The tournament was restricted

Latin Students Revive Life of Ancient World in Annual Festivities

The splendor and vitality of ancient Rome was revived at Central during Latin Week, April 20-24. Virginia Thomas, chairman of the Latin Week activities, worked closely with Mrs. Dorothy Conlon, sponsor of Junior Classical League, in organizing and presenting the various events.

On Monday, the slave auction was held in the small auditorium after school. First year Latin students were sold to the highest bidders of the second, third, and fourth year classes. Tuesday morning Latin students received advice from the oracle at the East entrance. The Olympic Games were held in the gym after school on Wednesday. Latin students competed in the numerous competitions while a large audience of interested Centralites looked on.

The annual Latin Banquet was held Thursday evening. As students and guests enjoyed their "Roman" meal, entertainment was provided with tumbling, dancing, music, and skits. Among the honored guests were: Principal J. Arthur Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Moller, Miss L. Zenaide Luhr, Mr. Raymond Charles, Mr. Herb Armbrust, and Mr. John Tompkins.

The week-long festivities were more successful and more elaborate than any in past years. Viva Latina Linqua.

to individuals who had not done individual events prior to September 1963.

4th Annual Nibble and Quibble
The 1963-64 National Forensic League Banquet will be held on Thursday, May 14, at the Ranch Bowl. Doug Miller, who is president of the club, will act as master of ceremonies at the banquet, termed by Miss Donna Miller, the club sponsor, as the "fourth annual Nibble and Quibble."

The highlight of the evening will be the presentation of the Sarah A. Ryan Memorial Award to the top debating team of the year. This honor will go to the team receiving the most votes from the club members.

After the banquet dinner, skits and other entertainment will be provided by the debaters, and membership will be given at the banquet to qualified members of the N.F.L. Max Richtman, Beverly Jafek, and Jim Lyons will give speeches to the group.

Fulbright-Hays Grant Goes to G. Schutte

Miss Gretchen Schutte will return to Germany this summer for an educational and cultural tour. She is one of 20 high school and college teachers chosen to receive a Fulbright-Hays summer grant.

The emphasis of the eight week session will be on literature. Miss Schutte will meet

Belmont Takes Position in City Brigade Staff

On Tuesday, April 21, James Belmont received the news that he was to be the new Deputy Brigade Commander of the ROTC units in Omaha. James Belmont, who had received the rank of Colonel of the Central's ROTC unit, became the Deputy Brigade Commander following a personal interview with a board of military judges of the 16th Army Corps. Also, his scholastic and ROTC record entered into his promotion.

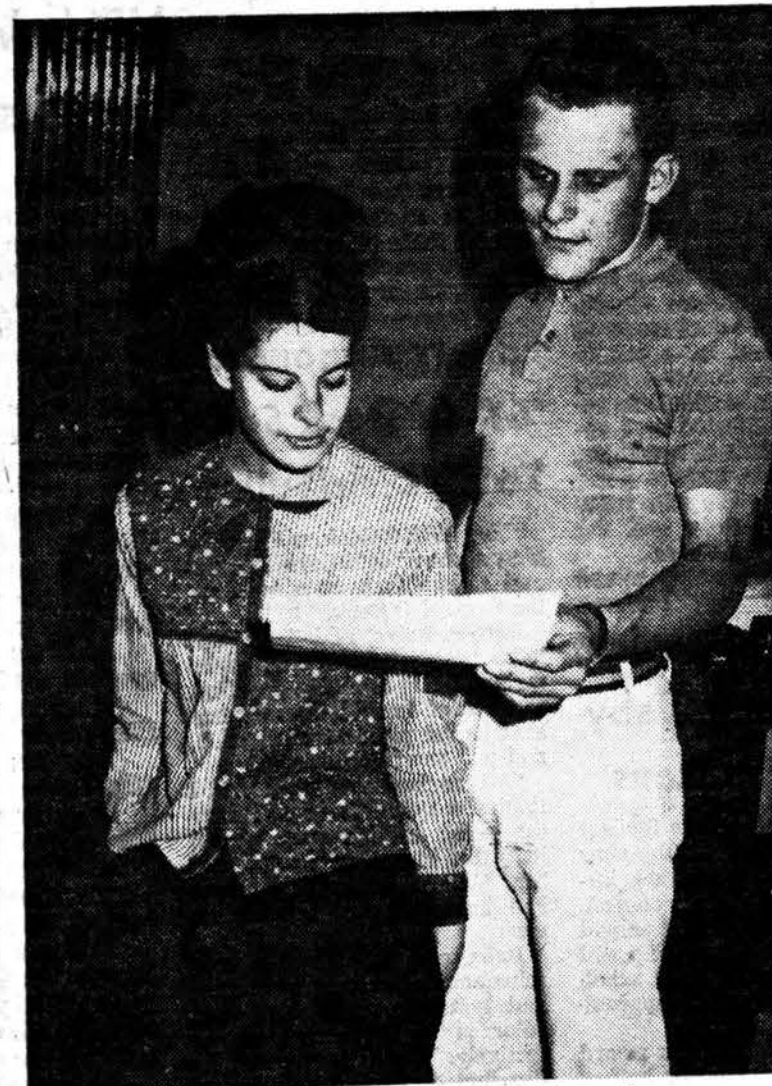

In his new position, James Belmont will assist the Brigade Commander, inspect each of the cities ROTC Battle Groups, review the Central ROTC unit on May 8, and prepare Central's unit for the Federal Review today.

David Napoliello replaced James Belmont as Central's Colonel. Also, Al Sleder was promoted from major to Lt. Col. Deputy Battle Group Commander here at Central.

and talk with the leading contemporary poets and writers of modern Germany.

A cultural organization, the Goethe Institute, will conduct the tour. Miss Schutte expects to spend one week in Berlin, one week seeing the West German Republic, and most of the remaining time in Munich.

JOURNALISTS VICTORS AT LINCOLN CONCLAVE

Victors Babs and John admire their spoils.

Two senior journalism students from Central received awards from the Nebraska High School Press Association at the state competition in Lincoln on Saturday, May 2.

Barbara Givot received a silver key, the first-place award for yearbook copywriting. She is the co-editor of the 1964 O-Book. John Whisman, sports editor of the Register, received a third-place award for sports-writing.

The competition included students from the whole state competing in all categories of newspaper and yearbook publication. The contestants were required to write articles on assigned topics to show their knowledge in their field.

Awards were presented at a banquet Saturday evening at the University of Nebraska.

Choir Busy Tuning For May Concert

Mr. Rod Walker, Central's music instructor, has not been smitten with spring fever. He's been busy planning the annual A Cappella Spring Concert and the Junior Choir Concert.

The A Cappella Choir sings Sunday, May 17, and the Junior Choir, Sunday, May 10. Both programs will be staged in the Large Auditorium at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The A Cappella Choir will feature three non-member soloists. Earl Jenkins, Director of the University of Nebraska Department of Music will be the tenor soloist; and Kathleen Maseman will be the soprano soloist. SAC Air Force Band and Choir will present the base soloist, who is A2C Eugene Jebson.

The music selections will include three madrigals on the song text from plays of William Shakespeare by Martin Mailman. Also three Hungarian Folks Songs will be sung.

The Junior Choir will sing a tune from the Broadway musical "Oliver." A few of their other selections include "Hora" by Chajes; three Elizabethan Part Songs by R. Vaughn Williams; and "Kyrie Eleison" by Milton Dieterich. Claudette Valentine will accompany both groups.

Tickets will be available at the door, or they be obtained from any choir member.

Art Exhibit, Auction To Be Held May 29

A Central High art auction and sale will be held during the intermission of the Orchestra Concert to be given on the night of May 29. The paintings will be displayed in the foyer of the auditorium. Student interest will be greatly appreciated, according to Miss Zenaide Luhr, the art teacher.

The paintings will be divided into three groups, those to be auctioned, those to be sold, and others only to be exhibited. The paintings to be sold will be displayed around the halls of Central previous to the sale itself. Those works to be auctioned, of which there will be three, will be displayed upon the main bulletin board.

The paintings that were chosen were selected from many which were exhibited at the Scholastic Art Exhibit and the Joslyn Art Museum Exhibit. The works are only those of junior and senior Central High School students.

The auction and sale is the second of its kind at Central.

Elizabethan Feast For Will's Birthday

Birthday parties are fun. There is the excitement as the guests arrive, and the anticipation of games, prizes, and ice cream and cake. But are birthday parties still fun if the honored guest is not present? Yes, answered members of Mr. Edward Clark's advanced placement English classes, as they celebrated the 400th birthday of William Shakespeare!

It was a beautiful night for a party. The stars were out and it had stopped raining. Upon their arrival the guests were escorted to the patio by two Elizabethan-gowned ladies, Mrs. Max Riekes and her daughter Linda. After an Elizabethan style meal consisting of a meat course, salad, muffins, and root beer drunk from mugs, everyone gathered round to sing happy birthday to William. Mr. Clark blew out the candles for Mr. Shakespeare.

The evening's program was entirely written, produced, and acted by the students. The girl's skit, written by Barb Chudacoff and Linda Graetz, was highly amusing. Scenes of Shakespeare's domestic life, an Elizabethan card party, and Shakespeare's acting ability were represented. The second half of the program was an arrangement of "Pyramus and Thisbe," adeptly acted by several male members of the group.

The birthday party for William Shakespeare climaxed many weeks of work. The celebration was a joint effort of the second and seventh hour advanced placement senior English classes.

ROTC Review, Honors Today

Today is an important day for the Central High ROTC Battle Group. This afternoon the entire ROTC complement will be inspected by Lt. Col. Richard A. Steinhausen, 16th Army Corps, and by Capt. George Silvanic of the St. Joseph Military Academy.

At the former Federal Reviews, the entire ROTC Battle Groups in Omaha, numbering four, assembled at Ak-Sar-Ben to be inspected as they marched past the reviewing stand. This year, however, for the first time each school will be inspected at their respective schools.

Tonight, the ROTC unit will hold its annual Recognition Night. At this time awards will be given to several eligible cadets. Among the awards to be presented are: Best Drilled Cadet, Military Academic Award, Outstanding Sophomore Cadet, Superior Cadet Ribbon, Distinguished Senior Cadet Award.

Other awards to be presented include: World-Herald Citizenship Award, Association of the U. S. Army Medal, Superior Cadet Ribbon, and Best Squad Medal and Ribbon.

The awards are sponsored by several civic and military groups. Among them are the American Legion Post No. 1, Jewish War Veterans, Central High School ROTC Department, Department of the Army, Kiwanis Club of Omaha, and Creighton University.

The ceremony will be held in the practice field, and in case of rain in the large auditorium.

Fourth Place Award For Junior, Nielsen

Steve Nielsen, as junior, won $25 for placing fourth in the annual city-wide school contest for architectural designs and models of homes. The contest was sponsored by the Home Builders' Association.

April 16, a "Critique" Banquet was given at the First Federal Savings and Loan Building for all entrants in the contest. Here different criticisms of the designs and models were made.

April 20, he prizes were awarded at Norris Junior High School. South High received first prize in both the modeling and the drawing. The prizes included a $150 scholarship to either Creighton or Omaha Universities plus a $100 savings bond.

Each year the Home Builders' Association spends over $2000 to encourage young architects.

Recognize your Honor

Is Central aware of its achievements? Certainly we recognize many accomplishments, but others, equally significant, are often overlooked. It seems only natural that Central students, eager to feel pride in their school, would realize the significance of any outstanding Central performance. On the contrary—the achievements of the Central High debate squad have gone all but unnoticed.

The debate team of Bev Jafek and John Zysman captured highest honors by securing the District Championship of Nebraska. In an unprecedented unanimous decision totaling eleven first places, Max Richtman, Central orator defeated all opponents to become top state orator.

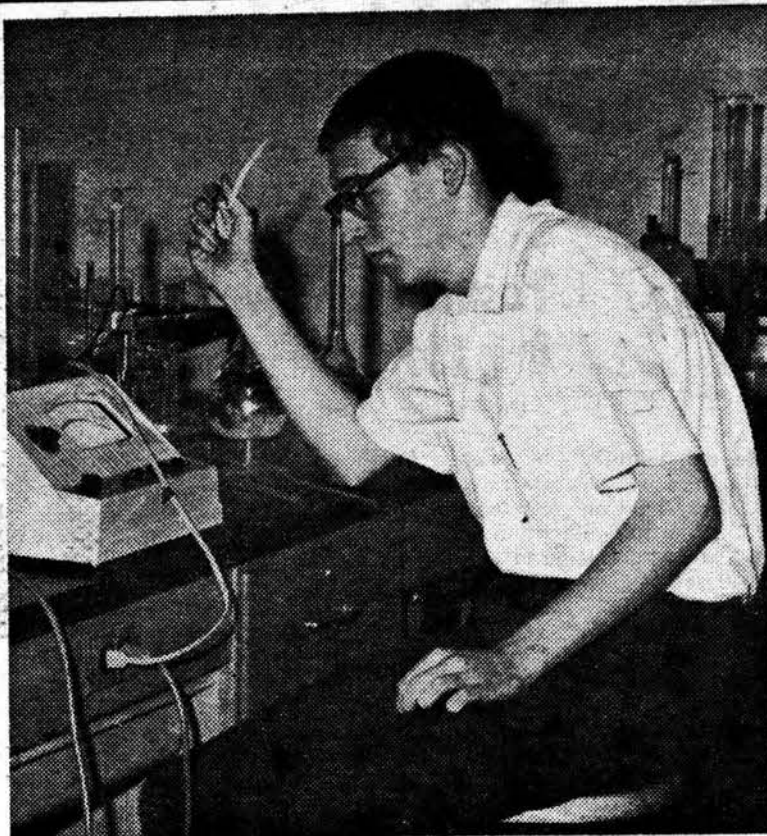

Are such Central triumphs not worthy to be noted? Are they not at least as significant as many of those feats which are more eagerly noted because they happen to involve sports? We do not criticize the interest in sports, for, indeed, such competition adds to the school spirit. We only criticize the limited interest of the student body.

The three aforementioned students, because they won top honors in their respective divisions, will represent Nebraska at the national debate tournament to be held at Akron, Ohio, this June. Three hundred students representing the entire United States will compete at this tournament.

Nor do Central's achievements in debate stop with those mentioned above. In the best previous year Central racked up eight championships in tournament competition. Far surpassing this record, however, the debate squad trampled their opposition bringing home a total of fourteen championships this year. Included among these triumphs are the four Missouri Valley Tournaments. Previously all four tournaments had never been won by a single school in one year. Other important debate accomplishments include the victory at the Little National Tournament (in which Central scored nineteen wins with only one loss), the receiving of the National Forensic League Traveling Trophy, and recognition as the leading N.F.L. chapter in Nebraska.

According to the debate coach, Miss Donna Miller, Central can expect even greater accomplishments in coming years. Out of sixteen top-notch debaters, twelve will be returning next year. The four seniors who contributed to the success of this year's debate squad are Robert Danberg, Doug Miller, Gerry Schneiderwind and John Zysman.

We can only conclude that debate is among Central's most successful endeavors. We feel that the debaters deserve more encouragement from the student body, lack of which is due partially to an indifference concerning debate activities. Only by keeping informed can Central students realize the significance of the honor which is their own.

"Bubble, bubble, toil and trouble."

CHS Profile

Hickson Accumulates A New Honor for List

Being a National Merit Scholarship winner is quite an accomplishment for any student. For Steve Hickson, however, it is only one of a long list of awards he has earned in his four years at Central.

Steve is a member of the Nebraska Regents' All-State Scholastic team and received a Nebraska Regents' Scholarship. He has been on the Junior Honor Society for three years. He received the Susan Paxton Latin award in 1961 and 1962 and the Exchange Club's Outstanding Sophomore Student Award. He has been recognized for his participation in a special biology program and received an N.E.D.T. award.

Busy Schedule for Steve
Steve's curriculum this year includes accelerated chemistry, advanced placement mathematics, advanced placement English, and American History.

Outside of school, Steve is a member of the Future Physicians Club. He also does research in chemistry and is especially interested in the reaction rates and the manner in which the reaction rate is affected by varying concentrations of reactants.

Steve's hobbies include guns, hunting, and reading in twentieth century history and the history of the Civil War.

Next year Steve will attend

Michigan State University where he will major in biology and minor in chemistry. After college he plans a career in biomedical research. His most immediate aim is admission to the Michigan State University Honors College. Steve commented, "I will also have opportunities for research in biology and/or chemistry. This is to be built into a premedical curriculum in preparation for admission to medical school, preferably John Hopkin's or Albany Medical College." He hopes to eventually get both his M.D. and Ph.D. degrees.

"Lack of Absolute Value"
"The relativity of all things and the lack of any absolute value has been the chief impression I have gained from life," Steve stated. "This dependence of truth upon infinitely variable facts or basic assumptions has become a major part of my code or philosophy."

Editors Announce '64 'O' Book Soon To Be Distributed

"The 1964 O'Book will be the biggest ever" said Carole Grube and Babs Givot, co-editors for the Central O'Book.

Carole, Babs, and their staff have been working hard since September to meet the deadline. The last of the O'Book copy was sent to the printers on April 7, and will soon go to print.

"All worked very hard, and I think the 1964 O'Book will show the great initiative put behind it by the students," commented Mr. Michael Gaherty, Journalism instructor and O'Book adviser.

Babs and Carole said that school activities have had larger and better coverage and that color is being used more effectively. The O'Books will be distributed to students the last week in May.

The '64 O'Book staff members include Gail Brodkey and Sid Heisler, sports editors; Barb Chudacoff, club editor; Alice Fellman and Nancy Clatterbuck, senior editors; and Richard Speigman, photographer. Other staff members include Harold Bordy, index editor; Barb Johnson and Susie Stoler, activity editors; Georgia Hunter and Patsy Swanson, faculty editors; and Diana Williams, military editor.

Council Capsules: Scholarship, Baby Contest in Plans

Two events which the Student Council is planning for this year are a presentation of a scholarship and a baby picture contest.

The winner of the first annual Student Council Scholarship will soon be announced. The scholarship will amount to approximately $200.

Those eligible for this award are seniors in the upper half of their class who have won no previous scholarships. The winner will be selected by members of the faculty.

The Student Council has had a sock hop, a candy sale, and a penny day to raise funds for the presentation.

Also, the Council is planning a senior baby picture contest which will include prizes for the cutest boy and girl, and the least changed boy and girl. The council members will put captions under the pictures.

'Grammercy Ghost' Is A Phantom of Delight

May Day was not only the date, but the plea for help as "Grammercy Ghost" invaded the Central High Auditorium. The ghosts of Grammercy Park played havoc with the life of lovely Nancy Willard, played by Linda Riekes, as she received the full brunt of her inherited legacy left to her by her dead landlady. Playing the part of chief ghost and hair-raiser was Robert Rohrbaugh. As Nathaniel Coombes, a leftover remnant of the Revolutionary War in the present century, Robert consistently interrupted the happy, normal life of a young lady about to be married. Jace Anderson, as Parker Burnett, played the socialite fiance of Nancy. He was disturbed by his bride-to-be's hallucinations of ghosts and spirits, and, also, the young, handsome reporter, Charley Stuart, in the person of Richard Schlievert. Adding to the hilarity of the situation were the heiress-housekeeper, Dora McDavis, the old, senile lady-lawyer, Deanna Schmeiding, and the jovial policeman, Jon Kerkhoff. Supporters to the plot were Charles Musselman, Russel Smith, and Holly Joseph, who played the associate ghosts, and Richard Lydick and Albert Wright who were the ambulance attendants.

As is essential in all good plays, all ends well. Nathaniel goes to heaven and Nancy finds true love.

Mrs. Kenneth Lewis directed, assisted by Nancy Makiesky, student director, and Virginia Thomas, chairman of committees. Mrs. Amy Sutton was in charge of make-up with Patty Delk and Janis Meiches as her student directors.

The senior play is produced every year to provide funds for senior activities and fees. "Grammercy Ghost" was entirely produced by the senior class. Matinee performances were also held Thursday morning and afternoon for freshman, sophomore, and junior audiences. Seniors attended the Friday evening performance.

NFL's Willy Gallimore Speaks to Assembly

Willy Gallimore, professional half-back for the NFL champion Chicago Bears, spoke to an assembly in the large auditorium on Wednesday, April 29, during fourth hour.

After a few opening remarks, Mr. Gallimore showed a film on football fundamentals. First, the skill was demonstrated, and then it was shown-in action as used in a game. Such basics as blocking, pass maneuvering, and pass receiving were displayed in the film.

In the question-answer period after the film, the following questions and answers were exchanged.

Question: Who, in your opinion, is the best quarterback in the NFL?

Answer: John Unitas; with all due respect to the Bears' Wade.

Question: What is the better team, the Packers or the Giants?

Answer: They're about the same. We (the Bears) beat them both.

Question: What do you think Brown's (of Nebraska) chances are in pro-football?

A. While I haven't seen him in action, I understand he has a good chance to become a top pro-player.

Q. How long does it take a quarterback to become a good one in the NFL?

A. Two years, at the least; he must become familiar not only with his own team, but also the opposing team.

Q. Are you fined if you lose your play-book?

A. Yes, it contains 600 plays and weighs 12 pounds. It costs $500 if we lose it!

Q. What is the main topic of conversation before a championship game?

A. "We've got to win. Look at all the money we're getting!"

And finally,

Q. Who's the best team in the NFL?

A. The Chicago Bears, of course!

Mr. Gallimore was brought to Omaha under the sponsorship of the Omaha Fire Department.

Young, Eager Eagles Surge to 3-1 Mark, Intercity Loop Is Tough—So Are Eagles

Eagles outscored Council Bluffs' Abraham Lincoln by three runs in the final inning of the Intercity League game, which was held Friday, April 24.

The score stood tied 7-7, at the top of the seventh inning, when Central showed terrific speed and agility in picking up an additional three runs, making the final score a victorious 10-7.

The big blows of the game were doubles hit by Bob Dyer and Bud Belitz. Bill Alloy's pitching caused eight Links to strike out. The closest an AL pitcher came to matching this, was a CHS out list of five. Bud Belitz served as catcher for the game.

One of the highlights in excitement came in the first inning when Sam Centretto, Eagle center fielder, hit a two run homer. He drove a 345 foot hit into right field, which allowed the two Eagles base holders to move easily into home.

George Stolarsky and Sam Centretto each lead the winners with two hits and three runs batted in.

Eagles Bully Bulldogs

Eagles hit in a three to one victory Thursday afternoon, April 23, in a practice game with Beveridge. With Greg Akromis pitching and Bud Belitz catching, Eagles soared to out hit the Bulldogs 5 to 4.

Arnie Weitz hit a clean single and George Stolarskyj knocked out a triple, bringing in two of the three runs scored by Central. Weitz drove in the other run.

Eagles were shot down in flight Thursday, April 30, in a practice game with Boys Town. The final score stood 5-1 after a valiant attempt by Central to shut out Boys Town.

Arnie Weitz hit a triple with a brilliant drive into right field which was fumbled by the opposing right fielder. On an error, Arnie got the homerun.

The battery stood Sam Centretto pitching and Bud Belitz catching. Sam allowed eight hits to get away from him, thus causing the Boys Town victory. However, the Eagle loss was due to errors.

Pitching Offsets Warriors

Eagles barely flew past the Warriors—Friday, May 1, with a slight two to one victory. The battery stood Greg Akromis and Bill Alloy pitching, and Bud Belitz catching. Akromis, a sophomore with a lot of hustle, allowed three Westside hits, but Alloy, a spirited junior, pitched a no hitter.

Outstanding players of the day were sophomore Jerry Bartee, who had three hits for four times at bat, and center fielder, Sam Centretto who drove in two runs with two singles.

This victory brings Eagles a two and one standing in the Intercity League.

North Drops Eagles

Spring sports are in full swing at Central. The varsity tennis team, composed of seniors Jack Steinman and John Zysman, and sophomores Ben Shafton and Roger Gotch, met a strong North team Tuesday, April 14. The boys played well but lost to the Vikings 3-0.

Central's Erwin Rehder put in a brilliant performance as Benson edged Central 2 to 1 in the first round of the District Baseball Tournament Wednesday evening, April 29 at Municipal Stadium. The junior ace went nine innings striking out 12 and leaving 11 stranded on base.

Errors proved fatal as the Bunnies capitalized on several Eagle miscues to score their runs.

Third baseman Arnie Weitz was safe at first on an error in the top half of the fourth inning. Sophomore Jerry Bartee's sacrifice bunt sent Weitz to second. Sam Centretto then singled to drive Weitz in for Central's only tally.

An attempted pick off and error in the fifth inning enabled Benson to score their first run.

Central missed an opportunity to score in the eighth inning as Weitz was safe at third with only one out.

In the bottom of the ninth inning Ron Johnette advanced to second on two Eagle errors. With two outs Harold Lenz singled to drive in Johnette for the winning run to end the pitching duel between Erwin Rehder and Randy Senteney.

Orduna, Sprinters Go For Intercity Crown

Eagle tracksters extended their streak of second places to three as they trailed Tech speedsters by a mere four points 52 7/10 to 48 7/10, in the annual Dutch White Relays held on Tech's field April 25. Tech's speed merchants, Mike and Joe Green, paced the Trojan team as they ran first and second in the century and 220 marks.

Biggest attraction for Jim Hunter and Joe Orduna was their duel in the Hop, Step, and Jump event. Both Eagle jumpers broke the old meet record with Hunter edging Orduna by two inches with a leap of 42'5 3/4". The old record held by a Techster was 40'7", but both jumpers were well over this mark.

Central hurdlers, sophomore, Joe Orduna, and senior, Bill Smith, showed their spikes to the field as they ran away with the hurdle points en route to a one-two finish in the 120-yard high hurdles. Orduna nipped Smith by a mere tenth of a second, as the Hurdlers showed their form to the crowd in times of 15.2 and 15.3, respectively. These times place both hurdlers on the World Herald's list of leaders in state track competition.

The two-mile relay team turned in the second best time recorded in competition this year. The team won the event in 8:19.6, second only to Westside's early season 8:16.2 clocking.

In the century, Marshall Turkel, junior ace from Central, trailed the Greens as he posted a 10.2 to cop third place. Sam Lampkins ran second in his heat with a time of 10.7, but failed to make the finals.

How Eagles fared:
100 yard Marshall Turkel 3rd T. 10.2, Sam Lampkins 2nd in heat T. 10.7.

120 high hurdles Joe Orduna 1st T. 15.2, Bill Smith 2nd T. 15.3.
Mile relay, won heat in 3:27.5, took 2nd in over-all time comparisons. Second best time behind Boys Town. (Joe Orduna, Jim Hunter, Bill Smith, Joe McCray).

2 mile relay, Robert Allan, Dan Katskee, Joe McCray, Rob Roche T. 8:19.6 (2nd best time recorded this year in state.)

Spring medley relay, Charles Williams, Joe Orduna, Bill Smith, James Stone, won heat, but second in time comparisons.

Field Events
Hop, Step, and Jump Jim Hunter 1st 42'5 3/4", Joe Orduna 2nd 42'3 3/4" (Both leaps clip meet record of 40'7")

Pole Vault Joe Orduna tied for fifth at 10'.

Broad Jump Joe Orduna tied for fourth at 20'10 1/2".

Intercity Victory

A sophomore studded field, paced by Joe Orduna, led the Eagles to the Intercity Track Meet Championship held at Westside, May 1. The young Eagles scored in every event except the high jump, to show a balanced attack.

Joe Orduna was the big point-getter for Central as he won the 180 low-hurdles, was on the winning mile relay team, and placed in the 120 high-hurdles, the broad jump and the pole vault.

The hurdles were again the events in which the Eagles showed dominating power on the track. Joe Orduna and James Hunter were 1-2 in the 180 lows, and these two hurdlers are both sophomores. Out of five finalists in the 120 highs, Central had three sprinters. Bill Smith, Charles Williams and Joe Orduna ran two-three-five respectively to dominate the event.

Central distance runners almost copped two more events in the mile and half-mile. Jim Ellis of Westside and Tim Hendricks of South both edged James Hunter in the mile. Ellis's time of 4:31.9 just clipped Hunter's time of 4:33.1.

Rob Roche, like Hunter in the mile, was edged in the 880. Roche ran second to Jim Jones of Westside in the event. The two runners were clocked only a second apart as Jones turned in the winning time of 2:00.4.

Sorensen: 'History Is Key To World Understanding'

To the former wrestling coach, now head of the History Department, history is still all important. Commenting that in recent years the sciences have been stressed by leading educators, Mr. Norman Sorensen believes that learning history is a step to better understanding between the countries of the world.

Mr. Sorensen also stated that there is a revival of history currently in progress. One problem, however, in teaching history, Mr. Sorensen said, is that history increases every year, but the course remains the same length. To alleviate this problem, only history with special significance has been stressed. Another solution is a plan whereby American history will be separated into two one-year courses. The first course would be from Jamestown to the Civil War and would be taught in the eighth grade. Currently, the complete American history is taught in the eighth grade. The history from the Civil War to the present would be taught in senior high. This plan would also defer the possibilities of repetition in the eighth and twelfth grade version of American history.

Mr. Norman Sorensen has been head of the department since 1960. He has been a teacher here at Central since 1938, with the exception of two years of service during the war. He has received his training at the University of Omaha, where he received his Bachelor of Arts, and at the University of Nebraska, where he studied under a fellowship and received his Masters degree. He also studied for a time at the University of Southern California.

Math Sessions Help Students

Freshmen and Sophomores are given an opportunity to further their study of mathematics at Math Team sessions before school. The group meets every Monday and Thursday morning under the direction of Mr. Marcus Brottem and Miss Patricia David.

Until March 5, the date of the National Math Contest, the team drilled and prepared to take the test. Since then, the students have concentrated on problems of progression, probability, and trigonometry.

The team plans to hold a picnic sometime in May. Carolyn Brody will be the hostess.

Three Sophomores Await French Visit

"I'm very excited! I can't wait to leave!" This is the general reaction of Claudia Cohn who, with Beverly Olney and Jane Schmidt, will be studying in France this summer.

The three girls applied for the trip through the Foreign Language League last November. They will spend six weeks in Europe beginning June 21.

After a day in London visiting the Shakespearean Theater, the girls will go to Paris to see a ballet. Their journey will then take them to Macon, a city in the wine-making section of France.

Claudia, Beverly, and Jane will stay at a college campus there for about one month. The mornings and evenings will be devoted to studies, but afternoons and weekends will see the girls on tours to the Riviera, Italy, and Switzerland.

The girls will return August 2 with many new impressions of France and her people.

Meetings Greetings

G.A.A.

G.A.A. held their annual elections on April 21. Sherry Anderson was elected president. The other officers are: Meg Grumert, vice-president; Barb Gilbert, secretary; Helen Sideras, treasurer; Carlotta Trimble and Debbie Alston, sergeants-at-arms.

The senior members held a camp-out on May 2. Miss Sonia Green, Miss Carol Gould, Miss Carol Orr, and Miss Patricia David chaperoned the event.

May 13 is a day to remember in G.A.A. affairs. The women's faculty will play against the senior girls in a volleyball game in the school gym. The game will begin after school. Admission is only ten cents. Everyone be sure to come and support your favorite team!

Outdoorsmen

The Outdoorsmen's Club really "roughed it" on their annual spring camp out at Waubonsie State Park in Iowa on April 18, 19, and 20. The club members and Mr. Ed Clark, their sponsor, began their outing by setting up camp and cooking their evening meal.

Later that night, they started their rope hike. The boys were tied up in one large mountain climbing rope and hiked around the park. Only the lead man and the end man had lights. The rest of the men were in total darkness.

A heavy rain storm in the Waubonsie State Park further tested the ruggedness of the Outdoorsmen. Though some got a little damp, the troopers all survived.

Future Physicians

A new club at Central is the Future Physicians Club. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Esmond Crown, the club has started to progress. The officers are: president, Leo Imolati; vice president, Tom Novotny; secretary-treasurer, Crystal Gould; sergeant-at arms, James Mulry.

At the meeting on April 17, Dr. Merle Musselman spoke on the subject of becoming a doctor and the meaning of the word, doctor.

Future Teachers

April has been a busy month for the Future Teachers of America. The regular meeting night was spent at the Omaha School for the Deaf, April 28. Members learned some of the methods used in educating the deaf, and of the constant demand for qualified teachers in this area of specialized education, and also some of the difficulties which continuously confront deaf children.

The Club also elected the officers for 1964-65 during April. They are: Tony LaGreca, president; Kathy Craig, vice-president; Susan Post, secretary; Kathryn Hunter, treasurer; and Sandra Fortmeyer, historian. The officers will be installed at the annual picnic to be held in May.

Central High Players

Central High Players will hold its annual banquet on May 16, at the Fireside Restaurant.

The officers of Central High Players for next year will be announced at this affair. The best actor and actress, chosen from The Fall Play, Spring Play, and Junior Theater casts, will be awarded "Emmies."

Mrs. Doris Lewis, Miss Amy Sutton, and Mr. R. Williams will sponsor the banquet.

Y-Teens

Y-Teens will conclude their busy year of activities by the installment of new officers for 1964-65 and the presentation of the Y-Teen of the Year and Y-Teen Queen awards at the annual tea Friday, May 13, at 3:20 in the north cafeteria.

The Y-Teen of the Year award is presented to the outstanding girl for her leadership and participation in projects throughout the year. The Y-Teen Queen will be the girl who has accumulated the largest number of points for her participation in club projects.

Chairman for this event are Judy Neukam, programming and Beverly Pleiss, refreshments.

Mrs. Emerson Link, Mrs. Homer Blough and Miss Helen Coulter are Y-Teen sponsors.
