CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL, OMAHA, NEBRASKA

TEN CENTS

UCS Needs Support

Once again this year, the United Community Services are conducting their yearly drive for funds. The U.C.S. and the money we give supports 59 agencies in Omaha.

Some of these agencies are the Boys and Girls Scouts, the Salvation Army, the Red Cross, and a new agency created this year, the Legal Aid Society. All of these agencies depend on the money which we donate.

The goal for this year's drive is $2,361,000.

Why should be, as students, support the U.C.S. drive? In the words of Mr. Paul Seiger, general-chairman, "It is part of the overall educational process of the student. Participation helps to instill the spirit of giving and helping."

Let us heed this message by giving generously to this year's United Community Services Campaign.

Leads Are Presented

Mr. Rodney Walker, Head of the Vocal Music Department, has announced the leads for this year's opera, "Fiorello." They are Harry Friedman, in the role of Fiorello LaGuardia, former mayor and congressman from New York; Peggy Stice playing his wife Thea; Paula Bercutt as his secretary Marie; Charles Mayer as Morris, his right hand man; and Steven Lindbloom as his apprentice.

Also heading the cast are Gail Brodkey as Dora, Nancy Brown as Mitzi, and Harley Schragar as Ben Marino—political ring leader who helps to nominate and elect Fiorello to Congress. The politicians are played by Ted Sanford, Lloyd Roitstein, Steven Malmberg, Joseph Erman, Todd Seastedt, and Steve Nelson.

The story takes place during the late twenties when Fiorello ran for mayor of New York and for his seat in the Senate.

The opera, to be presented December 12-14, was quoted last year by Mr. Walker to be "a musical definitely worthy of the talents of this school."

Attention all seniors! Now is the time to consider your abilities as a leader because the senior class will need capable people to guide it through this last year. Keep your eyes and ears open and remember that this is not a popularity contest.

The time to register will soon be announced in the morning circular. There are certain qualifications for these important offices and each application will be thoroughly screened by Mr. Nelson, Miss McCarter and the counselors.

Summer Institutes

During the summer many Central High School students attended summer institutes throughout the nation. Among them were Douglas Miller, Jeffrey Silverman, Gerry Schneiderwind, Robert Danberg, and John Zysman at Northwestern University; Jack Rife and Richard Speigman for the University of Michigan; Joyce Render in Saint Louis, Missouri, at Washington University; Robert Haas at Nebraska Wesleyan sponsored in Lincoln; James Lyons at Boulder, Colorado; and one international student, Sally Cross studied in Monterey, Mexico.

The students attending Northwestern's campus in Evanston, Illinois, studied in two fields; science engineering and debate. Doug Miller and Jeff Silverman surveyed science while John Zysman, Rob Danberg, and Gerry Schneiderwind learned new debate techniques.

Jack Rife, who studied Physics, and Richard Speigman, who studied mathematics, attended an institute sponsored by the University of Michigan located in Ann Arbor. Actually they went to class in Grand Rapids, spending only one of their six weeks in Ann Arbor.

Joyce Render attended the institute offered in history and archeology at Washington University and Robert Haas supplemented his knowledge in science. Sally Cross ventured further into the language of Spanish during her period of work.

These institutes lasted five to six weeks beginning at the end of June and continuing until the beginning of August. All of these students got a slight taste of college life and extensive amounts of work.

Congratulations are in order for the former Miss Patricia Stallard, now Mrs. Thompkins, who married on August 10, and to Mr. John C. Bitzes who married on August 18. This has certainly been a special summer for these teachers.

Mrs. John Truell, spent two weeks on the beach at Hilton Head Island, South Carolina.

CHS Boasts 12 Merit Scholars

Twelve Central students have been named Semifinalists for National Merit scholarships. They are Charles Avery, Louis Chunovic, Larry Grossman, Stephen Hickson, Dennis Jergovic, Suzanne Kolvitz, Robert McCoy, Charles Musselman, Arje Nachman, John Sciortino, Shari Wilson, and John Zysman. The twelve will take another test later in the year on the basis of which several will become finalists and eligible for consideration for a National Merit Scholarship.

Each year there are approximately thirteen thousand semifinalists chosen throughout the nation. In each state, the number of semifinalists is about one half of one per cent of the graduating high school seniors.

Yoko Meets West

In the past Central has been fortunate in taking part in the American Field Service student exchange program. This year is no exception, and from Osaka comes Yoko Ikeo, an eighteen year old Japanese student.

Yoko had a nine day trip in order to reach Omaha. She started from Tokyo, and from there she traveled to Honolulu and San Francisco where other American Field Service students were staying at Stanford University in Pao Alto, California. Yoko arrived in Omaha on Thursday, August 29.

At Central Yoko is studying glee, algebra, English, American History, and speech. She says that all the students and teachers have been very friendly to her, and that she has made many friends already.

Asked why she wanted to be a foreign exchange student, Yoko replied, "Most Japanese students have a desire to visit the United States or Europe."

It is interesting to note that Yoko has been writing to a girl in Sioux City, Iowa. She probably will visit this girl sometime during the year.

Yoko is living with the Howard Drew family. Aside from her real brother and sister in Japan, Yoko has two adopted sisters, Jane and Wendy Drew, and one adopted brother, Gary Drew.

Spotlight on Murder

A murder, a destroyed clue, and the realization that one of the nine girls on stage is a murderess set the tone for "Nine Women," a play by Wilfrid Pettitt, which will be produced by the Central High Players for presentation on Wednesday, October 23 and Thursday, October 24.

The play will be directed by Mrs. Amy Sutton, who said, when asked about the play, "This is the play the students have been waiting for—full of suspense and glamor."

Beverly Jafek has the lead and will be supported by Barbara Kucera, Donna Hanson, Elaine Bly, Linda Clevinger, Carol Johnson, and Susan McKee. Other roles are held by Patricia Pease, Mona Byers, Diane Hanek, and Wendy Drew.

Sharon Berman and Deborah Widoe are student director and stage manager, respectively; and JoAnn Schmidman is bookholder.

The set direction is being done by Mrs. Kenneth Lewis assisted by Mr. Raymond Williams. The Central High Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Robert Harrison, will provide the music.

"Nine Women" was originally presented in New York with Barbara Bel Geddes and K. T. Stevens.

Student Body Welcomes New Assistant Principal

A new face can be seen working on program cards and class assignments in Central's office. This latest addition to the administrative staff is Mr. G. E. Moller, Vice-Principal.

Mr. Moller is a past student of Chadron State College and the University of Nebraska. He received his Master's degree through summer study at Chadron. At the present he is doing further graduate work at NU.

Previously, Mr. Moller was an English teacher at Valentine High School. He held principalships at Valentine for five years and at Gering for two years.

The main difference our new administrator finds between the smaller schools he has worked with and Central, is the opportunities offered to a student. He feels that the larger schools attract a higher caliber of teachers and thus raise the academic standards.

Mr. Moller has two young daughters who both attend Benson West Grade School.

He is very happy with Central and its students. "The students I have worked with have been very polite. They seem to have a respect for their teachers, and their dress has been a pleasing surprise. I think that I am going to like Central very much."

The student body is happy to welcome Mr. Moller to the school, and hope that his stay here is a pleasant one.

Upperclassmen Head Honor Roll

Juniors and Seniors head the Honor Roll with 93 students each. The Sophomore class trailed with 68 pupils for the second semester of the 1962-1963 school year.

One-Two-Three-Four You're Out!

As a freshman in high school, it is often hard to visualize that beyond the four years of secondary school there is a door marked "college."

It is never too early to start thinking about entering college. There are definite steps that one can take in each grade of the high school curriculum in order to be fairly assured of getting admitted to the college of one's choice.

Taken from a timetable by Mount Holyoke College these steps include:

Ninth Grade: Plan your schedule to include English, languages, math, science, history. Talk to your counselor.

Tenth Grade: Read college guides that give an over-all picture of many colleges. Send for catalogues of specific colleges. Master typing and use of the library.

Eleventh Grade: Notify your counselor about what colleges interest you. Plan campus visits. Consult your counselor about Advanced Placement courses and about taking the preliminary SAT in early fall, achievement tests in May.

Twelfth Grade: In the fall, complete applications. Take College Boards in December or January or earlier if you are considering early admissions.

Four Years: Study hard. Read books that are not required as part of a given course. Develop an interest in a few carefully chosen extracurricular activities. Use summers wisely.

It's one, two, three, four and you're out. But you won't be out of luck when it comes time to enter college, if you follow the above steps.

'I'm From Central'

To new students who are now in the process of adjusting to life at Central, here is one thing to remember, and that is that there is a spirit of Central.

This spirit is imbued deep in the traditions of a century. One of the most important of these traditions is the co-operation between teachers and students that have served as a common denominator in the establishment of a reputation of high quality and unequalled scholastic achievement among the student body. There is also in this rich tradition that lives on the Hilltop an understanding of the respect, integrity, perseverance, and hard work that is a part of any Centralite. To come to Central is to conform to the rules of dignity and honesty because these too are a part of its spirit. These things are demanded of our students by the populace of Omaha because our preceding generations have set a high standard for us to follow and they expect the same high quality from us.

Then let us do our best to show everybody we meet that the Spirit of our School with its quiet tradition is still alive in us so that when we say, "I am from Central" we can say it with pride.

Council Capsules

We, of the Student Council, would like to welcome Mr. Moller, all the new teachers and students, and those returning "home" to Central.

This year the Student Council is involved in doing more activities than ever before. The new Homeroom Representative Assembly, the publishing and distribution of the Eagle Handbook, the hosting of a faculty breakfast and an alumni tea, and the Senior Baby Picture Contest are some of our projects. The biggest project for the coming year is Central's second annual Homecoming. The game will be on October 25 and the dance on October 26. Be sure to keep these red-letter days in mind!

The Student Council is made up of seven seniors, seven juniors, and our AFS exchange students from Japan, Yoko Ikeo. Elections for sophomore representatives will be held in November. We meet regularly on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, but from now until Homecoming our meetings will be held everyday.

Please remember that the student council is elected by you to "serve you as a medium for the exchange of ideas between student and faculty." We are interested in you.

The Council sincerely hopes that this will be both a wonderful and a rewarding year for you and, in turn, a great one for Central.

President, Student Council

CHS Profile 'MEET THE PRESS'

"That's us!" they said EDITORIALIZING.

"Stop the presses! All copy must be in by Friday! What do you mean, there won't be any second page this issue?" These are only a few of the "words to the wise" heard from the co-editors of the Central High Register, Janice Itkin and Jim Bergquist.

Janice, aside from keeping busy with the Register is taking advanced placement English, American History, French, and trigonometry. She plans on attending either the University of Minnesota or the University of Missouri, where she will major in journalism. After college she hopes to continue in this field, either as a feature writer or a column writer.

At Central, Janice is a member of the French Club and Central High Players. She also belongs to Quill and Scroll, and honorary society for high school journalists. Outside of school, Janice serves as vice-president of Hevrah B'nai B'rith Girls.

Janice's strangest experience occurred this fall. She look out the window of her home, in the heart of Omaha, and saw a horse calmly grazing in her front lawn. At the top of her list of pet peeves is Jim Bergquist.

Jim Bergquist keeps equally busy with activities both inside of and outside of school. He is a member of Spanish Club, Math Club, and Quill and Scroll. English, Physics, advanced placement math, and advanced placement history add to his busy curriculum.

Jim's future plans are still indefinite. He expects to attend Colorado State University, Michigan State University, Dartmouth, Wesleyan, or Colgate. After college, he plans to go into finance, public accounting, or law. His pet peeve, he announced, is Janice Itkin.

The editors announced that this year's Register will be published on a new format with new features supplementing the favorites from other years. Additional features will include an editorial cartoon in each issue, book reviews, and a diary column of years past.

Start the presses! The 1963-64 Register is on its way!

A Flower Bed

The evening air was hot, but the heat was not felt by the two girls as they drove along the smooth highway, wind blowing steadily through the open windows.

"Pam . . . do you think it was fun?"
"Oh, kind of. It's nice to go visit people every so often . . . Nancy, how long 'til we get home?"

"About two hours."
"Ummmmmm . . . I'm sleepy."
"Well, snore away. I'm doing the driving."

"Think I will . . . Nancy! What did that sign back there say?"

"Oh, probably advertising hotels or Burma Shave, neither of which I am terribly interested in."

"No, it didn't. Stop!"
"Do you really want me to?"

"Yes, and go back for a minute. I think it said Sallesburg, 50 miles."

The car swerved to the right and stopped, turning abruptly around and returning to the pavement. It sped back to the sign.

"Nance, it does say Sallesburg!"
"So?"

"That's where I used to live! I didn't realize it was so close. This must be a shortcut or something. I thought Sallesburg was two or three hundred miles away from my house. Nancy, it's only 8 p.m., and we could easily just . . ."

"You want to go back and visit the fabulous scene of your birth, right?"

"Well . . . yes."
All right, I won't have lived 'til I've seen Salesburg, anyway. It's probably a booming metropolis of about 28, excluding cows and pigs, of course."

"No, it's a pretty good size . . . That was such a long time ago. When I lived there, I mean. Sallesburg was just like a place back in time, it seems. And my father was alive then. Gosh . . . I'm excited about seeing it again!"

"Sure," said Nancy, sensing the change in her friend's mood. "We've got a lot of time, really. We can drive around, and you can look at old places."

"I remember when my father and I used to go out in the backyard, and look at the flowers. We had a beautiful flower bed in back, and I used to go out there and sit all the time. The bees came and flew around the flowers, and I'd even hold them, sometimes. My father taught me that. You just slowly close your hand over them and pick them up. It works. They don't sting or anything . . . Nance . . . did you ever have some little thing that you thought about when you were . . . frightened or worried about things? Or did you ever just go out and act like a nut for awhile and do all sorts of crazy things? Or do anything . . . just so you didn't have to think about things you didn't want to think about . . . or act like you were supposed to?"

"Uh-huh. I used to go out with a bunch of girls, and we'd act like idiots, which we were. I always read "Little Women" when it really go bad. I haven't in a long time, though. Is that what you meant?"

"Yes, that's it exactly. Well, with me it was the flower bed. I made up a little though one day when I was out there watching the bees. They were flying around the garden, and I caught one. It stung me that time, but the pain went away in a minute. I decided it was that way with everything . . . just exactly the same."

"So . . . it's sort of a philosophy?"
"Yes, and it was just like you said. It helped me a lot when I was afraid of things."

"Nancy, stop here. This is where I used to live," she said after giving several directions. "It hasn't changed at all. Let's go around and look at the flower bed."

They reached the backyard, and Pam, breathless, began to run to the area which had been occupied by the flower bed. She reached the edge of the spot and halted, staring downward.

"But all the flowers . . ." She stared at the ugly mass of careless growth for a long time. "It was silly," Pam said at last. "That little thought I used to have about the bees . . . and the flower bed, my philosophy. It really was kind of pitiful—just like this little patch of weeds . . ." Her face looked strange and contorted, and Nancy was afraid that she would cry. She didn't, though. Turning around without hesitation, she started back to the car. The wind blew through her hair, bringing the smell of trees and grass and new things growing.

PIGSKIN PERSONALITIES

End—Buddy Belitz, a 180 pound senior who is a team leader and rugged player. Buddy is a good defenseman with a year of varsity ball behind him which gives him the savvy of a veteran.

Tackle—Doug Hutmacher, a bruising 225 pound tackle who adds heft and muscle to the Central line. Doug has the size and speed to move an opponent line from goal post to goal post.

Guard—Dean Hokanson, a 195-pound guard who thrives on getting his man; and he usually does, as indicated by his long list of tackles. Dean has stopped an opponent's thoughts of passing when he buries him with a jarring tackle.

Center—Doug Gould, a returning letterman of 210 pounds who started for the Eagles last year. A punter need not worry about getting the snap from center since Doug is a reliable and consistent center.

Guard—Craig Glass, a 165 pound junior who is maturing fast for the varsity eleven. Although he isn't heavy he carries a mighty wallop on offense and defense. Craig has the ability to get 200-pound enemies out of the way for Central's backs to knife through.

Tackle—Carl Goodman, a 217 pound tackle who was converted from the backfield to the line. Carl has the speed, agility, and muscle to play a rough and tough game. He also is a ball-hawk as shown against Lincoln High when he recovered two Lincoln fumbles for Central.

End—Jim Fous is small at 155 pounds but a valuable asset to Central's offense. Jim, a senior, plays smart football and clears the way for Central backs when he is not called upon to catch a pass.

Back—Rick Peterson, a rugged 155 pound team captain who really knows his game. He uses his speed and passing arm to fullest advantage. A small but tough back who runs them over instead of going around opponents.

Back—Jerry Woolhiser, a 180 pound back who is Central's signal-caller. Although he doesn't handle the ball much, since he plays blocking back, Jerry throws crisp blocks which enable Central's other backs to spring loose for long gains and first downs.

Back—Randy Carey, a senior back who is called upon when Central needs short yardage for a first down. Randy is a 170-pound back who runs like a train, right over everything in his way. When Randy is finally tackled he usually has gained enough yardage for Central to keep possession of the ball.

Back—Jethro Spurlock, a 155-pound sophomore who has untamed speed and uses it to great advantage. Jethro has the speed and ability to mark off long gains, and he has the ability to slice through small holes for quick gains.

Homemaking Club

On Monday, September 16, the Homemaking Club held its first meeting. At this meeting the officers were named which were the following: president, Marilyn Russel; vice-president, Carol Skoland; treasurer, Wanda Cathers; and secretary, Jozett Bullion. Also at this meeting, Al Slader, senior boy, discussed his summer in Greece.

So far there are over 60 members, but there are expected to be many more members because of a promising fun-filled year.

1963 Football Schedule
 Friday, September 20—Abraham Lincoln at Curran Field.
 Friday, September 27—Tech at Municipal Stadium.
 Saturday, October 5—Creighton Prep at Municipal Stadium.
 Friday, October 11—Benson at Benson Field.
 Friday, October 18—Bellevue.
 Friday, October 25—North at Benson Field.
 Friday, November 1—Westside at Westside.
 All games begin at 7:30 p.m.

SPORTS SCOOPS

This season we have added three Yell Kings to the cheerleading squad. The boys and girls which compose the cheerleaders are Kathy Broad, Liz Coolidge, Wendy Drew, Kathy Eichhorn, Roxi Holmes, Holly Jepsen, Ann Kennedy, Jeannene Rice, Judy Wenger, Al Garcia, Les Gotch, and Al Slader.

Pep Club

The first Pep Club meeting was Wednesday September 25 for all members. This year over 300 members were expected and Miss Sophia Green's comment on the squad is "I think this year's pep club is not only going to be a lot bigger, but also a lot better. The girls are full of enthusiasm and pep and I am very proud of them. An excellent group."

Tuesday October 1 is the deadline for dues, skirts, sweaters, and any other equipment which must be purchased. This year there is a new ruling concerning the winning of a gold star. If members miss more than one meeting or rally a gold star is not available even if they have attended all games. The Pep Squad is also selling pendants for $.50, buttons for $.25, decals for $.25, and sweatshirts for both $2.00 and $2.50.

Pep Squad officers for this season are: President, Jeanette Rice; Vice President, Sandy Behmer; Secretary, Janet Knudsen; Treasurer, Jody Wilson; Sgts. at Arms, Cheryl Sacrider and Kathy Besk.

GAA

For all girls in GAA (Girls Athletic Association) badminton began on Monday, September 16 and meetings are the third Tuesday of every month.

GAA sponsors activities and after school sports for girls. The greatest event of the year that this association sponsors is the O-Ball given in the spring.

Officers are: President, Jeannene Rice; Vice President, Linda Anderson; Secretary, Sue Murphy; Treasurer, Diane Halperin; Sgts. at Arms, Janis Jolley and Sherry Anderson

New Cheers

From the cheerleaders who attended a clinic in Oklahoma during the summer there are these new cheers:

Varsity Drops Three; Hopes to Defeat Tech

Central, who was defeated by South 15-0 Friday, September 13, was upset by Abraham Lincoln 20-7, Friday, September 20.

Central was defeated for the first time in five years by the Lynx. Also this game ended a 29 game losing streak for A.L.

Abraham Lincoln struck for their first touchdown late in the second quarter. Central showed signs of life many times but couldn't capitalize on any of their drives. Penalties and incomplete passes stalled each of the Eagle's drives. Central's usually rugged defense just couldn't contain the Council Bluffs boys.

Central's hopes were all but doomed in the final quarter as A.L. scored for 13 points. Central, however, was not to be left off the score board as they scored their first touchdown of the year late in the fourth quarter. Central's drive was climaxed by an 11-yard pass from Rick Peterson to sophomore Joe Orduna. Rick Peterson ran the extra point but Central trailed 20-7, the final score of the game.

Many of Central's rooters were stunned at the score because Central was favored to win the game with ease.

Central's footballers were edged out 6-0 in their first game of the season against Lincoln High at Seacrest Field Saturday night, September 6.

The Eagles played rough and hard despite defeat. Central's rugged defense caused the Links to fumble five times and each time they fumbled, heads-up play found an Eagle recovering for Central. Carl Goodman twice recovered important fumbles for Central which stopped Lincoln drives.

Lincoln's only score was an end sweep in which Herman Tapp eluded three would-be tacklers and crossed the goal standing up. Lincoln missed the point after touchdown, which left them ahead 6-0.

The Eagles came back twice for possible scores but penalties at crucial moments put down both late bids.

A completed pass inside the ten-yard line was nullified by an offside penalty in the third quarter. Another strong Eagle bid in the fourth quarter was led by the exceptional running of Adrian Caldwell and an explosive 20-yard run by team captain Rick Peterson but this drive was stopped at the LHS 30 yard line, by a personal foul.

A crowd of more than five thousand, many of whom made the trip from Omaha, watched Lincoln run out the clock after Central's last bid was put down for a 6-0 victory.

Head Coach Charles had praise for Buddy Belitz and Doug Gould who played the entire game offensively and defensively. Other players receiving praise were Douglas Hutmacher, Carl Goodman, and Dean Hokanson who played almost the entire game.

Coach Charles also had praise for Rick Peterson, the team captain and quarterback.

CROSS COUNTRY SCORES

Central's cross-country team, under Head Coach Frank Smagacz, running in their first meet in history, placed third in the meet held at Spring Lake Park, September 18, by scoring 47 points.

Robert Roche, a two year letterman in track, paced the Eagle runners by placing a very respectable sixth over the 1.9 mile course. Following Rob were Gary Secora and Ray Crossman who finished ninth and thirteenth respectively out of the 50 runners entered in the meet.

Other Centralites who participated were Dick Dobbs, Jim Lawson, Sam Lampkin and Bob Chandler.

CROSS-COUNTRY SCHEDULE

EAGLE SPEAKS: Seniors Express Ambitions for 1963-64

Members of the senior class were asked, "What they hope to accomplish in their senior year?" It is evident that this year's seniors are dedicated to the future.

Michele Roth—"I hope to become better acquainted with everyone and to prepare myself for college. I hope to help make our senior class one of the best ever graduated from Central."

Harold Bordy—"This year, I hope to remain active in all my activities, study hard, and prepare for college. I hope that this year will be beneficial to all in the senior class."

Dianne Halperin—"Since I have some very good teachers this year, I hope to gain very much from my classes. I would also like to participate in as many activities as possible."

Frank Sindelar—"First and foremost, to graduate! My hope is to be able to attend college. I hope my final year at Central will be my best in that I may prepare myself well for the 'not so easy to pass institution' known as 'college.'"

Roxanne Holmes—"I hope that my senior year will be one of much study and good grades. I also hope to meet as many of the other seniors as I can."

Sheldon Perelman—"In my senior year of high school, I feel that I must finish what I started out to accomplish my freshman year, and that is the completion of my preparation for college. This year will show if my standards have been set high enough to reach the goal I wish to attain, acceptance to a good university."

Donna Wallace—"Frankly, I believe everyone has at least one thing they wish to accomplish in their years at Central High and especially their senior year. I must raise and try to keep my grades up. I also plan to meet new friends and enjoy my senior year."

Robert Danberg—"In my senior year at Central, I hope to achieve the fruition of four years of high school preparation. I hope to win local, state, and possibly national debates for my school. In ROTC I hope to become worthy of recognition. I hope to achieve scholastic standards that will help me win a scholarship to either Dartmouth or Northwestern. Finally, I hope to cement friendships that may last me a life-time."

LOOKOUT FOR LAYERED LOOK

Mirror, mirror on the wall, What's the coolest look this fall?

No chemise or floor length dresses, Nor fuzzy, frizzy, curly tresses. The "layered-look" is in this year, And for this style we loudly cheer!

From the above "Ode to Layers," we can readily see that even though we are blinded by layers of homework and the thought of layers of snow, we will always keep an eye out for the layered look in fashion.

These layers include blazers, "dickies," V-neck sweaters, turtle-neck sweaters, and vests. All are to be worn with jumpers, culottes, kilts, shifts, wrap-arounds, and A-skirts.

For that added touch of fashion, try over-the-knee-socks, stacked heels, or brown loafers.

Boys, you aren't left out of the picture by any means. For the male population the look is basically the same . . . minus A-skirts, stacked heels, etc.

Frankie and Kenny were lovers, Oh, Lordy, how they did dress. They bought their clothes from Brandeis.

The store that topped the rest. It was the store . . . that showed the layered look.

Frankie heard that her Kenny, Went shoppin' at some other store.

She told him not to buy there. Or she'd shove him out the door. He was misinformed—He was dressed unappropriately!!!

Now Frankie and Kenny are happy.

No tears or blood had been shed. Ken went straight to Brandeis Doin' as Frankie had said.

Oh, JLB—he was their man!!

Now that you have been swept off your feet by the preceding column, pick yourself up, brush yourself off and rush to the Junior Colony, third floor downtown Brandeis or the upper level Crossroads, and the Campus Shop west balcony downtown Brandeis or the archade level Crossroads.

Go and Buy—Gail and Barb

Outdoor Activities

Miss Green's gym classes will be spending more time on out-of-door activities than ever before. After they complete their Physical Fitness tests, they will go to the outdoor activities.

Central Grads Go Forth, Make Good

Stephen Fisk, '59, was graduated this spring from Yale University magna cum laude and with high honors in chemistry.

James J. Guss, a 1960 Central graduate will be on a panel of four students from Creighton University on the nationally televised General Electric College Bowl on September 29.

Two 1962 graduates, Marshall Kaplan and Douglas Wenger, were named to the Dean's Honor list at Cornell University in Ithaca, New York.

Howard Chudacoff, '61, has been named recipient of a General Motors Scholarship. Howard is a junior at the University of Chicago.

Chris Perrin, '62, had a straight "9 point" average at the University of Nebraska last semester. She was taking a honors English course, and has been invited to take in an honors history course this year. Chris went to Europe this summer and visited Lisa Harder, Central's Danish exchange student in 1962.

Mr. Roy Busch, head of the school science department, attended a summer institute for physics instructors at Nebraska Wesleyan University. Two teachers who accompanied Mr. Busch were Mr. Richard Bantner, former physics instructor at Central, and Mr. Arnold deJong, who presently teaches physics. Both Mr. Busch and Mr. Bantner were instructors during the eight-week seminar.
