"Vote Abernathy State President" was the familiar chant at the Student Council Convention in Grand Island. Bill's election, the bus ride on the luggage racks and Trudy's "clean hands" are only a sample of the excitement.

At Central, Council's main headache has been protecting the "Sacred C" from being stepped on by disrespectful freshmen (and a FEW upperclassmen). Undaunted by muddy footprints on the "C", President Suzy Irvine called forth an armed squadron of dedicated Council members who succeeded in putting down the rebels and establishing a new tradition.

To promote school spirit, Council sponsored "C-Day", consisting of a pep rally before and a "C-Saw" dance after the Central-Westside game. A snowstorm stopped the game, but not the "C-Saw."

Council has done a wonderful job, but it couldn't have without Suzy's "Hero" medals, Steve Guss's "point of order", Shelley's "Kosherizing" process, Jeff's posters, and Mrs. Skinner's guidance, aid, and helping Melvin through Grammar Review.

"But Daddy . . ."

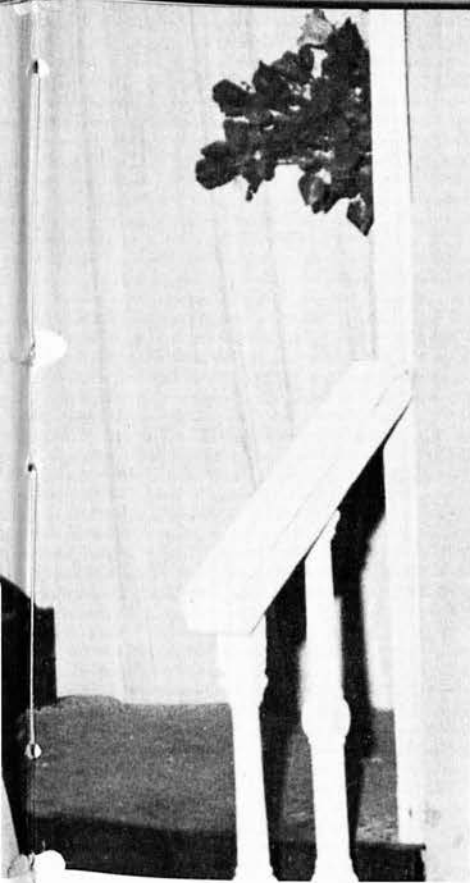

What teen-ager hasn't experienced the trials and tribulations of kid brothers, the excitement of a first dance, and the indescribable "first crush?"

All of these important parts of teen-age life and more came alive in the Central High Players' production of "A Roomful of Roses."

The cast, headed by Judy Kriss, Sandy Bassman, and Maureen Borden, were amply rewarded by "Miss Amy's" beaming smile at the enthusiastic reception of both the student members and the faculty. More than one person was heard to proclaim it "the best play in a long time."

However, the play could not have been put on without Mrs. Sutton and her student directors, Peggy Rubenstein and Nancy Fellman; Mr. Kirschbaum and his stage crew; and "Poof", not to mention the involuntary cooperation of the lights which went on only because of the intense praying of the students.

Girls' Choir

As Centralites bustled into their seats for the annual Christmas program, they received a pleasant surprise. Girls' Choir, with their bright-red robes, smiling faces and gay voices, presented an unforgettable program. When the last rollicking notes of "Sleigh Ride" faded away, CHS students returned to their classes with gay hearts full of holiday spirits.

Under the direction of Mrs. Phyllis Wells, Girls' Choir has been exceptionally active. They sang in the Spring Music Festival, and a Girls' Choir trio participated in Road Show. In class also, "just for fun," they put on two talent shows.

On stage or in the classroom, the girls enjoyed singing—and we enjoyed listening!

Speech Choir

Now maybe if we accent
the fourth word . . .

Central High's Speech Choir can perform with ease either a sadistic satire on Mike Hammer or a rollicking rendition of "Night Before Christmas."

Under Miss Ann Ahlstrand, the Speech Choir participated in Thanksgiving and Christmas programs.

A misty stage lent a mystic air to the reading "Perchance to Dream" which they performed for Road Show.

As an aid to Central choral groups or in a solo performance, the Speech Choir is an invaluable asset to the dramatic department of Central.

"Calm before the storm"

"So many funny things happened during the opera," commented one member of the cast of "Kiss Me Kate."

According to other cast members, the opera was "a blast," "fantabulous," "a riot," "a hound" or in simpler terms, "fun."

Behind the scenes, cast and crew members (especially student manager LeRoy Lindsey) worked hard; but the three audiences, Dec. 3-5, saw a gay, carefree musical comedy.

Some of the comical incidents which occurred were the curtain falling on Judy Vincentini's head, a certain group of girls coming on stage at the wrong time, a run in Walt Wise's tights and, last but not least, Bob Wigton's spanking Judy Vincentini.

At the cast party Mrs. Jensen was presented with a gold watch; and as one cast member remarked, "The opera was a wonderful experience I'll never forget."

Talent . . . sincere effort . . . inspiration —these three qualities, as stated in the A Cappella Choir creed, make every choir performance outstanding and memorable.

Directed by Mrs. Elsie Howe Jensen, and accompanied by Mrs. Delma Barber, choir began the year's activities with "Kiss Me Kate", a musical comedy by Cole Porter.

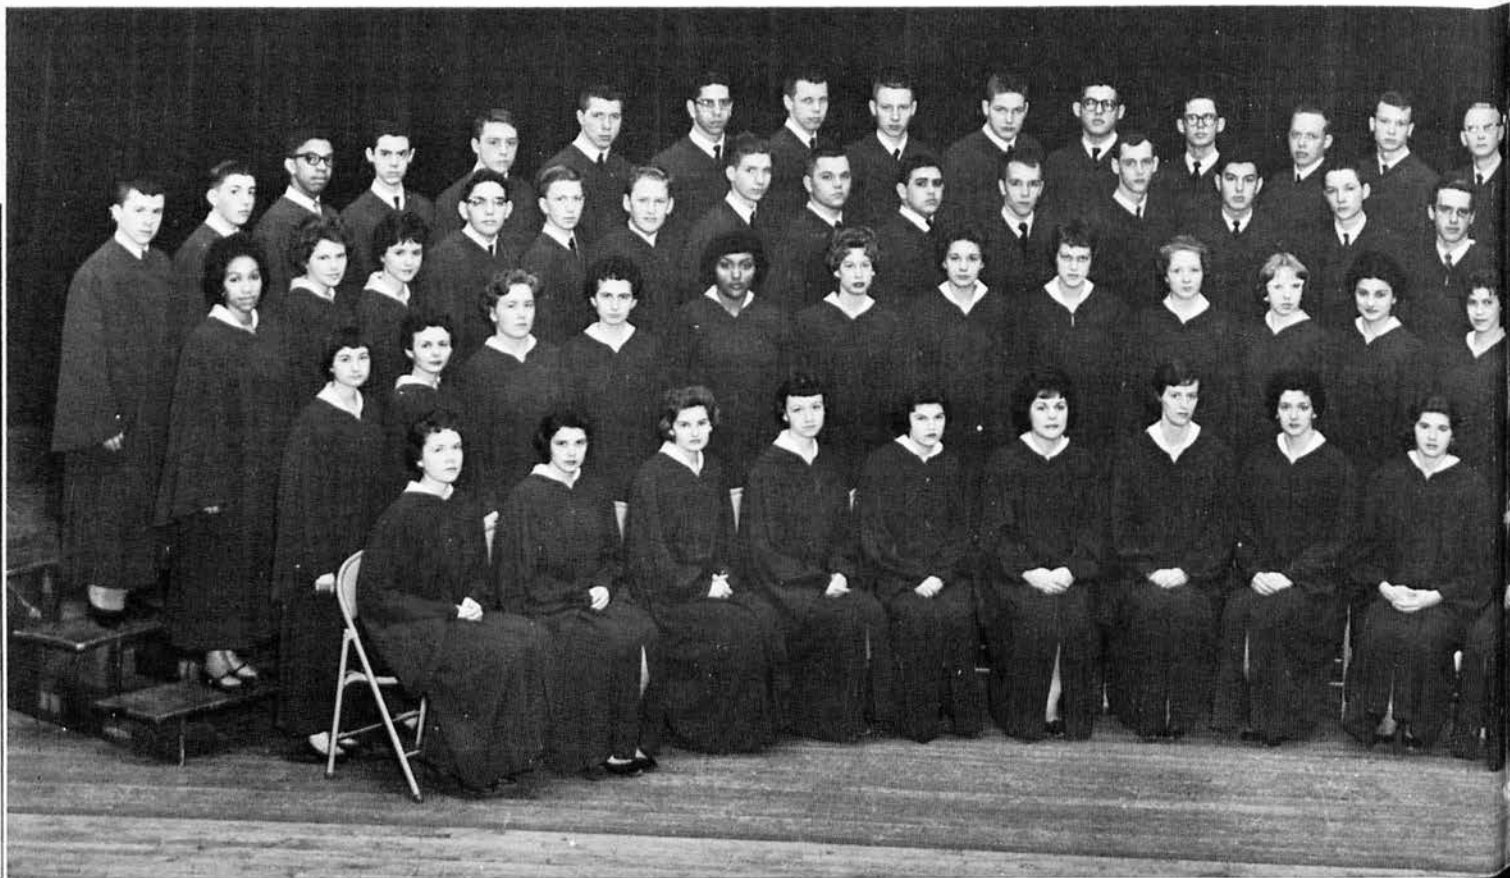

The A Cappella Choir presented a Christmas choral at Joselyn Memorial in December. Directed by guest conductor Dr. Raymond, members participated in the All City Music Clinic. Selections from "South Pacific" climaxed the Road Show.

At their final performance, the Spring Music Festival, A Capella closed with the traditional "Salvation is Created" and left their laughter, tears and traditional song to future choirs.

Junior Choir

The "endless" renovation provided a bit of amusement for Central's Junior Choir. It seems that workmen in the balcony were singing along with the choir. Mrs. Jensen, noticing a persistently jarring note, softly signaled the choir to stop. To his embarrassment and the Choir's amusement, a lone workman blithely continued his off-key rendition.

Minus workmen—Junior Choir did a wonderful job, both here at Central and in city-wide events. They sang in our Thanksgiving program and participated in the All-City Music Festival and the Spring Music Festival. They also helped out busy A Cap-pella members by selling tickets to "Kiss Me Kate."

"Oh, come all ye faithful. . ."

"We know we're out of step, but what can you do to a congo beat?"

Manager Jim Horky

Road Show

"Two months in the making . . . ." Two months of Mrs. Jensen's directing, Mr. Plan-teen's screening, Mr. Kirschbaum's staging, Jim Horky and Jim Childe's managing produced the 46th annual Road Show, March 17-19.

Beginning with the mysterious atmosphere of black light and bongo drums, the first act featured the dance band, a musical hobo scene, beatnik combo, and individual singing and dancing acts.

The orchestra, directed by Mr. Jess Sutton, closed the first act with selections from "Gigi" and "West Side Story."

"Are they really too short?"

"Where IS the beast in you?"

"Once you have found him . . ."

Manager Jim Childe

The precise step of the crack squad opened Act II. "Misty" hallelujahs, "could be-censored" adlibs of the Coachmen, strains of "Harlem Nocturne" and "Ava Maria" followed.

Speech choir presented "Perchance to Dream," and Central High Players performed the "Stolen Prince."

A Cappella Choir's "Selections from South Pacific" climaxed the frantic practice, footlight excitement, and grease-paint romance of a truly successful production.

"When can I take a breath?"

"Hi"-light of the show!

Man, like this is musicville!

"Who needs practice?"

The scene is room 048, the time is fifth hour, everything is chaos. Why?

Orchestra members have just lazily shuffled to class and are taking out their instruments.

Suddenly Mr. Sutton raises his baton, ready for the downbeat. Everyone sits up alertly. All eyes are on the instructor. The students, the instruments and Mr. Sutton are ready to begin.

There's the downbeat. Are they practicing for the Fall Play Overture from "Gigi," the opera, Road Show, the spring concert or the spring play? No matter what they're rehearsing for, it's certain to be good.

This year's orchestra is one of the best Central has ever had, and future orchestras will have a hard time beating it.

Dance Band

Dum, dum, dee, dee, da—sound familiar? You've probably heard the Dance Band playing it.

In case you can't remember exactly where you heard it, the Dance Band has played at the Soundoff, All-City Music Clinic-Festival, Road Show and Spring Concert to name just a few places.

With John Lydick on the saxophone, Mike Markovitz on the drums, Sandra Staub and Marilee Forsha with their beautiful singing and the rest of the Dance Band playing like crazy, Central's Dance Band is really a swinging group.

Add all this skilled playing, talented singing and Mr. Jess Sutton together, and what do you have? Of course, you have the best dance band this side of Omaha.

PERCUSSION: B. Harrold, Dodds, Hammang, D. Nelson, Markovitz. BASS HORNS: P. Taylor, Illsley, Karre. CORNETS: Canuso, Bercaw, Helligso, R. Friedman, Rotschafer, J. ## Concert Band

If you've ever gone to a football game, and most of you have, you've seen Central's Band in action.

The Band leads the songs and the cheers with loud and vigorous playing; and at half-time, members of the Band march on the field with intricate formations and talented precision.

The Band also plays at the Military

Ball. Stiff and formal in their band uniforms, the Band members are very dignified and impressive-looking as they ready their instruments for the downbeat.

Members of the Band claim they have the wonderful feeling of being in an important school activity and of being part of a well-founded school tradition.

"... and the Band marches on."

"A Comedy of Errors" was Central's production of Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

A special class in Shakespearean drama was set up, authentic costumes were ordered, and plans were made to fly Puck (Gail Shrier, Nancy Fellman) across the stage!

However, with Mr. Kirschbaum's sudden illness, whether the play was "to be or not to be" seemed the question. Finally, through Room 317—"hotbed" of Central High, home of "wonder boy" Ronnie Greene, land of "Redundant" Nogg's fanatic ad staff, scene of Horwich-Thomas debates, kingdom of Mr. Saalberg and his "Open-Door Policy"—this is the room where reporters pound out the stories, where editors juggle the headlines, and where photographers snap the pictures which go into each issue of the Register.

At the annual journalism convention in Lincoln, Central placed second in the Sweepstakes, and four of her students received first place awards; Buddy Herzog, photography; Judy Bacon, news writing; James Guss, current events; and Bill Horwich, sports writing. The highlight of the convention was a presentation by the staff to Mr. Saalberg of his name immortalized in linotype.

At the Omaha University journalism conference, Reggie staffers collected three awards: Linda Holmquist—first place, front page make-up; Ronnie Greene—second place, editorial writing; Lou Rich—third place, photography.

At the University of Nebraska in May, Bruce Buckman, Ronnie Greene, and Bill Horwich received silver keys. These were awarded for news writing, editorial writing and news feature writing, respectively.

O-Book

"A little brains, a little talent, With the emphasis on the latter" was all it took for "Mighty Mo" Mackenzie and her diligent staff to put out the "better-than-ever" 1960 O-Book.

A skit, written by Cindy Klein and Ethel Sabes and starring "speaking-of-the-devil" Bill Horwich, started sales off with a bang to the tune of "Buy an O-Book for your plastic cover."

Shutters clicked, tempers flared, grease pencils vanished, and bags appeared under every eye as the deadline drew nearer.

The deadline came; the deadline went.

Then the proofs began to arrive. Mr. Witt's picture had been placed before Mr. Anderson's, and the "O" to be formed by the Cheerleaders had melted into a soft-boiled egg shape.

Special thanks go to Betty Neal. She composed the entire club section virtually alone. Mary Yager helped Dean Thomas with his sports section, and through Cooperation with a capital "C", the O-Book was published.

The O-Book came out on time. Ethel broke the slide rule, Judy Goldner forgot what time to pick up her carpool, Lola smiled, and Mary Jo fell asleep.

Debate

"Aw shucks, 'twaren't nothin'"

Trophy after trophy after trophy—the Debate squad keeps piling them up. Under pretty new coach Miss Donna Miller, they walked away with the second prize at both the Boys' and Girls' Missouri Valley Tournaments.

At Kearney, the squad courteously let the other schools win a FEW events, but easily captured the Sweepstakes award. President Ed Sidman won first place in prepared oratory, and "Dam 'n Save" were at their old tricks again. The twosome and their cohort "Post hoc" Kaslow earned "superior rating."

At Kearney, the squad won the Class A Debate. The Missouri Valley Open Championship and Central Invitational brought two more first-places to the '60 speakers. The debaters won second places at the Tech Beginners and Ryan Debate Tournaments. The squad received numerous superior forensic ratings.

Visiting important State offices, taking tests and campaigning for office kept the Girls' Staters Carol Krush, Bettie Gutmann, and Carole Parks in a tizzy during their week "course in Americanism."

Bettie was elected Auditor, and Carol Krush, Associate Justice. Each girl was privileged to visit the office she held.

The climax of the week was the Boys' State-Girls' State Dance when all the boys marched down en masse to where the girls were staying. The Boy's State officers surprised the Girls' State officers with corsages. "We were just shocked!" was Bettie's comment.

Krush, Parks, Gutmann.

Boys State

When Boys' Staters Bill Horwich, Ronnie Greene, Steve Soule, Sam Bleicher, and Dave Weddle weren't busy with government seminars or elections, they might be seen running laps or doing push-ups at 6:00 a.m. in accordance with the Eisenhower physical fitness program.

Ronnie added another to his long list of firsts when he won first prize on the government test with a score of 96%.

As far as the boys are concerned, the highlight of the week was after the Boys' State-Girls' State dance when they staged a mild riot in the form of a "Watermelon party."

The boys came home with droopy eyes, a store of information, and stiff muscles.

Reserve Officers' Training Corps

Central's Military Instructors, (seated) M. Sgt. Cecil Russell and (standing) Sfc. Troy Woody.

Central's Corps of ROTC cadets was re-organized this year along the lines of the regular army's new "pentomic" system. Formerly a cadet regiment consisted of two battalions; Central's cadets now make up a battle group consisting of seven companies plus staff officers. Battle groups from the four Omaha high schools teaching ROTC make up a brigade.

Cadet Al Newberg was named cadet colonel and commander of the Omaha high school ROTC brigade at Central's Military Ball, Feb. 26. Members of the brigade staff were chosen from Central's senior cadets, along with the school battle group staff.

First organized in 1893, ROTC is one of Central's oldest organizations.

The Commissioned Officers' Club is highly instrumental in planning the activities of Central's ROTC brigade.

Committees selected from the COC are responsible for carrying out the decoration, seating, invitation, flower and various other arrangements for the Military Ball. A vote of the COC decides who shall be Colonel's Lady.

COC meetings also furnish valuable opportunity for officers of the brigade to discuss problems relating to their staff duties.

King's Hussars — Al Newberg, Commander

Hussars

Each year 16 of the top senior cadets from Central High ROTC unit are chosen as Hussars for the king and queen of Ak-Sar-Ben. Candidates for this honor must meet rigid standards of marching precision and uniformity of height. This year the Hussars executed difficult "wheel" and "criss-cross" maneuvers for the entertainment of the court of King and Queen Ak-Sar-Ben LXV.

Cadet Police

Although they have a new name this year, the Cadet Police are entrusted with the same duties they have been performing in the past. Formerly known as the Military Police, the Cadet Police still patrol the entrances of Central in an effort to apprehend cadets who violate the conduct and uniform regulations of ROTC. This organization also provides ushers for such important school events as the Military Ball, the opera, and plays.

In the fall months, the C.P.'s can also be seen directing traffic at Central's football games.

Cadet Police lower the flag at the end of each drill day.

Rifle Team

Hearst trophies adorn ROTC room wall.

Central's rifle team competes with sharpshooters from the various schools in the area.

Although more than five members of the team fire in a match, only the high five scorers are recorded for competition.

Scores for individual members of the team range all the way to a perfect 200 points.

Captain of this year's team is Buddy Herzog.

Non- Commissioned Officers' Club

Karen Fellman

The Non-Commissioned Officers' Club is primarily designed to train sophomore and junior cadets to assume the duties and responsibilities they will hold during their senior year as officers.

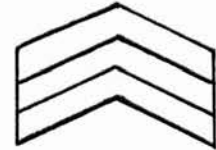

All cadets between the ranks of corporal and master sergeant may join this organization and join committees for various ROTC functions according to their preferences.

Each year the NCOC presents the annual Sound Off sox dance in the Central gym. The Central High Dance Band, under the direction of John Lydick, played for this dance. NCO promotions were read, and Karen Fellman was proclaimed Miss NCOC of 1960. Other candidates for this honor were Elizabeth Anderson, Trudy Erwin, Jonis Agee, Mary Lucht and Connie Svolopoulos.

Give me the wide open spaces! That's the cry of the Outdoorsmen and that's just where they headed many times this year.

Hikes and camp-outs constituted the most important activities of the club. A weekend camp-out was held at Waubonsie State Park in Iowa in October, which about 25 Outdoorsmen attended. During spring vacation Outdoorsmen camped out for three days near Fremont. Hikes in Fontenelle Park were also planned.

Other activities included forming a club library consisting of governmental pamphlets and various sports magazines and selling popcorn and peanuts at football games to raise money for the club.

Red Cross Council

Labeling bottles for the Regional Blood Bank, collecting clothing in cooperation with the Register staff and providing Christmas stockings for handicapped children—that's what you call service! Those are only a few of the projects which the Red Cross Council endeavors to do to help others.

The Junior Red Cross Council meets once a month at Central; members also attend the Intercity Council in different high schools once a month. The Intercity Council sponsors an annual dance, the "Criss Crosser."

Other activities of the club include sending delegates to the Red Cross international summer camp and providing favors and games for children in various hospitals.

A mascot should bring luck to its possessor, and Sneety, the Y-Teen mascot, certainly has done his job well this year.

Y-Teen members have reaped many benefits by joining their hands, their minds, and their time in helping others. Y-Teen activities are geared to projects that aid the community, as well as improve each individual in her relationship to God, to others, and to herself.

September saw a meeting at which all the new members could get acquainted. A Coketail Party offered a chance for Sneety, the mascot, to be unveiled and for new members to get acquainted.

In November Y-Teens sold purple and white pens and pencils to CHS students and dressed dolls for the Goodfellows. One hundred dolls were dressed and given to needy children at Christmas time.

In a College Conference, which was held in March, a panel of five college students discussed reasons for attending college, college life, and the functioning of sororities.

Hi-Y and Y-Teens sponsored Lenten services at the Trinity Cathedral Church, April 4-8. These services were held each morning before school.

An Installation Tea was given for the new officers in May. During that month the Setting-Up Conference was held at Camp Brewster, May 20-21.

Mrs. Angeline Thompson is the sponsor for Y-Teens. Advisors are Miss Margaret Weymuller, Mrs. Loraine Truell, Mrs. Phebe Eaton, Mrs. Lyndall Newens, and Mrs. Carol Blough.

Painting with yardstick are Aronson, Zarins, Maxfield and Simer.

Ever seen a beatnik Christmas tree? That is just what Greenwich Villagers had at their Christmas party. The tree was made from a dried sunflower plant and tinsel. It was modern and quite different.

Bill Hammon's Studio in the Aquila Court Building was the destination of a field trip. There members saw sculpture for the Daly building and many fine paintings.

At the March meeting Greenwich Villagers painted with 3-foot pens (yardsticks with small sticks attached). With the paper on the floor, members dipped the ends in ink and painted at arm's length.

A guided tour to Joslyn Museum was taken, and the exhibit, "Ten Modern Americans", was studied.

In April silhouettes were made by casting a shadow on paper taped to the wall. The shadow was then traced with a pencil and cut out. Members also sketched CHS from the lawn.

Responsibility is one trait which each individual should cultivate during his high school years. Each member of the Library club accepted the responsibility of faithfully keeping the library in order and of aiding in the circulation of books to CHS students.

Before important school events, such as Open House, members of the Library club took the initiative of shelving books and making sure that the library was in order when guests visited CHS. Much of the work was done on Saturdays.

To aid in the circulation of books to students, the Library club had the annual paper-bound book sale in March. Dotty Beaty was the chairman of the sale. Many good, paper-bound books, written by well-known authors, were sold to CHS students.

Library club members also served the club by working behind the desk during library periods.

One of their major projects was to collect autographs of famous authors. They had books autographed, obtained original sketches and collected cards signed by famous authors.

Programs which were geared to educating and stimulating interest in mathematics were presented to the Math club this year. Each program furthered the purpose of the club by giving the members a little more insight into the world of mathematics.

Mr. Perry spoke on "The Game Theory," new members got acquainted and the officers were introduced at the first club meeting.

Miles Gray, a noted actuary in the city, informed the members on the use of mathematics in actuary at another club meeting.

Students also participated in the presentation of the programs. James Guss and Bruce Buckman spoke on "Non-Euclidean Geometry;" Doug Platt reported on the "History of Mathematics;" Jerry Frank, Mark Brodkey and Larry Kurz talked on "The Oddities and Fallacies of Mathematics;" and Mike Katz presented a program on "Electronic Computers."

The annual Math Contest was sponsored by the Math club, March 10. The contest was open to all CHS students and prizes were awarded to the highest scorers. Fifty-eight students participated.

Future Teachers of America

Realizing that many students of today may be teachers of tomorrow, Future Teachers of America's purpose is to acquaint interested students with teaching opportunities and activities.

During the year, members served as teachers' helpers, ushers at teachers' convention and hosts at the Central Birthday Open House. When one has accumulated enough points by participating in these activities, the member is formally initiated.

One of the highlights of the year was a tour through Norris Junior High school. Future Teachers observed the modern facilities and new teaching aids in the building.

At one meeting a practice teacher spoke on proper preparation for the teaching field.

"Wir wuenschen Ihnen einen sehr gluecklichen Geburtstag and hoffen dass Sie viele mehr haben."

No, this isn't one of Mr. Kuncl's exercises for his type classes! It is a message to Konrad Adenauer, the chancellor of Germany. A cablegram was sent to him by the German club this year. It wished him a happy 80th birthday.

The German club also held a banquet at the American German club, May 3. Westside's German club was also invited. Deanne Brezacek headed the committee which planned the banquet. Menus were in German, and an interesting program was planned.

Carolyn Frey and Bob Frohardt were CHS representatives to the Foreign Language Speech Contest at the University of Omaha, March 3. Both students did an excellent job; Bob walked away with first prize and Carolyn won second prize.

Hermann Rothert, a senior from Benson, spoke to the members at a German club meeting. Hermann is a foreign exchange student. He told about his experiences and travels in Germany. Then the members were given the opportunity to ask him questions.

At Christmas time members were told what Christmas was like in old Germany. Then, a skit on a modern German Christmas was given, beatnik style.

Latin

"Tens, iens, euntus!" cried the audacious auctioneer, towering above the crowd and selling slaves to eager buyers. Was this a scene of old Rome with all its excitement and mystery? No, the scene described took place this year, 1960, in the court of Central High. It was the Latin club's slave auction.

First-year Latin students interested in joining the Latin club were the slaves; second-, third-, and fourth-year students were the buyers. The slave auction was only the beginning of an exciting week for Latin students. The climax was the Latin banquet.

The Latin banquet was held at Central High, April 21. Mary Koop and Susie Speier organized and carried out plans for the banquet.

The slaves served gallinae parae (cornish hen), pais et mel (bread and honey), mala (apples), and other types of food which the Romans ate long ago.

To make the banquet more authentic, all food was eaten with fingers (although it did get a little messy at times!). Doing as the Romans did, students in the advanced classes reclined on the floor while eating. Entertainment was also provided.

The Vox Aquilae, a newspaper published by the Latin club, was another major activity of the year. Shirley Wagner and Howard Chudacoff were the editors. The bi-monthly paper was written entirely in Latin and contained jokes, profiles, and cartoons, plus local and national articles. Two regular features were a "Cara Maria" (Dear Mary) column and Jumbulus (Jumble). The Vox Aquilae appropriately means the voice of the eagle.

Jackie Turnquist, a student at Benson High, showed slides and told about her trip to Greece at the first Latin club meeting. Another program presented the history of Greek and Roman music.

The Latin club also sponsored ticket-selling for "Ben Hur," which was shown at the Cooper Theatre, March 5.

Central High

Central High Players, one of the most active clubs at CHS, gives students an opportunity to associate with other students interested in the field of dramatics, to participate in various activities and to help promote the appreciation of dramatics in our high school.

Early in the year new members were initiated. This was the first important activity of the Central High Players.

This year's fall play, "A Roomful of Roses," was sponsored by the Players. Mrs. Amy Sutton directed, with Peggy Rubenstein as her assistant. In March, members were busy preparing for the Road Show skit, which was "The Stolen Prince."

The Traveling Troupe, under the able leadership of Marilee Forsha, brought sunshine and happiness into hospitals, homes for the aged and orphanages. The Troupe also entertained at Boy Scout troops and social clubs.

Bi-monthly meetings were held, at which inspiring, well-known speakers in Omaha presented the programs on topics of interest to all members. Among the speakers were Mr. Jack Katz, director of KQAL-FM radio station and Mr. Floyd Kalber, past news director and present director of public relations at KMTV television studio.

Mrs. Jane McIver, award-winning actress at the Omaha Community Playhouse and dramatics instructor at Brownell Hall, presented the program for January. Mrs. McIver told the members about the Studio Theatre which is a reading group from the Omaha Community Playhouse. She explained the purpose of the group and told of their activities this year. Techniques of the reading theatre were demonstrated by giving short scenes from previous productions.

A Christmas party and a Thespian initiation provided entertainment at other meetings.

A spring banquet in May terminated the year of events. At this banquet the new officers were announced and "Amy's" for the best actor and actress and the best supporting actor and actress were presented.

Katleman, Mrs Jane McIver, Forsha, McFarland and Hufford discuss the opportunities in the field of dramatics.

Activities include meetings at the YMCA twice a month, inter-city basketball games, parties, attendance by eleven boys at the Lincoln model legislature and competitive bowling.

Hi-Y members conducted guided tours at Central's 100th Anniversary Night and helped in the teen-age polio drive.

Sponsors include W. J. Nystrom, R. A. Shellenberg, Robert Davis, and James Knight.

Organized in 1920 and re-established in 1927, Central's O-Club was created with the purpose of intensifying school spirit and promoting good sportsmanship. Any Eagle athlete or student manager who has won a varsity letter is eligible for membership.

During the 1959-60 school year, the O-Club was co-sponsored by Coaches Jim Karabatsos and Norm Sorenson. Under their guidance the club sold plastic book covers, held a banquet and staged the annual O-Ball in conjunction with GAA.

The 1959 edition of the Central High football team was marked by a lack of size, depth and experience; but, nevertheless, boasted a backfield of blazing speed.

Although Central fell to a 4-5 mark and suffered its first losing season since 1953, they still provided plenty of trouble for all opposition. With the exception of Lincoln Northeast the Eagles led every opponent they faced at half time.

In the opening game of the season, Central was edged by the highly ranked North High Vikings but showed signs of developing into an Intercity power.

With impressive victories over Lincoln, South and Abraham Lincoln, Central hit the high point of the season as they vaulted into second place in the state rankings.

Football

Then at midseason a lack of depth began to show. Second half rallies by Tech, Benson and Creighton Prep dropped the Eagles out of contention.

The 1959 Eagle crew was dominated by talented sophomores and juniors and should provide the nucleus for potent teams of the future.

In the final Intercity standings Central, with a 4-4 league record, finished behind Creighton, North and Tech in a fourth place tie with Lincoln High. With an overall record of 4-5, the Eagles captured the sixth slot in the state rankings.

Gayle, who led the league in scoring, was a unanimous choice for the All-Intercity team. Ken Allen and Walt Wise received All-Intercity Honorable Mention. Three-year letterman Rodney Moore received Honorable Mention on both the All-Intercity and All-State squads.

Swim Team

In his first year as swimming coach, Mr. Robert Davis piloted the Eagle "mermen" to a 6-1 dual meet mark for the 1959-60 campaign.

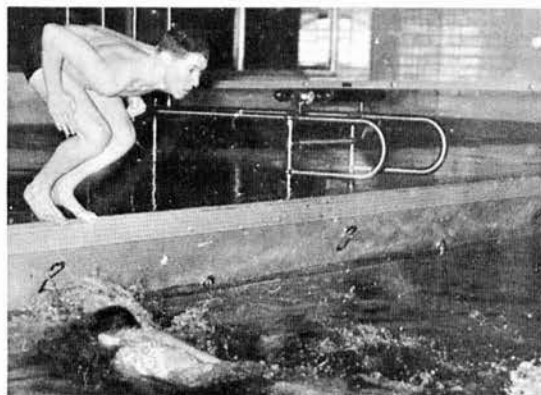

The only loss of the season was inflicted by State Champion Lincoln Southeast. The Southeast splashers dampened Central's record with a 44-42 conquest.

In addition to finishing second in the Intercity, Central also captured the runner-up position in the Tech High Invitational and State Meets.

The season's outstanding individual performer was four-year letterman Rol Wellman. Rol rewrote the record books at the State Meet with his times in both the 100-yard free style and 200-yard individual medley.

Wrestling Cont'd

The 1959-60 version of Central's wrestling team had difficulty breaking the bonds of defeat and stumbled to its second consecutive losing season.

With a 2-4 league mark, Coach Norman Sorenson's mat crew finished fourth in the six-team Intercity conference.

Shining through the gloom was Dick Bottorff. Dick was Central's lone representative in the State Tournament, but the battling 103-pounder emerged with a state championship. As a one-man mat team, he amassed 12 points to place Central in the number nine slot in the quest for the state title.

Bottorff's conquest marked the 20th consecutive season that Central has had a state mat king.

Also adding to Central's prestige were Terry Butkus and Bob Dietrick. This grappling tandem snatched individual championships in both the South High and Bellevue invitational tournaments.

When the basketball campaign came to a close, the Eagle cagers were perched on the fourth slot in the state rankings.

On the Intercity scene Central sped to a 6-2 league mark and shared second-place honors with the Tech High Trojans.

Around the nucleus of two returning starters Coach Warren Marquiss developed a court crew that rode on the number two peg on the state charts for most of the season.

The offensive leader for the season was four-year varsity dazzler John Nared. "Mr.

Gayle Sayers

Bolstered by the return of 16 lettermen, the Eagle speed merchants were heavy favorites to repeat as city and state champs for an unprecedented third consecutive season.

Pacing Central's cinder attack was four-year dazzler Roger Sayers. The Rocket opened the 1960 campaign by lowering the Omaha University 60-yard dash mark to a blistering :06.3.

Also contributing to Eagle title hopes were hurdler Gayle Sayers, high jumper John Nared, broad jumper James Foster and distance men Leonard Schwennecker, John Jepsen and Rodney Moore. Relay men Joe Brown, Walt Graves, Melvin Wade, Vernon Breakfield and Terry Williams also added valuable first place points.

Central streaked away from all competition in the OU Indoor Meet and the Fremont Relays. Hampered by a flurry of injuries, the Eagles tumbled to third in the Columbus Relays.

Coach Jim Karabatsos' diamond crew was strengthened in the 1960 Intercity pennant chase by the return of 11 lettermen.

Experienced southpaws Bill Horwich, Dennis Jackson and Jeff Wohlner were the pace setters on Central's pitching staff. Handling the hurlers was catcher Roy Katskee.

Veteran Ken Allen covered first base, while second basemen Howie Fouts and Lee Noveski shared the keystone duties. Ronald Allen and Bob Ginsburg alternated at short-stop, and Jim Capellupo and Bob Scott plugged the gap at third.

Joining lettermen Gary Gilmore and Jon Anding in patrolling the outfield were Dennis Tiedeman and Duane Mannon.

Gary Gilmore

Jackson, Horwich and Wohlner unwind.

TENNIS

Coach Esmond Crown's 1960 tennis squad was hampered in its struggle for league supremacy by a marked lack of experience.

Charles Borgrink was the only returning letterman. Joining him in the singles and doubles competition were Bruce Wintroub, Keith Liberman, Steve Gould, Arnie Fellman, Bruce Bernstein and Jerry Goldstrom.

Creighton Prep, Benson and North were picked as the major contenders for the net crown.

Under Coach Crown's direction the Eagle tennis team has never finished lower than second in the state rankings, but the lack of experience coupled with the strength of league opposition presented a huge obstacle to Central's string of success.

The girls' tennis team, guided by Miss Marian Treat, was blessed by the return of five veteran campaigners. Liz Weil, Carol Krush, Jean Dayton, Mixie Kingman and Marsha Kittleson composed the pace setting quintet.

GOLF

THIRD ROW: Coach Marquiss.
SECOND ROW: Miller, McCloskey, Riekas, Bull, Taylor.
FIRST ROW: Drew, Herzog, Kaslow.

The 1960 golf team was hobbled in its drive for the league title by the return of only three veterans.

Composing the entire list of lettermen, Gary Drew, Bud Herzog and Dick Kaslow set the pace for the Eagle linksters. Pete Miller, John Riekas, Ron McCloskey, Marsh Bull and Don Taylor collaborated with the returning trio to present Central's link attack.

North, Creighton Prep and South were favored to struggle for the league title. Coach Marquiss' Central duffers were picked to finish sixth in the eight team Intercity circuit.

Assistant Principal J. Jay Planteen (at left) is now in his sixth year at Central. Mr. Planteen was graduated from the University of Omaha. He received his Master's Degree and did further graduate work at the University of Nebraska. Mr. Planteen has taught at Plainview (Nebraska) High school and West Point High school. From 1949 to 1953 Mr. Planteen was principal of Beatrice High school.

Mr. Planteen served as district president of the Nebraska State Education Association. Last year he was awarded life membership in the Nebraska P-TA.

Leading Central into its second century is J. Arthur Nelson, (at right) principal for fourteen years. Mr. Nelson received his Bachelor of Arts Degree from Midland College and his Master's Degree from the University of Nebraska. He did graduate work at the University of Iowa. Before coming to Central, Mr. Nelson served as principal of Monroe school and assistant principal of North High school.

Mr. Nelson has served as president of the Nebraska State Education Association. In 1959 he was cited for outstanding work in the field of education and presented with a life membership in the National P-TA.

Senior Committees

In the midst of final examinations and January blizzards, loyal seniors signed up to serve on senior committees under the direction of Senior Adviser Miss Cecil McCarter.

The Spring Play committee supervised ticket sales for the annual spring play. The Dance, Banquet Program, Banquet Arrangements, and Banquet Table committees coordinated their efforts toward making that evening unforgettable. The Cap and Gown committee measured every senior accurately from 4'5" to 6'4". The Commencement committee gave the seniors a memorable graduation ceremony.

Senior Officers

It took a little longer than usual, but senior officers were finally elected in April to represent their fellow classmates in senior affairs and functions.

John Lydick, as president, served as the official representative of his class, supervised all activities and presided at part of the graduation ceremony.

His vice-president, Roger Sayers, headed all senior committees, attended committee meetings and "made sure" everything was going smoothly.

As secretary, Linda Friend was in charge of all class correspondence. She also prepared the schedule of class functions and rehearsals for graduation.

It was treasurer Pete Bartling's job to keep records of all financial transactions concerning the play and caps and gowns.

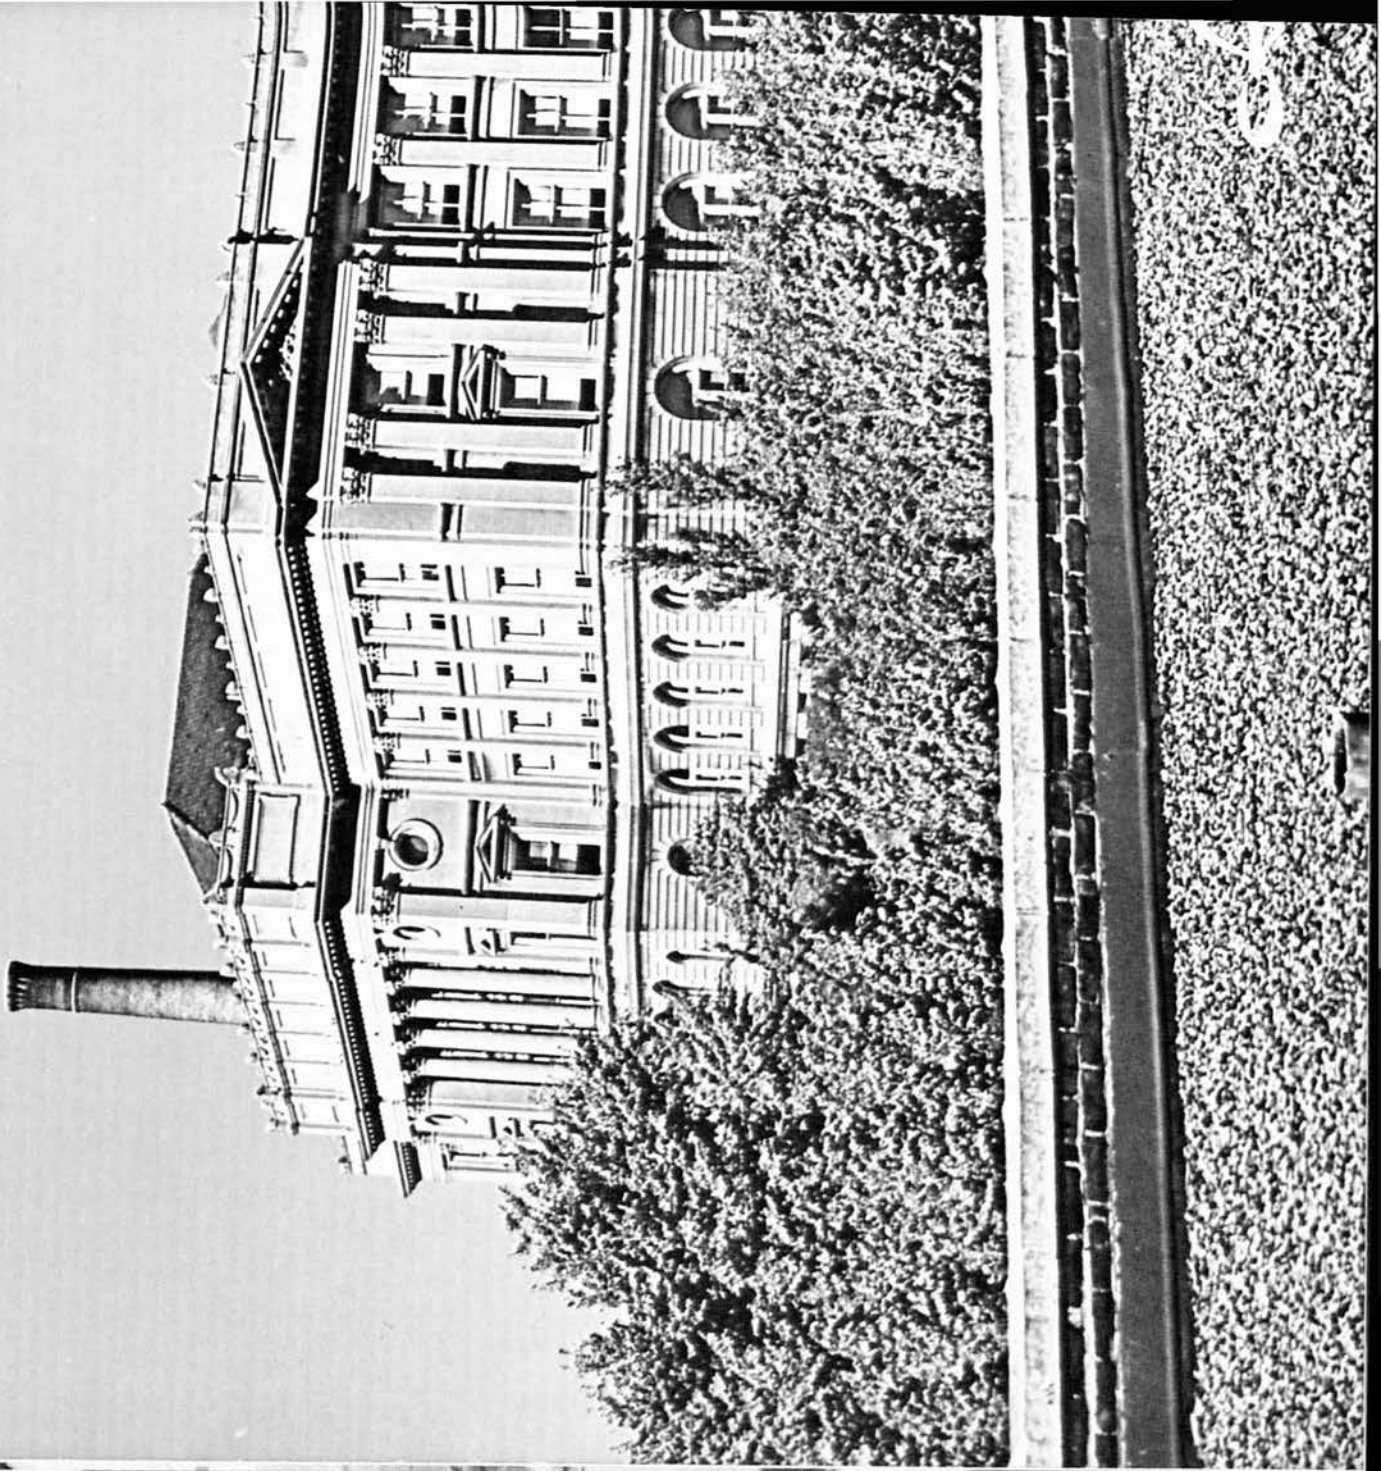

T. Ray Westergard and Ethel Sabes, as Sgt.-at-Arms, were the "organizers" of the class. They helped prepare for the issuance of caps and gowns and class rings.

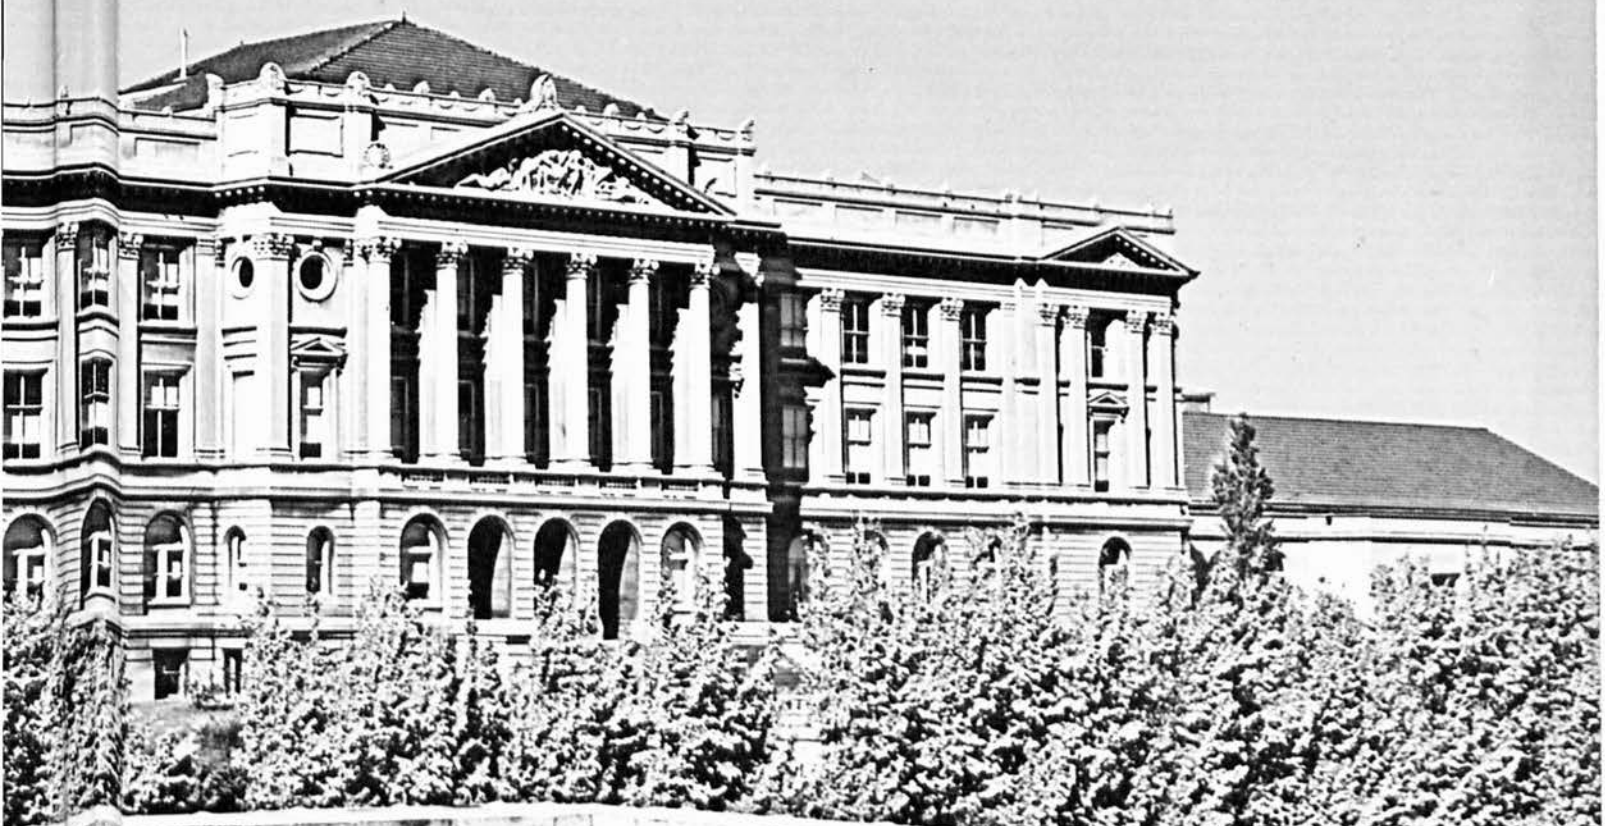

The class officers of '60 helped to make their last days at Central unforgettable for the seniors of '60.
