toward success. Untiring in his efforts, he unselfishly contributed a great deal of his time in those last few days and to him much of the beauty and effectiveness of the tableaux is due. Mr. Davidson, superintendent of schools, and Mr. Graff, our own principal, too, deserve our heart's thanks for they, by their hearty approval of the plan and their patronage, gave the affair much prestige. Mr. Davidson, catching our idea of giving something that was really worth while, as well as enjoyable, permitted us to sell tickets to the seventh and eighth grades throughout the city and excusing the 2,000 or more pupils who bought tickets to attend the morning and afternoon performances. It was only this financial guarantee that reduced the financial risk to such a point that the class could safely undertake the proposition.

The pageant, under the title, "America," sought to depict the life of our nation through its early period, up to the close of the revolution. Opening with the picturesque band of Indians, the earliest inhabitants, followed by the bold Norsemen under Erickson, then a scene of Columbus at the court of Ferdinand, the pageant unrolled to the chanting of the prophetess a spectacle of living beauty of lights and of color and of music. We saw the French, the Dutch and Swedes trading with the Indians and the explorers and leaders of the times till that finale of the first part revealed England standing haughty and supreme in the New World and the other nations yielding to her sway. Then followed the music and dances of the nations and thrilling tableaux, representing colonial life, history and events, Indian raids, the spirit of '76 and inspiring scenes of love and war, until at last that "grand finale" is reached, "America," holding on high her flaming torch, a burst of music and applause and the curtain falls.

Two hundred Seniors, worn and tired, who had worked together toward this common goal, smiled wearily the smile of pride, and went home throbbing with the joy of success.

THE JUNIOR CLASS.

The Class of 1911 began its career in the High School in the fall of 1907 with many hopes and fears and composed of material that was destined to bound forth and develop into what it has. The scholarship of the class during our Freshman year was beyond reproach and equaled that of any preceding class. In athletics, however, our material did not develop to a very great extent during the first year.

The second year of 1911's ever-upward course showed that the class was still able to maintain its high standard of scholarship and also hold its own in athletics. Our basketball team was made up of the following men: Rowley, captain; Carey, Andrus, Wade, Bauman and Carson, who were the star players on the O. H. S. team this year, making all of the three field goals in the exciting game at Sioux City. In track work we were represented last year by Benson Rowley, who won his "O" by his fine work in the hurdles at Lincoln, and by "Runt" Andrus who made his "O" by breaking the O. H. S. record for the hammer throw.

And this year, did our class live up to the expectations of its members? It certainly did. In the debating arena we had Paul Byers and Harold Moon, who were on the winning trio that defeated West Des Moines High School. In the literary societies we are strongly represented and several of our girls are presidents of their societies. In military affairs our class is showing up especially well. The gold medals in the companies for individual drill are in the hands of members of our class, as they were last year. That our girls are of a superior quality is shown by the fact that two have been chosen for sponsors already, one last year and one this. Not even in athletics has our class stepped aside, but, on the other hand, we have been exceedingly well represented. In football we made a fine showing, having five out of sixteen men on the team last fall. Andrus and Voyle Rector were the two big fellows who did phenomenal tackling; Howes and Underhill played behind the line, while Dick Payne made a brilliant end and is now captain-elect. In basketball we were represented by Carson, who played a remarkable game at center, and Bauman, who made a very aggressive forward. In the inter-class basketball series, though we were defeated by the Seniors by a very snug score, we made a creditable showing under the leadership of "Don" Howe. The whole class wishes to extend its most hearty appreciation to all those who have upheld the standard of the class so nobly in all of the different activities of High School life.

During the early part of the year the class organized, electing the following set of officers, who, through earnest effort, have led us to the imperishable glory: President, Elbert Wade; vice-president, Helen Miller; secretary, Nell Ryan; treasurer, Voyle Rector; sergeants-at-arms, Loa Howard and Harold Andrus. Miss Sullivan, Miss Bridge and Mr. Carns were selected for class teachers.

Rejoicing in our brilliant successes this year, let us not forget that we have still another year in which we may proceed, by the aid of every member of the class, to an even more glorious success, and by establishing unquestionable facts prove that the class of 1911 is the best class that has ever left the O. H. S., and may the memory of our remarkable class and its colors, orange and black, be everlasting and dear.

Let every Junior now fill up his glass,
Hitty-i-roy-cha-ree,
And drink to the success of our glorious class,
Hitty-i-roy-cha-ree,
Give thanks for the records we'll leave in our track,
Hitty-i-roy-cha-ree,
And stand by our colors—the orange and black,
Hitty-i-roy-cha-ree,

THE SOPHOMORES.

The class of 1912 is a class that has done things. In our Freshman year we upset all precedents by refusing to be pushed to the rear in the various branches of school activity, and this year we have made a record of which we are justly proud.

In football, the most important branch of school athletics, we had as subs on the first team David Bowman and Gordon Mills. Many of the stalwarts on the strong second team were members of our class. In basket ball, as well as football, we were represented on the first team in the person of Virgil Rector, who played a star game at forward. Our class team was also a strong one. In the class ticket selling contest, under the leadership of Beryl Crocker and Deyo Crane, we pushed the Seniors hard for first place, following by a close second. In track work a large number of Sophomores came out and we had a fine class team. On the first team we were represented by Virgil Rector, who holds the outdoor pole vault record, and Hugh Millard, the star of the relay team. With such a showing as this in athletics the school need have no fear but that it will be well represented in the next two years at least.

But not only in athletics and ticket selling do we excel. In the line of debating we set a record for Sophomore classes by having three of our classmen on the squad. These were Philip Johnson, Fred Rypins and George Grimes. Of the last two were on the team that represented Omaha at Kansas City and the third on that which upheld the purple and white at Lincoln.

In literary fields also the Sophomores have shown their ability, seven of the representatives of the societies in the open meeting being members of the class of 1912. The class has also contributed a good share of the stories and poems in the Register.

Although we have accomplished many things, still we are not satisfied. There are still two years remaining in which to show our worth. The past has been glorious. Let us determine to make the future even more so and to make the class of 1912 one looked up to and long remembered in the annals of the O. H. S.

G. G., '12.

THE FRESHMEN.

One, nine, one, three;
One, nine, one, three;
Freshmen, Freshmen,
Who are we?

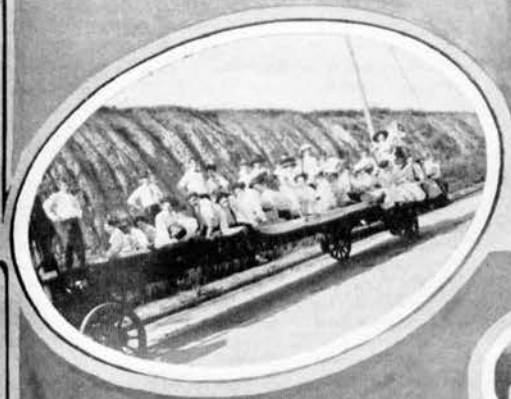

Who are we?
Well you'll soon know,
For we are the bunch
That will beat you all so—

We'll beat you in athletics,
We'll beat you in debates;
In fact, we are the greatest class
In the whole United States

Bragging, you say? Oh, no, it's the truth. If you do not now realize the importance of the class of 1913, it's your loss, not ours. Our future is veiled in obscurity perhaps to you, but we, the members of this illustrious class, see in the not far distant future honors and great praises, bestowed on us by the admiring multitudes. That becoming modesty which Freshmen are supposed to carry around with them prevents us from saying any more on the subject, and we will now tell you what we have accomplished in the few short months that the classic halls of the O. H. S. have been graced by our presence.

Owing to lack of space a detailed account is impossible, so only the most important items will be given. In the basket ball game between the Sophomores and the Freshmen we came out victorious and consequently had a game with the Seniors. It would not be the best of taste for a Freshmen team to beat the Seniors, so—well, the Seniors won. One member of our class is on the football team. In the indoor track meet we were very well represented by six members of our class. In the debating field we are holding our own and in the ticket selling contest we did our share and more. The Freshmen showed up splendidly in drill. It took only a few weeks of hard work and patience both on the part of the captains and Freshmen until it was known that the Freshmen drilled equally as well as the older men. So taking all things into consideration, it is easy to see that the Freshmen during the past year have done nobly and that their future is a bright one.

SNAP-SHOTS.

THE BOOSTERS' CLUB.

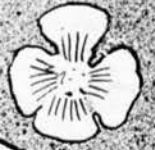

THE BOOSTERS' CLUB.

The Boosters' Club is doing much to contribute to the success of the High School activities; namely, football, basket ball, debating and track work. There are many things which are helping this club to become a success as a boosters' organization. First, the loyal and energetic spirit of the officers and members which, of course, is a very necessary thing to make any organization a success. Our enthusiastic president, Alfred Kennedy, together with two of the faculty, namely, Miss Bridge and Mr. Carstensen, has taken the greatest possible interest in the Boosters' Club and its work. Last, but by no means least, the members have fought vigorously to forward the interests of athletics and debating. They have held mass meetings with the greatest success both inside and outside the building. They have advertised football, basket ball and debating in the study rooms, halls, street cars, drug stores and every noticeable place. They elected Harry Fraser and George Sugarman as "cheer leaders" to lead the crowds in their outbursts of enthusiasm at all our football games. Warren Howard and Ed. Alderson were appointed cheer leaders for our basket ball games. Too much cannot be said of the school spirit. There has always existed in some way or other a body of students to further enthusiasm and school loyalty, but the school has been continually growing and growing until it has been deemed necessary to have a definite organization.

It is composed of the presidents of the literary societies, the captains of the battalions and a few elected members. Each one in the Boosters' Club looks after some particular work for the advancement of school spirit. This organization has proved very successful in its two years of existence. If the Boosters' Club continues as it has in the past, it will become an organization of which not only its members, but the O. H. S. will take great pride in.

The following are the officers: President, Alfred Kennedy; vice-president, Mary Phillippi; secretary, Marion Carpenter; treasurer, Chester Nieman; sergeants-at-arms, Mildred Marr and Clarence Patton.

BROWNING

THE BROWNING SOCIETY.

The little boy and girl clambered up onto her knees and "Aunt" Claire proceeded to uphold her reputation as an entertainer, a reputation acquired quite some years ago, while she was a Sophomore at High School.

"Every Friday when I see you trotting home from school together," she commenced, smiling at the upturned little faces, "I remember the Friday afternoons at High School. How we looked forward to the Fridays, which meant that Browning was to meet. The girls trooped in to our meeting room, 101, in twos and threes, jolly, happy and contented. Nellie and Irma would come to the meeting with measured and stately tread, discussing impossible Latin constructions or a physics program. "I Want to Know" and Gertrude would come romping in, ready to act as leading lady in the society dramas or to poke fun at the human question-mark sisters. Dear little Grace would enter, as her name suggests, ready to assist in any undertaking, no matter how much larger it was than she. I can't remember that the Byrd sisters always flew in at the last moment, but Vogel, a German variety of bird, was always ready to hop about and fly at any task at hand. And Daisy, the butt of many a well-meant joke, was the most extensive blossom in the entire Browning garden-patch. Minnie and two little girls who looked very much alike would come in a chattering and would continue through the entire afternoon if not called to order by Marion. We had such a variety of girls in the Browning, each one helpful and sweet in her own way.

"And what fun we did have! Each girl tried so hard to make her program a success that every meeting produced numbers that were both interesting and instructive. Then there were programs that were so clever and amusing that it was a delightful diversion to visit a Browning street fair or a real minstrel show by Browning talent. 'Bruddah Johnson's' jokes never failed to bring applause and when the end man's high hat rolled down her back, disclosing a halo of fuzzy black hair above her charcoal face and her own hair done in a tight knot on the top of her head, the accident was declared to be one of the hits of the day. I can't remember a dry or uninteresting program. Every one enjoyed Grace's talk on Mrs. Browning's life more than I can say. If she was reading the 'Oracle,' giving a talk on Browning or Riley, passing the fudge box, one just couldn't help watching her. One 'tour,' under Nellie's direction, was most inspiring. One felt that going up and down the stairs to view the different pictures was equal to climbing the ruins of ancient Roman temples.

"There was so much to make those Browning meetings memorable. Our teachers were so dear and helpful and we were all made to feel that they were just girls older and more experienced, eager and always ready to help us. The parliamentary drills, with their absurd resolutions and the usual tangle of order, have been of so much use since those days. How 'Pokey' fought against the repeated eat parties and how sturdily the chorus struggled for mere existence! All these phases of our society development come back to me as I hold the little gold 'B' in my hand. It meant so much pleasure, disappointment, hard work and enjoyment that the memories of those meetings come back often when I see you two youngsters growing up, approaching your days of High School Societies."

The two children slipped down from her lap and, after thanking her for her story, ran away to romp, leaving "Aunt" Claire to dream and muse over the little gold "B" that stood for the Browning Literary Society, which had been such an influence for all that was good and wholesome while she was a High School girl.

THE ART SOCIETY.

This year marks the second year of the existence of the Art Society. In December, 1908, under the supervision of Miss Hanting, a group of boy and girl art enthusiasts gathered together to find in some way an outlet to their artistic ambitions.

Besides their regular course in drawing they wished to bring into the history of the O. H. S. a lasting organization that would promote an interest among the students and faculty and would be a benefit to themselves and to the school. Consequently, in due time, the constitution was drawn up, officers installed and the society fairly begun.

The work of this society consists mostly of sketching from life, in pencil and colors, but occasionally when the weather permits, nature and landscape work are studied. The study of art in general is taken up in the programs which are given every eight weeks. These programs consist of the study of famous artists and their masterpieces and the study of art in its different phases. While these programs are instructive they are also interesting. They are presented in an interesting manner, for instance, one program in the past year was given with stereopticon views. A view would show a great artist or masterpiece, while some student would describe or tell the life of the artist or work.

The Art Society is an impetus to earnest work along its individual lines, and brings out the ability in the pupil that otherwise might be dormant. It encourages the young and struggling amateur artists to keep on a striving until they have done their best and gives the more advanced ones an opportunity to help their younger society fellow men.

But to accomplish what this society wishes most the society must be alive, earnest and able. To make the society thus, the members must be enthusiastic and willing to work. A successful society owes its success to these qualities in its members.

Again, a great factor of the success of the society, perhaps the greatest, is due to the untiring and constant work of the society teachers, Miss Hanting and Miss Brandeis. Considered from this standpoint "The Art Society" is a successful society.

This society is as yet young, but it is proving so successful that we feel certain, yes, we know, that when we have become alumnae we shall look back with a feeling of pride that we were among the first members of the Art Society of the O. H. S.

THE ATHENIAN DEBATING SOCIETY.

Last fall it was discovered that there were too many boys for the number of debating societies in the High School, so Mr. Woolery called a meeting of the boys who wished to form a new society. About thirty-five boys responded to this call and great enthusiasm was manifested. A constitution was drawn up, officers elected and the new society was named the "Athenian Debating Society." Miss J. von Mansfield, Miss Towne and Mr. Orchard were chosen as society teachers.

As with every new organization, this society has met with a great many difficulties during the past year. In the first place the older societies drew more of the students than the new one and the membership gradually decreased. Then the majority of the members were inexperienced in the line of literary work. But in spite of these difficulties we have passed this year successfully and we can look forward to a much more successful year next year. The society has met regularly and the programs have been exceedingly interesting. The purpose of the society was not forgotten in the programs and many closely-contested debates were held, thus developing very promising material for the debating squad next year.

The success of the society was due to the fact that every member worked hard and conscientiously, yet we must not forget the society teachers whose untiring efforts in promoting the welfare of the society proved to be an aid and are sincerely appreciated by all of the members. We hope and, in fact, are certain, that the society will gain a large membership next September and be as strong in High School activities as any other society in the school.

THE COLLEGE CLUB.

In the month of April, 1909, a reception was held at Brownell Hall by the Association of Collegiate Alumnae in honor of the Junior girls of the Omaha High School for the purpose of promoting interest in college life. Stereopticon views of the prominent colleges and universities were given, accompanied by talks on the various institutions. As a result of this reception a society was organized under the name of the College Club and the first meeting held in June. The officers elected are as follows: Harriet Blake, president; Gretchen Williamson, vice-president; Ruth Gould, librarian; Irma Gross, recording secretary; Emily Chase, corresponding secretary; Ruth Sheldon, treasurer; Marie Gordon, reporter. The leaders of the society are Miss White, president of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae, and Miss Mackin. The society has held two meetings this year and has gained many new members. While there has been the mistaken idea that the club was formed to promote interest in the eastern colleges, the true aim and purpose is to interest as many as possible in all phases of university as well as college life. The value of higher education can hardly be overestimated, whether it be obtained in university or college, and it was to bring the realization of this need home to the students and to make it possible for anyone interested to have the opportunity of learning the requirements and the ways and means of such an education that the College Club was formed. The meetings are very interesting and enjoyable. Members of the society can avail themselves of catalogues and calendars of all the prominent colleges and universities, as well as meet and talk with members of the Collegiate Alumnae Association. As the majority of the members are Seniors, it will rest with the succeeding classes to see that the society is not suffered to disband. Let us hope, therefore, that they will take up the good work and strive to carry on a feature of school life so enjoyable and so necessary as this. The society organized by us under such pleasant circumstances we leave in their keeping, and it shall be to their credit and praise, as well as to their own advantage, to prove themselves worthy of the trust and to carry on faithfully the work so successfully begun.

DEMOSTHENIAN DEBATING SOCIETY.

THE DEMOSTHENIAN DEBATING SOCIETY.

In the High School career of every boy there comes up the question, "What is the best way to teach the boy to dig for himself, to develop him so that he can make entirely unaided a sustained literary effort?"

In the Omaha High School debating societies have helped to solve this question satisfactorily. They awaken an interest in the boy, showing him that there is something more to school than the mere answering of the teacher's questions.

For eleven years the Demosthenian Debating Society, in promoting this interest, has aided in the answer. In it the boy learns to depend on himself for his work; also he learns to speak in public without fear or "stage fright" and to think while on his feet, both attainments of inestimable value.

At the beginning of each year a number of Freshmen are enrolled, thus keeping up the membership and the balance of the four classes even. The older boys direct the work and generally act as the officers.

The history of the D. D. S. since the time the class of 1910 entered the High School is certainly one to be proud of. From its ranks during this time have come at least the Demosthenians' share of the school debaters and orators, and 1910 men have always been to the fore in this lot.

Another feature of the D. D. S. is its social life. In it are formed many friendships which last throughout all school life and perhaps longer. The joint meeting held this year between the Margaret Fuller and the Demosthenian societies was a success in every way and will long be held as a pleasant memory by all those who attended.

The officers of the first semester of this year were: Richard Barnes, president; Alfred Kennedy, vice president; Lumir Buresh, secretary; George Sugarman, treasurer; Charles Hardy, sergeant-at-arms, and Wallace Troup, librarian. For the last semester Richard Barnes was re-elected as president, with Stuart Gould as vice president; Wilbur Haynes, secretary; Voyle Rector, treasurer; Malcomb Baldrige, sergeant-at-arms; Lew Pixley, librarian.

The society teachers of the D. D. S. have always taken an active interest in everything pertaining to the society, advising the boys on difficult questions, and are always willing to help any boy needing aid. The society congratulates itself on having four such excellent teachers as Mrs. Sudborough, Mr. Anderson, Mr. Robinson and Mr. Clausen.

Some good men will leave at the close of this term, but the members left all have the real Demosthenian spirit and will carry on the D. D. S. to continued success.

And we will still see the colors, purple and gold and white, in undiminished glory, and above all we will hear the old yell:

O. H. S.,
Well, I guess;
Omaha High School,
D. D. S.

THE DEUTSCHER VEREIN.

Of the fourteen literary organizations in the Omaha High School, the German society is the largest, its membership being almost two hundred. But it is not alone in numbers that the German society stands pre-eminent, for, in the interest manifested and the work accomplished, it has no rivals.

The society, organized as it is today, was formed in 1904. Membership is voluntary. All pupils of the High School who either study or have studied or know the language are eligible for enrollment and receive for their work a half point credit each year. The purpose of the society is to inspire in the students a deeper interest in the study of German and to give them practice in the use of the language.

To accomplish this purpose meetings an hour in length are held after school Wednesday of each week. Every alternate Wednesday the hour is spent in singing German folk songs, which are at the same time instructive and enjoyable. The singing is directed by Miss Bowen, assisted by Miss Towne. At the other meetings programs entirely in German are given and are greatly enjoyed by the members. They consist of recitations, songs, dances and plays in the German language.

During the past year several lectures, illustrated with stereopticon views of German life and of the country, have been given by the members and teachers. Perhaps the most interesting program of the year is the Christmas one, as this is always the event where special time and work is put on to make an interesting time.

The society is guided and advised by the teachers of the German department of the High School, all of whom take an active interest in the society work. The teachers include Miss Bowen, the head of the department; Miss Somers, Miss Landis, Mme. Chatelaine, Miss Rockfellow, Miss Timms.

Elections are held semi-annually in the German society, thus making it possible for a larger number of the members to share in the honors of the society. For the first semester George Geib acted as president, with Erna Hadra, vice-president; Grace Burlington, secretary; Stuart Gould, treasurer; Elsa Haarman, critic; Blanche Cohn and Harry Lindberg, sergeants-at-arms. For the second semester Stuart Gould was elected president; Ruth McIlvaine, vice-president; Cleo Warthen, secretary; George Geib, treasurer; Max Rosenblum, critic; Hortense Spiesberger and Dean Davidson, sergeants-at-arms.

Although each year carries with it many of the old members, with the new year enter others, eager to carry on the work so well begun and add glory to the Deutscher Verein.

THE ELAINE SOCIETY.

And so you thought that Elaine, a mere phantom maiden at best, had passed away many weary years ago. In truth, Elaine really lives today in the Elaine, for, as you have said, she was only a little dream maiden made immortal by Tennyson; hence, if that be the case, she is surely much alive today, for the old Elaine visits in spirit the modern Elaine of today. This dream maid of old always strove to do her best as she saw it, her only fault being not that she loved, but loved too well, if such be a fault. Surely then she is in thought still present in the modern Elaine, which has taken her for its Ideal, just as many a lad seeks to follow in the footsteps of King Arthur.

We of the Elaine do not claim that we have attained our ideal, but only strive to attain it, for we know that it is good to have so perfect an ideal as our inspiration. Often in some thoughtful moment she is present in all her silvery whiteness to urge us on to all that is fine and noble, that we may in the end attain the long sought for goal. But someone may say that he thought Elaine a literary society and formed not to correct manners or be an inspiration to the noble, but to promote literary work. To that person we would say that if one stops to consider the question, one will see that in a society or club, as nowhere else, is gentle unselfishness necessary. The society needs to be in peace and concord to obtain the best results. Little petty jealousies and strivings are ever present unless the utmost care is exercised. So here, too, is Elaine's example valuable. Just as she always did her best, so she urges us to make our poems, stories, essays and music as good as possible and bring even the humorous parts up to the most exquisite finish, as well as the more serious work.

So the Elaine of old helps us in many ways and it is with regret that we, the upper classmen, relinquish our tasks to our younger sisters who are expectantly awaiting our share of the joys and cares in the Elaine. We cannot help but feel that these four years with our Elaine have helped us in many ways and given us a beautiful remembrance that we shall cherish always. May they to whom we pass our ideal love her too, and follow her teachings even more successfully than we have done. With the kind help of Miss Sullivan, Miss Copeland and the Misses Smith, and our charming president, Miss Frances Todd, we have striven to do our best and pass on to our successors the name of Elaine as bright and untarnished as it was given to us.

THE FRANCES WILLARD SOCIETY.

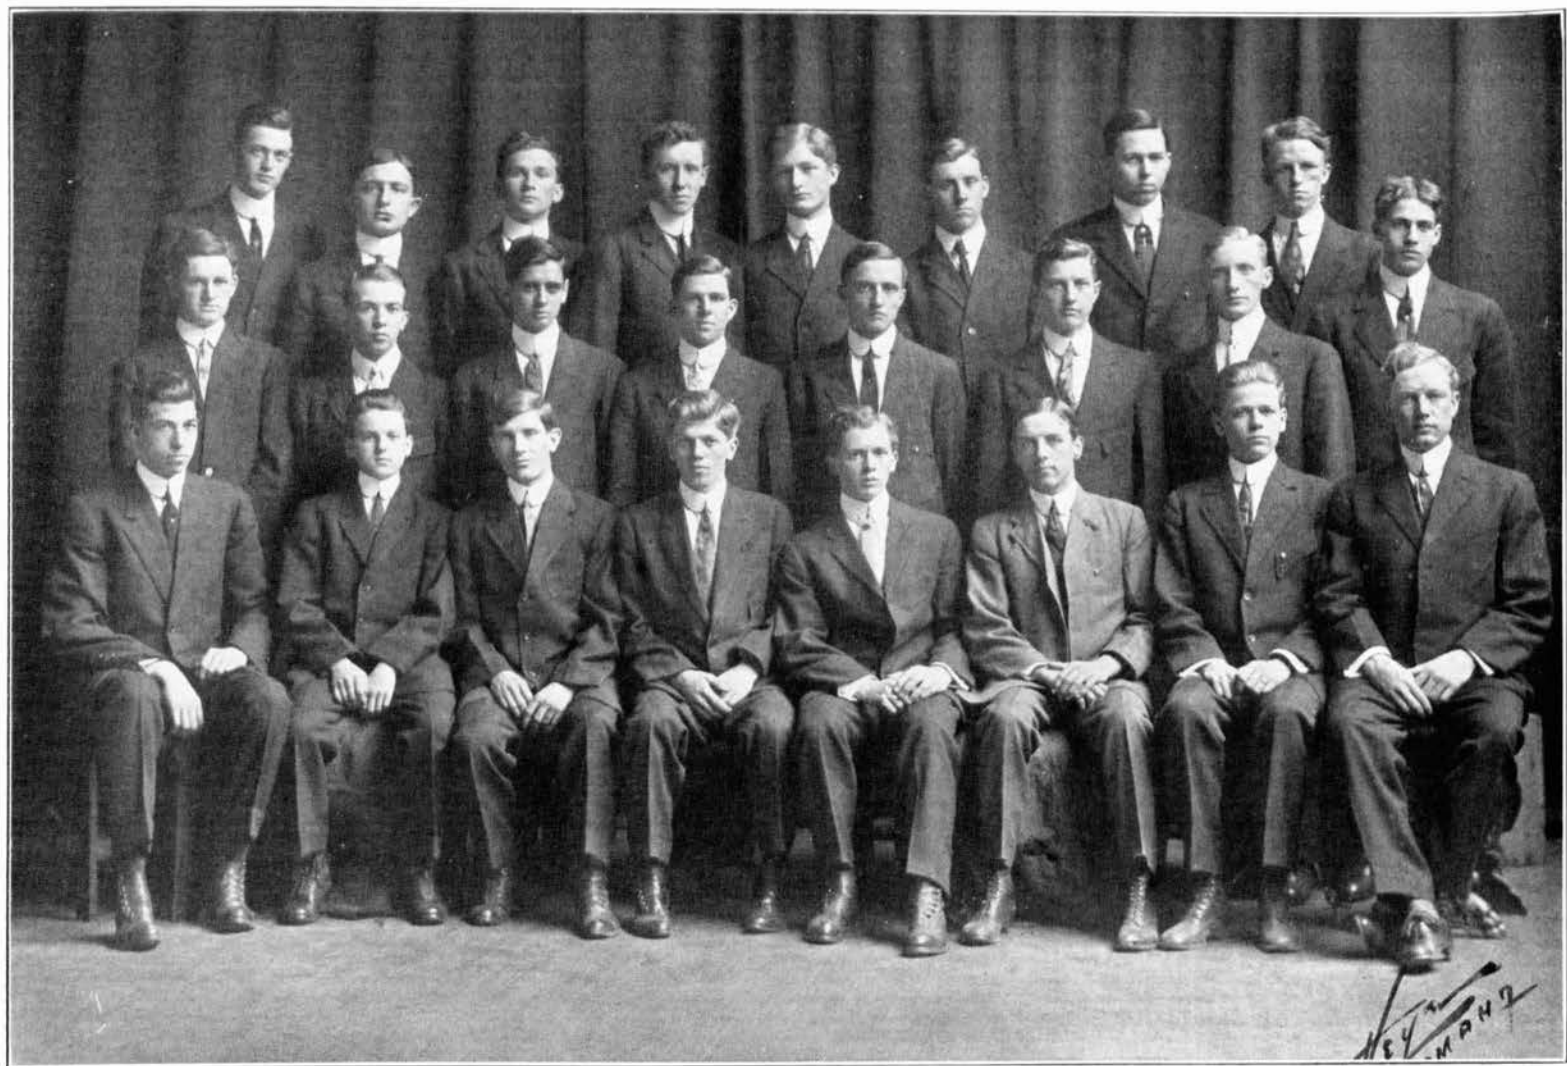

The Frances Willard Society, the youngest of the girls' literary organizations, is approaching the close of a most successful year. Its membership has increased, attendance has been good and interest in literary pursuits has been aroused and turned to the proper channels. The programs have covered a wide range of topics; musical numbers, dramatic productions, humorous sketches and instructive talks on Mexico have furnished enjoyment at the meetings. According to the ability of each, the members have responded, aided in their efforts by the guidance and encouragement of our teachers. The society is growing in every respect and with the support and co-operation of its members bids fair to continue to do so.

The members have lately taken up a most interesting subject for discussion in the way of Mexico. They have taken it clear from the beginning, when it was first discovered, and the manners and customs of the early inhabitants, down to Mexico as it is now. They have illustrated their talks by various postal cards and pictures. Mr. Hiller, who has recently returned from Mexico with a valuable collection of cards and pictures, had kindly arranged to give a stereopticon lecture to the members on that topic.

But do not think for a moment that this society is devoted alone to deep and learned pursuits. Not at all. Every society Friday the girls come to school knowing that they are going to have a "dandy time" and they sure do. After the program candies and sweets are always passed around, enough to make every girl feel that she has "had enough." Sometimes they have regular lunches in the way of sandwiches and pickles, etc.

One of the aims of the society is to promote "good fellowship" among the girls and at the end of every year the girls are all satisfied that that aim has been realized.

Many of the former Frances Willard girls have departed to other fields of labor and new girls have taken their places, so adding fresh efforts to the furthering of our cause. Much credit is due to Margery Beckett and Edna Ostrom, whose untiring interest from the beginning of the organization has materially aided the society's progress. We are looking forward to seeing our standards emblazoned with our motto, "Truth and Fidelity," and strung with the orange and brown, carried higher and higher to the pinnacles of perfect success. M. A., '12.

THE GLEE CLUB.

THE O. H. S. GLEE CLUB.

Of the many virtues that the Omaha High School possesses, the desire and love for music may be counted among them, and ranks among the best. Considering that the school possessed many other interesting activities, the musical feature was not wholly overlooked. Some may recall the creditable octette of 1906 under the efficient leadership of Walter Hoffman, while many more remember the successful Glee club of 1909 under the leadership of Mr. Cherrington, and which, through his strenuous efforts, produced creditable results and influenced the organization of the club of 1910.

Through the efforts of Mr. Carstensen and several members of last year's club, a good-sized club was organized. Every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon was devoted to diligent practice.

The members took great interest in the work and attended the meetings regularly, thus acquiring a large repertoire of good songs. The club has appeared before the student body several times, also before the public, giving creditable programs.

The club organized, electing Will Roe as president and Thurston L. Belknap as secretary and treasurer. Miss Pritchard was chosen as accompanist, this place being latter filled by Charles Hardy. Mr. Carstensen was selected as director, and a great deal of our success may be attributed to his conscientious efforts and desire to make this the best of all previous clubs.

The club entertained a large crowd in room 204 on the occasion of its concert given together with the Mandolin Club. This concert was enjoyed by all and proved to be a great success.

THE HAWTHORNE TREE.

On the summit of Malora,
Of Malora grand and rugged,
Stood a palace rich in splendor,
Carved in beauty, reared in grandeur.
Round it monarchs of the forest
Towered in their lofty power,
Feathered songsters caroled loudly,
Pouring out their winged rapture,
While far below the angry waters
Dashed against the rocky bulwarks.
Nature reigned in blaze of glory.
But within the stone-walled castle
Sorrow grasped its fearful homage:
Wailing, weeping, women wandered
Through the roomy halls, while children
Followed them in wide-eyed wonder.
All the household mourned for Hawthor,
Slain in bitter, bloody battle,
Slain while fighting for his nation,
For his tribe and all his people.
Brave he was and none was braver,
Strong, unyielding, like the oak tree,
Supple as the bending willow,
Gentle to all weaker mortals,

Hating evil, loving goodness,
Scorning all the petty misdeeds,
Slighting naught that brought perfection.
Good and great of heart was Hawthor;
Therefore all the household mourned him,
And his grave was strewn with flowers.
But they sickened soon and faded,
And the father grieved that nothing
Lived to grace the grave of Hawthor,
But a pitying spirit planted
By the grave a seed that sprouted;
Strengthened by the glowing sunlight,
Nourished by the rains that fed it,
Higher, higher still it clambered,
Till it burst in snowy blossoms;
Blossoms tinged with pink that came
From the blood of fallen Hawthor;
All the people gazed in wonder,
But the unseen spirit answered,
Chanting softly, "Here before you
Is a memory of Hawthor;
Love it, cherish it and respect it;
The Hawthorne tree, the tree of Hawthor.

THE LATIN SOCIETY.

The Latin Society has the distinction of being the first of its kind to be established in a High School of the United States. Accordingly the classical association of the west and south has been greatly interested in it and its success. In the Classical Journal, published by this association, with the co-operation of the New England Association, the society has been an interesting topic and consequently other Latin societies have since been established in other High Schools. In a recent edition almost a page was devoted to our society, its organization and an analysis of the various programs.

The work this year has been very satisfactory indeed. The membership has been large, so that each pupil has been able to devote sufficient time and energy to his part on the program, so bringing each up to a high standard. The aim has been to render programs instructive in the history, the manners, customs, language and ideas of the Greeks and Romans, at the same time making them interesting and entertaining. And this aim has been reached. For example, a few of the programs may be mentioned. "A Day in Pluto's Court" speaks for itself; "An Ancient History Character Social" also suggests its merit and interest. "The Value of Latin," "In the Days of Cicero," "Mythology" are others. Further interest is secured by musical numbers on every program.

It has been the custom to give a play once a year and invite all the Latin students in the school. This year, under the leadership of Miss Peterson, "The Muses Up-to-Date," a brilliant little farce, a takeoff on the Muses of the ancient mythology, was given with marked success.

The teachers who have charge of the society are Miss Snyder, Miss Peterson, Miss Paxson, Miss Rooney and Miss Shields.

The officers are elected twice a year. Those of the first term were: President, Alice Gideon; vice-president, Wyman Beebe; secretary, Ruth Sheldon; treasurer, Margery Beckett; sergeants-at-arms, Louise Copeland and Wilson Heller; reporter, Irma Gross. Those of the second term are: President, Edwin Alderson; vice-president, Mabel Hamilton; secretary, George Grimes; treasurer, Harold Thomas; sergeants-at-arms, othy Carlisle and Philip Johnson; reporter, Alice Gideon.

THE LININGER TRAVEL CLUB.

The Lininger Travel Club, one of the most prominent literary societies in the High School, has just completed a most successful year. This club was formed in the fall of 1903 by thirty-five members of the ninth grade of that year. The first president of the club was Miss Mable Huntley. At first the club was called the Alcott Society and was practically the same as the other literary societies. But after a few meetings the founders of the club determined to be a little different from the other societies and they decided to originate a travel club for the school.

The club was named in honor of the late George W. Lininger, a pioneer of Omaha, who is recognized as Nebraska's greatest traveler. One of the objects of his extensive travels was the collection of fine arts, for which he entertained a great passion. This splendid man, who has done so much for Omaha by giving Omahans the benefits of the fruits of his travels in his magnificent art gallery, was surely a fitting man to choose as a "patron saint," as he genially spoke of himself. Mr. Lininger displayed much interest in the club and his daughter, Mrs. Frank Haller, has been its kind benefactor.

The purpose of the club is to study the different countries as well as the improvements of the members.

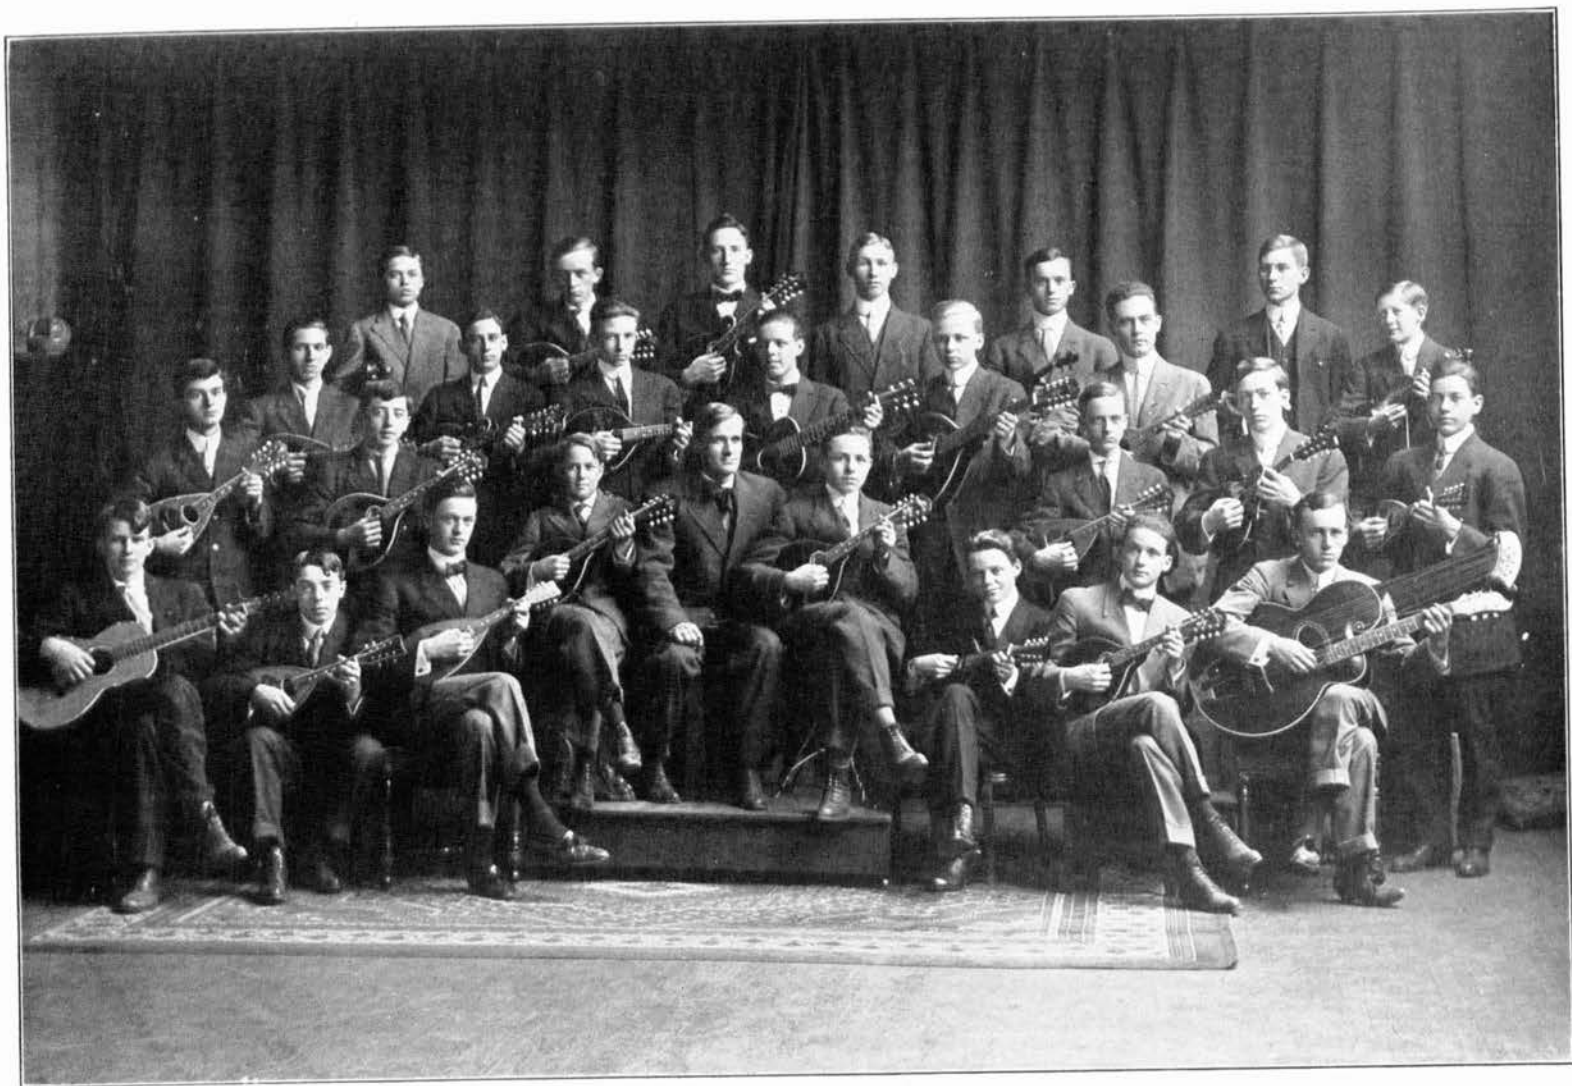

To carry out the idea of travel the girls have had many of their programs on foreign countries, some of the most interesting being on historic Greece, the ancient ruined Rome and picturesque Venice. Several very interesting stereopticon lectures were given, taking us to sunny Italy, to Germany with its castles on the Rhine, as well as to many points of interest in our own country. Miss Wallace of the faculty has given us the benefits of her extensive travels by her lectures and views.

The success of the club in the achievement of its purpose was largely due to its efficient teachers, Mrs. Atkinson, Miss Dudley, Miss Allison and Miss Browne. The latter has been with the club since its organization. The untiring energy and admirable ingenuity of these teachers have made the club a successful society, for which we tender them a vote of thanks.

The social life of the club has been very pleasant, including picnics and parties, where the girls have found relaxation from the regular routine of studies. Mrs. Haller has been very kind in affording the girls many pleasant hours of entertainment at her beautiful home, where so many rare and interesting things are to be seen.

As the L. T. C. has been successful in the first seven years of its existence and formed a high standard, we feel confident that it will flourish in the future and always be a credit to the High School and an honor to its name. B. B. D., '10.

THE MANDOLIN CLUB.

THE MANDOLIN CLUB.

The Mandolin Club is one of the new organizations of the High School, having been organized the middle of the present year. Nevertheless, it is one of the most promising musical organizations the O. H. S. has ever had. For the past few years the need of another musical organization besides the band has been realized and many attempts at organizing an orchestra were made, but for some reason these have always failed to materialize fully.

Accordingly, when the idea of a Mandolin Club was suggested, the plan was immediately sanctioned and the foundation for the present splendid organization was laid. The club has at present a membership of twenty-seven and none of them have been idle. Since organizing, they have met regularly once every week under the instruction of Mr. Francis Potter, whose ability is well known among High School students. Mr. Potter takes great interest in this work and deserves unlimited credit for the excellent work done so far.

Thus far the club has not had very many opportunities to appear before the public, but by its part in the concert on May 18, it clearly demonstrated to the joy of the audience what it had accomplished in the comparatively short time. Its numbers were heartily appreciated by all who attended and all testified that it was a grand success. From the success that has accompanied the club this year and the spirit with which it has been accepted we may look for great things from this organization next year.

A TOAST TO THE MARGARET FULLERS.

They say it is wholesome to rise with the sun,
And I dare say it is, if not overdone;
But to rise in a meeting and try to propose
A toast to its members, as you may suppose,
Is not the easiest way to maintain
A sound equilibrium between heart and brain.
'Tis a trying ordeal, this rising to say
What is sure to be criticised all the next day;
To be under contract to say something funny,
When you couldn't produce an idea for money.
So, not to grow tiresome and to get something done,
I'll pledge you our officers, one by one.
Our president's noted for her pluck,
We praise the work of Helen Buck;
Our vice-president is one to whom no bar
To learning e'er can pleasure "Marr."
Our secretary plays and sings so gaily,
Her name is well known—it's Helen Rayley,
While our treasurer good leaves nothing vague,
In balanced sheets signed H. McCague.
Our sergeant-at-arms, as sergeants all should,
Maintains excellent order with ferule of "Wood."
So we'll toast them all brown (we beg their compliance)
We're learning how in domestic science.
Our teachers, too, we highly rate;
We need them all to keep us straight;
For if in dates we find we're lackin'
We hurriedly consult Miss Mackin.
While if for aught we need the sandal

Our refuge sure is then Miss Randall.
And when one's English seems to fail her
She always finds her friend Miss Taylor.
But over all Miss Jenks will lead
In helping solve life's greatest need;
For when the shelf has claimed our books
The world will still have need of cooks.
So here's to them all, each has a part
Of every Margaret Fuller's heart.
And now to our members we owe some toasts
(Though they might turn out to be chiefly roasts),
But their number causes our courage to falter,
So we'll pledge all together in sparkling water,
Then here's to the girls of the M. F. S.,
A goodly company, we profess;
Their fame has gone throughout the school,
For hearts that are warm and heads that are cool.
They talents possess without any question,
Or such, at least, has been the suggestion
Of those who believe and say, forsooth,
What seems to them to be the truth.
Then let us conclude without further laudation,
And prove by our lives that we're worth emulation;
Illustrious, eminent, exalted and fair,
Is the fame of the woman whose name we bear.
May we ever be worthy that name to possess;
Then here's to us all and our future success.

OFFICERS OF THE PRISCILLA ALDEN SOCIETY.

THE PRISCILLA ALDEN SOCIETY.

In 1905, a number of Freshmen girls organized a literary society, the Priscilla Alden, which has been ever since one of the strongest and most enjoyable societies of the O. H. S.

As most of the organizers graduated last year, a number of Freshmen and Sophomores were admitted this year to our society. It is in great measure to their loyalty and interest that the society has been able to do the work it has. Then, too, we have been very fortunate in having such able leaders to assist us as the Misses Sterling and Loa Howard, president. All the members appreciate the loyalty and interest our teachers have shown, for we all know they have done a great deal to make this year a success.

As we think of the efficient officers and enthusiastic members the society has had since its organization, we can justly feel proud of our P. A. S. and of what she has accomplished, the knowledge and pleasure she has afforded, and, best of all, the friendship we have formed while within her influence.

The first year Grace McBride was chosen as president, followed by Louise Northrup. The third year Bess Townsend took the leadership and was succeeded by Helen Wright. Last year Jennie Undeland was our president, and this year Loa Howard has most admirably filled that office.

Realizing that "variety is the spice of life," the society has followed no definite course of study this year, but has had many interesting essays and papers, as well as many amusing plays for programs.

The last of the year we were very fortunate in having Miss Northrup come to us as teacher. As one of the organizers and a former president, she has always had a deep interest in the Priscilla Aldens and has already been a great help and an inspiration to all of us.

We older members sincerely hope that our future may be even brighter than our past has been, and, indeed, there is now every indication that it will be.

THE PLEIADES SOCIETY.

Long years ago, even before the age of Christianity was thought of, the great constellations of stars, and among them the Pleiades, were known to the wise men of the ages.

So, when a group of girls, small in number, but larger with spirit and enthusiasm, first assembled at the portals of the O. H. S. under the leadership of Mrs. Atkinson to organize into a body which would raise the literary standard of their school and at the same time afford pleasure to themselves, they decided that no name would be more appropriate than that of "The Pleiades." It was considered a pretty name and it was thought that if the earthly stars would have as strong and as lasting a remembrance in the minds of the alumni of the O. H. S. as the heavenly stars of the constellation from which its name was derived have had in the minds of the world's astronomers, it certainly would be a credit to the members and to the school in general.

It was first decided that each member should pay a sum of twenty-five cents weekly and consequently this kept the roll number limited for a while, but the fee gradually diminished until no money was required to be a member.

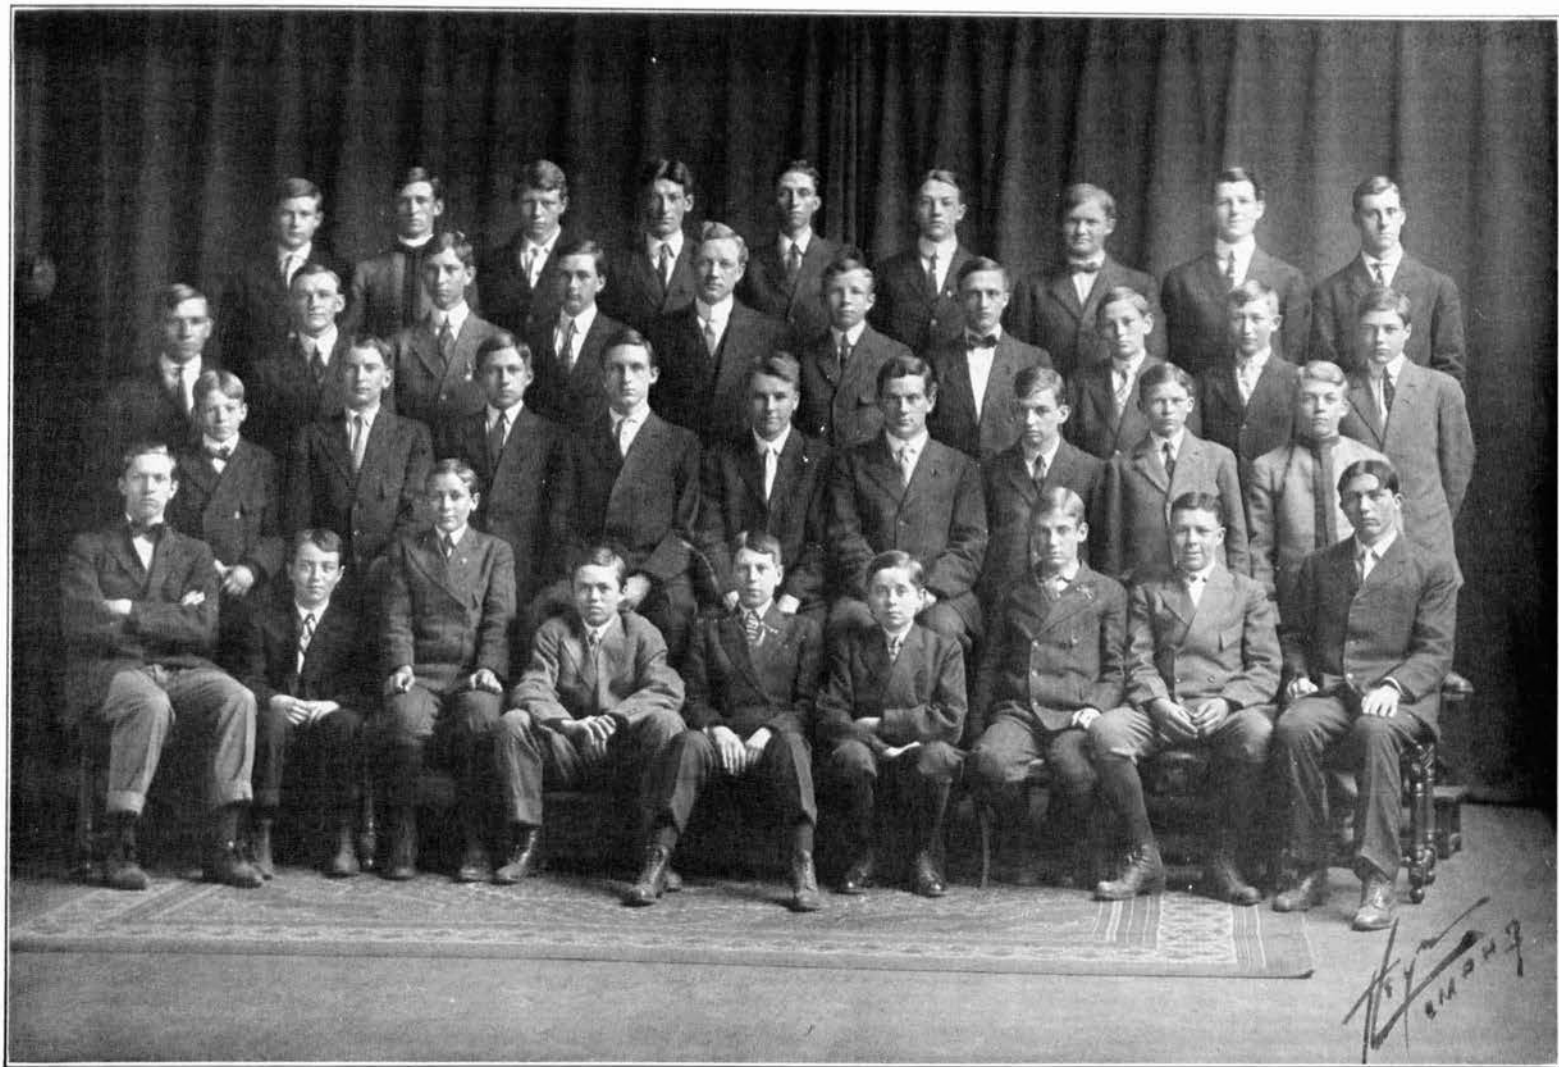

The girls were all gifted with some special accomplishment, one with music, another with the talent to write good original stories, many with wit, as shown in the society paper where the squib department is an important feature, and still others with the ability to write poetry.

As regularly as graduation comes, with all its pleasures, and at the same time with a sense of sorrow in parting with the High School life and its enjoyments, the society suffers the loss of its older members. But their places are taken by new members, who are able and willing to keep their group bright and shining, and, if possible, make it more brilliant than it had been through the previous years.

In closing we wish to say that we hope that in the future the Pleiades Society will continue to shine as brilliantly as it has for the past eight years, and the following toast is given to its members:

Of all the toasts that we can boast,
'Tis this one proves the test;
Of all the girls in O. H. S.
The Pleiades are best.

THE WEBSTER DEBATING SOCIETY.

THE WEBSTER DEBATING SOCIETY,

After passing a most successful year, in so far as the literary work of the society is concerned, it is gratifying to look back over the history of the Webster Debating Society. In 1904 the society first came before the school as a debating society. The charter members were the boys who had founded the Thoreau Society the year before. While this society has never had the largest membership, it has always been a leader in literary work.

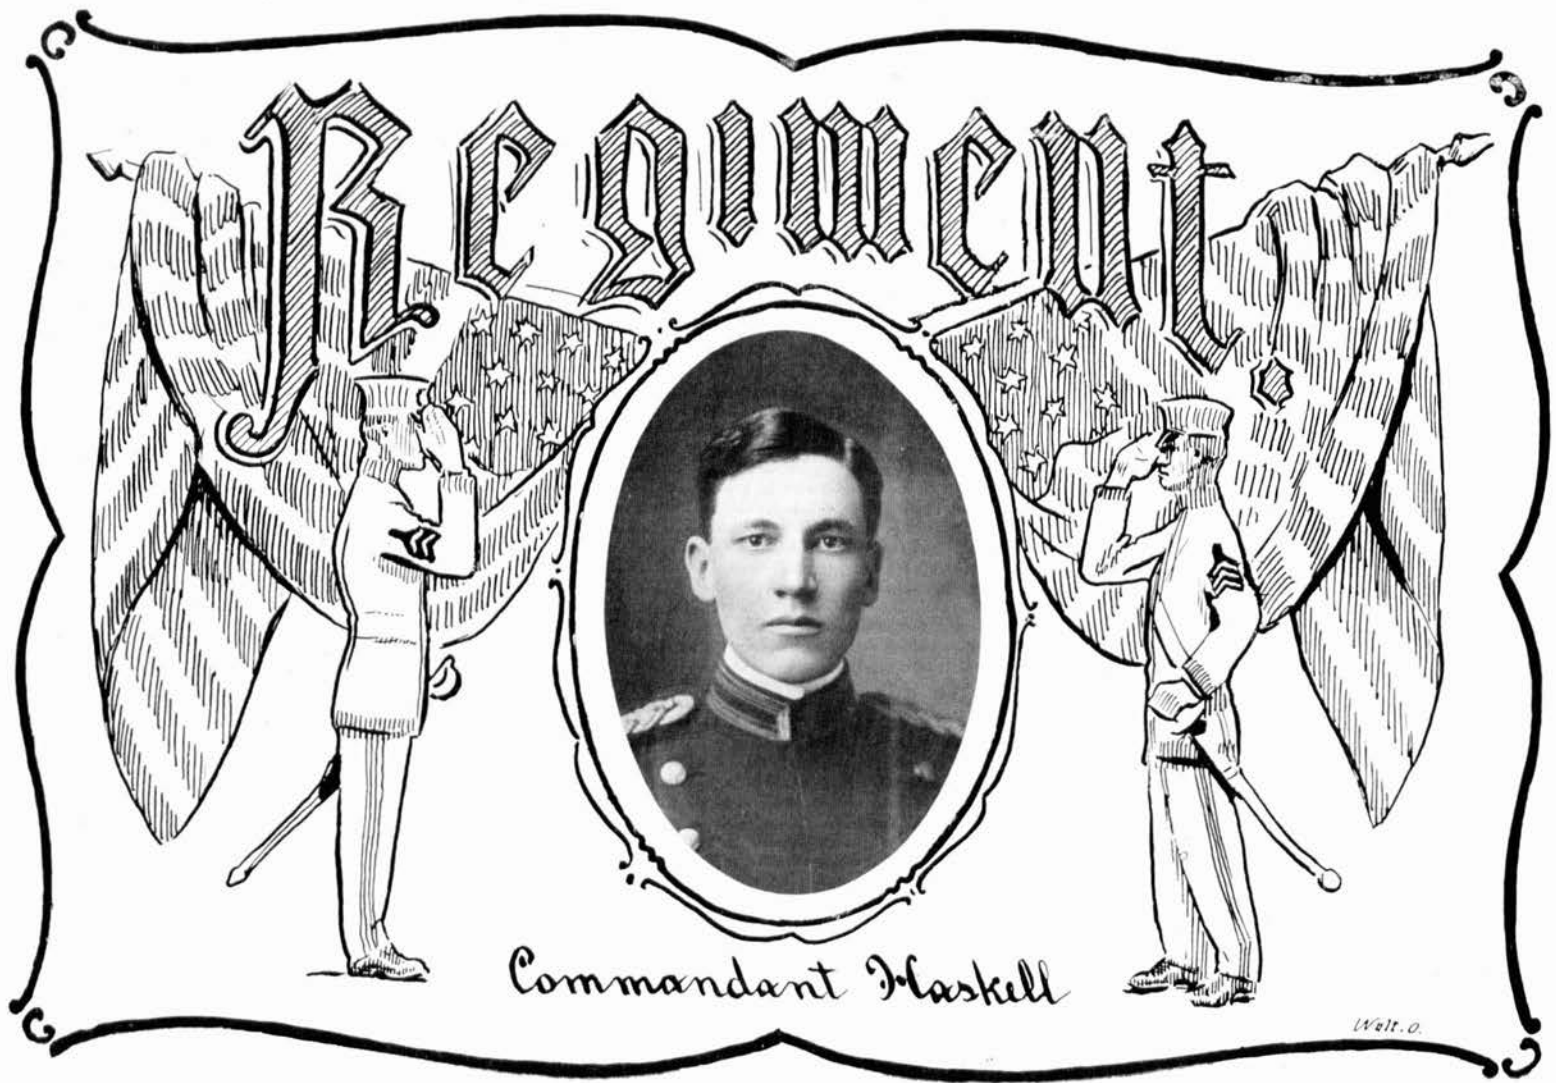

In 1907, the Webster and Ciceronian Societies were united as the Webster-Ciceronian Society, but the union was of short duration and was broken up the next year.

During the present year the work of the society has been very successful. The co-operation of members and teachers has proven beneficial to all. Under the leadership of Mr. Carstensen as head teacher, the society has more than held its own against the other societies. Early in the year they showed their worth by defeating their old rivals, the D. D. S., in the only inter-society debate of the year. Of the debating teams that have represented the Omaha High School this year, six of the twelve representatives have been Webster boys and two of the three alternates were also members of this society.

The outlook for the success of debating next year, both in the society and in the school, is very bright, as three of the six representatives from the Webster Society will be here next year. The officers for the first semester of this year were: President, George Geib; vice-president, Harold Moon; secretary, Maurice Shillington; sergeants-at-arms, Fred Ross, Paul Brown. Those elected for the last half were: President, Hiram Salisbury; vice-president, Maurice Shillington; secretary, Dean Davidson; sergeants-at-arms, Victor Caley, William Bauman.

OFFICERS OF CADET OFFICERS CLUB.

THE CADET OFFICERS CLUB.

The Cadet Officers' Club is an organization composed entirely of all of the commissioned officers of the regiment. It is one of the most potent elements in framing the general standard of the whole regiment, as upon the character and integrity of its members depends the quality of drill maintained by the companies. Almost all matters pertaining to military affairs are passed upon by this club, and here, also, upon the general makeup of the club depends the kind of business transacted. All matters regarding camp and compet go through the club, and in previous years it has had a great deal to do with these two important items.

We are surely to be congratulated upon the fact that we have such a set of efficient and able officers, who have shown such a keen and whole-hearted interest in their work and who have striven to the utmost to bear our standard of efficiency high above all of those preceding. The club organized during the fall and immediately the first measure taken up was the anti-cigarette law. Every officer in the regiment, both commissioned and non-commissioned, signed his name to a list agreeing that he would not smoke cigarettes while in uniform. It is remarkable and a good recommendation for these officers that this agreement has been followed so closely. The officers of the club during the past year have been: President, Regimental Adjutant Warren Howard; Vice-President, Captain Clarence Patton; Secretary, Major Charles Hoffert; Treasurer, Captain Robert McCague; Sergeant-at-Arms, Lieutenant Fred Fernald.

In reviewing the C. O. C. and the work of the regiment during the past year, we must not overlook one of the most important factors in its success and one that we may be thankful for. This is the fact that we have had the good fortune to have at our head such a commandant as Lieutenant Haskell. A great deal of our success has been due to Commandant Haskell's conscientious efforts to raise the standard of the regiment as it was only through his energy that affairs were handled as well as they have been. It was he who minimized the work connected with the arrangement of camps and formulated a more expedient plan for competitive drill. Surely he deserves unlimited praise and his efforts have been appreciated by all concerned.

COMPANY F.

Since its organization in 1899, under Captain Hardy, Company F has always been one of the leading companies of the school.

Throughout the first six years of its career Company F was unable to capture the flag, but in the seventh year, under Captain Sam Millard, whose sad death occurred the following year, it marched off triumphant with the coveted colors.

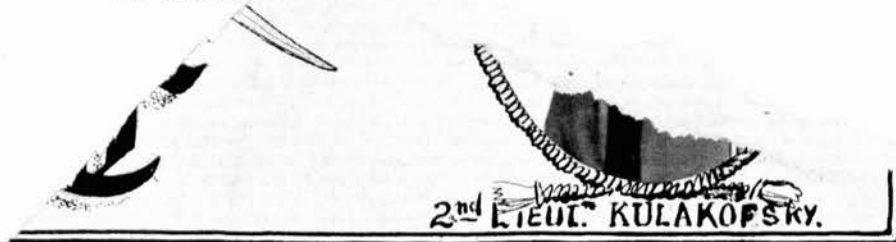

From that time on, F has not been able to again come out first in the "compet," but has been working hard and steadily improving, until last year, when it took second place under the able leadership of Captain Howard Roe.

The prospects for the success of the company have never been more favorable than they are the present year. We have for captain Clarence Patton. Not only is he a most excellent driller himself, but as a leader of the men he is even more proficient and he has proven himself to be thoroughly capable in every respect. Our two lieutenants, Hansen and Kulakofsky, form a pair that is hard to beat. They are men that know their business and that counts exceedingly toward the success of the company. It is doubtful if there is a better driller in the school than our first sergeant, Wilrodt, and it is certain that the company will have an exceptionally fine captain next year. The "non-coms" are also faithful and hard working and all have the interest of the company at heart. But the most important factor toward the success of any company is the men themselves, and in this respect F is especially fortunate. It is composed chiefly of the near prize winners of last year, who have all improved since then, and the best appearing and most promising set of Freshmen that the company has ever had before. The last, but far from the least, important factor in the company is our fair sponsor, Miss Mildred Marr. Miss Marr is one of the hardest workers of the Senior class and it is certain that she will take to heart the welfare of this company and will utilize her entire energy and, needless to say, charms, to make of this company one to be admired by all.

The company that works hard under her eye and her words of encouragement certainly does deserve success. We should therefore with these favoring circumstances again carry off the honors this year for which we have so faithfully worked.

So here's to the success of Company F in its twelfth annual "compet!" All of its faithful supporters gather in this good old heart for what is to them the best company in the Omaha I

COMPANY B.

No company in the regiment has a more congenial bunch of fellows than Company B; no company a more promising outlook for the year of 1910. With such a company as this, made up of men of such ability and having such pride in their company and the achievements of her men individually in athletics and school life, and with corporals, sergeants and commissioned officers who are as proud of the rank and file as the latter are of them, because each sees the other boosting for all he is worth for the "Old Company"—with such a company the goal of all our ambition is, even now, almost assured—the flag.

The good fellowship of the company is shown by the rousing good time we had at the company barbecue last fall, and the loyalty of "B" men whenever they get together; always "boosting" together, whether in the close ranks of some hot, dusty drill ground or having a "jollification" off in some cool corner.

Through all the vicissitudes of school and camp life, from reveille to taps, one element predominates—spirit, company spirit—without which drill cannot succeed. From the commissioned officers to privates this essential pervades the whole life of the company, making everyone work together toward perfection, both in manual and discipline. But look for a moment at the men who make up the company. There you see the flower of the school—athletes, drillers, scholars, all working shoulder to shoulder for the honor of old "B," and her success is explained.

It has been said that "Fortune favors the brave," and this surely is proved by the officers which it was "B" company's good fortune to obtain. Our captain, Trimble, while handicapped by his many other duties as athlete and class president, always contrived to give his best to the company and under his splendid handling the company has improved wonderfully. "Chan" has gained unquestioned obedience and absolute authority by his bearing and personality. There is no better liked captain. Too much credit cannot be given to Carnaby, our first lieutenant, for the efficient service he has rendered throughout the year. "Joe" is an able commander, "on the job" all the time, and is Chan's right hand man. Finley, too, is an able man whose personality and military ability make him one of the finest lieutenants in the regiment. "Bob's" athletic and scholastic record puts one more star in "B" company's list of the noted men she has attracted to her standard ever since the day of her birth.

And further, to increase the interest in drill and, if possible, to heighten the company spirit and loyalty, our gallant captain has chosen a "fayre laydie," Miss Sara Ayres, who, by her loveliness and charm, will inspire the boys to their most earnest efforts to win the flag, sustain the company's reputation, and add new laurels to our long list.

Our "non-coms" are really able men; already the privates respect judgment and executive ability. They are first of all officers and gentlemen, and, being such, the company is proud of them. But after all is said it is not the officers alone who win the honors or who can make the company win her laurels; it is the men, the rank and file, who by their concerted efforts enable the company to be what it is. And it is our hope that in future years we, returning, can see such men in the ranks as we have this year, worthy of all the honors and glory that can be gained.

None but those of the dear "Old Company" can know the thoughts that stir within each of us at the mention of that name, whose banner and whose glory shadows us through four long years, filled with memories of works, and honors and friendship—"Company "B!"

COMPANY A.

Company A has a record to be proud of. When competitive drill, the prettiest spectacle of the school year, was established, A Company was the first winner. There were then but four companies. Three years later Company A again won first place. Last year, when there were eight companies, Company A again carried off the flag after an almost perfect drill, under the leadership of Captain Herbert Ryan. Three times the gold medal marking first place in individual drill and twice the silver medal marking second place have gone to members of this company.

This year Company A has officers and members well fitted to maintain its prestige. The company may well expect to again take first place under the leadership of Captain Alfred Kennedy, as he, like all successful leaders, has marked ability in managing men. Besides, he is a skillful tactician and untiring in his efforts to promote the welfare of the company. First Lieutenant Harry Fraser and Second Lieutenant Hugh Mills have the same ability as officers of the company that has distinguished them in athletics. Their value to the company cannot be overestimated. The non-commissioned officers are no less loyal and able.

Miss Helen Miller has been chosen sponsor and has inspired each member of Company A with an enthusiasm that will insure another victory.

The splendidly drilled men of this company are every one prepared to make Company A the flower of the regiment in the future, as it has been in the past.

COMPANY G.

Company G has not had a long history to look back on, for this is only her second year in the O. H. S. regiment.

In the fall of 1908 Captain Drucker proposed the reorganization of the signal corps into a company. His plan was acted upon and the corps was organized into a company and, being the seventh, was called Company G.

Company G is now under the leadership of three most able and competent officers and great things are expected of her. Captain Nieman is without a doubt a very able commander and leader. Too much cannot be said of his ability. First Lieutenant Magney and Second Lieutenant Barnes are most zealous in their efforts in improving the company. In regard to military tactics they know all there is to know and thus are beyond doubt the best two lieutenants in the regiment. The non-commissioned officers are working hard and for the best interests of the company. Our old men take as much interest in the company as the officers and thus set a fine example for the Freshmen to follow. Last, but not least, is the sponsor, Miss Funkhouser. She is most diligent in urging "the boys" and arousing enthusiasm for the flag. Miss Funkhouser is the company's choice as well as the captain's.

It might be well to state at this point a few statistics. Last year at the battalion meet Company G took first place. From her ranks have been chosen the three majors, a fact which shows what kind of material she is made of. At compet last year she did not take first place, but will this year beyond all doubt.

With such zealous officers, untiring privates and such a charming sponsor, how can their efforts combined fail to win that much coveted flag? So let's all together give

"E" stands for excellent. Excellent in obedience, excellence in loyalty and excellent in company spirit. Doff your hat when "E" goes by, for never has there been a better company or never will there be. In years past "E" has made an excellent record and in future years we predict a better.

The year of 1899 had the privilege of witnessing the organization of this company, and for nearly three years, without any equipment, "E" worked hard, thereby establishing a great future which has so far been fulfilled and of which the following gives evidence: Second place in "compet" on its first appearance in 1902, second place in 1903, victory in 1904, victory in 1905. The two succeeding years were the least fortunate in "E's" existence, but in 1907 second place was again hers, with first place to an "E" man in the individual drill. In 1908 "E" was again unfortunate, but in 1909, although "E" fell to the last place owing to an unfortunate accident, still it cannot be called the least successful of "E's" performances. For she drilled from first to last with the precision of a company of veterans and showed her unsurpassed ability to withstand defeat made doubly hard by victory within her reach, only to be snatched abruptly away. But this year Fortune, assisted by Hard Work, seems indeed to be smiling upon old "E" and the sun is shining brightly on her prospects, for she has an able and cool-headed captain in Allan Tukey, who has excellent assistance in First Lieutenant George Sugarman and Second Lieutenant Charles Hudson. Last, but certainly not least, we wish to extol the virtues of our fair sponsor, Miss Alice Carter, who possesses a pleasing personality and with her smiling countenance and encouraging words urging them to greater efforts, competitive drill and Old Glory must surely go to old "E," and with three times three and a glorious tiger we leave you with a patriotic

COMPANY D.

Clio, the kind muse of history, has preserved the past achievements of Company D in several of the past annuals, so that those who do not know its meritorious history may have the opportunity of enlightening themselves. To be sure Company D has as glorious a record as any, and one of which we may well feel proud.

This year the company was unusually fortunate in securing for commissioned officers such efficient commanders and tacticians as are Lumir Buresh, Captain; Stanley Beranek, First Lieutenant, and James McAllister, Second Lieutenant. In these officers are combined all of the elements that lead to the formation and development of a splendid organization, such as the present company is. In former years the company always had a representative set of officers and this year it has shared equally as well. The officers have taken those methods of dealing with men which have formerly proved most successful and combined this experience with natural leadership. The result has been the present high standard of drill, the respect that every man has for his officers, and the company spirit without which all efforts toward successful drill are futile.

This loyalty and willingness to obey, known as spirit, is very noticeable in the company. It is possible to have an atmosphere heavy with a feeling in the men that they are drilling because they have to. It is also possible to have an atmosphere such as that about Company D, as full of life, vim and sparkle as a spring morning. With this sort of a snap the men do not wait until they go to camp to drill, but they drill now, and work hard because they like to. As is natural, their immediate aspirations are the flag, and from present indications the men and officers all have high hopes that next year Company D will bear the "Stars and Stripes."

Although the winning of the flag is the immediate desire striven for, yet every man in the company realizes that it is not really the flag that counts so much, but it is the good gained from the drill. The flag is only an incentive to greater effort. The more lasting thing is the effect upon the individual character for such training is received in this drill as will develop characteristics which will be valuable throughout life and which will, to a great extent, determine the sort of men we may hope to see in later life. To learn to obey is, perhaps, the greatest of these characteristics that are thus developed. A man who can obey can, in turn, command. Knowing this the members of Company D have set their teeth all the firmer with grim determination to capture the flag, which is simply a means of designating the company that is best adapted to receiving and obeying commands.

Yet, in pointing out these many virtues of Company D, we must not overlook one of the most important causes for their existence. This is our energetic sponsor, Miss Elizabeth Doud, who has taken a deep personal interest in the company and whose untiring efforts have been directed toward its welfare and success.

COMPANY C.

Many companies in the O. H. S. regiment of cadets boast of their records of enviable deeds in the past, but none of them have carried off as many honors as Company C. Stop and think! In the past fourteen years we have won first honors five times, to say nothing of second place four times and third once. Is not this, indeed, a record to be proud of?

But we cannot live on past glory, since this year the entire rear rank is composed of Freshmen whose ability is little known and whose nerve is yet to be tested. However, they are working faithfully to be a credit to the company, while the more experienced men are just as eager to help on to victory as they have ever been in former years.

The old time spirit of Company C did not end with our defeat in 1909, but is still with us and stronger than ever before. The men are becoming more and more enthusiastic every day and after a week of serious drill at camp will be prepared for the hardest fight in the history of Company C.

It has often been said that the best army will go down in defeat under a poor commander, but such will not be the fate of Company C, for in Captain Weeks we have an earnest and conscientious leader who has firmly impressed upon the men that "Whatever is worth doing at all is worth doing well." Besides praising his qualities as an officer we congratulate Captain Weeks on his selection of our charming sponsor, Miss Nellie Elgutter, who will be our one inspiration to strive for glory on the night of "compet."

Our two lieutenants, Clarence Allyn and Fred Fernald, have at all times proved themselves capable officers and deserve much credit for the efforts they have put forth to raise the standard of our drilling. The sergeants and corporals, working hand in hand with their superior officers, have also been of great assistance in the upbuilding of the company.

Encouraged by the enthusiasm of our sponsor and under the command of such an efficient corps of officers, we have good reason to believe that "C" will finally attain its highest ambition and again become the banner company of the regiment.

COMPANY H.

We have no long tales of glorious deeds to tell, as Company H was organized late in the fall of 1908 and is now in only its second year of existence. It was organized under very discouraging conditions; almost the whole company was composed of Freshmen and there were no guns with which to drill until late in the winter. But Captain Noone, ably assisted by his lieutenants, went nobly to work, and by overcoming all these difficulties, accomplished the remarkable feat of leading the Company to fourth place at "compet."

But what are we going to do this year and in years to come? On looking over the sergeants, corporals and Freshmen I am sure that we will have some able commanders who will establish a brilliant future for us.

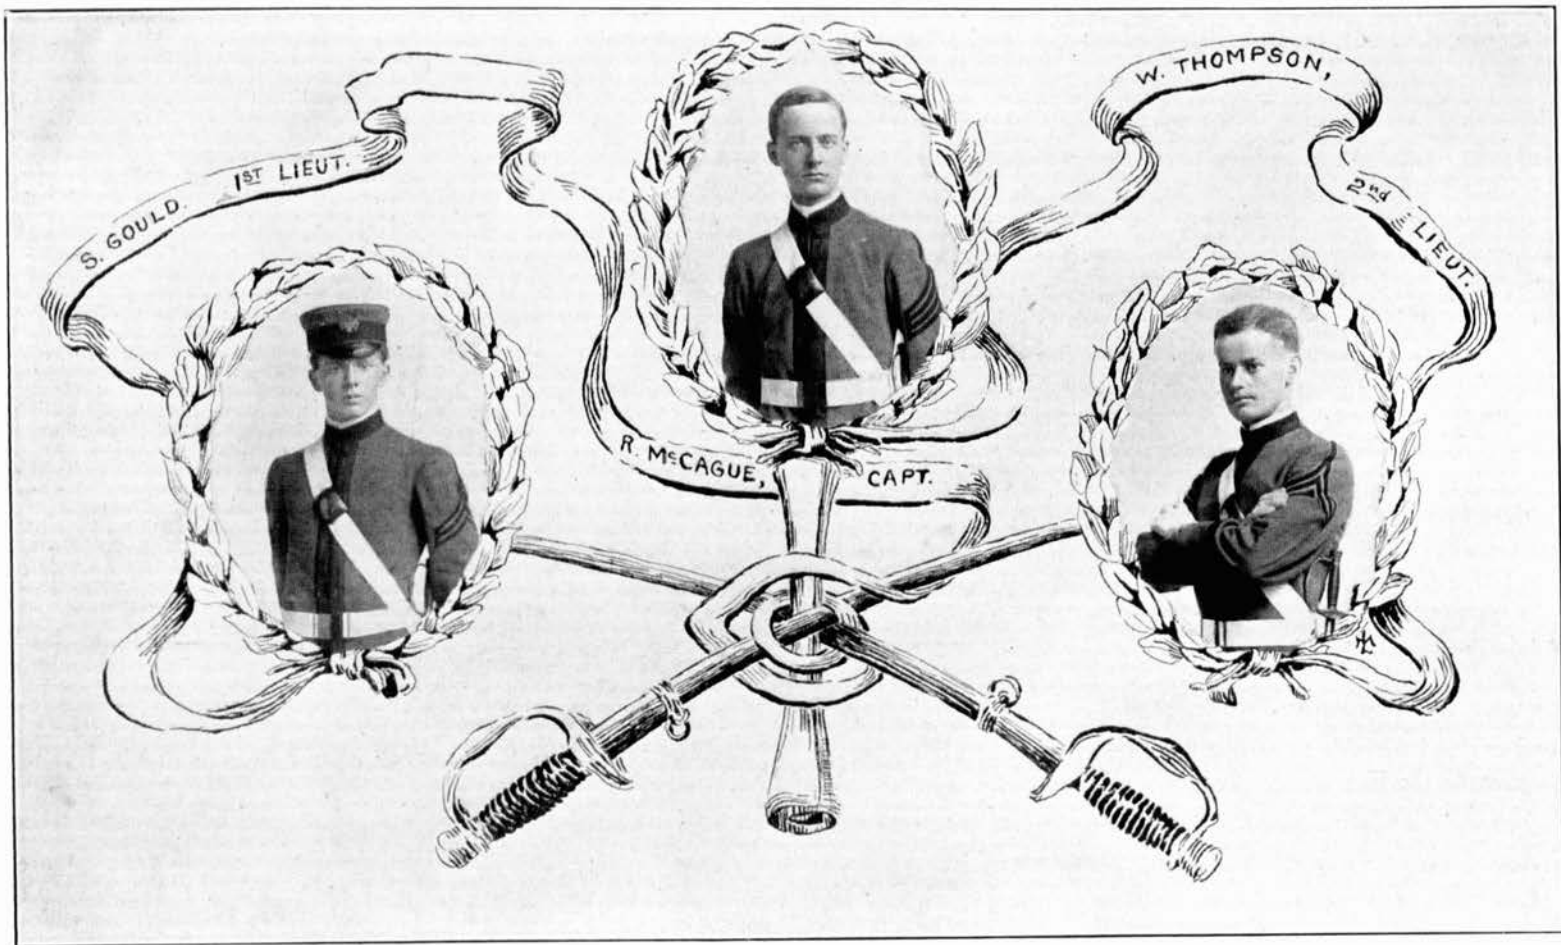

This year we have one of the best captains in the regiment, Calvin Davis, who has been untiring and unceasing in his efforts to lead us to victory. He is exact and gives his commands in a quick, snappy manner that indicates a good captain. Being a good driller, he is able to correct the least mistakes and bring the company to the high standard necessary for success. But what about our Lieutenants Wassberg and Hoffman? It would be a difficult matter to find any better in the regiment. They have always been ready to help the captain in whatever he has desired.

We must not forget the "non-coms" and privates, for the success of the company depends to a great extent upon these. They must be willing to work hard and receive orders. For, if they are not, it is of no use to have good officers. In H Company they have all worked with a will and there are many good drillers among the privates, especially among the Freshmen. Next year H Company will have as good a set of corporals as any company in the regiment.

But why have our officers worked so hard and why have the "non-coms" and privates worked so willingly? It was to uphold the name of the company and that of its charming sponsor, Miss Beulah Bessire. She has a way about her of "getting on the good side" of the fellows and making them willing to work hard for her. So it is no wonder that the company has exhibited such loyal spirit and has expected the best. Now, let us give three cheers and a tiger for Company H and its sponsor, Miss Beulah Bessire.

COMPANY I.

Last September, when drilling commenced, it became necessary to organize a new company in order to accommodate all those who wished to drill. This was accordingly accomplished and the new company, I, was placed under the command of Captain McCague, winner of the first medal in the individual drill at "compet" last year, who, although small, has proven himself more than competent to make a flag winner of the company.

Captain McCague, with the aid of his lieutenants, Gould and Thompson, as well as the non-commissioned officers, has found no difficulty too great to overcome and is fast moulding the company into shape for an honorable showing in "compet."

Notwithstanding the time it took to get organized and the many other difficulties experienced by a new company just organized, Company I now has an excellent corps of officers and as fine a set of privates as can be found in any company.

It may be true that I Company as a whole is small, and it may be true that from in front it looks like a flight of steps, but you know our great Daniel Webster was not very large, either, and, as to steps, maybe they are the steps leading up, with the "Stars and Stripes" at the top.

There are far too many reasons why I Company should win the flag in "compet" to be mentioned in this small space, so we will only look at two of the most important ones. First, the excellent corps of officers, and, second, the loyalty and spirit the privates show and their obedience to their officers. Without this "spirit" no company can hope to win the flag at "compet."

Some of the High School students are a little mistaken when they think of I Company as so "dreadfully small," but at any rate we are large enough to carry the flag from the Auditorium to the High School building after "compet." When the suspense of "compet" of 1910 is over, we may still be "least," but we will not by any means be "last."

THE BAND.

THE BAND.

The Omaha High School Band! What pleasant thoughts those words call up and what fond recollections they will instill in the minds of its members in years to come, when their places will be filled by others!

Students of the O. H. S. can scarcely imagine such a condition as an Omaha High School without a high school band; yet previous to the year 1902 such a fact really existed. In that year the glorious High School Band was organized by Albert Fairbrother. Since that time it has been advancing until it has reached its present stage of excellence.

The band was reorganized last September with a new leader, Mr. Green, in whom we were so fortunate as to secure a musician and a leader who is looked up to and whom the music-lovers of Omaha know and admire. It has been his diligent and faithful efforts that have been the chief cause for the present great success. The band also had the good fortune to receive an able set of officers. Captain Hugo Heyn is the first captain the band has ever had, a fact which shows that the importance of the band demands a captain. His "rolls" are familiar to the whole student body and the beat of his drum determines the rate at which the whole regiment moves. To Charles Hardy, who figures so prominently in those delightful baritone solos, was given the honor of first lieutenant. The office of second lieutenant is well filled by Maurice Shillington, who stands foremost in the large clarinet section.

According to the prevailing custom for the last few years, the members of the band are again assisted and inspired by a sponsor, Miss Fannie Rosenstock. No one could fill this responsible position better than she. By her genuine interest and winsome manner she has taken off the rough edges and reinstalled that sincere band spirit which has always prevailed.

The band is undoubtedly one of the most successful organizations of the High School. In the first place the interest and spirit displayed is by far superior to that in any of the companies. No one tries to "sluff" or absent himself from practice, and the end of the drill hour is even looked upon with some regret.

During the past year the band has made greater progress than during any other year. Through the efforts of Mr. Graff and Mr. Green, an entire equipment of new instruments was secured, thus making a great improvement. The band does not, as heretofore, have a few selections which it plays on all occasions, but it has reached the point where it plays any music played by Mr. Green's professional band and renders it satisfactorily.

The idea has been prevalent that no mass meeting could be a success without the band, and judging from the attendance on such occasions it appears that this conception is true. The band also attended several of the football games and assisted in inspiring our boys on to victory. It attended the athletic meet at the Auditorium, where two recognized military bands also played, and the earnest and enthusiastic cheers of the O. H. S. students after each selection that came from our section were evidence of their appreciation and high regard for that splendid organization which represents them so well—the Omaha High School Band.

DEBATES OF THE YEAR.

Debating this year in the O. H. S. has been a decided success. In reviewing the history of debating it is true we will find that the number of defeats were more than the number of victories, but upon considering the other factors, who will say that this year was a failure. At the beginning of this season the debaters had a twofold object. First, to win the debates; second, to develop the underclassmen in this line of study. These two objects are what have been striven for and have to a large degree been attained.

The men representing the O. H. S. this year were Haynes, Van Avery, Strehlow, W. Shillington, High, Landeryou, Moon, Byers, Barnes, Grimes, Rypins and M. Shillington. The excellent work which these men did is a credit both to themselves and to the school. Also when we consider that these men were all new at interscholastic debating, too much praise cannot be awarded them. However, all this would not have gained our victories and successful defeats had it not been for the excellent work of the coach, Mr. Elwood Anderson. Mr. Anderson has skillfully directed the debates and his efficiency is evidenced by their splendid work.

The first debate of the year was with Council Bluffs on "Postoffice Savings Banks." The O. H. S., represented by Wilbur Haynes, James Van Avery and Robert Strehlow, upheld the affirmative of this question with our opponents across the river. The contest was hard fought and doubtful, but the judges at length decided that Council Bluffs had a little the better of the argument.

The next debate was held in Omaha between the Freshmen of Council Bluffs High School and the O. H. S. The Freshmen of our school were ably represented by Waldo Shillington, Emerson High and Harold Landeryou. The same question was discussed as in the preceding debate, Omaha upholding in this case the negative and Council Bluffs the affirmative. Like the first, this contest was close and, as in the other, Council Bluffs was awarded the victory. A gold medal was given Harold Landeryou as the Freshman giving the most creditable speech of those on the Omaha team. We are to be congratulated on the excellent appearance which our Freshmen made in this debate and this promises many victories for the O. H. S. in future years.

The next scheduled debates were the famous Tri-City debates, those between Omaha, Kansas City and Des Moines. The question debated was, "Resolved, That the Government Should Encourage Competition to the Extent of Prohibiting Any Form of Artificial Monopoly." The affirmative of this question was debated here and the negative in Kansas City.

The Kansas City team consisted of George Grimes, Fred Rypins and Maurice Shillington, with Rypins as rebuttal speaker. This team had an excellently prepared argument, which was clearly set before the audience. But, although this team was strong, that of Kansas City was even stronger, which won them the decision.

The team representing the High School here against Des Moines was Harold Moon, Paul Byers and Richard Barnes, with Barnes on rebuttal. The Des Moines High School pitted their strongest debaters against us, but after a hard fought battle Omaha came out with the purple and white held high in victory. Let us all rejoice over this well-fought and much deserved success.

The last debate of this year was the contest with Lincoln. The question was, "Resolved, That Labor Unions are on the Whole Beneficial." Harold Moon, James Van Avery and George Grimes of Omaha supported the affirmative of this question at Lincoln. The boys were well prepared and had worked up a good debate. But Lincoln, having the advantage of longer preparation, was given the decision by a very small margin.

Now when we look back on the record which we have made this year it is with satisfaction and a knowledge that the O. H. S. standard in debating has not declined, but has made considerable progress forward.

We have suffered defeats, it is true, but such well-fought and close defeats are anything but discouraging. The success of the year does not depend on the number of victories or defeats. It depends on the quality of the work which our representatives have presented. This work, taken as a whole, would be very hard to surpass. So it is with pride that we add the successful year 1909-10 to our history of debating.

MANUAL TRAINING DEPARTMENT.

A HISTORY OF THE MANUAL TRAINING DEPARTMENT.

Manual training was started in the High School in 1885. It received its start with the best of the colleges and schools under Mr. Bowman. Mr. Bowman came to Omaha from the University of Washington, in St. Louis. He remained here until 1891 and in this year he went to Des Moines, Iowa, to take charge of manual training in the public schools. The teacher that succeeded Mr. Bowman is our present teacher, Mr. Wigman, who has been with us since 1891, a term of eighteen years.

Mr. Wigman was born and raised in New York. After finishing the public schools he took up the study of manual training and finished a three years' course at the Cooper Institute, New York. This course at the Cooper Institute is considered by the manual training authorities equal to three years at Cornell or any other university of Cornell's standing. After completing his study Mr. Wigman accepted a position in the Union Pacific shops at Omaha. Here he was foreman of the pattern department at the time when he took up his present position.

In 1891 the manual training department consisted of one room in which there were forty pupils. There were two classes of girls, which contained about twenty-five. The girls' classes were dispensed with two years later, in 1893. Mr. Wigman gave the first demonstration of the work in pattern making and molding during the year.

In 1893 the membership of the classes had grown from forty to one hundred and thirty. In 1895 there were more pupils in this department than there were accommodations for. At this time manual training was allowed to the upper classmen only, as the freshmen were entirely barred. The course was a two-year course, as it is at present. It is in this point that our department does not show a development as other schools in which manual training was adopted the same time as in ours, have increased the length of the course from two to four years, thus increasing the practical training gained by the student.

At present the department occupies five good-sized rooms and there are about four hundred students who receive this practical instruction. The grade of work turned out ranks with that done in the best schools and several exhibitions have already been given. The exhibition given last year towards the close of school was as fine a display as one could wish to see. All who had the good fortune to see this display were well pleased and praised the work of the department highly.

During the National Corn Exposition held in the Auditorium last December our manual training department was represented by a booth in which the boys showed how they receive their instruction. There were several lathes there and work was turned out before the extremely interested public. Judging from the crowds that continually surrounded our booth it is quite evident what a degree of interest was displayed and how well the public was satisfied with this practical demonstration. For this year Mr. Wigman is planning a fine exhibition which will eclipse all previous displays. The boys are all working faithfully in an effort to make this exhibition the finest on record, and from the interest shown there is no doubt but that it will be.

The mechanical drawing teachers at present are Miss McCague and Mr. Orchard. Miss McCague has been with this department over ten years. Mr. Orchard succeeded Mr. Pearson, who left in 1906 to assume the head of the pattern department at the University of Nebraska.

ATHLETICS—FOOTBALL.

With a record of but one defeat in two years Omaha High School began the season's work with a wealth of good material and prospects for another successful year on the gridiron. The record of seven victories and but one defeat makes it one of the most successful seasons in the history of Omaha High School football and one which any school might well be proud of. The one thing above all others that made the season so uniformly successful was the number of high class substitutes who were always ready to take their place on the team when the first team men were unable to play.

NEBRASKA CITY 0—Omaha 12.

After a little more than a week of practice the team lined up against Nebraska City at the Y. M. C. A. park for the first game of the season. As could be expected, the game was not very fast and there was a great deal of fumbling, but it was exciting and showed that Omaha had the material from which to make a team. Two touchdowns was the best Omaha could do against the visitors.

HARLAN 6—OMAHA 11.

The following week Omaha took a trip to Harlan and played one of the hardest games of the season. It was only after the team got together in the second half, with the score 6 to 0 against them, that the game was pulled out of the fire. Harlan scored in the first half, but between halves the true Omaha spirit asserted itself and the boys scored two touchdowns in the second period.

SOUTH OMAHA 2—OMAHA 18.

Having had a rest of a week, the team lined up against South Omaha at Vinton street park. It was reported that South Omaha had a very strong team and were going to avenge the bad defeat of last year, but Omaha had the better team and scored three touchdowns to a safety for South Omaha. The game was characterized by intense rivalry and a stubborn defense on both sides.

SHENANDOAH 0—OMAHA 5.

The team journeyed to Shenandoah, Iowa, October 30 and met a tartar in the team of that town. Omaha was weakened by the absence of the veterans, McWhinney, Mills and Thompson from the lineup, although the substitutes played fine games and did themselves credit. The first half was an even contest, each team straining every nerve to push the ball over the line without success. As in the Harlan game, Omaha did not really get together until the second half, when by hard line bucking, end runs and forward passes the ball was carried nearly the whole length of the field for a touchdown. Omaha was fast going for another touchdown when time was called.

COUNCIL BLUFFS 0—OMAHA 29.

With loyal supporters to the number of about fifty the team went across the river and trounced the Bluffs team. Two touchdowns were scored in the first half and three in the second, while Council Bluffs could do nothing against Omaha's line or ends. End runs and forward passes, the latter used many times for gains of from five to forty yards, made the game interesting to watch from the Omaha viewpoint.

LINCOLN 6—OMAHA 5.

The annual big game of the year took place Tuesday, November 17, when the team, supported by two hundred loyal and enthusiastic rooters, took a special to the capital city and met their old rivals at Antelope park. The fifteen hundred spectators were treated to one of the hardest, most stubbornly contested and most interesting games that has ever taken place between the two schools. With the field covered with snow and ice and the thermometer below freezing, it was a day to test the courage of the players and it was a surprise to all that the boys could handle the ball with so little fumbling. From the beginning of the game the team played like a machine and for the first time during the season showed the real power that there was behind it. Time and time again Omaha pulled off end runs, forward passes and line smashes and outplayed Lincoln throughout with the exception of a few moments toward the close of the game. Omaha's touchdown came in the first half, when, having worked the ball to Lincoln's twenty-five-yard line, Klopp made a beautiful forward pass to Howard and he crossed Lincoln's goal line. It seemed almost an impossibility that Lincoln could score the way the Omaha boys were playing, but in the second half, on an excusable error, L. Mann secured the ball on Omaha's twenty-five-yard line and with a clear field made the touchdown which enabled Lincoln to win the game.

ST. JOSEPH 0—OMAHA 18.

Although the boys had played such a hard game the Tuesday before, they continued their good work and defeated St. Joe rather easily Saturday, November 20, at Vinton street park. The visitors were unable to make consistent gains at any point, while Omaha gained almost at will, being most successful at line plays and runs where every man got into the game. Hatch, by his work at returning punts, furnished the surprise of the game.

TOPEKA 0—OMAHA 17.

The final game of the season was played Thanksgiving day before an enthusiastic crowd of 1,200 loyal students and supporters. In this game Omaha resorted to open play and the end runs and forward passes gave the spectators an exhibition of the open game such as is seldom seen anywhere. Topeka played a plucky game and were especially good on defense in the line although outweighed several pounds to the man.

THE TEAM

Richard Payne, left end and captain-elect. The hardest worker on the team. Dick has reached his position through faithful and conscientious effort. Always reliable and at times even brilliant.

Voyle Rector, left tackle and a good one. He knows how to play his game. A valuable man in the line.

George Hendee, left guard. George doesn't say much, but he surely can play football.

Robert Thompson, left guard and tackle. Bob's punting and forward passing made him feared by every team opposed to him. In this respect he had no equal in the state.

Ray McWhinney, captain and center. As long as Ray was in the game there was no need to worry about the center position. He lived up to his reputation of being the best High School center in the west.

Edward Burdick, right guard. Ed couldn't stay out of the game and was a tower of strength in the line.

Harold Andrus, right tackle. Throughout the season "Runt" did not know what it was to have to play his best. When called on to make a hole he was always reliable.

Warren Howard, right end and quarterback. The most versatile player on the team and a power both on offense and defense. He will make good on any college team.

Kenneth Hatch, right end. By his playing in the last two games of the season he proved to be the find of the year.

Walter Klopp, quarterback and the nerviest man on the team. He was a terror on running with the ball and a reliable safety.

Henry Howes, left half. Although an end, he plays his position like a veteran and helped to make possible the end runs by his fine interference.

Harold Underhill, fullback. Although his first year on the team, he made a smashing fullback and will be one of the mainstays of the team for the next two years.

Hugh Mills, right half. Hugh continued his fine work of last year and kept the backfield working together. Not a showy player, but always in the game and sure both on defense and offense.

John Rayley, right tackle. He won his place by faithful work and fully deserved his place on the team. It would be impossible to make a team without such men to depend on.

Allan Tukey, center and tackle. An example of stick-to-it-iveness. He jumped in and filled a hole at short notice.

David Bowman, right half. Dave showed his possibilities in the Shenandoah game by scoring the only points made and will be a very valuable man next year. Keep your eyes on him next year.

Hugh Charlton, fullback and left half. We are sorry that Hugh will not be back with us next year, as he can play football and would be a valuable asset.

THE FOOTBALL TEAM.

THE BASKET BALL RECORD.

The season of basket ball this year was a decided success, even though we did not gain the state championship. When one stops to consider that Coach Carns was confronted by a serious problem at the beginning of the year when he was forced to pick a team out of almost all inexperienced material, the record of nine games won out of a total of fifteen played is remarkable. It was only by hard work, backed by an undying spirit, that won the games for our team when their captain and star player, Burdick, was injured in the early part of the season and had to leave the game, and when their next captain and the only other experienced man on the team, Dodds, was forced to leave several games because of injuries. This spirit that enthused the team was not wholly their own loyalty to the school, but was gained from the hearty support accorded them by the student body. With the exception of a few games they were all well patronized and the enthusiastic rooting was well directed. We sincerely hope that next year we may find basket ball supported with a greater degree of interest and with the material left by this year's team we are certain that the O. H. S. will have a fast team.

O. H. S. 41—COLUMBUS 8.

The purple and white heroes started the season in well by defeating Columbus by a large score on December 18. Although this was his first game, Rector played like a veteran and helped pile up the large score. He and Finley divided the honors of goal tossing between them. The Columbus quintette was clearly outclassed in every respect by our boys, although their defeat was not a lack of hard playing.

OMAHA 39—COUNCIL BLUFFS 13.

Next to strike their colors to the Omaha High School was the five across the river on January 7. Council Bluffs always plays a stiff game and this year was no exception. The game was close and uncertain until the latter part of the game, when the O. H. S. heroes forged ahead and by team work and hard playing won by a large margin.

O. H. S. 30—COLUMBUS 20.

The return game with Columbus was one of three games played in two days. Columbus picked up from her first game with Omaha, but was unable to defeat our representatives.

GENOA 21—O. H. S. 17.

This was the first defeat of the season, but Genoa won only by a hard tussle. Not until the final whistle did the Omaha five cease from their determined efforts to gain a victory.

O. H. S. 35—FREMONT 22.

In this game Omaha made up for her defeat of the morning by piling up a large score against Fremont. Although playing the night before and the same morning, the team put up a brilliant game and won easily.

O. H. S. 23—ST. JOE 20.

This game, played at St. Joe, was witnessed by a large crowd. This proved the hardest contest so far this season. At the end of the first half St. Joe was six points ahead, but steady and hard playing won the game for the purple and white, although only by a close margin.

O. H. S. 25—GENOA 17.

Omaha showed her superiority over the Genoa quintette by defeating her in the return game in Omaha on January 27. The playing of every member of the team was a credit to the coach and the training they had received.

O. H. S. 35—COUNCIL BLUFFS 19.

For the second time this season the Bluffs boys were destined to defeat at the hands of our team. Council Bluffs spirit should be lauded, as they played with grim determination, but were unable to hold our athletes in check.

O. H. S. 24—YORK 27.

York was undoubtedly the strongest team that Omaha had played this season. York started out strong, leading Omaha continually. Our boys, by steady playing, gradually drew up to their opponents, but were unable to pass their mark by the time the whistle blew, ending the game.

O. H. S. 14—LINCOLN 31.

Although our team was urged on by that old desire to defeat Lincoln, they were not able to gain a victory from the strong Lincoln team. Lincoln had an exceptionally strong team this year, composed of experienced men, and our team, realizing this, exerted themselves to the utmost, but to no advantage. The game was fast, but Lincoln drew ahead, winning by a large score.

O. H. S. 36—ST. JOE 26.

In the return game with the Missourians on February 26, both teams played a fast game, St. Joe to regain her laurels and the O. H. S. to keep them. As a preliminary two games were played with South Omaha. The Juniors from South Omaha defeated our Juniors by a score of 18 to 13, while the speedy Senior team easily ran away from the South Omaha H. S. Seniors by a score of 29 to 13. Both games were fast and were featured by long goal throwing.

O. H. S. 12—SIOUX CITY 23.

In this game our laurels fell to the Sioux City aggregation. Dodds, our sturdy captain, met with a serious accident in this game. Though painfully injured, Louie played out the game and deserves a great amount of credit.

O. H. S. 11—SIOUX CITY 9.

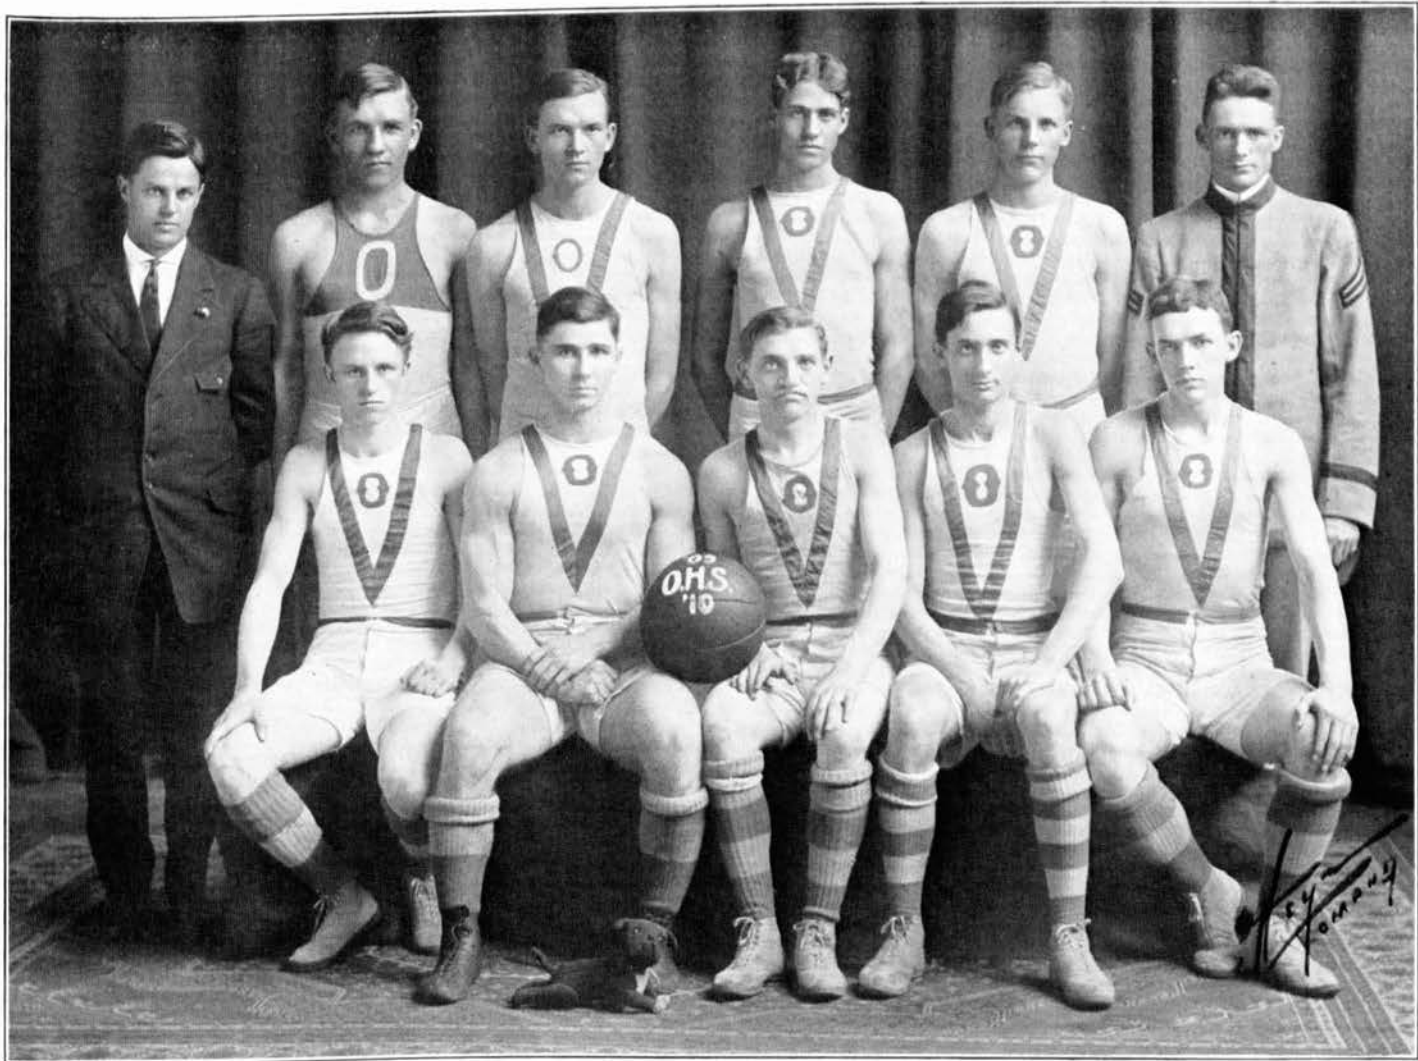

When Sioux City came to Omaha on March 17, our heroes showed their mettle by defeating them in a game that could be questioned until the end. It was hard playing and stick-to-itiveness that won for Omaha.

O. H. S. 17—LINCOLN 19.

Lincoln won the second game that we played with her. The extreme rivalry and closeness of the game is shown by the score. Brilliant basket throwing and excellent team work on both sides were features of the game.

O. H. S. 11—SOUTH OMAHA 19.

On March 26, South Omaha's dream came true. Long has she hoped to defeat the purple and white and now she could realize it. South Omaha had a well-coached team and played a good game. The game was fast, but rather rough. Every man on both teams played his hardest for victory. Thus the season was ended.

THE BASKET BALL TEAM.

Edward Burdick, captain and left guard. It was unfortunate that for two years in succession Omaha High should be deprived of the services of her captain in mid-season because of injuries. One of the best players who has ever represented Omaha High.

Louie Dodds, right forward. When Burdick was forced to leave the game Louie was elected captain and fully deserved the honor. Louie is one of the pluckiest and hardest players who ever wore an "O."

Robert Finley, center and left forward. An example of what persistence will do, because it was this that won Bob his place on the team. Bob threw the basket that won the second Sioux City game in the last two minutes of play.

Harry Kulakofsky, substitute. Harry loves work and his is the spirit that wins. He was always in the game and could not be tired.

Clarence Patten, right guard. He surprised everyone by his fine playing and made one of Omaha's best guards in years.

Chandler Trimble, left guard. Chandler made good as was predicted last year. One of the most reliable men on the team and a heady player at all times.

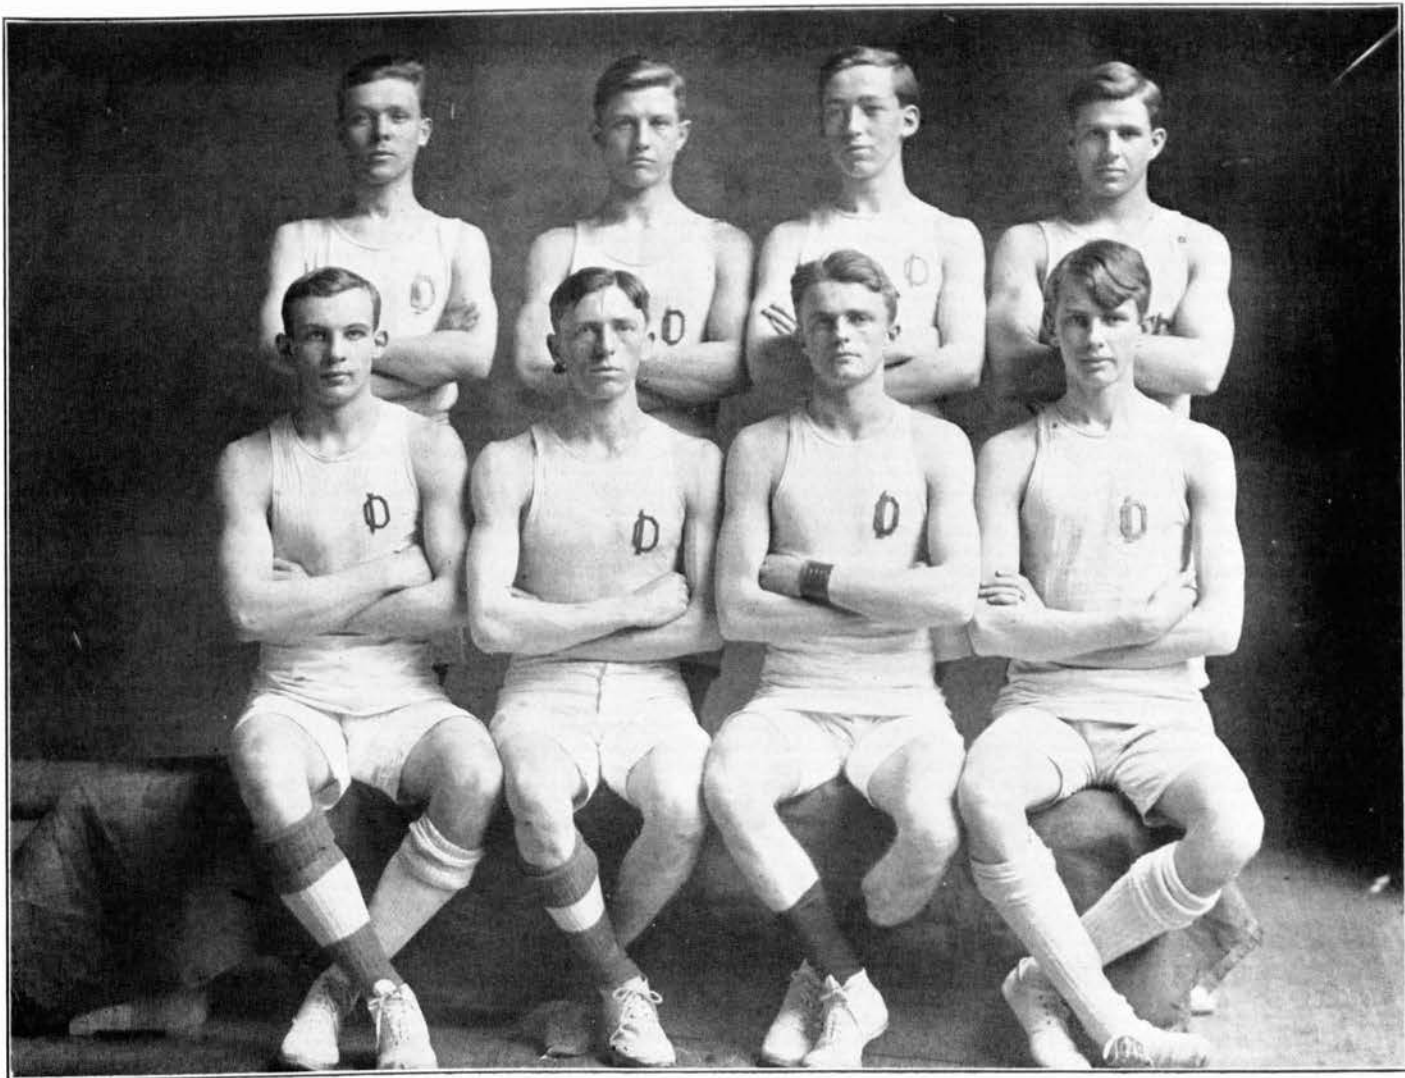

William Baumann, left forward. In the St. Joe game he showed his possibilities and should make a valuable man next year.

Edward Carson, center and captain-elect. With another year's experience Ed should make one of the best centers Omaha has ever had. Another example of what persistence will do.

Vergil Rector, left forward. It is such men as Vergil who keep a team going when injuries take out the first team men. Keep your eye on him next year.

SENIOR BASKET BALL TEAM.

THE SENIOR BASKET BALL TEAM.

The first game of the season for the Senior team was secured for March 5 with the Senior team from the South Omaha High. As a matter of course they came up in force and with a strong resolve for victory, but the superior speed and team work of our Seniors so completely baffled them that they went back with their colors trailing in the defeat of a score of 29 to 13.

On March 12, the Seniors played the first of their games for the interclass championship. In this game our opponents, the Juniors, were defeated gloriously by the score of 24 to 8.

As the Freshmen had some time before won from the Sophomores in the interclass series, it remained for the Seniors to defeat only them in order to gain the championship. As a preliminary to the Lincoln-Omaha game on March 19 a lively and interesting contest was played between the Freshmen and Seniors, in which the Seniors overwhelmed their opponents by the score of 53 to 12. Thus the Seniors became the class basket ball champions.

By means of faithful practice and painstaking diligence the Senior team brought their standard of play up to such a level that they proved to be a great help in strengthening and developing the first team. In fact, to such a degree, that they become formidable rivals of the latter. "Chuck" Hoffert made an able captain and his playing, together with that of Ned Burnham, helped greatly in the success of the team. Warren Howard at center was the point-getter of the team because of his accurate goal shooting. Hugh Mills and George Geib, at guards, kept the score of our opponents small by their close guarding.

The speed and team work of the team was of a very high standard. Weight and strength were combined in such proportion as is required to make up a first class team. But it was the spirit in the class, such as makes all of their enterprises successes, that was the inspiration of the team, and it was the excellent support received from the class that helped to make our team the success it was.

TRACK AND FIELD EVENTS.

TRACK.

Track work! Well, I should say there is track work and the best possible proof of it is the splendid records made in the two meets held so far this year. The Freshman class seems bent on producing fast sprinters who have made good time and there is no telling how fast they will run by the time they are Seniors. Weight men are not lacking in Burdick, who is tossing the shot a record-breaking distance, and Hansen, Dow and Long, who are developing fast. Rayley is showing up as the all round man this year and the record he has made so far is good, but not so good as he will make. Kennedy is the strong miler of the year, as was expected, but Ellsworth is showing up well and undoubtedly will be making good time next year. Rowley, the crack low hurdler, is showing up in his last year's form. Fraser and Kulakofsky are without doubt the strongest half milers this year and are expected to make places in the coming meets, while Fraser has developed into a star quarter-miler.

INDOOR MEET AT THE AUDITORIUM.

The first real test of our track material was the indoor meet on April 1 at the Auditorium, held under the auspices of the Western Amateur Athletic Association. Most of the Y. M. C. A., colleges, universities, athletic associations and high schools in the Missouri Valley were represented. Besides being represented by a first class team, the O. H. S. was represented by a whole section of loyal enthusiasts, including the band. It was the intense spirit displayed by our rooters that made Omaha successful and helped it in taking sixth place in the meet. It is

FIELD DAY.

Friday, the 29th of April, was a gala day for the Seniors, who pulled off the honors in the annual field day. Although a rather strong wind was blowing, it was an ideal day for a track meet. Because of the lively interest in the ticket selling contest all four classes vied with one another in sending the largest number of supporters to help their class win. As a result a good sized crowd was on hand at the Omaha Driving park on Friday, April 29. The wind, although helping in some respects, was a hindrance in others. As a consequence the dashes and hurdle races were rather fast, but it was wearing on the long distance runners. It was almost impossible to keep the bar on the standards in the high jump and pole vault, necessitating a clean clearing of the bar. Wood made good time in the sprints, running the 100-yard dash in 10 1-5 seconds and the 2:20 in 22 3-5 seconds. The results of the meet is shown in the table below:

useless to attempt to describe the splendor of the spirit that was shown that night. In the midst of all this excitement Harry Kulakofsky won the 600-yard handicap from a large field of prominent competitors, representing some of the best athletes in the Missouri Valley. Then our fast relay team, Rouse, Millard, Fraser and Wood, won the relay race from Des Moines, Lincoln taking third place. Millard ran an excellent race, first making up and then gaining a good distance from his opponent of Des Moines. In the dash Wood and Drexel made a creditable showing, although they did not make a place.

THE TRACK TEAM IN ACTION.

THE MISSOURI VALLEY MEET.

On Saturday, May 14, Omaha was represented in the Missouri Valley meet at Des Moines, by seven sturdy athletes, who had been carefully coached and had faithfully worked to develop themselves into worthy representatives of the O. H. S. The result of this meet was most gratifying so far as Omaha was concerned, as it never made a better showing against the strong schools of the valley than in this meet.

The meet was won by the Manual Training School of Kansas City with 45 points. West Des Moines High took second place with 26½ points; Kansas City Central, third, with 25 points; York, fourth, with 17 points; Omaha, fifth, with 15 points; Lincoln, sixth, with 10 points; and ansas City Westport seventh, with 5½ points.

Our team was composed of Wood, Fraser, Kennedy, Kulakofsky, Burdick, Rayley and Rowley. Fraser proved to be the best quarter-miler in the valley and won easily, making the fast time of 53 2-5 seconds. In the mile run it was a hard tussle between Redfern of West Des Moines High and Kennedy, but Redfern proved to be slightly superior, winning in 4:33 3-5, and thus breaking the Missouri Valley High School record. Again, in the half mile, Redfern clipped off a second from the former record, making the distance in 2:04. In the 100-yard dash Wood came in third, Koenigsdorf of Kansas City winning in 10 1-5 seconds. But in the 220-yard dash we had better fortune as Wood captured second place. Burdick kept up the good work in the shot put and took third place, hurling the weight 42 ft. 9½ inches. In the high jump another record was smashed. Wyley of York going over 5 ft. 10½ in.

As a whole the work of the team is to be lauded, because it is clear from its standing that every man did his best and that the team had undergone efficient and steady training. This is the first time that we landed as high as we did and much of the success is due Coach Carns, who has been most energetic in whipping the team into shape.

THE STATE MEET.

For the first time in its history Omaha pulled off the State Meet of High Schools on Saturday, May 28, and it was a brilliant success in every way. The meet was to be held at Lincoln on May 6, but was postponed because of a smallpox epidemic among the students of the University and was later declared off. Several high schools had made their entries and were training hard for this great event, when the news came that it had been found best to declare the meet off entirely. Accordingly many schools broke training when they received this sad news. But Coach Carns did not hesitate, seeing that it would be a possibility to hold the meet here. He immediately set to work and in less than two weeks arrangements were completed for the meet. Notwithstanding the fact that many schools had broken training immediately upon being disappointed in the meet at Lincoln, there were entries from sixteen different schools, represented by over a hundred athletes.

The meet was held at the Omaha Driving Park, and the track and field were in excellent shape. There was a large-sized crowd on hand to witness the feats of the different athletes, and the meet was a thorough success financially. That it was a success from the standpoint of the quality of work is quite evident from the fact that eight state high school records were smashed and two easily tied. Omaha clearly outclassed its opponents winning with 41 points to its credit. York was second with 33 points made mostly by their two well-trained athletes, Wyley and Meyers. Wyley made the highest individual score and was a prominent and dangerous competitor in several events.

Wood made the 100 yards in 10 1-5 seconds easily, thus tying the state record made at Lincoln last year. Again in the 220 yard dash Wood proved that he was the best sprinter in the state, making the distance in 22 3-5 seconds. In the quarter mile Fraser clearly demonstrated that no high school athlete in the state was a match for him, and covered the stretch in 53 seconds. In the half-mile George of Franklin Academy clipped three and one-fifth seconds from the best previous time, his time being 2:03 1-5. Kulakofsky, our best half-miler, was continually at the forefront of the race and took third place easily. In the mile Kennedy ran away from all of the rest of the contestants and lowered the state record by a second, making 4:44. In the 220-yard hurdles, Wyley of York, broke the state record by going over the hurdles in 27 seconds, two-fifths of a second better than the record. Here again we were right in the front as Rowley was a close second. The record for the pole-vault was another that was fated to fall as Reavis of Falls City cleared the bar at 11 ft. 2 in. and probably might have gone higher. Rector handily took second for us by going over 10 ft. 6 in. Not even in the weights were we inferior, but in the discuss Burdick was awarded second place and Hansen third, as Meyer of York broke the old record by hurling the missile 109 ft. 2 in. In the shot put Burdick captured first place and tied the state record by heaving the pill 45 ft. 3 1/2 inches. One of the prettiest victories was the relay-race in which our team established a new state record by finishing in 1:37 2-5, one and one-fifth seconds better than the state record. The team was composed of Rouse, Millard, Fraser and Wood, and has shown up well throughout the whole year. In the broad jump, Wyley of York, again established a new record by making 20 ft. 10 1/2 in.

The following is a list of that school that made places and the number of points each made:

	1st	2nd	3rd	Pts.
Omaha	6	3	2	41
York	4	2	3	*33
Franklin	1	2	4	15
Kearney	0	1	2	* 9
Plymouth	0	2	0	6
Falls City	1	0	0	5
Minden	1	0	0	5
Sutton	0	1	0	3
South Omaha	0	1	0	3
Crete	0	0	1	1
York Academy	0	0	1	1
Total				122

TENNIS.

A form of athletics which only in the last year has had much of any prominence in the High School is tennis. We are all glad at least to see evidence of this sport as a sign of the broadening of school activities, as tennis is very different from the other forms of athletics that are prevalent in the High School.

The first attempt to make tennis an interschool activity was made last year, and though our team was defeated by Creighton in our only match of the season, we hope that this year we will have successful matches with other schools.

The present holder of the title, Bob Thompson, has had it for two years and he also has, with Bob McCague, the doubles title. These winners will defend their titles in the championship round of the tournament now in progress. A fact showing the broad extent of this sport is that a successful girls' tournament has already been held and another is now under way. The winners were Margaret Rainey, champion, and Laura Zimmerman, runner-up.

It is to be regretted that there is no prize for the winners to encourage this sport, but with the generosity that the O. H. S. has been showing toward all activities, especially athletics, we can be certain that it will not be long before tennis will be universally popular as well as a firmly established part of high school life.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS.

In the girls' gymnasium department it has been customary in former years to give, toward the close of school, an exhibition demonstrating what the girls have accomplished during the year. This year the exhibition surpassed all previous ones, for the girls had worked zealously and had become very skilled in the different lines of work. During the year many of the girls have taken swimming lessons at the Y. W. C. A., gone on long hikes after school and shown a great interest in basket ball and baseball. The annual exhibition took place Friday afternoon, May 27, and the following program was given:

1. Free Exercises.....Beginners' Class
2. Highland Fling.....Advanced Class
 Irish Lilt.....Beginners' Class
3. Dumbbells, Wands.....Advanced Class
4. Spanish School Dance.....Advanced Class
5. Military Drill
6. Game, Beetle Chase.....Beginners' Class
7. Indian Clubs.....Advanced Class
8. Heavy Apparatus
9. School Dances—

 “Bean Porridge Hot.”
10. Aesthetic Dances.....Advanced Class

11. Obstacle Relay Race.....Inter-Class

Our Business Depends Upon You

MAYBE you haven't thought of the EDHOLM JEWELRY STORE as being dependent upon you. But we know it, and we want you to know it, too.

SOON the business men and the society leaders of Omaha will be you (now High School Students).

WE THEREFORE want you to begin—today—to think of our store as THE QUALITY JEWELRY STORE OF OMAHA and the Middle-West—the store that has always realized that its future business depended upon your trade—and to know that we always have catered to your high ideals of QUALITY JEWELRY.

A COMPANY ALPHABET.

- A stands for Helen, a Junior so sweet,
Who is always a spectator at every track meet.
- B stands for Sara, a winsome lass,
The power behind who rules the Senior class.
- C stands for Nellie, who adores the piano playing
Of a certain young man, whose, we're not saying.
- D stands for Elizabeth, a willing assistant;
From the Register office she is never far distant.
- E stands for Alice of Brownell Hall;
Tho, not of us, she is known to us all.
- F stands for Mildred, a maiden so martial;
To her own company she has ever been partial.
- G stands for Adelaide, also of Brownell;
How Dippy captured her no one can tell.
- H stands for Beulah, to her company so loyal
That she gave them a medal for which to toil.
- I stands for McCague, the confirmed bachelor;
When addressed by a girl he could go thru the floor.
- E. N.—“I can't express my thoughts.”
We would suggest a postal card or a freight car.

Doth smack him with a club.

Raise the Standard

MOSHER & LAMPMAN

are doing more to raise the standard of business education than any other school in the middle west.

MOSHER & LAMPMAN teach the 20th Century System of Bookkeeping. The 20th Century System is the most practical. It unfolds to the student bookkeeping just as it is practiced in the largest and best-regulated business houses.

MOSHER & LAMPMAN teach the Cody System of Letter Writing. The Cody System is generally conceded to be the most practical system published. By the use of it Mosher & Lampman teach their students to write letters that "pull"—that get the business.

MOSHER & LAMPMAN teach the Mosher System of Shorthand. The Mosher System is the most rapid and legible system in the world. Students who write it go direct from the school to the best-paying positions and make good from the start. The Mosher System is the light-line system that is adapted to both amanuensis work and court reporting.

As an institute of PENMANSHIP the Mosher-Lampman College has no equal in the west and no superior in the United States. The pen work of the Mosher & Lampman students is far superior to the work done by the teachers of any other business college in Nebraska. Send for free specimen of penmanship.

NO STUDENT TEACHERS EMPLOYED. Every teacher of the Mosher-Lampman College is an expert in his line. Owing to the high standard sought by the Mosher-Lampman College, every graduate is in a good position.

YOU NEED A BUSINESS TRAINING—you need the best training that it is possible to secure. The Mosher-Lampman College is the place to get it. For further information address or phone

Salient Points About Our Prescription Department

Only Graduate and Registered Pharmacists do this work—and their whole time is given to compounding. Every prescription is re-checked before sending out.

Substitution is not—never has been—nor ever will be permitted in our Prescription department—or any other department.

It is easy for us to compound prescriptions for new chemicals or pharmaceuticals, for we have the goods—generally a little in advance of the demand.

Prompt deliveries made to all parts of Omaha, Council Bluffs and South Omaha—mail or telegraph orders given prompt attention.

Our service is as prompt as the character of service rendered will permit, our clerical force being far the largest in any retail pharmacy in the west.

Our prices are always moderate considering the cost of ingredients and time spent in compounding. While we render a skilled and technical service, we exact no professional fee for this.

The Van Sant School

is a specialty training school for stenographers. We teach only Shorthand, Typewriting and Office Practice, with the closely allied subjects of English and Spelling. The past experience of the school and of the patrons of the school has been that the best results are obtained by this method.

☞ The school prefers to register only those who have had High School training and will not accept anyone who does not hold an Eighth Grade diploma. No one can make a success of stenography who has not laid a proper foundation, and the broader the general education, the more certain the success in this field.

☞ Visit our school and satisfy yourself of the character of the work being done; talk to our graduates and to the business and professional men who employ our graduates, and then register in the school best equipped to qualify you for your work.

Congratulations

☪ Hearty congratulations to all the graduates who have reached one of the very most important milestones on life's journey. Most of you have longed for this auspicious time, and not all of you have appreciated the happy days and years just ended.

☪ Our best wishes go with you. You may expect some hard knocks, but after all that's what makes life worth while.

☪ Whatever you take up as your life's work, start right. That's easy—it may not be so easy to keep right, but that's the only thing that pays.

☪ Nothing about business this time, except to say: We try to conduct our business in line with the advice given above, and we sell Dry Goods.

are the best in the world. Used and endorsed by the best players.

The Gibson instruments are recognized all over the world. Professional artists are endorsing and using the Gibson in preference to other makes from which there is utterly no comparison to be made with the Gibson.

Why play on a poor instrument with its tiny, squeaky or shallow sound, when you can purchase a Gibson at a price and terms to suit yourself? Liberal allowance made for old instruments. Apply for catalogues containing interesting and instructive literature as well as descriptive photo-engraving of the Gibson instruments; or better still, call and I will give you all the information you desire, and let you hear and see these instruments of which I carry a full line.

A Modern Drug Store

Two years ago we greatly enlarged our Drug Store with the idea in mind of carrying out some special features in the way of Departments, which we were unable to do with the limited space which we previously had.

Our Prescription Department

This department we conduct in the balcony of our store, which is entirely remote from the other part of our business. We keep nothing but the best of skilled men. Prescriptions are carefully filled and checked to avoid any possible mistakes.

Our Paint Department

We are possibly as well equipped as anyone in the city to supply you with paint material. We conduct this part of our business at 1416 Harney Street. The department is managed by an experienced paint man, and we keep the very best of materials and sell at reasonable prices. When you do painting of any sort, give us the opportunity to figure with you.

Our Candy Department

We are one of the few druggists in the United States who manufacture their own Candy. Consequently we are in a position to furnish fresh, home-made candy made fresh each day.

Our Soda Department

In this department—on account of having the largest floor space of any pharmacy in the city—we are able to seat one hundred people comfortably; and on account of the additional space we are manufacturing our own ice cream. Most druggists serve a commercial article. Making our own home-made ice cream means everything so far as purity is concerned. Next time you try our ice cream sodas notice the difference in the ice cream.

The Difference Between Custom Clothes and Vollmer's Ready-to-Put-On Garments

They state the difference as follows—What's the difference between good custom clothes and our ready-to-put-on garments? First, our prices beat the custom specialist by 50 per cent. Second, we'll show you ten patterns to his one. Third, you won't have to draw on your imagination to figure out what the suit is going to look like when finished. Fourth, you get your outfit quickly, without the annoyance of frequent try-ons. Fifth, you can decide on the fit in "the twinkling of an eye."
