And thus it came to pass in the days of olde that the court atop the hill became a strong and mighty kingdom to be known throughout the land as Centralia.

It was decreed that henceforth and forevermore the crest of this court was to be that of an eagle, which was symbolic of peace and democracy.

King Arthur and his knights in shining armor gained fame as educators of youth.
People from all over the countryside flocked there in their quest of knowledge.

Principal J. Arthur Nelson reigns over Centralia.

the King

Ass't Principal J. Jay Planteen keeps order in the Kingdom.

And Arthur and his knighthood
Were all one will, and thro' that strength
The King made a realm and reign'd.

Heralding the coming of Arthur to the throne was the proclamation that he had won his first quest—the sacred diploma—from Midland Kingdom.

And it was decreed in the year nineteen hundred and forty-four that J. Arthur Nelson would rule over Centralia.

Aided so ably by J. Jay Planteen, known far and wide as Sir Galahad, King Arthur brought fame to the fortress atop the hill.

In the words of Sir Arthur: "The Kingdom of Centralia—may it always flourish with a high standard of scholarship and the opportunity for every race, color, religion and nationality to become acquainted."

And all these Knights in Shining Armor
Fulfill the boundless purpose of their King.

Class Officers

Guiding the noblemen of the realm in their various conquests were the senior class officers.

After intensive campaigning throughout the vast kingdom of Centralia, Sir Gregory Erwin was crowned most honorable lord of the kingdom. He ably ruled his subjects with the capable aid of Sir Eugene Owen, vice-lord. Scribe Susan Ahlstrand took care of the realm's correspondence and assisted the money-tender of the land, Kendall Brink. As guards for the royal subjects, Linda Jelen and Robert G. Peterson maintained order in the court sessions.

As the year progressed, the noblemen of King Arthur's court began preparing for their spring activities.

Seven senior committees were responsible for the planning of the graduation festivities. Any nobleman interested in planning the realm's activities signed up to serve on one committee. The chairmen were chosen from the finalists of the senior class elections.

Student Council

The Knights of the Roundtable, headed by Sir Planteen, formed the governing body of the Kingdom of Centralia.

Their major activities for the year 1957-58 were sponsoring the "Football Finale," publishing a Student Directory, ushering at various shows, and establishing a point system.

They also participated in two Knight Exchange Days, during which they both visited and extended hospitality to Knights from surrounding realms.

Homeroom Representatives

The homeroom noblemen served as a link between the Knights of the Roundtable and the subjects of the Court.

This group aided the Knights in projects such as the sale of Subject Activity and Football Finale tickets and collections for various fund drives.

Homeroom noblemen also distributed the Court Scroll and sold the Centralia yearbook.

Damme, Voner and A. Gross display Girls' State beanies.

Girls' State

"It showed us how necessary the knowledge of government is to good citizenship." — M. A. Damme

The highest honor that can be bestowed upon any Girls' Stater was received by Mary Ann Damme when she was selected as one of Nebraska's two representatives to Girls' Nation, an enlargement of the Girls' State program.

The '57 Girls' Staters all earned top honors in the government exam. Mary Ann was elected Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and Estella Voner was chosen Railway Commissioner.

Safe-Teens

Safe-Teens is an organization which strives to promote safe driving among the young squires and maidens of the Kingdom of Centralia.

Led by Knight Bob G. Peterson, this organization has influenced the subjects of Centralia to become more observant of safety rules.

After vigorous campaigning (upper half) six boys are Fisk, Kaplan, Greenberg, Abrahams, Hoberman, and Longworth.

County

Organizing parties, signing petitions, campaigning and voting were all a part of Junior County Elections.

And so it was that the delegates to '57 Boys' State were given an excellent opportunity to learn more about their state. During their stay at the University of Nebraska campus, they participated in mock government sessions concerning Nebraska's state and local government.

Four of the boys placed among the top ten in the government exams. Robert A. Peterson was elected State Treasurer and Eugene Owen was chosen State Railway Commissioner.

U. N. Assembly

The Mock U. N. Assembly was held early in the fall at Duchesne College as part of the observance of United Nations Week.

Each school sent eight representatives—four delegates with voting power and four alternates.

The topics discussed were "The Soviets should withdraw from Hungary," "Soviet interference in Syria should cease," "Algeria should be free" and "Nuclear testing of aggressive weapons should be discontinued and inspection zones established." Central spoke from India's point of view.

It had been established that during his reign King Arthur would select outstanding students of the senior class, not to exceed the upper fifteen per cent, to be members of the National Honor Society.

Thereupon King Arthur, in the year 1957, met with the Knights to consider the top thirty seniors on the basis of scholarship, leadership, service and character. In the spring additional members were elected to the society.

Junior Honor Society serves as a means to recognize the scholastic achievements of underclassmen.

In order to qualify for this organization a student must be on the honor roll at the end of the first semester and midterm of the second semester.

STANDING: Richter, Cowman, Kimsey, Fisk, Gorelick, Speier, Persell, Weinberg, P. Shyken, J. Lewis, Zadina, Gerard, L. Forbes, Jabenis, Balderson, Forsha. SEATED: Karre, Damme, Lipp, Kripke, Greenfield.

After thoroughly educating themselves on the topic of foreign aid, the Centralia debaters took part in many contests throughout their own and surrounding realms.

Some of the major tournaments that the debaters took part in were the Missouri Valley Boys Tournament, the State Debate Contest and the District Speech Contest.

Centralia has a chapter of the National Forensic League which sponsors various debates and sets up a scoring system for Merit Degrees.

Register

The Centralia Scribes, under the supervision of knight Mr. Harvey Saalberg, published 15 issues of the Register to entertain and inform the subjects and the Knights in Shining Armor of the affairs of the kingdom.

At the NHSPA Convention in Lincoln, the scribes earned many awards. During the convention the Centralia Register was presented with the World-Herald Merit Award for being the best printed high school newspaper in the state.

The Centralia Scribes also entered several contests at the Omaha University High School Press Conference. They received laurels for having the "Best News Story," "Best Photo" and "Best Column."

The Centralia Register contained information concerning the various events that took place in the kingdom, a coverage of all tournaments and a humorous column written by two of the Court jesters.

O-Book

"It's so great it's without compare; it's the best you will find anywhere."

With the presentation of a pageant entitled "Buy an O-Book" sales for the fifty-second volume of the Centralia O-Book began.

Early in the fall the nobles of the staff discussed and then voted for a theme for the '58 production—The Court of King Arthur. At this time the scribe-in-chief and copy scribe attended a session in the realm of Lincoln to learn more about the successful production of yearbooks.

The various scribes planned their sections by arranging each page and writing copy. Each scribe was also responsible for setting up a picture schedule.

Over 1,100 copies were sold to the subjects of Centralia.

Leads Hedrick, Bercutt, Dolgoff, Martin, Persell, and McKee prepare for opening night.

Ferenc Molnar's "The Swan" was presented by the Players of Centralia October 23 for students and October 24 for faculty members and parents.

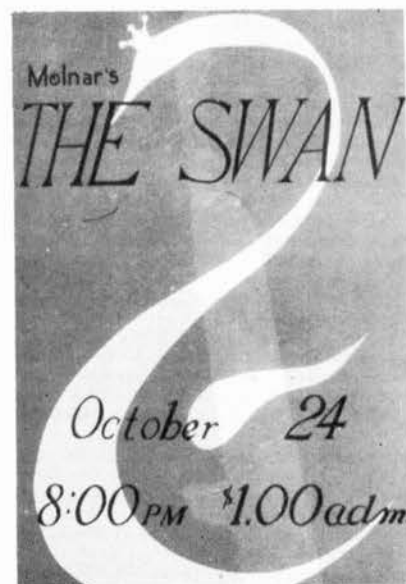

The play, which portrayed the humor and formality of European court life, took place in a Hungarian castle at the turn of the century.

Princess Beatrix (Carolyn Dolgoff) and her daughter Alexandria (Karla McKee) conspired successfully with the unwilling help of Professor Agi (Larry Kohn) to win a throne and the indifferent Prince Albert (Mike Persell).

Father Hyacinth (Jim Hedrick) and Symphorosa (Barbara Bercutt) played supporting roles.

Mr. Noyes Bartholomew's Central High Orchestra set the mood with "The Swan" and "The Blue Danube" waltzes.

Capacity crowds filled Centralia Hall as the Troubadours presented Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Carousel" on December 12-14.

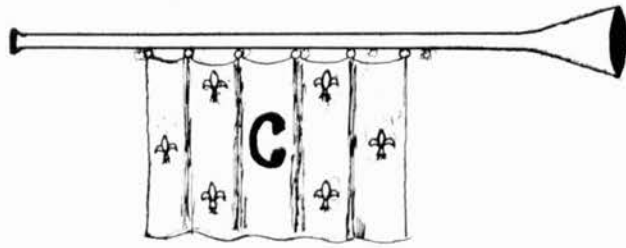

Through such songs as "If I Loved You," and "You'll Never Walk Alone," the romance of Julie Jordon and Billy Bigelow was portrayed to the spectators.

Julie (Maureen Zevitz, June Mead) acted against everyone's advice when she married Billy (Howard Kennedy), a barker for a carousel in a near-by amusement park. Due to the subsequent loss of his job, Billy became bitter until he learned he was to become a father.

In order to provide for the child, Billy took part in a robbery which eventually caused his death.

The subjects and Knights in Shining Armor of Centralia and surrounding realms were entertained by the '58 Road Show Pageant, presented in the Great Hall of Centralia March 20-22.

This year's production commenced with various selections played by the concert band. Voodoo drums, setting a mystic atmosphere for interpretive dancers, were followed by two troubadours who advised each other that "You're Not Sick You're Just in Love." This act preceded the conclusion of the first half of the Pageant, a number by the Royal Musicians.

The audience witnessed precision marching and formation by the Centralia Crack Squad, executed in a flawless military sequence, a skit presentation of "Eloise" by the Centralia Mummies, and an Oriental influence added by an original Japanese dance. The climax of the Pageant was the Centralia glee club's version of "When The Saints Go Marching In."

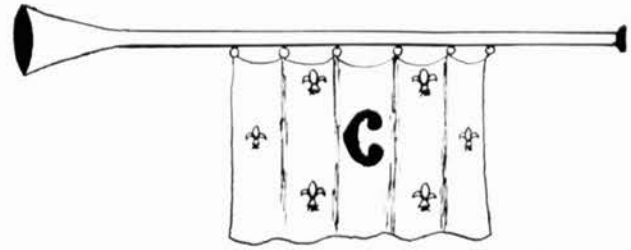

Young and old alike were given a chance to escape from reality into a magical world of Oriental mystery during the Junior Theater production of "Aladdin and The Wonderful Lamp," presented by the players of Centralia, April 23 through May 3.

This ancient legend from the Arabian Nights centers around Aladdin, (Jerry Goldstrom, Bennett Hornstein), who found himself in possession of a magic ring and lamp because he took pleasure in doing good for others.

A crowd of slaves came to carry out his slightest wish whenever Aladdin twisted the ring or polished the lamp. However, Aladdin's life was made very unpleasant because of the African Magician (Bernie Grossman).

Finally after many exciting adventures, Aladdin found true happiness for himself and his love, Adora (Joan Marx).

Back Stage

The subjects in the make-up class, under the supervision of Lady Amy Sutton, learn theatrical make-up in theory and practice, and then put to use their knowledge by creating characters for the Centralia pageants. The make-up class highlighted the 1957-58 school year by assisting with three plays, Opera and Road Show.

This year's stage crew played a leading role in the success of the various pageants of the Kingdom of Centralia.

Scenery and background for the Fall Play, Opera, Road Show, and Spring Play were constructed by the Centralia stage crew, under the supervision of Sir Victor J. Wentzel.

The mummies of Centralia played an important role in entertaining the subjects. They performed at the annual Thanksgiving and Christmas programs. In the '58 Road Show they gave their interpretation of "Eloise."

Primarily concerned with oral interpretation, the mummies are a select group who are willing to put extra time into activity programs.

Costuming is a main highlight of the group. All of the members must achieve a certain uniformity of dress to give the choir an appearance of oneness.

Directed by Mrs. Amy Sutton, the mummies provided varied entertainment for the subjects of Centralia.

Junior Choir

The Junior Troubadours, comprised of eighty voices, is a group of subjects striving to attain full membership in the main choir of the Kingdom.

Beginning as pages in Freshman Glee, they have slowly advanced through the various stages until at last they became squires, only one step away from the noble Gleemen.

Trained by Mrs. Elsie Howe Jensen, knight in charge of the Realm of Vocal Music, the Junior Troubadours participated in the All-City Music Clinic where they joined in song with subjects of surrounding kingdoms.

King Arthur's orchestra is one of the most active entertainment groups in the Court of Centralia.

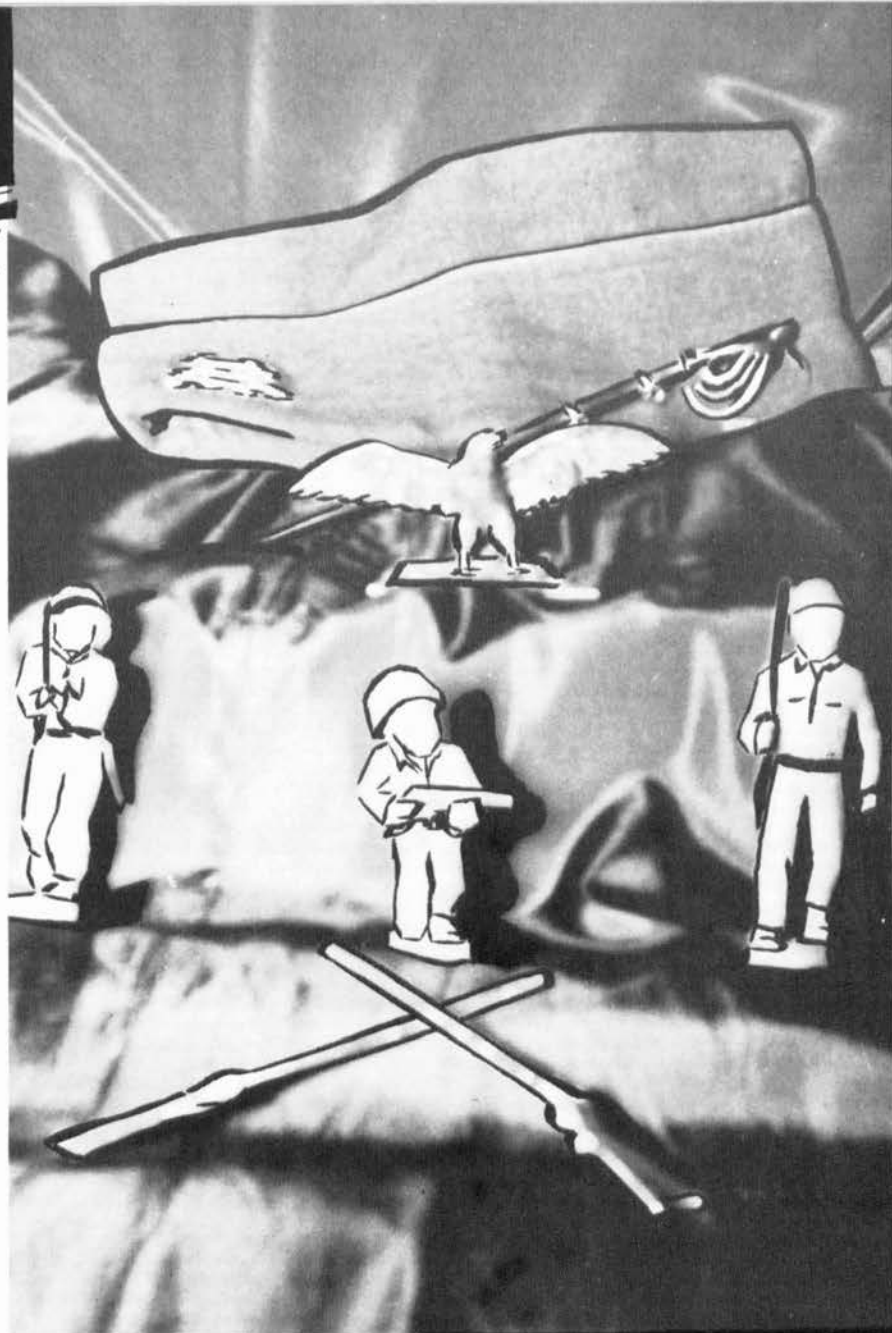

The orchestra made its first appearance of the year at the Fall Play. They played selections from "The Swan" and the "Blue Danube Waltz."

After participating in the Opera, Road Show and Spring Play, King Arthur's orchestra made its final appearance at graduation exercises.

At the All-City Music Festival the orchestra performed under Gerhard Schroth, a well-known conductor-arranger.

Both King Arthur's marching band and orchestra played selections from the era of Bach and Frescobaldi.

Centralia's Bearers of the Standard were seen throughout the Kingdom this year posting the colors of the Empire. Such postings were at the Grande Ball, the shows of the gleemen and minstrels and the various tournaments.

The Royal Guards of Pageantry ended their months of practice with a spectacular precision movement at the Grande Ball. Later performances of this team were also at the shows of gleemen and minstrels as well as in other realms requesting their presence.

The best yeomanry group in the countryside, Central's Rifle Team, maintained its prestige this year. Firing with deadly accuracy, it swept through all competition to the inter-city championship.

Trained by M. Sgt., Sir Frank Bailey, this band exhibited its versatility and reserve strength by the fluctuation of its top five scorers in city jousts. Cdt. Cpt., Sir Bill McDaniel, who captained these sharp-eyed slings-men, held the individual high average.

Besides their ravage of local laurels, the squad also placed exceedingly high in the Fifth Army Hearst Trophy duel which is held in thirteen states.

HUSSARS

Conrey, Herbert, Jensen, Bulger.

Each year the neighboring kingdom of Quivera requests from Central's realm a personal body of protectors for their annual coronation. This year's fourteen guards, divided equally between the King and the Queen, were under the authority of Cdt. Cpt., Sir Bill McDaniel, and Cdt. Maj., Sir Victor Lich, respectively. The uniforms of the King's Hussars were a purple-red color, while those of the Queen's were a brilliant white.

A freak incident proved these guards' versatility. Having to change their program at the last practice, the Hussars executed such precision in wedging formations and flanking movements that their last-minute revision was not evident.

To maintain a knowledge of these groups' affairs for next year, two Pages with the degree of Juniors became alternates.

The band was formed to provide entertainment for the nobles at Central, to increase the morale of the knights during a march, and to instill spirit within all the people of the realm.

Under the supervision of Sir Noyes Bartholemew and Sir Ken Bartos, the band performed at many of Central's tournaments and programs. These participations included half-time performances at football jousts, a concert of marching tunes at the Military Ball and playing at such military programs as the country-wide ROTC review and Centralia's own Retreat.

Aside from their musical excellence, the Band Company exhibited so many outstanding characteristics, such as proficient marching, that they were high on the company competition list.

The Commissioned Officers' Club serves a dual purpose. The first is to centralize the co-operation of the nobles in all matters concerning the regulation of the regiment. The other is to plan and stage the Military Ball.

To accomplish the former purpose, meetings were called regularly and regimental policies were adopted or changed.

Under the noble leadership of Sir Bennett Hornstein, Central's 21st annual Grande Ball witnessed the promotion of 58 nobles and the selection of Janet Gibson as the Colonel's Lady. The official COC party following the Ball was held at the Fireside.

Designed to arrest all uniform violations and to prevent any diversion from the code of military conduct, Central's 1957-1958 Military Police dutifully fulfilled its purpose.

Under the command of the Provost Marshall, Sir Joe Jarvis, the 40-member cadet force guarded the brick moat surrounding the entranceways into the Central fortress. It also provided escort service for Central's Military Ball, athletic tournaments, and theatrical productions.

The Non-Commissioned Officers' Club is formed each year to train younger members of the ROTC program in the art of planning public functions. In accordance with this purpose all cadets between the rank of corporal and master-sergeant may join the group and assume those tasks for which they feel best suited.

The efforts of the entire group of 115 cadets was culminated in November when it successfully sponsored the 11th annual "Sound Off" dance. This affair was climaxed by the promotion of 403 cadets and the announcement of Miss NCOC of 1958—Laurie McCann.

In addition to this activity many squires provided innumerable boons in the preparations for the Military Ball.

Annually the Fred Hamilton trophy is awarded to the junior squire who has demonstrated the best aptitudes for, and qualities of, the Royal Guards of Centralia. This year's most promising page from the Junior Order was Justin Greenberg.

During the first year of his training, Squire Greenberg patrolled on the M. P. Squad. His last two years have been filled primarily with the Knights of Royal Precision. Last year he was selected as the superior sophomore page.

Candidates for Miss NCOC . . . Jan Marley
Laurie McCann, Sue Archer, Rosalie Reiss.

The Central High Eagles ended the 1957 grid season with seven victories and only one defeat, the finest pigskin record that a Central team has achieved in 19 years. The Purples' lone defeat came at the hands of the South High Packers in the final two minutes of their crucial battle.

The Eagles had the smallest eleven in the Intercity, but their blazing speed and intense spirit offset this handicap.

Heading the list of All-City stars were quarterback Phil Barth, fullback Art Reynolds, center Ken Brink and end Pat Salerno. The latter two also were selected for All-State.

The Eagle's backfield also included scat-backs Louie Miloni and Willie McCants. Defensive stalwarts were Pat Salerno, Ken Brink, John Krogh, Jim Howard, and Morris Meadows.

The year's most exciting play was a last minute Barth to Salerno pass to defeat Prep.

Central tied with South for Intercity honors, finished the season ranking second in the state ratings.

STANDING: Reynolds, Glass, Hall, Salerno, Russell, Barth, Coach Marquiss, Nared, Jones, Owen, J. Sweeny, Clough, B. G. Peterson. KNEELING: Wise, Allen, Westerguard.

The Intercity Basketball championship, earned by Central with a 12-2 record, was a fitting present for Coach Warren Marquiss's tenth year at Central. In post-season play the Eagles won the Class AA District tourney with successive wins over Tech and Benson.

Going to Lincoln for the first time in 17 years, the Eagle basketballers defeated the two-time state champion Boys Town, 53-50, in the first round. Lincoln High, who had earlier subdued the Purples 38-35, repeated their triumph in the State Tournament finals, 45-38.

The Eagles' overall record was 15 wins and 4 losses. The team earned the number three rating in the state. Phil Barth and Gene Owen were selected to both the World-Herald and WOW-TV All-City squads. Barth and Johnny Nared were named to the Nonpareil quintet and to the Class AA tournament squad. Phil also made the All-tournament team as well as selection to the exclusive All-State five.

Although failing to capture the State crown for Central, the Marquissmen gave exhilarating life to the spirit of CHS.

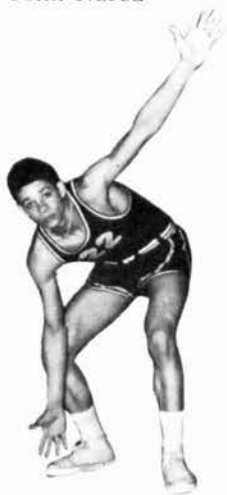

Highlights of the regular season came when the Eagles flew past Tech for the second time, 55-39, securing a tie for the city title. The crown was Central's and so was the Benson game in overtime, 45-39. Both of these games brought capacity crowds, the doors being closed an hour before the game.

Central's starting five — sharpshooter Phil Barth, defensive ace Gene Owen, rebounding specialists Ken Russell and Frank Jones, and sophomore sensation "Jumping" Johnny Nared—will be long remembered as one of the finest basketball teams that the school has seen in many years. The first string received fine support from Art Reynolds, Jim Hall, Pat Salerno, Bob G. Peterson and Fred Clough.

The basketball team's excellent performance put the Eagles ahead in both the Intercity and State All-Sports trophy races.

The matmen, under the fine direction of Coach Norman Sorensen, battled their way to a 9-1-1 dual match record.

They did not fare as well as expected in this year's tournaments as they placed third in the North Invitational and second in the State Meet.

The Eagles, after losing their first dual match to South by a tight 23-21 score, went to South for the key dual meet of the wrestling season. The best the Eagles could do was tie the Packers; however, this stopped South's consecutive winning streak at thirty and kept the record of forty-two on the Central hilltop.

Individually the Eagles sparkled. Charlie Whitner, Jim Howard, George Crenshaw and Morris Meadows copped first place honors in the North Meet while Louie Butera and George Crenshaw captured state honors.

Louie Miloni, two-year state champion and four-year letterman, captained this year's squad.

Intercity competition proved no match for Central's mermen this year, as they won all four of their meets against Prep and Tech.

Outstate competition was much more rugged, however. Against these teams the aquamen fared not so well, meeting defeat at the hands of Lincoln High and Lincoln Northeast, while trouncing Hastings High.

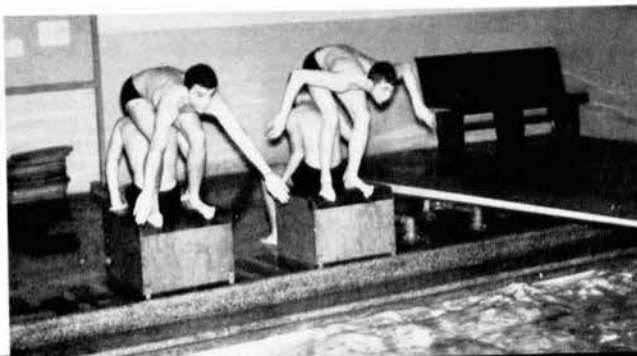

The high spot in the state championship was the winning of the 100-yard freestyle crown by sophomore sprinter Rol Wellman. The team finished in fifth place.

The Tech Invitational saw Wellman again claim the sprint title while the team as a whole qualified 12 men and finished third. The Eagles ended the season with a 5-3-1 record.

FIRST ROW: Coach Karabatsos, Stolarskyj, Butera, Abboud, Miloni, Howard, Leslie, Politi, Reynolds, Horwich.

This year's diamond squad was one of the most talented Eagle squads in many years. Coach Jim Karabatsos filled each position with a top performer.

Howard Kennedy, one of the Intercity's top batmen, led the infield at first base. Bob McMahan and Phil Barth played second base and shortstop respectively. Greg Svolopoulos and Louie Butera filled the third base position.

Pat Salerno and Don Abboud were regular outfield starters while the third outfield position was played by either Art Reynolds or Louie Miloni.

The mound ace was Al Stolarskyj. Other Eagle pitchers included Art Reynolds, Charlie Dickerson, Al Gilmore, Bill Horwich and Bruce Jafek. Jim Howard handled the catching chores.

Eagle tutor, Jim Karabatsos carried a squad of just 16 men this year instead of the usual 25. Another new addition to the year's baseball program was the Frosh-Reserve team.

Coach Frank Smagacz's tracksters opened this season with one of the finest arrays of talent seen on the Hilltop in years.

Thirteen lettermen returned to boost the squad. Among the thirteen was the trio Gene Owen, Ken Russell and Bob Sterling, who composed three-fourths of last year's state champion mile-relay team.

The season opened with the Nebraska City Invitational Meet in which the Eagles romped to a 88 2/3 to 42 1/3 victory over runner-up Creighton Prep.

Roger Sayers, sophomore sensation, set a new meet record in the 220, and also copped the 100-yard dash. Russell took two firsts, while Gene Owen, John Nared, Frank Jones and the 880 relay team captured first place honors.

Five other major meets composed this year's season.

Hustling tracksters work up sweat.

FIRST ROW: Sneider, Ahlstrand, Hill, Herzog.

Central's golfers, after last year's successful season, went after another city title and an individual champion with Dick Ahlstrand, Clark Swartz and Robin Hill setting the pace for the eight-man squad.

The first match saw the Eagles, who are coached by Warren Marquiss, pitted against perennially strong South. Other teams showing unusual strength were Prep, Benson and North.

Tournaments which the team entered included the State and City Championships and the Fremont Invitational.

Golf and Tennis

The Eagle netmen, coached by Mr. Esmond Crown, had three returning lettermen and two outstanding freshmen to bolster Intercity tennis hopes. Senior Jack Lieb and juniors Pete Hoagland and Fred Burbank, along with frosh players Doug Marteeny and Gene Licka, vied for the starting four positions.

Hoagland proves he's on his toes.

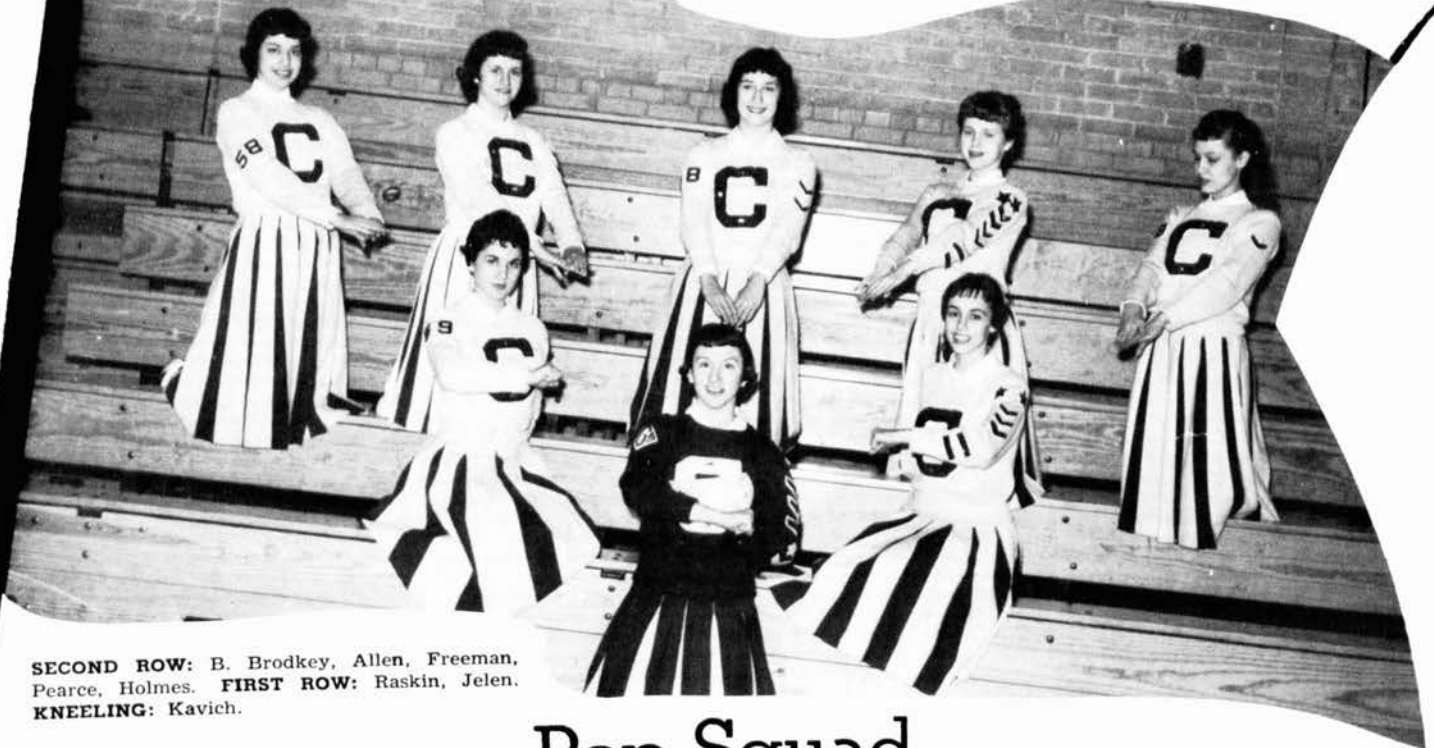

Creighton Prep provided the team with the stiffest competition in the Intercity league. State meets followed the regular seven-match season.

Miss Marian Treat's girls' racquet squad featured returning lettergals Linda Kavich, Marsha Kittleson, Carol Lind, Karen Skaanning, and Carol Krush.

This year Centralia's fine tournament success aroused better school spirit than the Kingdom has seen in many years. This spirit is largely due to the Pep Squad.

Stricter orders have governed this year's group. To meet requirements each maiden had to attend fifteen of the twenty-three football and basketball tournaments. If they met these orders, the maidens received a laurel for their purple and white uniforms. Any girl who attended every game was recognized with a gold star.

The girls had many meetings during the football and basketball seasons in which they learned and practiced the various cheers of the Kingdom.

Also boosting the teams along the trail of victory this year were pep rallies sponsored by the varsity cheerleaders. Under the direction of Captain Linda Kavich skits were often presented. Posters announcing the games were also made by the cheerleaders who worked under the guidance of Miss Treat.

GAA, a nationally affiliated group, is becoming increasingly popular at Centralia. Its total membership has now risen to 168.

The numerous sport activities include basketball, volleyball, badminton, softball, tennis, archery and bowling. In addition, the maidens must abide by 11 training orders.

If a freshman girl participates in four sports and doesn't break the training orders, she is awarded the GAA letter. Requirements for awards become more difficult each year. Sophomore maidens may be awarded a "C," juniors an "O" and seniors a star.

The highlight of all GAA activities is the annual O-Ball, a dance held jointly with O-Club at which the top senior maiden athlete is chosen to reign as Queen of Sports.

The club's other annual affair, the initiation picnic, was canceled this year due to bad weather.

Speakers come from far and wide
 To speak to junior misses
 'Cause they belong to Homemaking Club,
 And a wonderful group this is.

They learn to cook and learn to bake,
 And practice making clothes
 Because these skills are so essential,
 As every young girl knows.

Red Cross Council

Red Cross Council is a club
 To help the ones in need.
 There are clothes collection, Blood Bank, too,
 And hungry mouths to feed.

Polio patients sick in bed
 To them Red Cross brings fun.
 Old folks, young folks, each and all
 This club helps everyone.

If  $x^2 - z^2 = c^2 = d$ ,
 And  $y$  is ten times greater than the perimeter of  $b$ ;
 Then solve  $4x$  and solve  $4t$ —
 The answer's simple—it is E-Z!

Now Math Club members don't care at all
 If this problem can be done.
 If their members show an interest,
 The battle's more than won.

The mystery of science
 Leaves many quite floored,
 But the members of the Science Club
 Don't leave it unexplored.

They participate in projects
 Both inside the club and out.
 They explore the fields of science
 Until there is no doubt.

A club for upperclassmen
Is a group called FNA.
It teaches future nurses
How to act the proper way.

A glimpse of opportunities,
Requirements and such
Are on the club's agenda,
And they teach the girls so much.

To acquaint young girls with teaching,
 A profession tried and true,
 Is the purpose of this group;
 And this it aims to do.

They work to help the faculty
 On teachers' convention days.
 At Open House and final exams
 They learn the teaching ways.

Kings and queens about the board
 Are moved in various plays.
 Chess Club members teach beginners
 The different moves and ways.

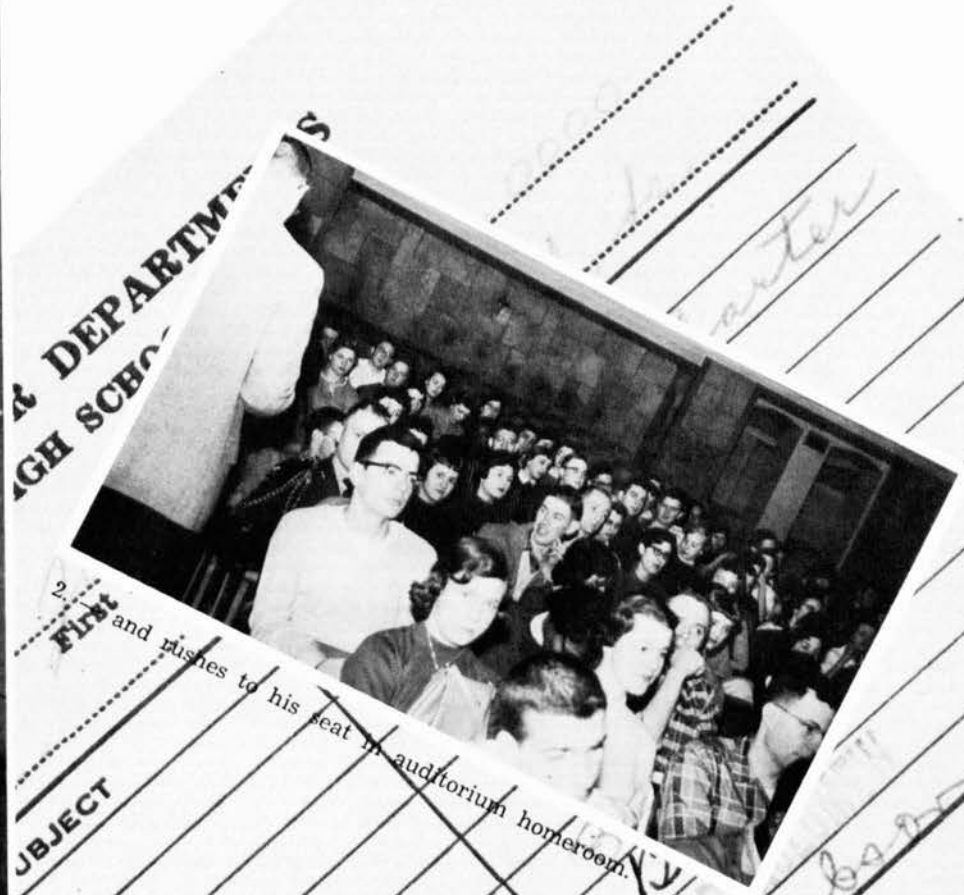

Tournaments are entered
 Throughout the city and state.
 Central players try to beat
 Opponents by checkmate.
