The Central favorites vary each year as the student body changes and new trends are developed.

This year, many students found restaurants such as Village Inn to be the best places to hang out.

Others found entertainment at the movies. "Money Talks" and "Men in Black" were the most popular new releases this year.

Central students also enjoyed staying at home and watching "South Park," a popular animated sitcom new to television this year.

Students could also be found at music stores listening to the Wu-Tang Clan or the Dave Matthews Band.

Regardless of the year, school sponsored activities are always popular events.

What are you doing this weekend?

By Sarah Anderson and Tara Hauger

Central students are busy people, so it is no surprise that their weekends are filled with action.

Many students reported that they like to spend their free time at movie theaters and coffee shops, while the nature-lovers at Central enjoy the fresh air at Memorial Park.

Central athletic events and dances were also popular among students.

Of course, most Centralites are devoted to studying as well. They also said that they spend a lot of time at home or hanging out at their friends' houses.

Senior class officers were elected at the end of the 1997 school year after endless campaigning.

The results of the sticker-filled election were: President Sarah Price, Vice President Denna Leavitt, Secretary Ally Crossman, Treasurer Dan Danberg, Historian Jaclyn DiGiacomo and Activities Coordinator Jasmine Henderson.

Several changes were introduced this year by sponsors Kat Laughlin and Betty Schuler-Weingarten. Two new positions, historian and activities coordinator, took the place of the sergeant-at-arms position. Another change was that elections were held at the conclusion of the 1997 school year while representatives were elected at the beginning of the 1998 year.

Students dance through enchanted wonderland

By NiKia Matthews

Homecoming was an important event for the nightlife of Central students. Students displayed their school pride beginning with spirit week.

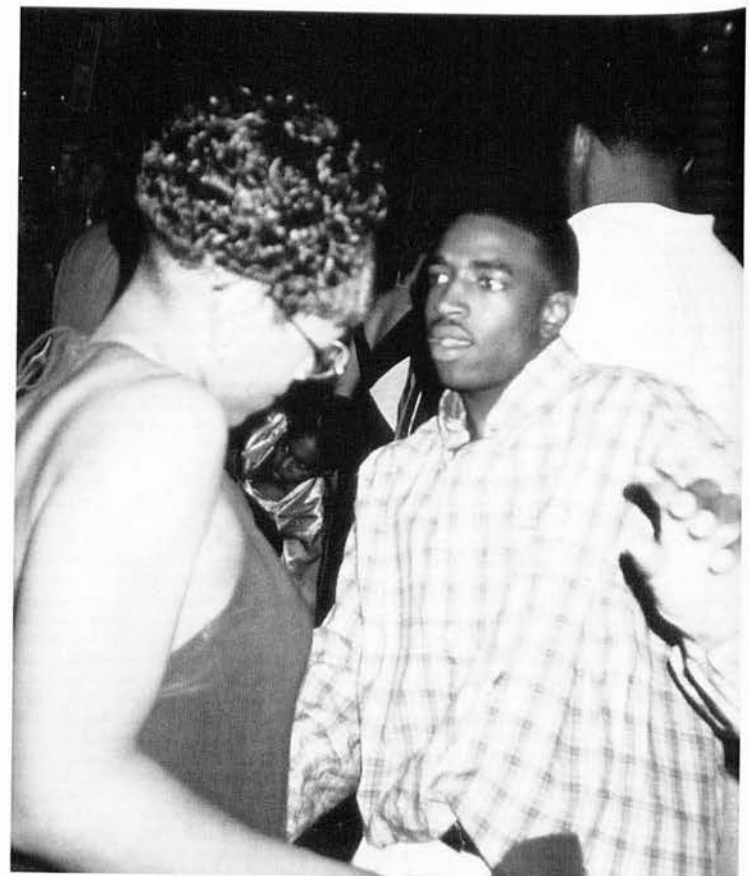

Spirit week began on Oct. 13 with Pajama Day. Each day students dressed according to the theme for that day.

On Oct. 17, Central was victorious at the homecoming football game against Columbus with a final score of 19-0. At halftime, the king and queen candidates were introduced to the crowd as they drove by in convertibles.

The queen candidates this year were Rebecca Baines, Jasmine Henderson, Amber Ingram, Kim Lykke, LaVonda McClinton and Jenny Queen. The king candidates were Lawrence Butler, Trevor Fitch, DeAntae Grixby, Eddie Piatt, Jason Regan and Sunn Spurlock.

The homecoming dance was held at the Ak-sar-ben Clubhouse on Oct. 18. The theme this year was "Winter Wonderland."

At the dance, Rebecca Baines and DeAntae Grixby were crowned the 1997-98 homecoming queen and king.

■ Student Council

Membership offers many privileges

By Jane Swirzinski

Student Council spent many long hours working on projects that involved Central students, faculty and downtown Omaha.

The agenda for the 1997-98 school year consisted of food drives, hat days, fund-raisers, prom and many other activities.

This year's young officers kept the Student Council tradition of excellence. The council is sure to be strong in years to come because they have experienced leadership positions as underclassmen.

"Once again, Student Council had another great year," Judy Storm, sponsor, said.

Student Council was the only organization that worked with the Red Cross to arrange donation times for students to give blood.

During seventh hour the group of 27 student leaders met to discuss, plan and carry out projects for Central students. The addition of freshman representatives second semester added more help to the group.

"Student Council was a place where you could actually get something done for your school," Chloe Karpf (10) said.

NHS DONATES TIME,

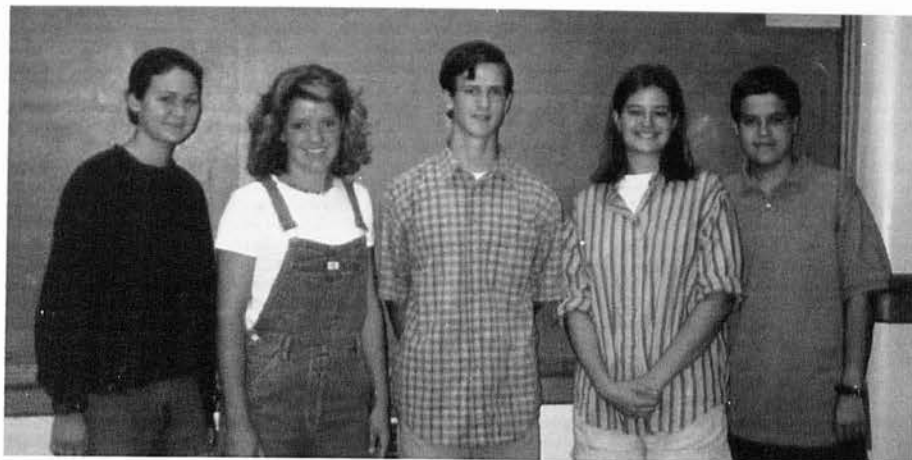

By Stephanie Putnam and Jane Swirzinski

Academics, leadership and fun! NHS members had the chance to participate in activities such as helping Habitat for Humanity with a haunted house, Honey Sunday and volunteering at the Francis House in December. NHS also sponsored a carwash with donations that went to the Make-a-Wish Foundation.

"I feel the senior class really responded this year," Siri Heese (12), NHS president, said.

The students were part of one of the most respected organizations at Central High School. NHS members must have an accumulative 3.5 GPA, demonstrate leadership and perform one service project each semester.

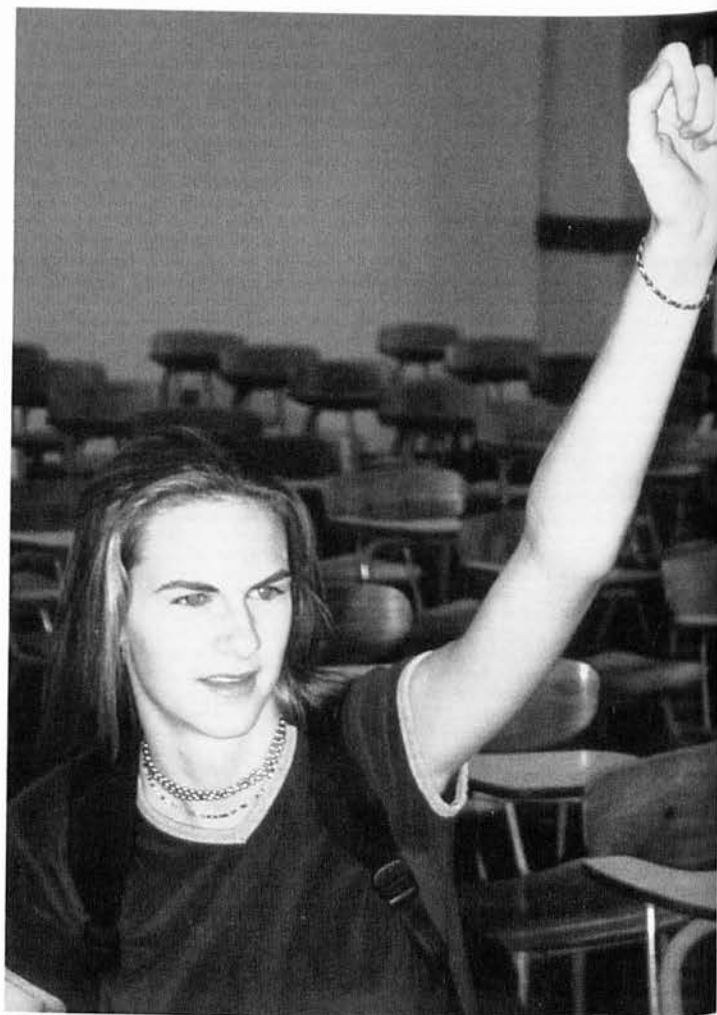

About seventy-three students were involved in NHS this year. The sponsors were Mrs. Faye Johnson and Mr. John Waterman.

Debaters soar above the rest

By Jane Swirzinski

The Debate Team proved the points of all its arguments at competitions and during classtime.

The three classes of debaters met each day and worked hard to carry on the high standard of Central debate. The ninth, tenth and after school classes consisted of many students, in all levels of each debate group.

Under the instruction of Mrs. Kris Bertch, the groups of debaters argued their way to awards at invitational meets all over the Omaha metro area. This year's topic was renewable energy.

"Debate was exciting! It challenged students to reach beyond their horizons," Sam Kruger (12) said.

O-Book rises above, beyond

By Stephanie Putnam and Jane Swirzinski

The 1997-98 O-Book can be described in one word: DEADLINES!!!

Countless hours were required to meet deadlines and make this year's yearbook great.

Many staff members used not only eighth hour, but much of their own time taking pictures, writing copy and designing page layouts.

The O-Book staff consisted of juniors and seniors interested in yearbook production. This year's Editor-in-Chief and Executive Editor were seniors Sarah Anderson and Tara Hauger.

"There wasn't a weak link in the staff and everyone got along really well," Sarah Anderson (12) said.

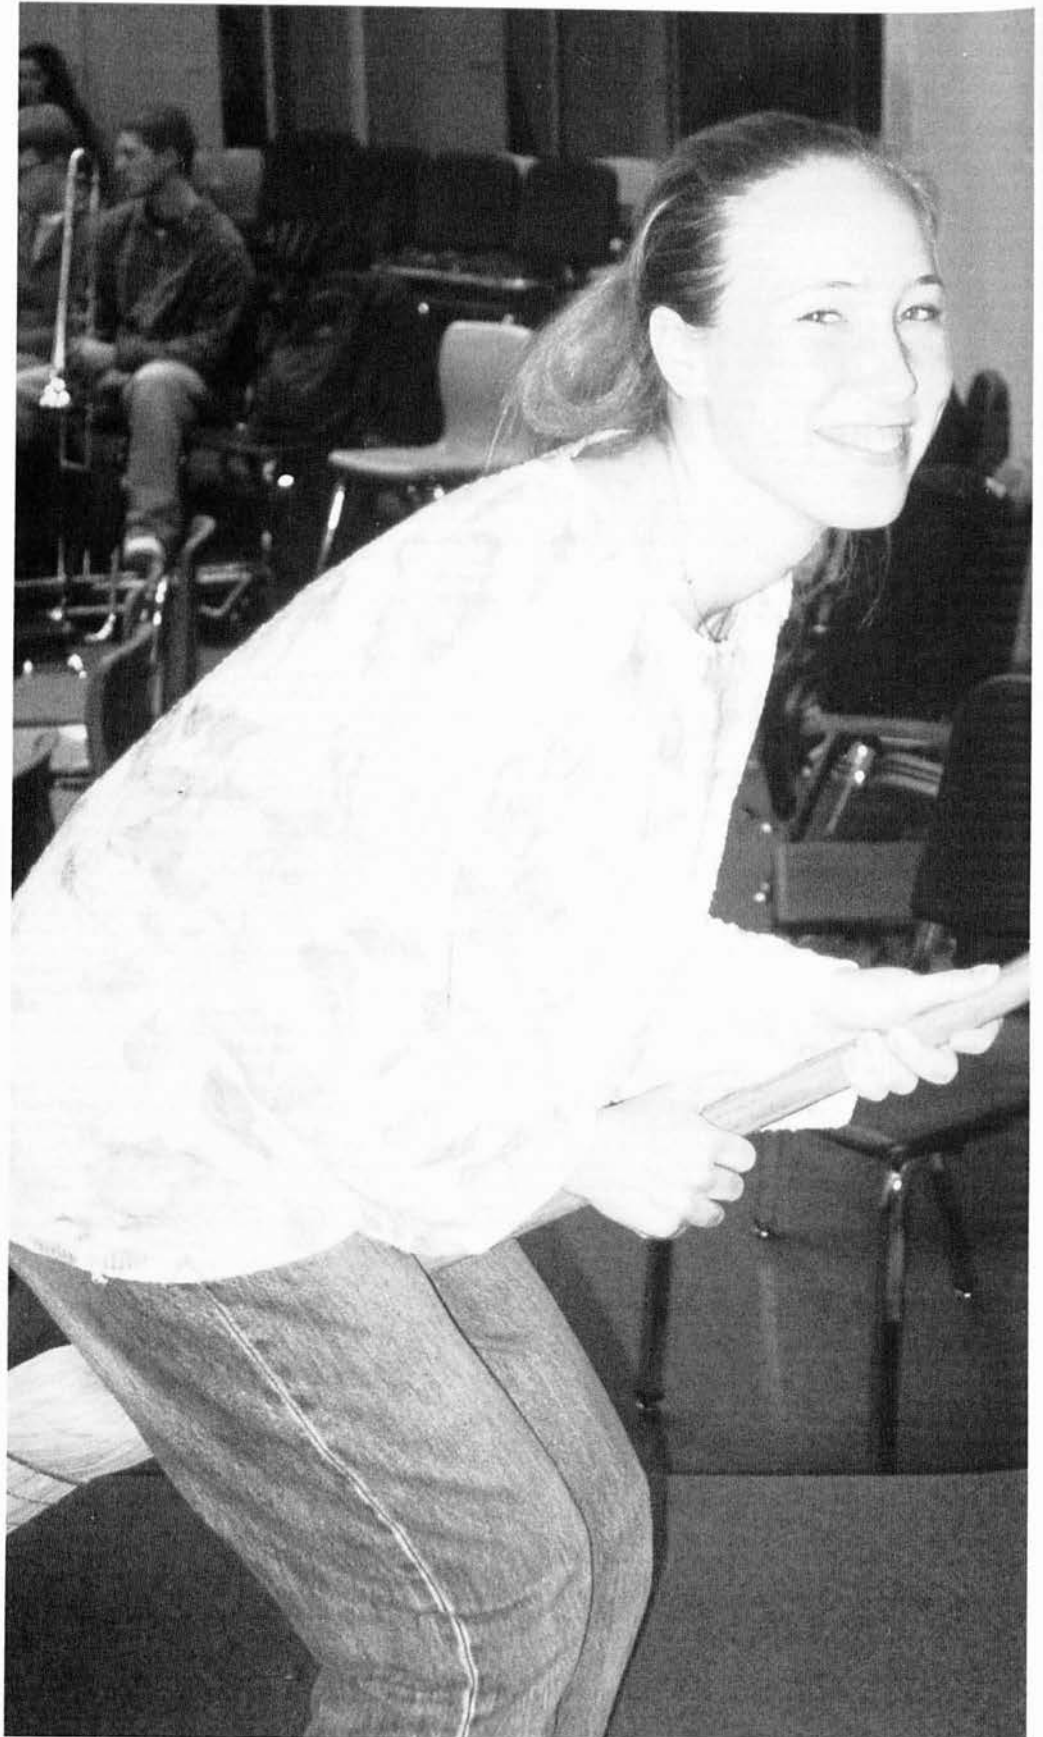

The prerequisites for achieving a position on yearbook included a semester long journalism class and a written application.

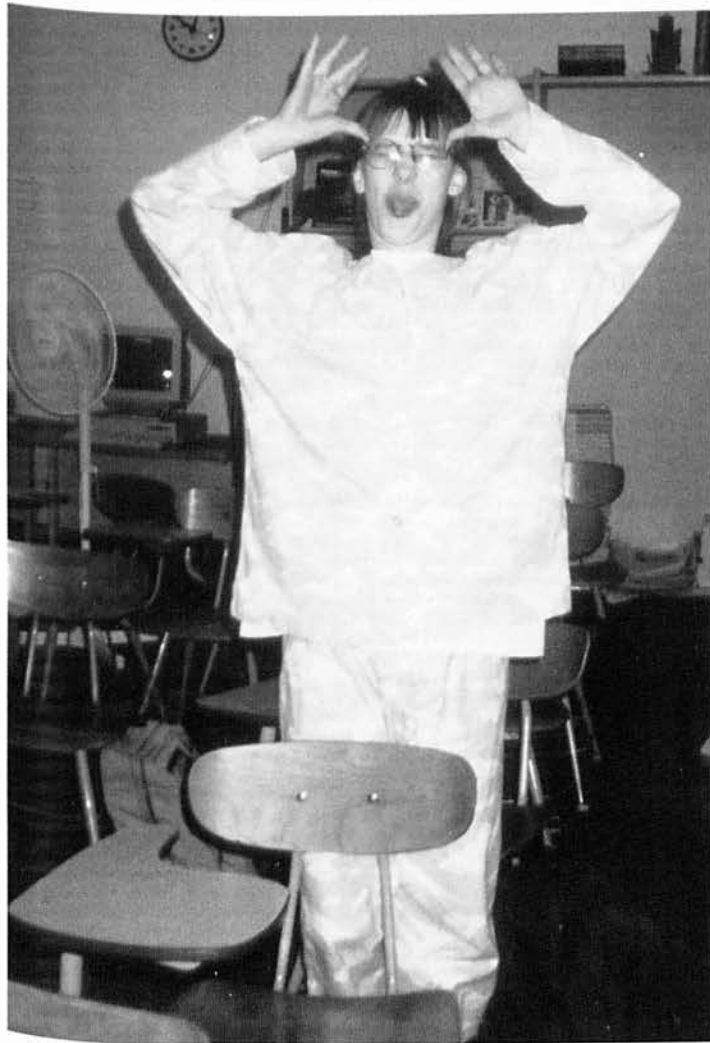

O-Book was under the direction of Mr. Matt Deabler, consequently the only male involved in the production.

"This year's staff was very successful in both meeting deadlines and working together," Mr. Deabler said.

The Register works to meet deadlines

By Jane Swirzinski

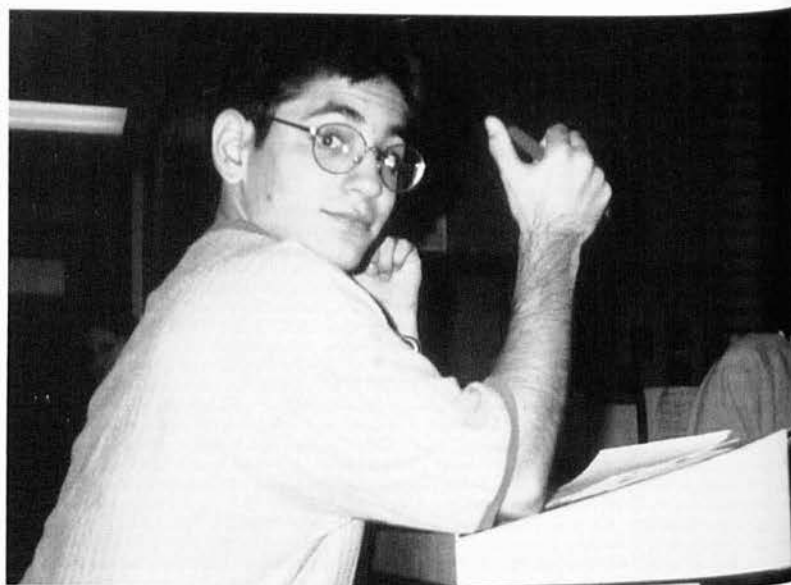

Issue after issue, deadline after deadline, The Register staff worked night and day to produce nine monthly newspapers.

"We had a lot of fun and were optimistic about our competitions," Rebecca Starr (12) said.

A typical scene that contributed to the success of the 1997-98 Register staff was take-out food on the counter, spread sheets ready for layout and staff members waiting to go home to a full load of homework.

The staff of 23 students produced newspapers that reported on everything from controversial issues, like student drug use, to the latest sport's victories and movie reviews.

"The staff this year was a good one," Mr. Matt Deabler said. "They met every deadline with ease."

Studio art expresses emotion

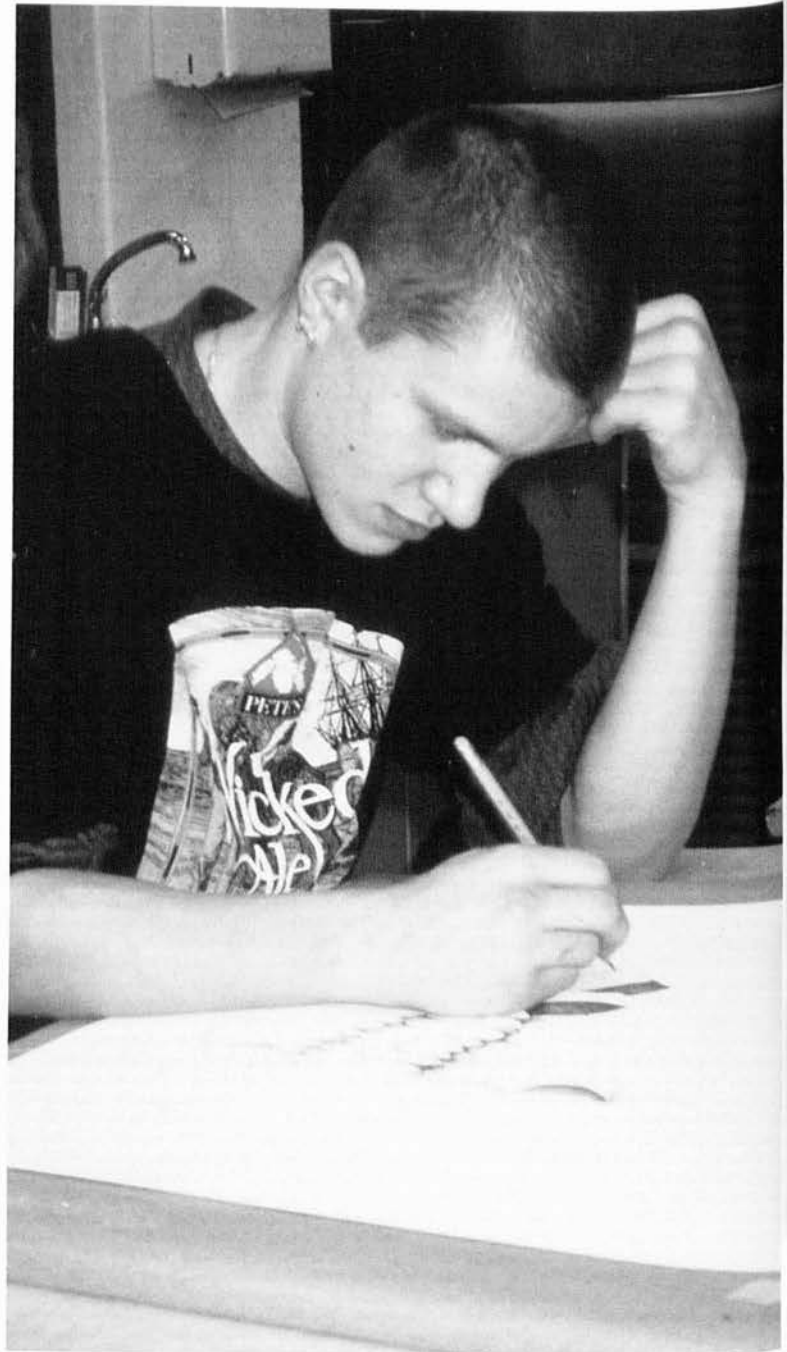

By Jane Swirzinski

"In studio art we have the opportunity to express ourselves freely," Kirsten Hepburn (11) said.

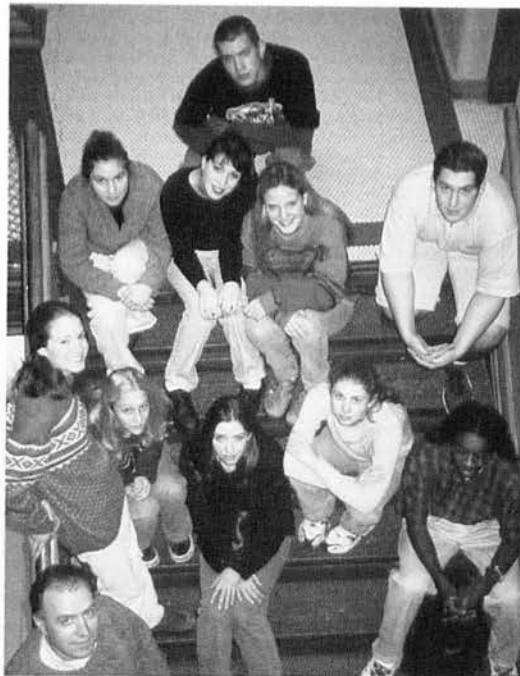

This year's studio art classes, guided by Mr. Larry Andrews, fourth hour, and Mrs. Margaret Quinn, eighth hour, completed many works of art that were displayed throughout Central. The students needed at least two years of art classes, as well as an art journal to be considered for admittance to this class.

These pieces of art were kept in an art portfolio and became an inventory of the improvements and talent of each student in the class. Some of the talented artists submitted their works to the Bellevue University Metro Seniors Art Exhibition, Scholastic Art Awards, Youth Art Month and Totem.

Each student was instructed by his own motivation. This helped the students to create a work that everyone, including themselves, enjoyed.

Concerto Competition tunes up

By NiKia Matthews

Five Central High music students competed to win a spot in the Concerto Competition.

"The students carried a real big honor to be selected for this competition," Miss Molly Moriarty, Instrumental Director, said.

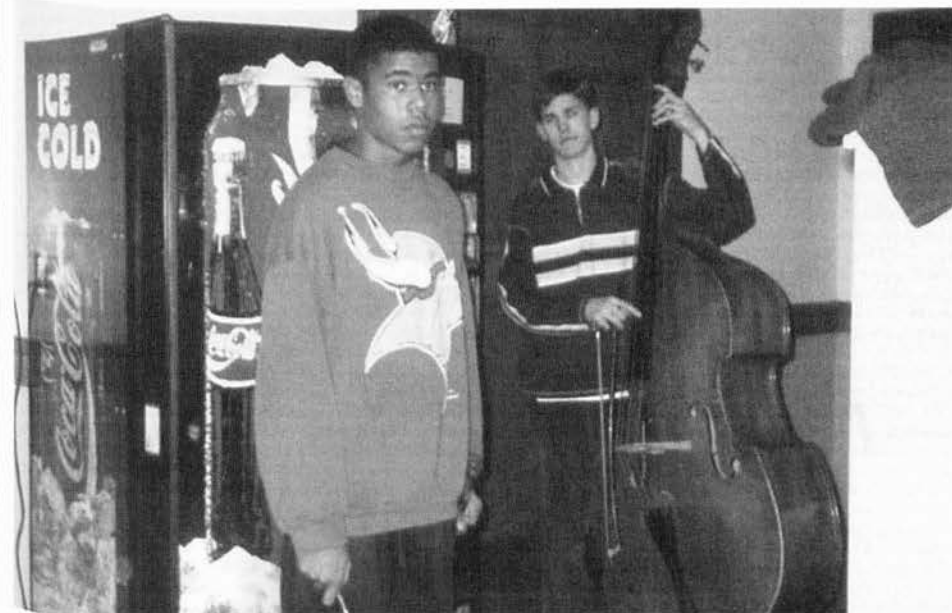

The audition for the competition was held on Jan. 15. Students individually played a piece they admired in front of a panel of judges. The students also rehearsed for the Spring Concert.

"I've been playing the violin since I was three and I didn't think it was that hard," Noah Moe (9) said.

The halls are alive,

By Jane Swirinski

Everyday, in the depths of the basement, the orchestra practiced music which produced the melodies heard downstairs.

Central's orchestra was composed of both wind and string instruments, which gave it an advantage over other OPS orchestras that are strictly made up of string instruments.

The 55 member group participated in the All-State, District Music and Adjudication Contests.

Ms. Molly Moriarity conducted the orchestra to many honors for Central's music department.

"It was a great class to take if you're serious about your music and are willing to put in the extra effort," Lema Bashir (12) said. "We were better than anyone else."

Band soars with

By Stephanie Putnam

"The majority of the 130 members involved in band were hard-working students who performed well in competitions," Pete Wilger, Band Director, said.

Band members attended various activities this year including the Eugene Eppley Army Band Camp held near Plattsmouth. At the camp, the band learned marching fundamentals and improved its musical technique.

Members also attended home football and basketball games and the River City Round-Up Parade held in September.

"Band was really awesome. I got to meet a lot of really cool people," Taylor Campbell (11) said.

Central exceeds expectations at All-State

By Stephanie Putnam

"It was a really awesome experience. All of the groups did extremely well," Elonie Lewis (12) said regarding the All-State Music Concert.

A total of 24 students from Central were picked to attend the concert and music clinic held on Nov. 22 at the University of Nebraska at Lincoln. The students attended multiple rehearsals before performing at the final concert.

The students practiced the audition music last summer and then tried out on Oct. 11. Some of the music memorized included "Guye-Betelehemu" and "Divine Comedy Suite."

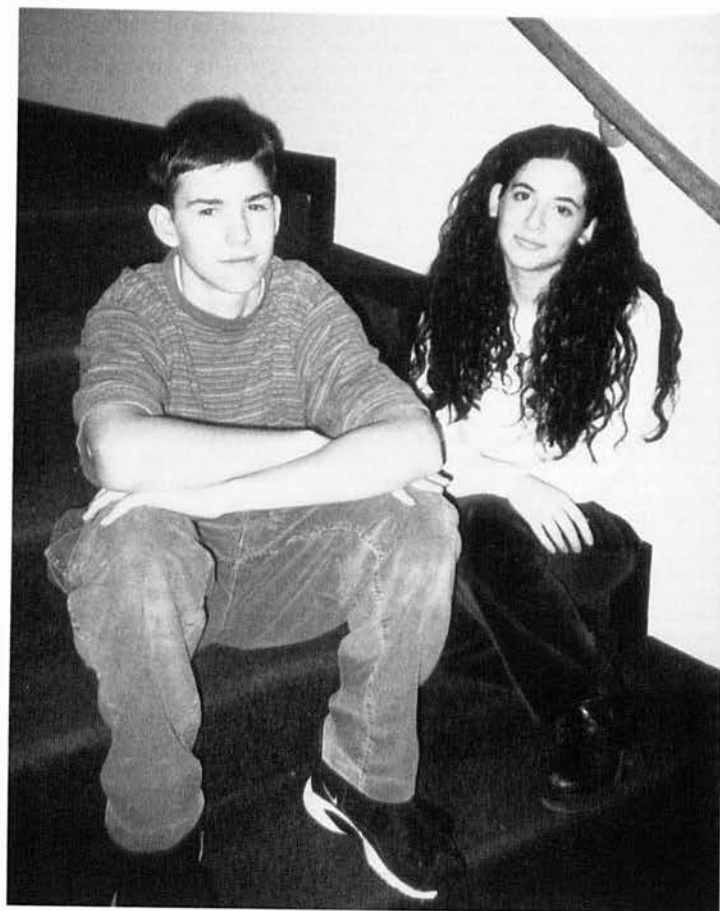

Five students from Central represented the band. One student represented the jazz band, two from orchestra and sixteen from the vocal music department.

Jazz band spices up Central

By NiKia Matthews

Jazz band spiced up the hallways with musical tunes throughout the year.

The class was made up of 22 energetic students that entertained many individuals with songs from various backgrounds. These backgrounds included songs from Latin, Jazz, Salsa and Swing.

"I think that the students had a real interest in Jazz," Mr. Pete Wilger, instructor, said. "They spent a lot of time on their instruments."

The jazz band was involved in activities both inside and outside of the school. The activities included performing for the community, Central's Road Show and a competition held at UNO. The band also performed at city functions and concerts.

"I just can't imagine my life without jazz band," Johann Johnson (11) said.

Color Guard spins to superior rating

By Jane Swirzinski

"I felt the group worked well together and learned the routines quickly," Jenny Backman (12) said.

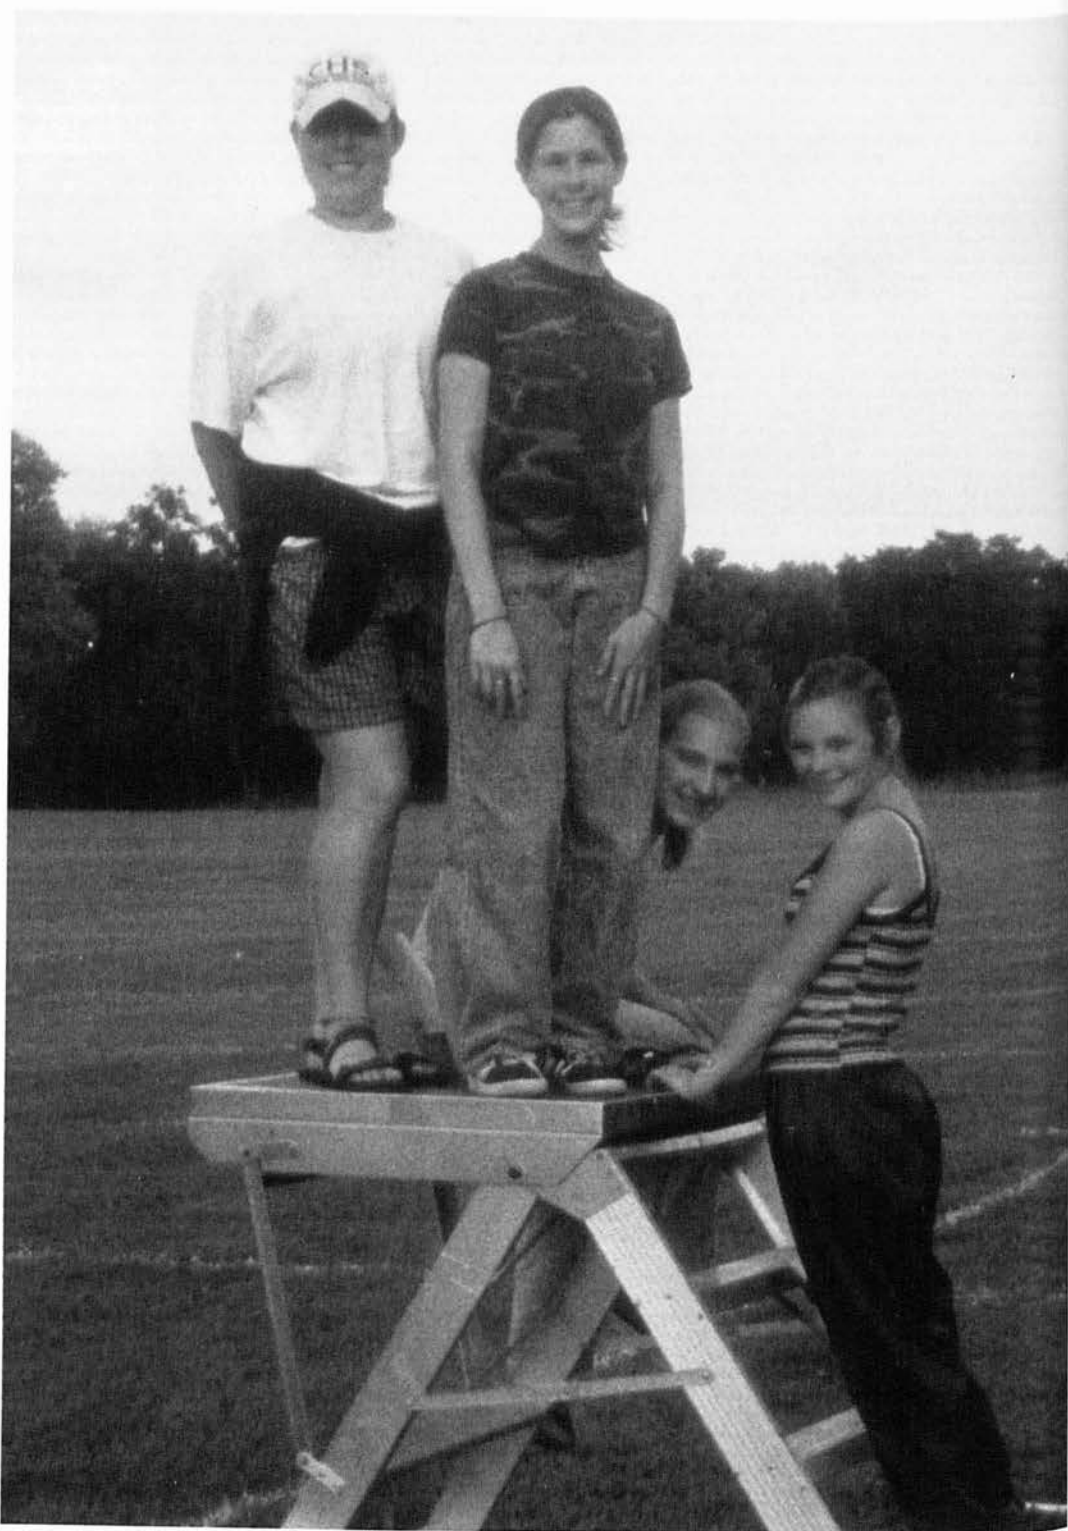

The Color Guard's season started off with a great bonding experience at band camp in August, which improved the guard's fundamental skills. Zero hour rehearsals and Monday night practices also gave the Color Guard the opportunity to perform with the band at home games.

The Color Guard performed at football games, two parades, one competition and one exhibition. They received a superior rating at OMI (Omaha Marching Invitational) held on Oct. 18.

An early winter storm in October prevented a performance at the State Marching Contest. The group also participated in the River City Roundup Parade on Sept. 27 and the St. Cecilia's Anniversary Parade on Oct. 5.

A Cappella leads perform

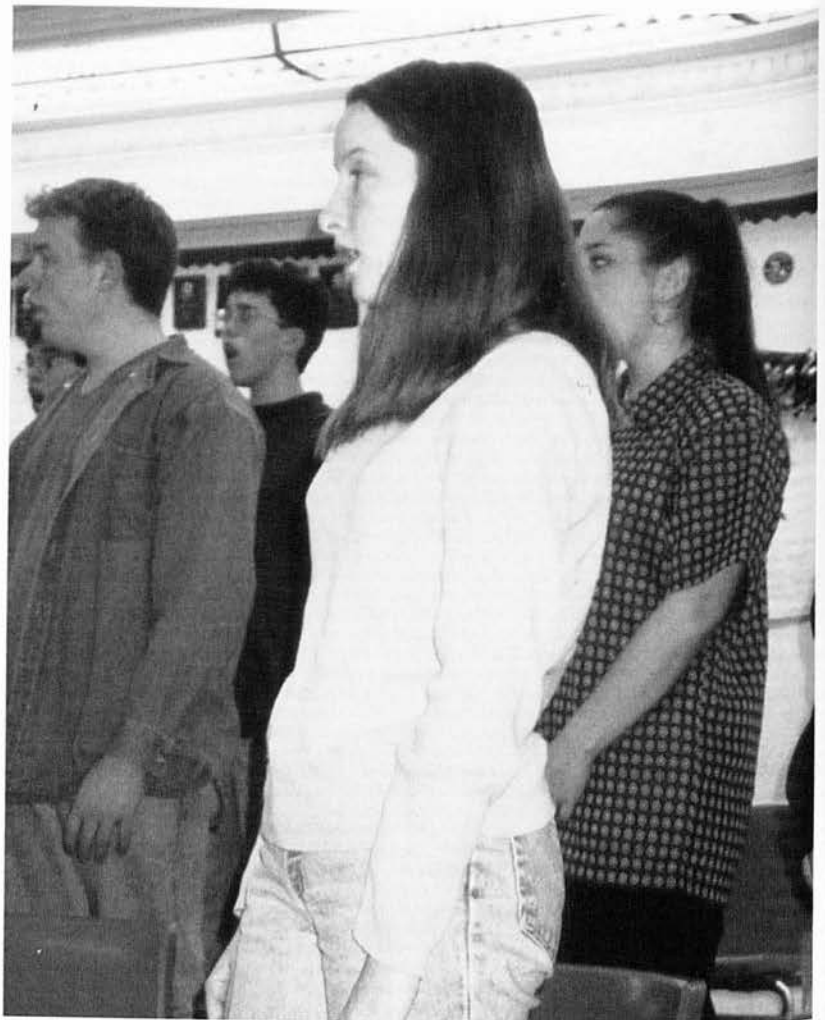

By Stephanie Putnam

Road Show, All-City and two school concerts kept this year's A Cappella busy with performances.

One of the new events this year took place in January with the Omaha Symphony. A Cappella sang "Poulenc Gloria" along with Bellevue West and Papillion.

"We all worked hard this year, but still managed to have a lot of fun," Sarah Price (12) said.

A Cappella consisted of junior and senior girls along with sophomore, junior and senior guys. Members auditioned last spring and met for rehearsal everyday during eighth hour. The group's sponsor was Mrs. Lyn Bouma.

Junior choir strives for successful year

By Stephanie Putnam and Jane Swirzinski

"Junior Choir serves as a bridge to A Cappella," Mrs. Lyn Bouma, head vocal music director, said.

Junior Choir consisted of freshman and sophomores interested in vocal music. Members learned how to sight read along with various other singing techniques.

The choir's main event was the Winter Vocal Concert which was held on Dec 16. They also sang at the Spring Vocal Concert in May and at the All City Music Festival.

Singers were recommended to Mrs. Bouma by their junior high music teachers and met everyday during second hour.

Bel Canto impresses audiences

By Stephanie Putnam

Bel Canto had a total of twenty-four members who auditioned for the choir position last spring. Bel Canto is made up of sophomore, junior and senior girls with exceptional singing abilities.

The group sang at the Spring and Winter Vocal Music performances, the Salvation Army and various law offices. Along with these, the group competed in the District Music Competition.

"They all did really well," Mrs. Lyn Bouma, music director, said.

Bel Canto's main event this year was the Madrigal Dinner which was held in December and served as a fundraiser for the vocal music department.

CHS Singers entertain all

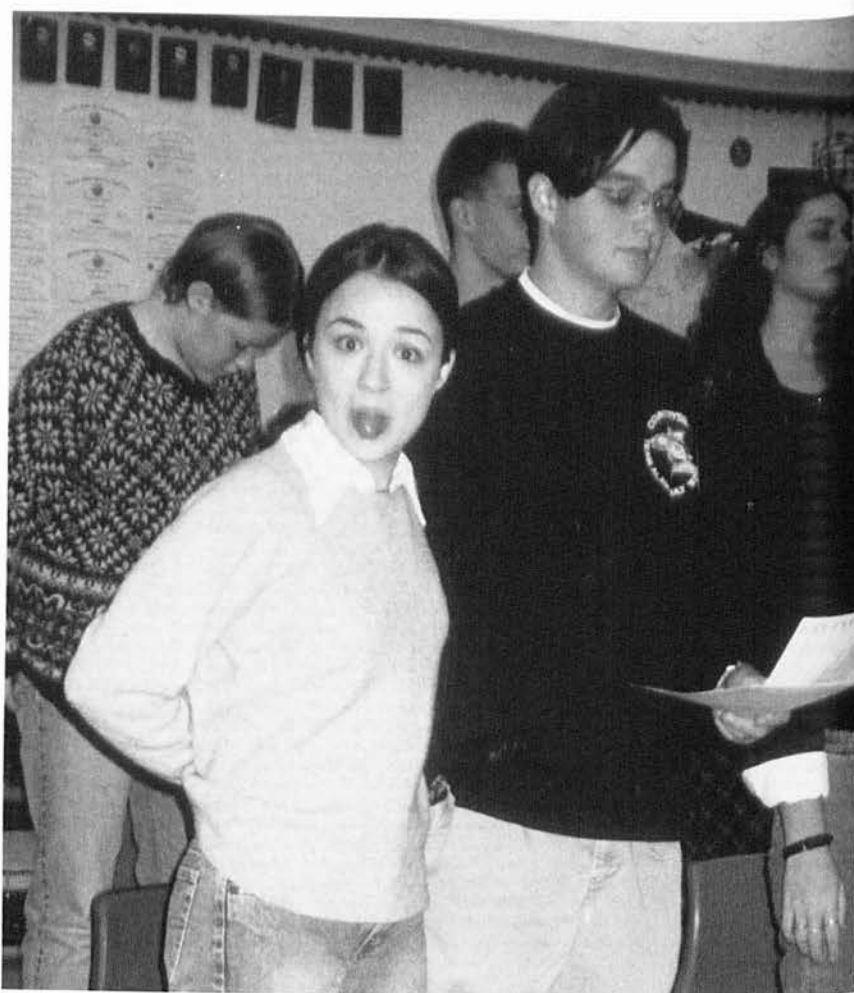

By Jane Swirzinski

The amazing performances presented by CHS Singers, an elite group of juniors and seniors, put songs in the hearts of all of the students at Central.

With their annual Road Show performance, District Music Contest and participation in annual concerts, the CHS Singers were busy entertaining audiences. Their delightful songs and desire to perform gave them the reputation they deserved.

In order to be a member of CHS Singers, a student must audition and meet the pre-requisite of membership in the A Cappella choir. They must also continue to be a part of the A Cappella choir with their admittance to CHS Singers.

This group was the highest ranking course available in Central's vocal music department, according to the course catalog.

Pit orchestra enhances musical

By Jane Swirzinski

Practice, skill and dedication are just a few qualities that the members of the pit orchestra possess.

The 28 students in the pit orchestra were a combination of instrumental students from Central. The group was given a chance to perform for the student body at the student matinee of "Fiddler on the Roof." The group also played for the evening performances of the musical held on Dec. 12-13.

"Pit orchestra was a very talented group, and the members really complimented each other's strengths and weaknesses," Emily Anderson (12) said.

Many of the students enjoyed being a part of the musical without putting on a costume for the entire school and other guests. Rehearsals were two to three times a week for a month in the band room. Two weeks before the actual performances the orchestra practiced with the cast every day after school.

"The pit orchestra was an important asset to the musical. Without the pit orchestra it would be very difficult to put on a quality production, plus it is a fun experience," Ms. Molly Moriarty, conductor, said.

"Fiddler on the Roof" puts

By NiKia Matthews and Jane Swirzinski

The "Fiddler on the Roof" performances filled Central High's stage with classical Jewish tunes.

A matinee performance for the students was held on Dec. 11, followed by two evening performances on Dec. 12 and 13.

The show included a variety of actors and actresses. The guidance of Mrs. Pegi Georgeson and many background production assistants helped to make the performances a success, cast members said.

"Just working with everybody and taking time to put the play together really inspired me," Bryan Greer (12) said.

The play was based on a Jewish community that faced hardship and tragedy at the turn of the century. The main character Tevye, played by David Rennard (11), faced the struggles and joys of his religion, family and community.

"The props and the music were fabulous, I thought the background crew and play members did a great job," Fareeda Muhammad (11), stage crew member, said.

ROTC aims high

By NiKia Matthews

ROTC accomplished what many students only dream of doing.

With inspirational courses, activities and a classroom of future leaders, ROTC taught students the basics of military life. First-aid, map reading, military history and marksmanship were some of the activities that the courses taught.

"The ROTC program helped with my decisions for the future," Roselyn Hudson (12) said.

The program included the BFI, an inspection and competition including all Omaha Public Schools, and the Military Ball, a dance to acknowledge the staff.

The instructors, Major Richard Yost and Sergeant Carey Jurin, helped cadets to organize a goal for tomorrow and to plan a future for themselves. They also provided recruiters and college information for the students.

"Although the instructors were tough, in their hearts they really cared," Tiffany McDonald (12) said.

Rifle Team triggers victorious season

By NiKia Matthews

In the blink of an eye, Rifle Team has made Central High's range explosive.

The team had many exciting sessions during the year. With only nine participants and 55 minutes of practice, their dedication paid off.

"It's 95 percent concentration and 5 percent shooting," Sgt. Carey Jurin said.

They were involved in activities and competitions that made their year constructive and powerful. The competitions included the Creighton Shoulder-to-Shoulder Match, which was held in the spring, the City Pistol League, during the fall and the Biathlon Omaha Public School.

"We got to shoot and run in the Biathlon, that was kind of fun," Jonathan Nebel (11) said.

Keeping in step with the Drill Team

By NiKia Matthews

The rhythmic sound of a drill commander shouting out orders started off another year for the Drill Team.

"It took the practice of perfection that made this team perfect," Commander Ernest Woods (12) said.

The Drill Team competed in three major events during the school year. The OPS competition at Bellevue East was the most important event of the year. With a high stepping squad and a spirited group, Drill Team made their participation in the ROTC program a beneficial experience.

The practices were held in the morning during zero hour, once a week. During these practices, the Varsity squad showed their abilities to the freshmen, who learned by their example.

"Being able to execute the movement in order was what made this team great," Maj. Richard Yost, ROTC instructor, said.

Dimension creates

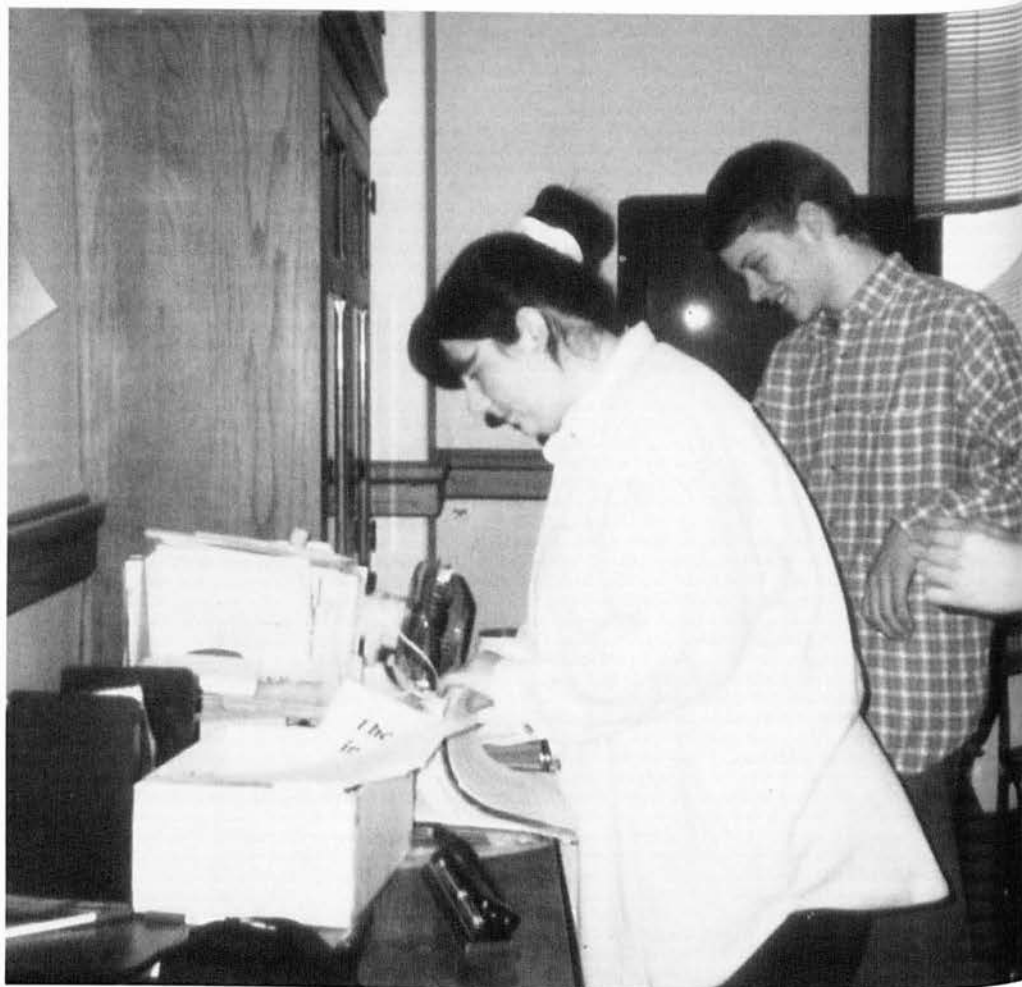

By NiKia Matthews

"Dimension was a magazine created from the minds of students and published by a crazy bunch like us," Sarah Wengert (12) said.

Dimension was a creative magazine published by the Creative Writing class. The Chief Editor of the project was Mrs. Peggy Wheeler, English 7-8 and Creative Writing teacher.

Five upperclass staff members took time to select and discover artwork and writings from students at Central. Students had an opportunity to hand in and see short-stories, photographs, art work, essays and other literary works.

"Dimension gave us a chance to work together and put out a product that everyone was happy with," Kelly Connor (12) said.

Academic Decathlon

By Jane Swirzinski

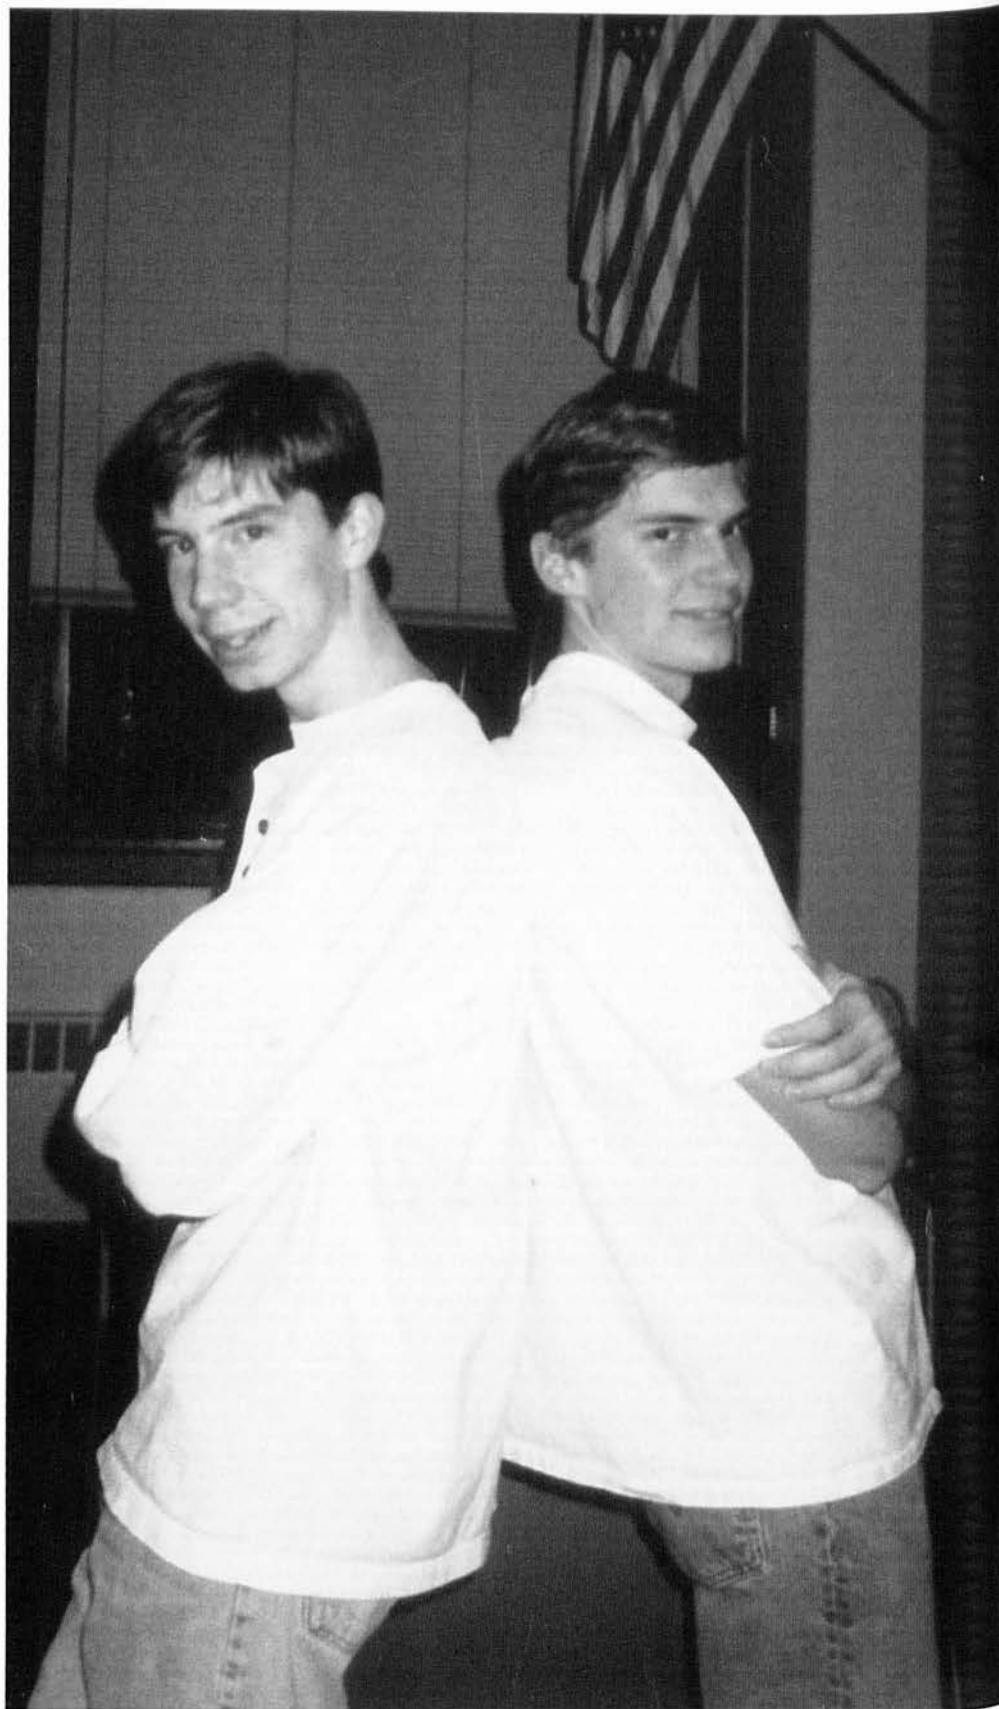

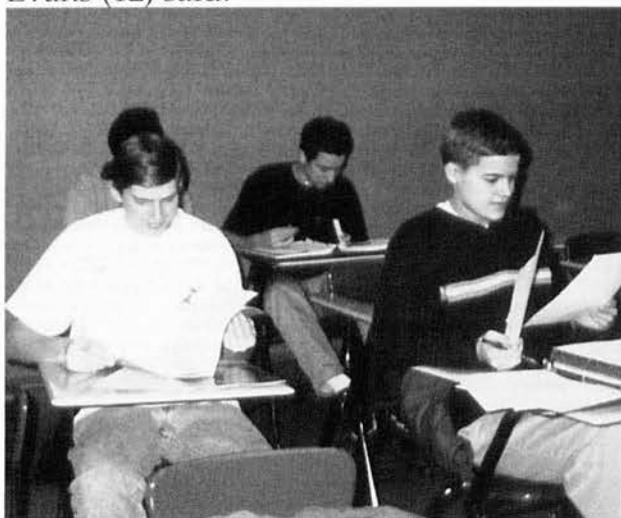

Everyday, a group of students studied and prepared to win awards for Central's Academic Decathlon teams in subjects such as art, math and science, Dana Hendee (11), a member of the team, said.

The Decathlon members were put into competition groups based on their personal G.P.A. Their grade and G.P.A. made no difference in acceptance because anyone could be on the team. All students received an honors credit for the class and were split into levels ranging from the Honor team to the Varsity team.

In addition to the zero hour study time and home study time, students also held weekend practices and study groups. This led to many high placement scores on the decathlon tests.

The three largest competitions were Regionals, State and Nationals. James Leuschen (12) received third place in Music, second place in Social Studies and first in Language and Literature at the Nebraska Wesleyan scrimmage. Mary Lynn Super (11) received second place in Art; Dave Rennard (11) received third in Math and Sam Kruger (12) received second place in Art and first in Math at the Creighton Prep scrimmage.

"It's like studying for Jeopardy," Corey Evans (12) said.

84th Road Show bares

By Debra Slape

Central celebrated its 84th annual Road Show this year. This talent show was the most highly attended production of the year and had a greater diversity of acts than ever before.

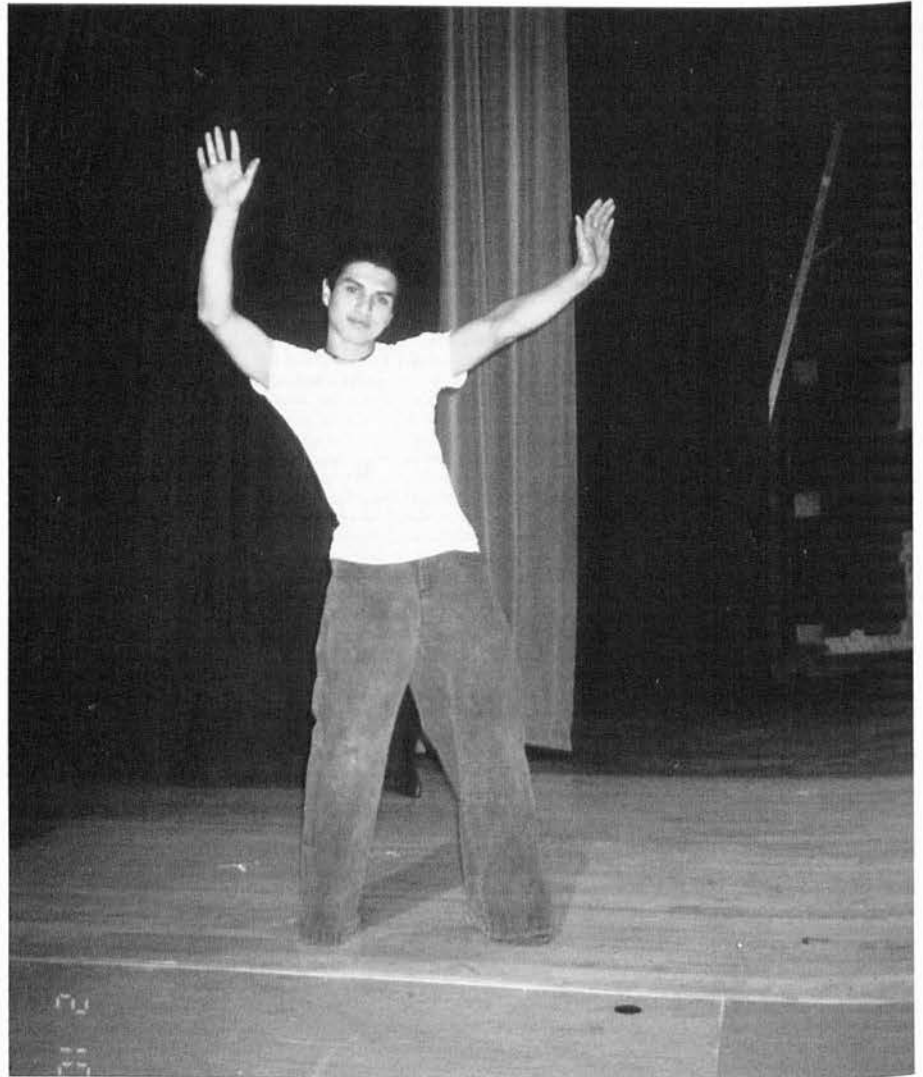

"It was a well-rounded variety of acts," Mrs. Pegi Georgeson, director, said. "It's not just for the student body, it's for a wide variety of audiences."

Out of the 48 acts that auditioned, 24 were accepted. The acts ranged from a dazzling piano performance to a hilarious first date skit and even a few ethnic dances.

"There was a big variety of cultures in our acts this year," Michelle Cabrales (12), assistant stage manager, said.

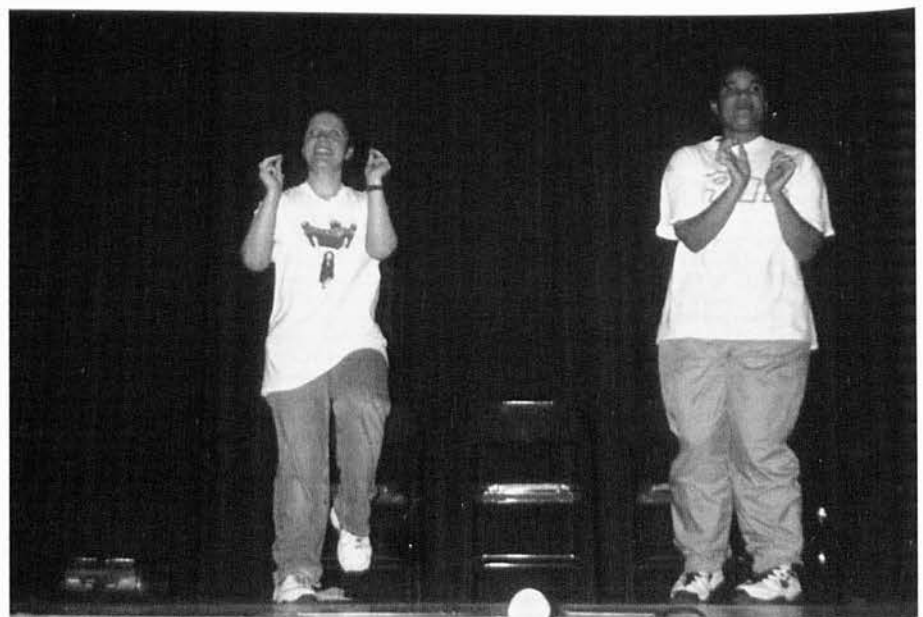

The Road Show's theme was Heart and Soul, named after A Cappella's musical selection and for the themes in the majority of the acts. It was performed on Feb. 20 and 21 at 7p.m, with a student matinee performance on Feb. 20.

"People were really enthusiastic," Dave Rennard (11) said. "The acts were really high quality."

French Club à la mode

By Marci Holmes

Activity after activity, week after week, French Club kept itself busy throughout the 1997-98 year, attending plays and learning more about French culture.

French Club participated in many events this year. The annual Film and Fondue party, where members sampled fondue and watched French films, was a big highlight for the students.

They also travelled to Lincoln to watch the French film Les Miserables.

"French Club was very busy this year, as they have always been, participating in activities and conferences almost every week," Beverly Fellman, French Club sponsor, said.

FNHS boogies down

By Marci Holmes

"French National Honor Society was truly an honor to all its members this year," Mrs. Beverly Fellman, French teacher, said.

FNHS started out the year with an AIDS walk for charity and a dinner at the French Café. They also teamed up with the French Club for cosmic bowling and other activities because members believed it was more fun to do activities as a group.

"I liked giving students the chance to learn more about French culture, and it was an honor to them when they were inducted into FNHS," Mrs. Daryl Bayer, FNHS sponsor, said.

Another activity was a French Riviera Day party, during which FNHS members participated in a beach party complete with swimsuits and French food, and a French discotheque.

"This year the French National Honor Society was very active and a great cultural experience. We had a blast and participated in a lot of neat projects," Rachel Slosburg (12) said.

German Club builds gingerbread houses

By Kim Schulte

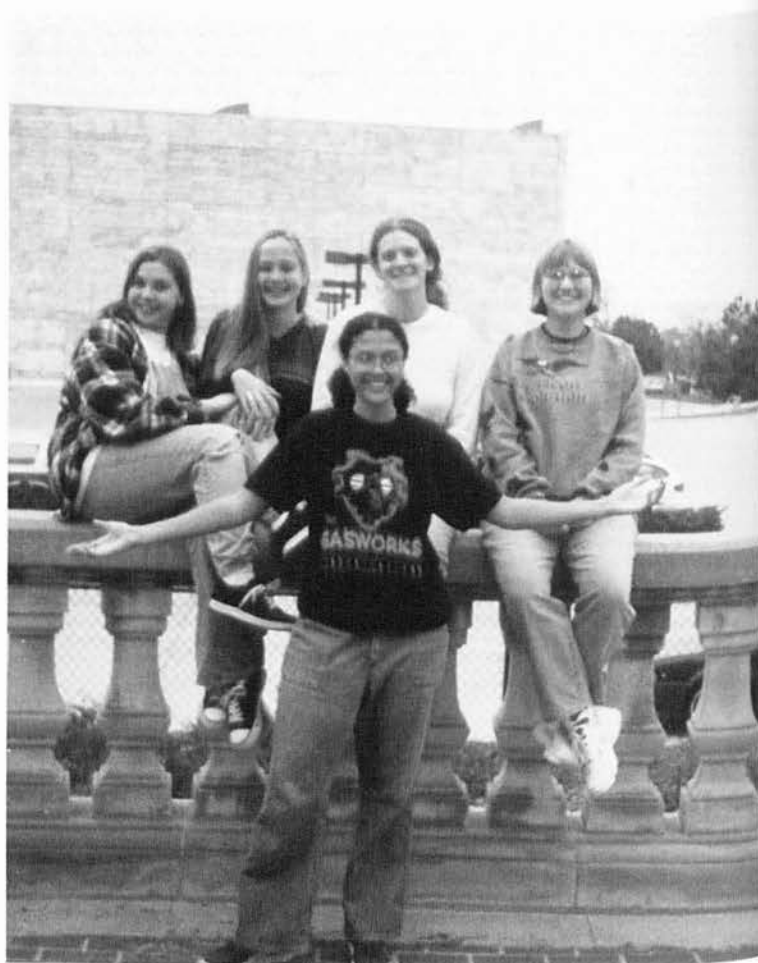

German Club sponsored many activities, ranging from its annual miniature golf tournament to selling advent calendars.

German Club met each month to plan its monthly activity. One of the most interesting aspects of German Club was its participation with German Clubs from other OPS schools.

"German Club was a very interactive club that involved everyone in different activities," Megan Mullen (12) said.

German Club was known for the spectacular gingerbread houses that its members made in December.

"German Club was great, especially the food, because the Germans make the best food. My favorite activity was when we made gingerbread houses. There were always lots of goodies," Emily Martin (12) said.

GNHS celebrates culture

By Kim Schulte and Kelsey Stump

German National Honor Society kept itself busy this year with many different cultural activities.

They started off the year with their annual induction. It allowed new students to extend their involvement in GNHS.

Throughout the year, they participated in many cultured events. They did their annual caroling at the Lutheran Home, which brought joy to many residents. They also participated in United Nations Day at Joslyn Castle where they got to meet new and interesting people, as well as show off their German knowledge. Beside these events, GNHS did progressive dinners, scavenger hunts and many community services.

"GNHS was a good opportunity for students to learn about German culture," Josh Priluck (12) said.

Spanish Club creates new ties with ESL

By Kim Schulte

The Spanish Club accomplished one of its goals this year, to participate in many activities.

The club created new ties with ESL. They invited the ESL students to plan fun and interesting activities.

Spanish Club made a special effort when they gave a helping hand in the food drive. The club found that when everyone participated in the activity, it was very successful.

The Spanish Club did a lot of eating out and helping various organizations around Omaha.

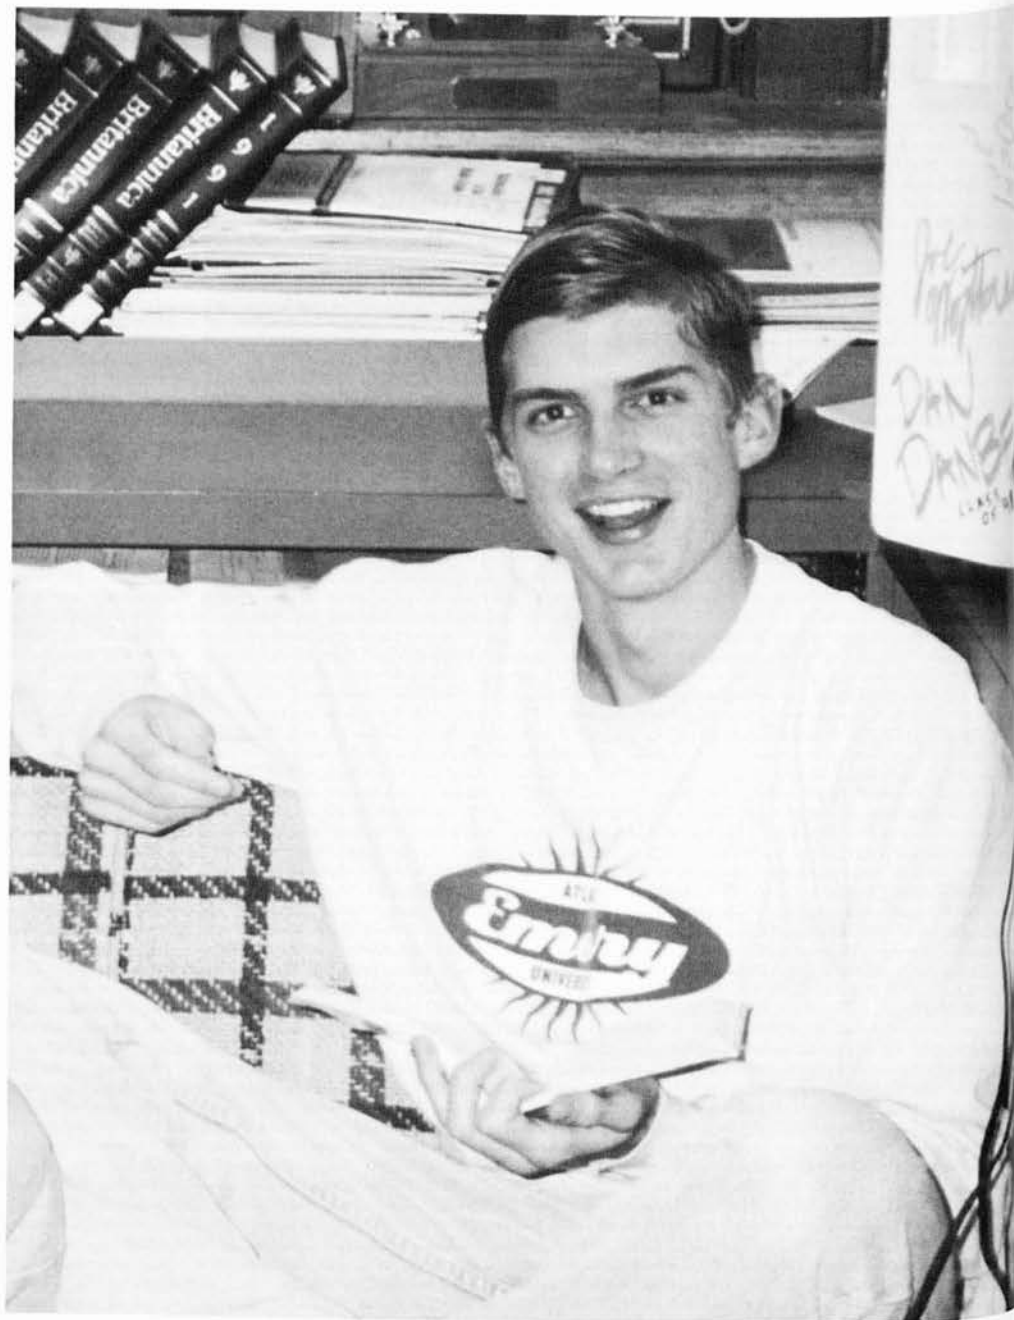

"In the past, clubs haven't been as active, but my mission was to be active and listen," Kayleta Adams (12) said.

JCL carries on valuable traditions

By Jill McFee and Kelsey Stump

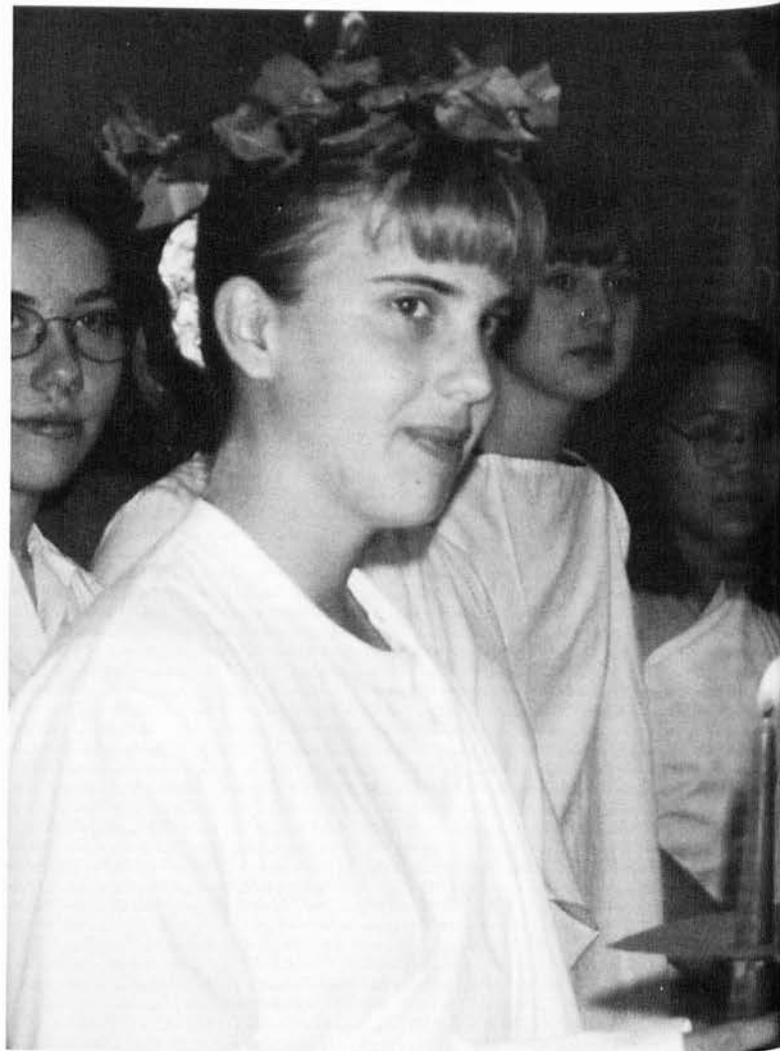

Junior Classical League, otherwise known as JCL, is the oldest Latin club in the United States. Its traditions date back to 1905 when the club was founded.

JCL participated in many memorable events this year. This included a barbeque at Alyssa Arthur's house, dinner at the Greek Islands restaurant, haunted houses, cosmic bowling and much more.

"I lied and said I had a heart murmur so I wouldn't have to see the snakes at the haunted house," Ms. Rita Ryan, the club's sponsor, said.

This year JCL had somewhere between 50 and 60 members. This included two state officers, Christa Lowitzer (12) and David Rennard (11). They both held the experience in high regards.

"We had a lot of fun in JCL this year," Beth Weis said.

Drama Club supplies humor, talent

By Kelsey Stump

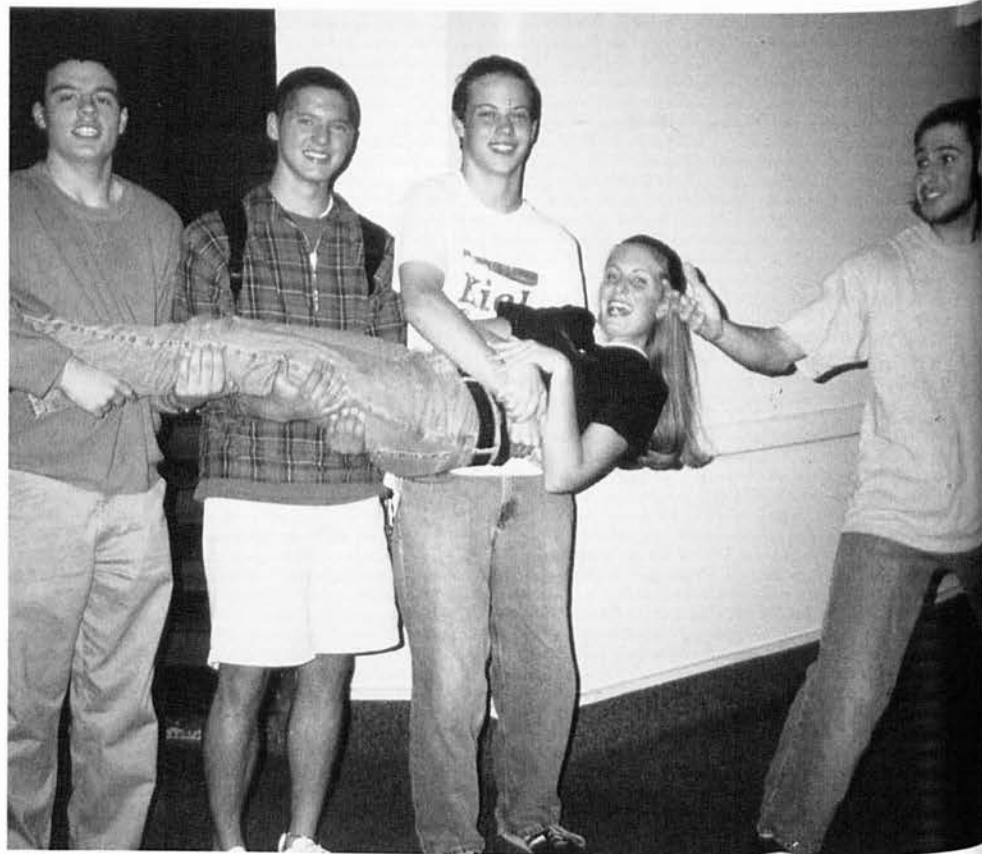

In Drama Club and Thespians, everyone was a character. Their meetings always proved to be entertaining and humorous. Drama Club was perfect for those students who like to laugh and improve their acting skills.

The club sponsored lock-ins, candy sales and raptor games in order to fundraise and strengthen communication within the group. Many members participated in these activities and enjoyed the experience.

"One of the many joys of Drama Club was witnessing our illustrious leaders in action," Dustin Frank (11) said.

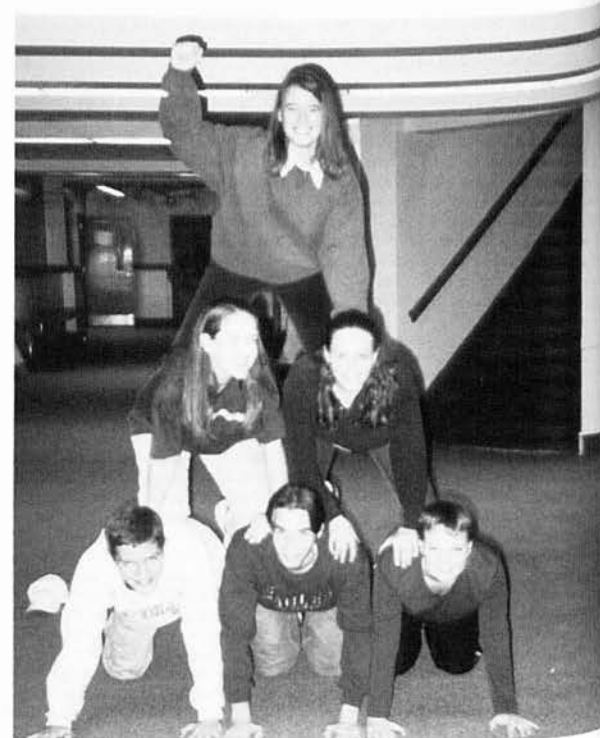

Drama Club elected officers to conduct their meetings and provide leadership. There was a president, a vice-president, sergeant at arms, secretary and treasurer.

"Thought being sergeant at arms, I get the privilege of yelling at the freshmen and other miscreants in order to keep Drama Club alive," Andrew Nelson (11) said.

MESA paves the road to the future

By Marci Holmes

MESA members excel in many areas each year, and this year was no different.

Math, Engineering and Science Achievement Club started out the year by choosing students on a selective basis. Members were chosen based on their success in school, especially the math and science departments.

"MESA was a great organization to join. I got to meet different students in every grade," Felecia Ellis (11) said.

The group focused on increasing opportunities for minority students in math, science and engineering fields, but any college-bound student could join. Students involved in MESA participated in ACT preparation classes, campus visits and college application night.

"Being a sponsor gave us an opportunity to work with students that we probably would not have encountered. We encouraged the students to continue in the areas of math and science and hopefully excel in them," Patricia Wallington and Pamela D. King, club sponsors, said.

Math Club Goes to War

By Marci Holmes

This year in Math Club, many new members experienced the thrill of their life. They went to war.

Yes, war. Math Club, for years, has participated in a war every Friday, during which members competed against other members to see who was superior. The questions ranged from difficult high level math questions to sports trivia.

In Math Club, everyone held a position. All seniors were eligible for president, and made a speech. Most of the speeches were quite interesting, but one highlight of this year's election was when Sam Kruger (12) dismantled the podium accidentally, and threw it on the ground. Other members were eligible for any position, such as bouncer or goddess of cheating.

"Math Club was like a family, in a Mafia sort of way," President Sam Kruger (12) said.

Math Club also competed in various math bowls and competitions. Most of the students went to the first tournament, but only a selected few went to the other competitions.

"Math Club was a curious composite of curious people in the never-ending pursuit of pure truth and beauty," Mr. John Waterman, advisor of the Math Club, said.

History Club pursues knowledge

By Kelsey Stump

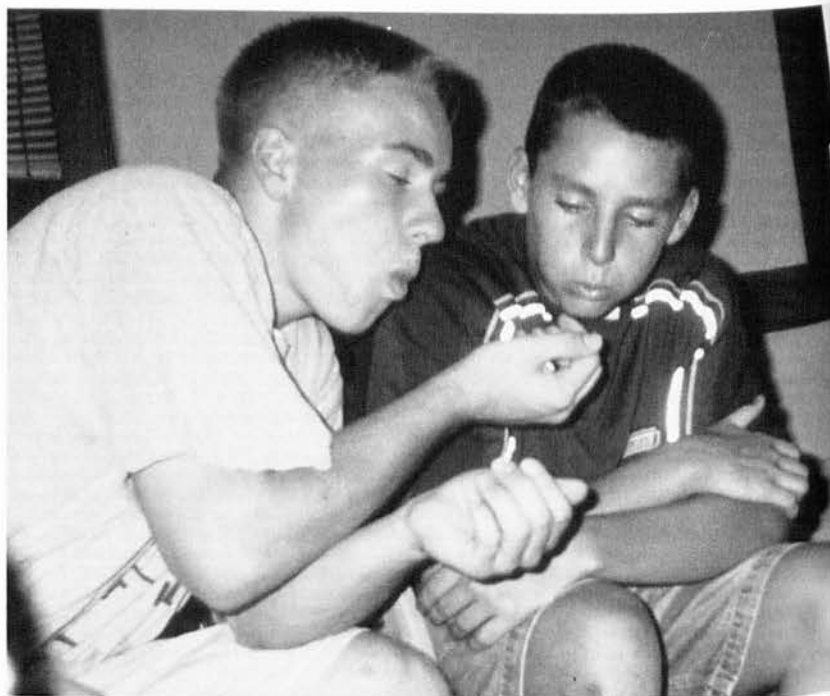

The 1997-98 History Club was filled with knowledge this year. Its game of choice was Trivial Pursuit, which they played at their first meeting.

"It was a lot of fun when I played against Mrs. Denniston-Reed and I won," Leslie Ujhely (12) said.

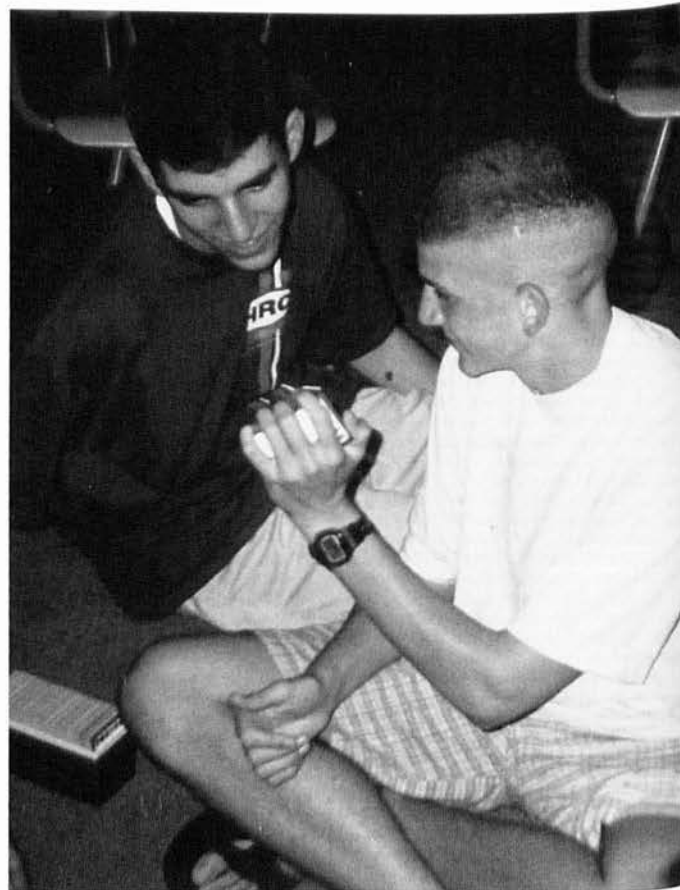

Mrs. Vicki Denniston-Reed was the club's sponsor. She is a former Lewis and Clark Junior High School Social Studies teacher who now teaches history at Central.

There were no officers in History Club. Instead, an emperor or empress was selected at each meeting to lead the club at the next session. The emperor or empress was appointed to plan the subject matter and relate activities for the next club meeting.

History Club proved to be very knowledgeable and helpful to students who were struggling in social studies classes. It was also a wonderful learning experience for experts in the field.

Chess Club outsmarts competition

By Kim Schulte

In its second year, the Chess Club challenged members to think creatively and outsmart their opponents. They held a meeting every Wednesday after school to improve their chess skills.

Chess Club members were part of the Chess League in Omaha. In February, they participated in a state chess championship.

This year there were many new players who strived to place higher at their competitions. After a great first year, the members hoped to reach higher goals and learn new strategies.

"I was a beginner, but I learned new moves at each meeting because the more experienced people helped me," Monica Waiiu (10) said.

FBLA leads the field

By Marci Holmes

FBLA was not just meant for business leaders, but meant for anyone who wanted to be involved in a business-type competition.

Bo Gebbie (12), president, led FBLA (Future Business Leaders of America) in many activities during the course of the year.

They participated in such events as Honey Sunday, Toys for Tots, haunted houses and other community events.

"FBLA was a fun and challenging group that competed all over the country, all while meeting new people," Bo said.

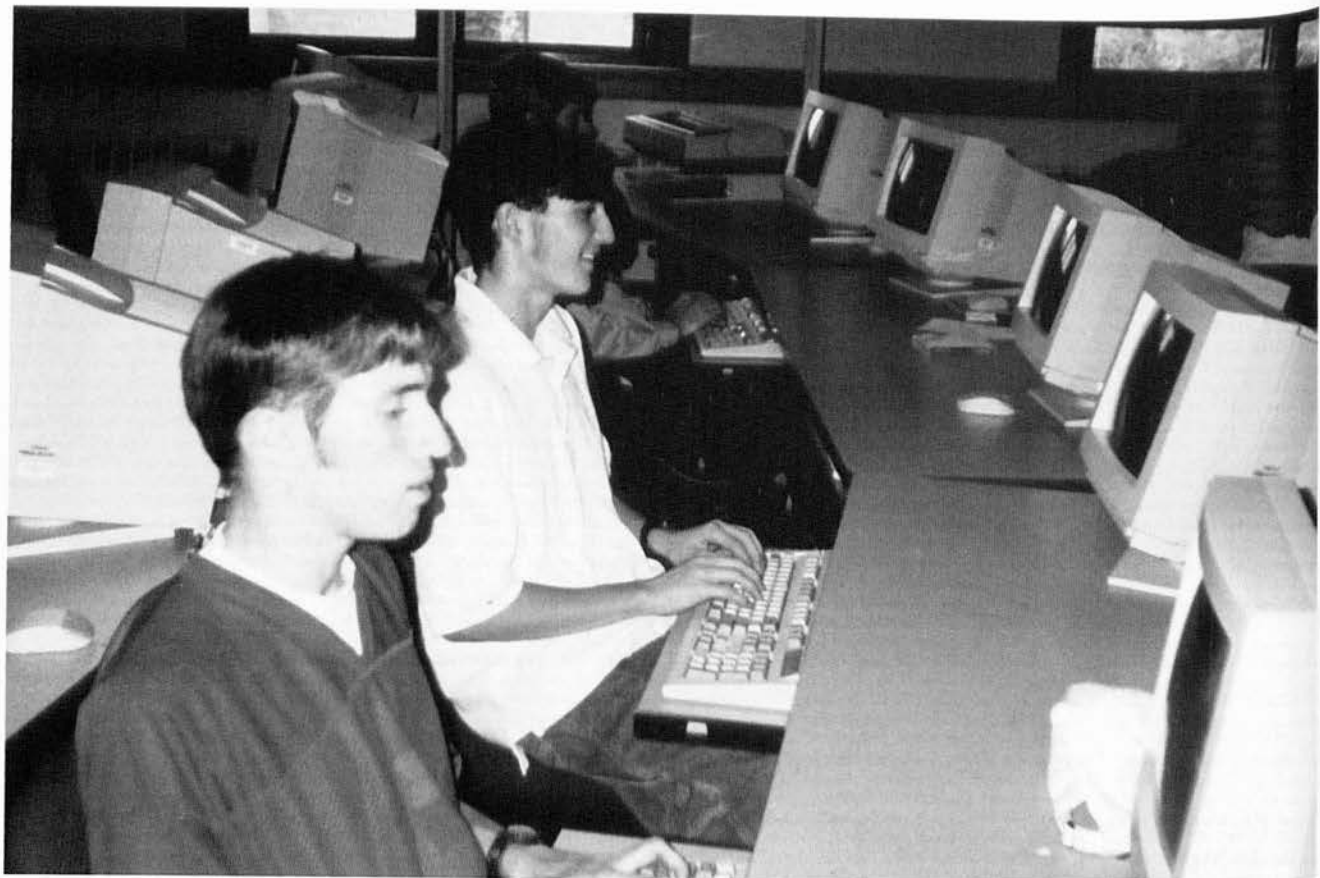

They also competed in various tournaments and activities. FBLA members used their business and marketing skills to match their wit with other members from different schools.

They attended conferences and prepared for their competitions under the leadership of the FBLA officers.

"We had fun while using our business knowledge in business situations," Chris Colegrove (11) said.

DECA: a world of opportunities

By Marci Holmes

From ringing bells to wrapping gifts, Central High DECA members participated in an assortment of activities this year.

"There were a lot of activities to choose from," Jody Baines (11) said.

DECA, an association of marketing students, participated in competitions, designed surveys and baked cookies. Students met people from all over Nebraska and the United States at their various competitions.

"I liked being involved in DECA because it got me into the competition and I got to meet new people," Emilie Parrott (11) said.

Members got the chance to be hosts and hostesses for the Saturn car company in their annual customer appreciation day. DECA attended a variety of conferences and competitions, including DECA Districts, State and Nationals.

"My favorite activity was the State competition in Lincoln because I was able to meet a lot of new people from all over Nebraska," Bo Gebbie (12) said.

The officers for DECA were: President, Sam Kruger (12); Senior Vice President, Amber Ingram (12); Junior Vice President, Margaret Kukula (11); Vice President of Civic Conscience, Brooktynn Zendejas (12); Vice President of Finance, Lynn Anderson (12); Vice President of Social Activities, Jenny Tekesky (12); Vice President of Public Relations, Todd Jacobson (12) and Vice President of Professional Activities, Josh Priluck (12).

Principal's Advisory

By Kelsey Stump

This year the Principal's Advisory Board took a stand and discussed many topics and changes within Central as well as the whole Omaha Public School district. Topics ranging from Central's parking problems to the new superintendent were discussed among freshmen through seniors.

The board met four times this year. In these short periods of time, Dr. Gary Thompson was able to gather students' opinions and use them to better the environment at Central, not only for current students but also for incoming freshmen.

"I felt the meeting with the superintendent was very enjoyable and helpful," Nicole Neuman (11) said.

Omaha Public School's new superintendent, Dr. John Mackiel, took time out of his schedule to come to Central in November and hear what the students had to say about some of the upcoming changes within the district. Overall, many students and faculty members agreed that the meeting was a beneficial experience.

Film Club keeps it rollin'

By Kim Schulte

"Film Club worked the whole year to create films and by the end of the year had film expertise," Ms. Carol Krejci, club sponsor, said.

Club members learned about film creation first. They learned how to make films throughout the year. Then they had the chance to direct and make their own production. Members also had the chance to write their own film scripts.

"Film Club gave people the opportunity to express themselves in a fun and creative way," Becky Goldberg (12) said.

"The brains goes to the students, I just helped when I could," Ms. Krejci said.

International Club dances the night away

By Marci Holmes

International Club gave students from all cultures a chance to experience life in the "American way," a club sponsor said.

Ms. Sheila Houston said International Club members participated in many activities this year, including bowling, ice skating, roller skating and dancing. Each member was eligible to participate in any or all of the activities and many said that they learned a lot about both America and their own countries.

"I liked being in International Club because we met many different people from other countries and learned about their customs," Jorge Morales (11) said.

International Club membership was not limited. They had an open enrollment and the participation for each activity varied.

"We enjoyed the activities as much as the students did," Houston said. "It was very rewarding to see our students experience American activities for the first time."

Physics Club builds to new heights

By Marci Holmes

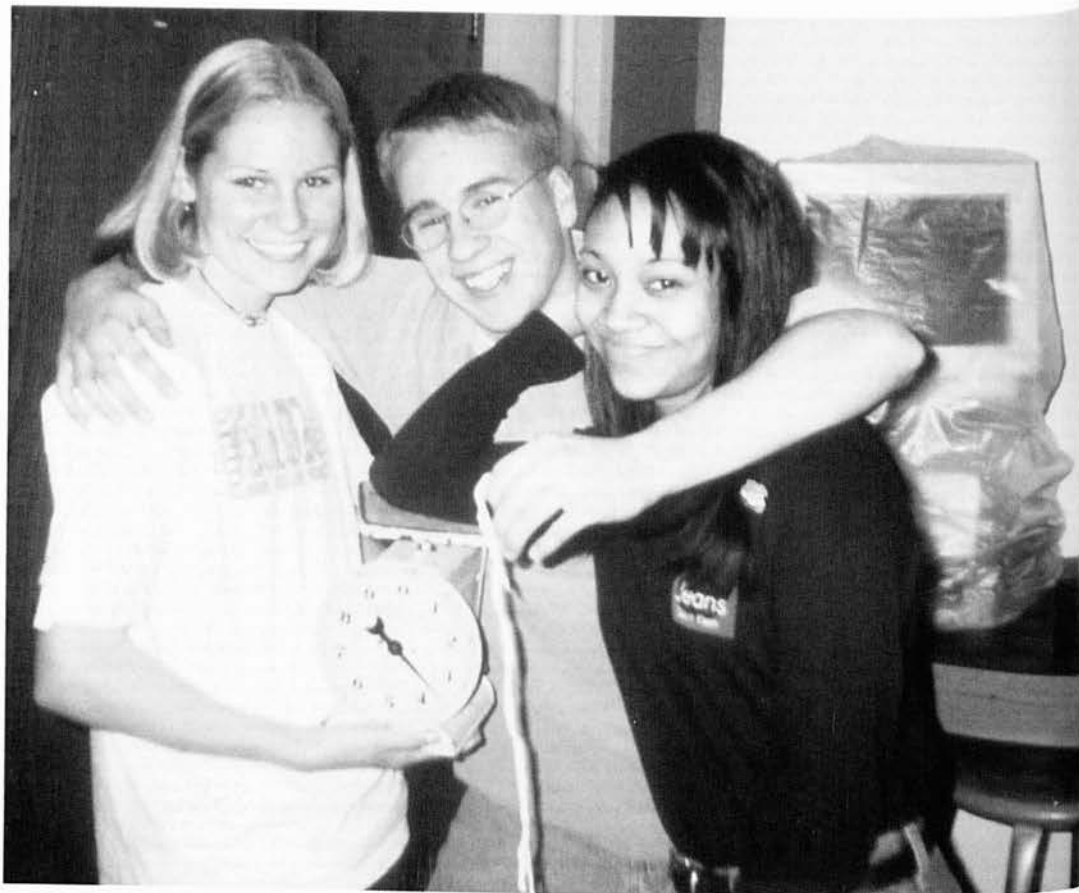

"Physics Club gave students a chance to explore the world in a new way," Alyssa Arthur (12) said.

The Physics Club increased its membership this year. Many people joined to participate in the numerous competitions.

"I liked being the sponsor because Physics Club challenged the brightest minds," Ms. Jane Colling, sponsor, said.

Physics Club participated in the annual Balsa Wood Truss Competition, held at Oak View Mall. This event consisted of building bridges while following careful rules and guidelines.

They also participated in Physics Field Day, an event held by Creighton University. Members participated in an egg catapult, a bridge building competition and a Ping-Pong carrier tournament.

Art Club spreads creativity

By Kim Schulte

"Art Club gave me a chance to interact with people who love art as much as I do and we could explore possibilities outside the class," Kelly Connor (12) said.

This year was Art Club's first year as a club. The club's sponsor was Ms. Margaret Quinn, who thought Central needed an Art Club so the students could do something they enjoy.

Members painted pumpkins for the Children's Hospital in October. This gave the children who spent Halloween in the hospital a sense of holiday feeling. Members also started a new tradition at Central. They made chokers, anklets and bracelets which were sold to the students after school. They also worked on a new mural for the library wall.

"Art Club is a fun and creative outlet," Sally Otis (12) said.

■ African -American History class

Students explore culture

By Jill McFee

This year, there was no longer an African-American History Club, but students still had the option of taking a class on the same subject. The African-American History class, taught by Ms. Patricia Brizendine, researched the history of African Americans.

The students participated in activities such as sampling traditional African-American cuisine prepared by Ms. Brizendine's mother.

Lois Thomas from the Pulse Organization, which handles teen violence, came and spoke to the class. Also Mr. Mullen, a student teacher at Central who considers himself an authority on Omaha's African-American history, spoke to the class.

The students also participated in African American History workshops at other Omaha Public Schools.

Minority Scholars prove success

By Kelsey Stump

The Minority Scholars Program was designed to provide an educational atmosphere for gifted minority students.

"Minority Scholars was a group I could go to where there were other minority students who were high achievers, like me," Adriana Piña (11) said.

Mrs. Terrie Saunders and Mrs. Kathy Maloney put the program together last year. Students responded well to it, and Minority Scholars proved to be a success. Students could go to room 229 for tutoring during their lunch periods.

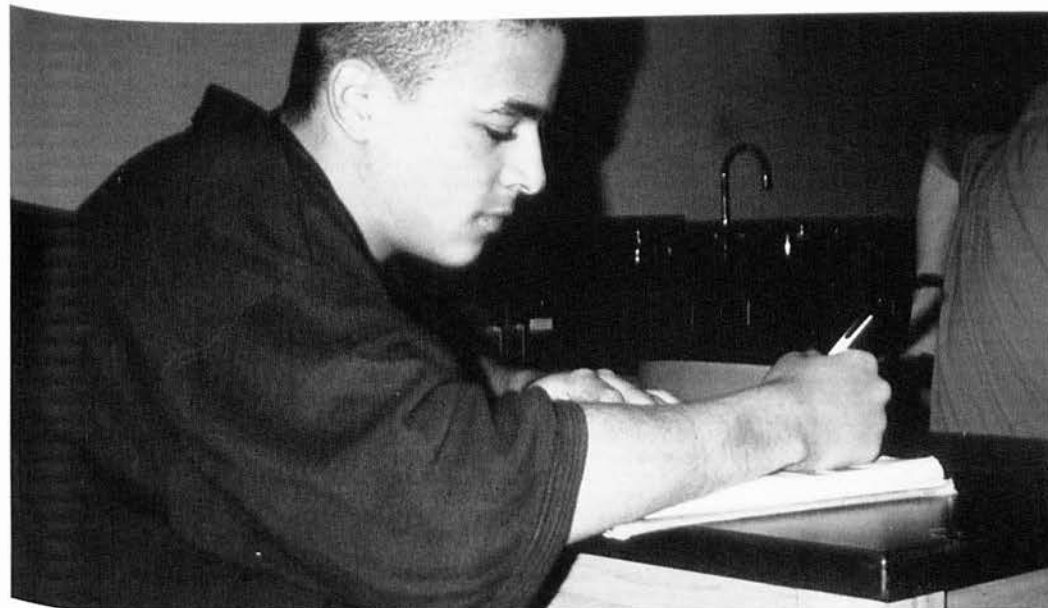

"We often arranged for guest speakers to come in from the Hispanic and African communities to speak with the students," Mrs. Saunders said.

College representatives also came in and spoke to the students about their opportunities as minorities.

Mock Trial witnesses victory

By Kelsey Stump

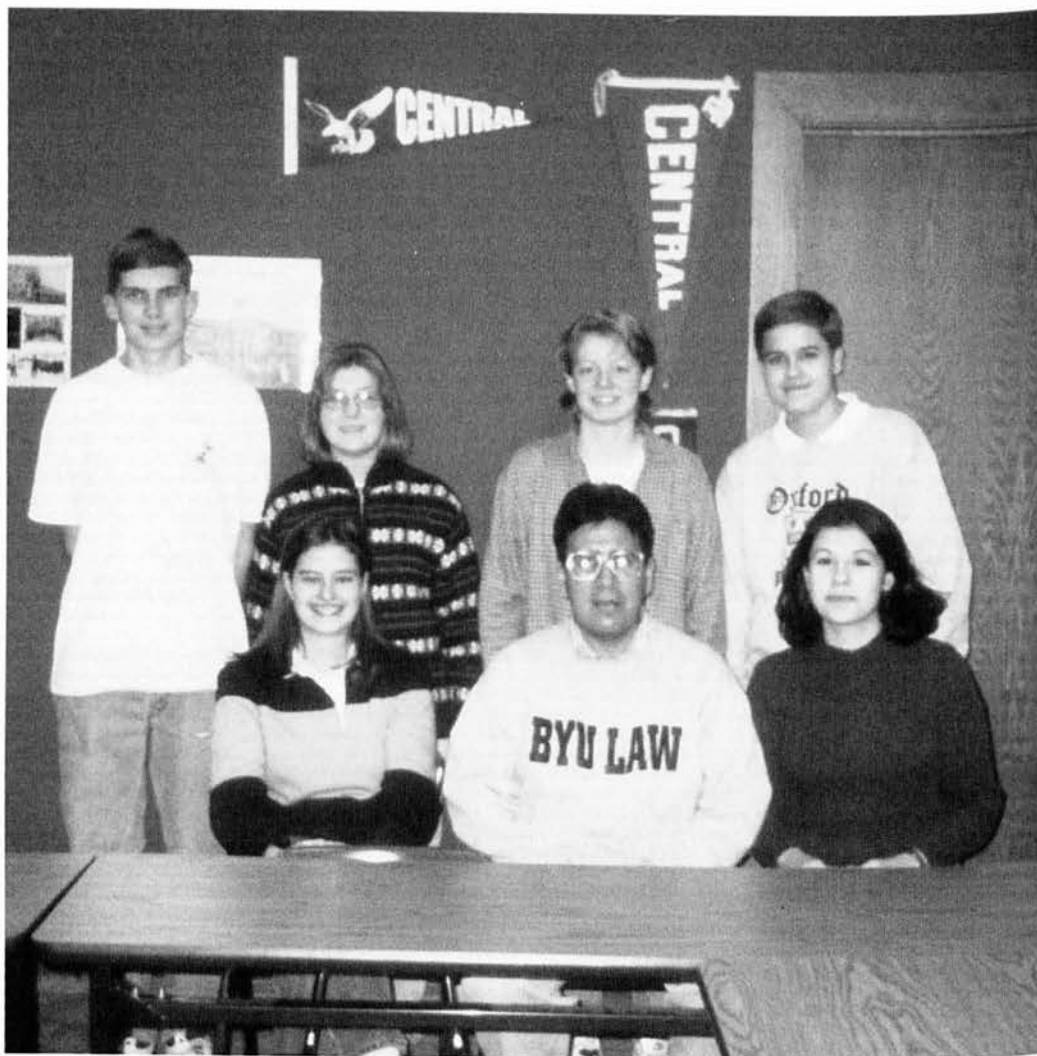

Mock Trial went to court this year and proved to be a huge success.

The club was new to Central this year. It consisted of six to seven participants, either male or female. Of the participants, there were three attorneys and three to four witnesses. The team also had an attorney coach, Mr. Ed Zendejas and a teacher sponsor, Mrs. Carol Hipp.

The new group built a strong case against their opponents using this year's theme, State of Nebraska vs. Pat Peterson. They were given affidavits, a coroner's report and other exhibits to apply to the case. They were also given a time limit of ten minutes to prove either side of the case.

The budding group of lawyers and prosecutors proved that they were all work and no play when they won three of the four trials they participated in.

"It was stressful, and it made me realize what a courtroom is really like," Siri Heese (12) said.

Bowling Club knocks down competition

By Kelsey Stump

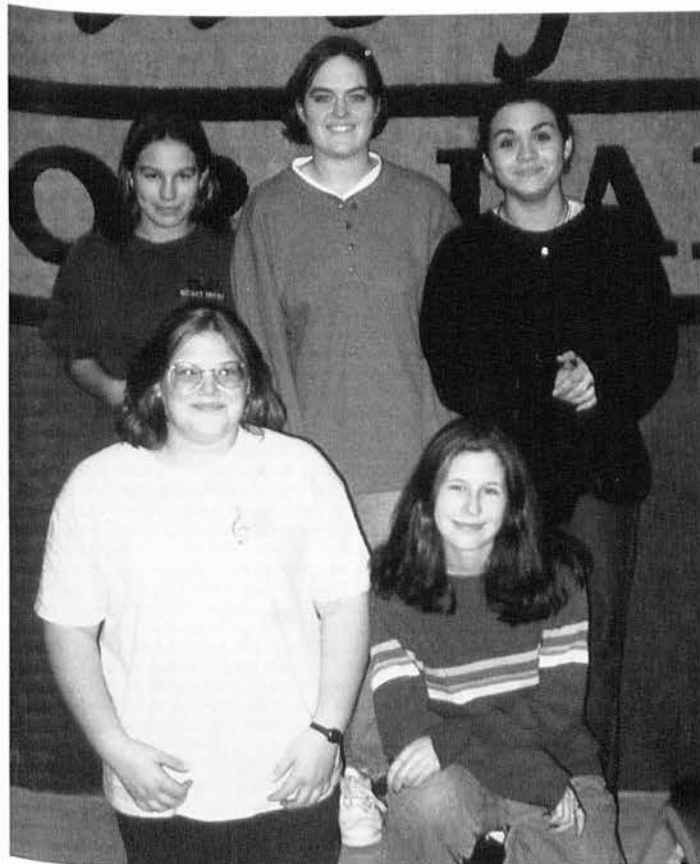

Bowling Club knocked down the competition this year when they challenged other OPS high schools at Kelley's Hilltop Lanes.

At the open of the season, bowling club competed in tournaments and spent much of their time practicing at the bowling alley. The practice paid off this year when they ended with a winning season.

Instead of the traditional club, which involves both boys and girls, Bowling Club was more like a sport in the sense that they had separate teams.

"The girls team gained a lot of new players and came a long way this year," Julie Weston (12) said. "The boys team also did really well this year."

Varsity Football kicks into scoring season

By Brooke Kelly and Lauren Pettit

This year's Varsity Football team proved themselves fierce competition with a strong starting line-up once again.

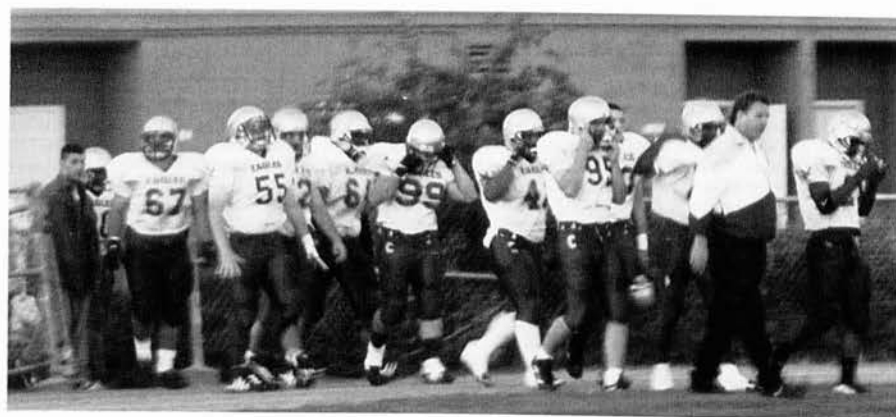

The Eagles headed into the season with an entire summer of hard work behind them. The team trained three days a week and also participated in a week long camp, which prepared them for the challenging season ahead.

"We played hard and gave 110 percent throughout the season. We started out slow but in the end we really pulled through," running back DeAntae Grixby (12) said. "We always played to win."

There were many key players that helped make the season a success. Seniors DeAntae Grixby, Cecil Evans and Lawrence Butler helped eliminate mistakes and contributed to a starting line-up that was hard to compete with.

Other players also contributed to making the team so powerful. Underclassmen Jamaine Billups (10), Terrell Gardner (11) and Brandon Williams (11) show that the Eagles have a promising future for the years to come.

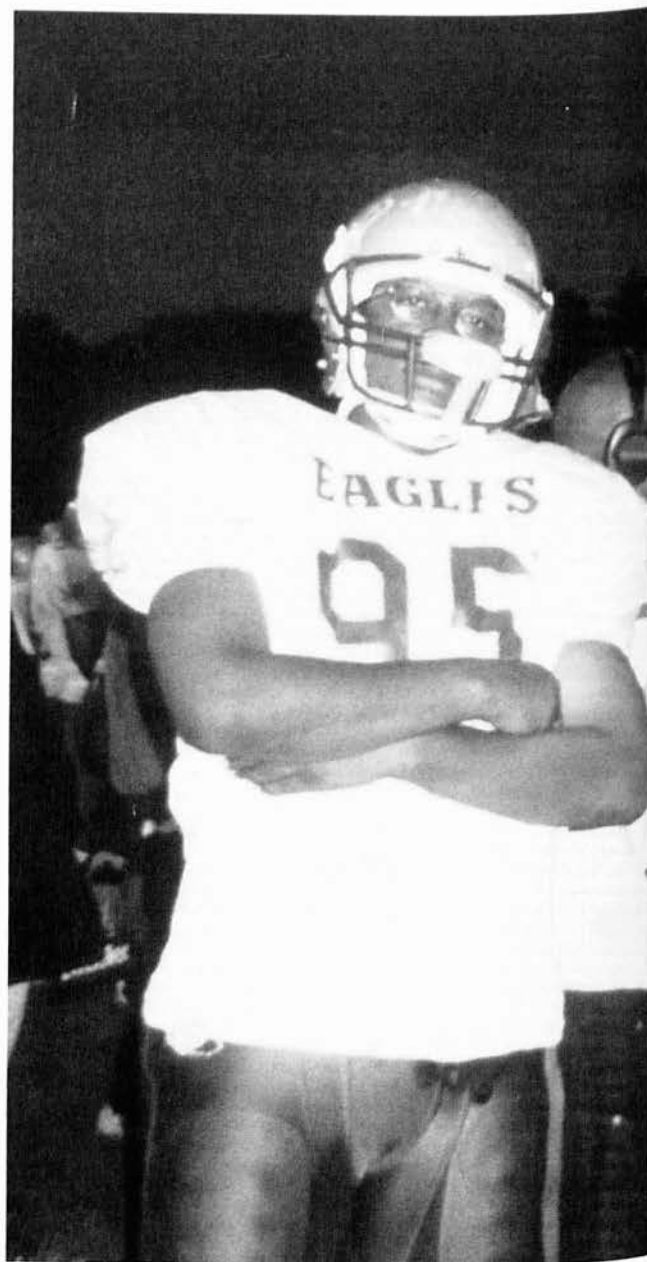

"We took a little longer to click than expected, but once we did we showed everyone what Central football was all about," Brandon Williams (11) said.

Underclass Football

By Mikayla Ward

The Underclass Football teams stayed competitive throughout the season by playing advanced teams.

The Freshman A team worked hard during practices and games to prepare for next year.

The Reserve team had a very rewarding season. The team did not contain as many players as other school's sophomore teams, but it was the only team to beat Prep.

"By the time this year's Reserve team become seniors, the team will have a very good record," Coach Robert Lessley said.

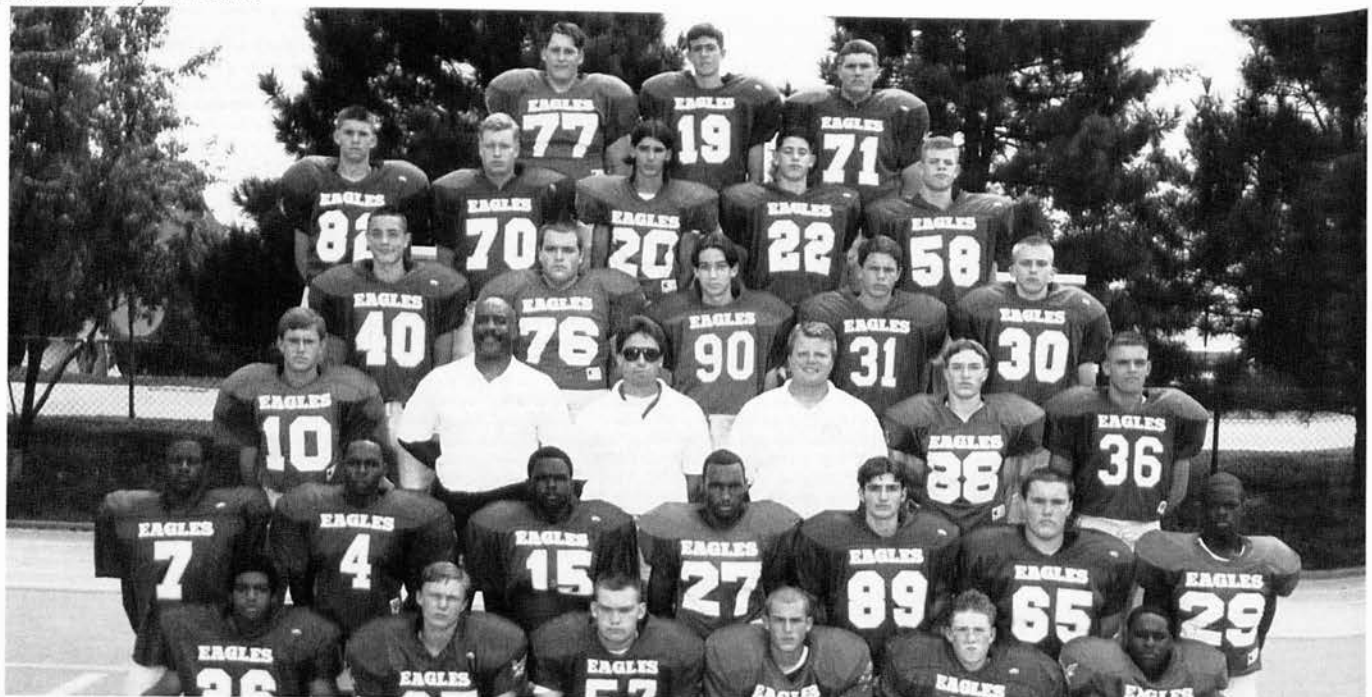

The Junior Varsity team had a tough schedule for the first part of the season, but by the end of fall they had mastered many important playing skills.

"I believe that because of the work and team effort we had this year, next year will be a success," Mike Sheehan (11) said.

Varsity Softball slides into season

By Lauren Pettit

This year's Varsity softball team proved to be a very motivated group.

Five seniors helped pull the team together with their experience and dedication. Along with the five seniors, many underclassmen stepped up a level and provided fresh new talent in some key positions.

"The new coaches really brought unity to our team," Meghan Duffy (11) said. "We all played together as a whole."

The girls were led by the innovative coaching techniques of Kerri Semrad.

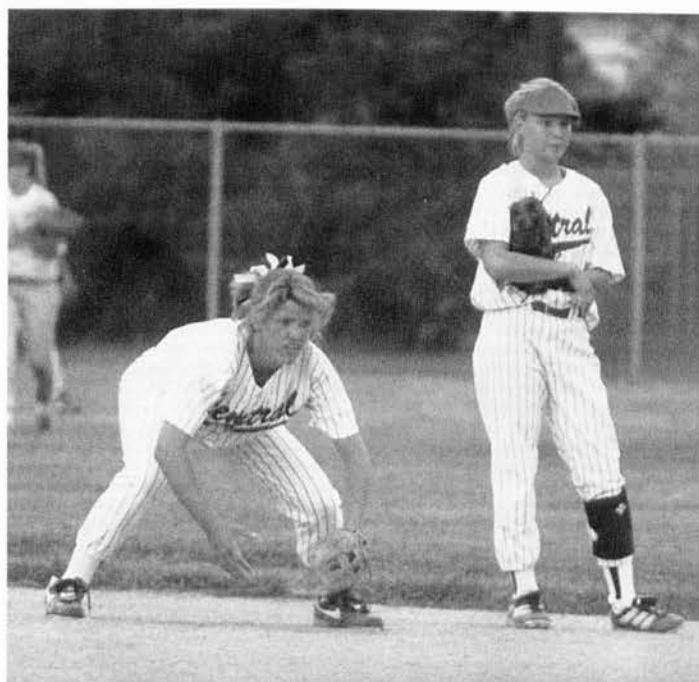

The team said that the season's success was due to the new coaching staff and their strategies.

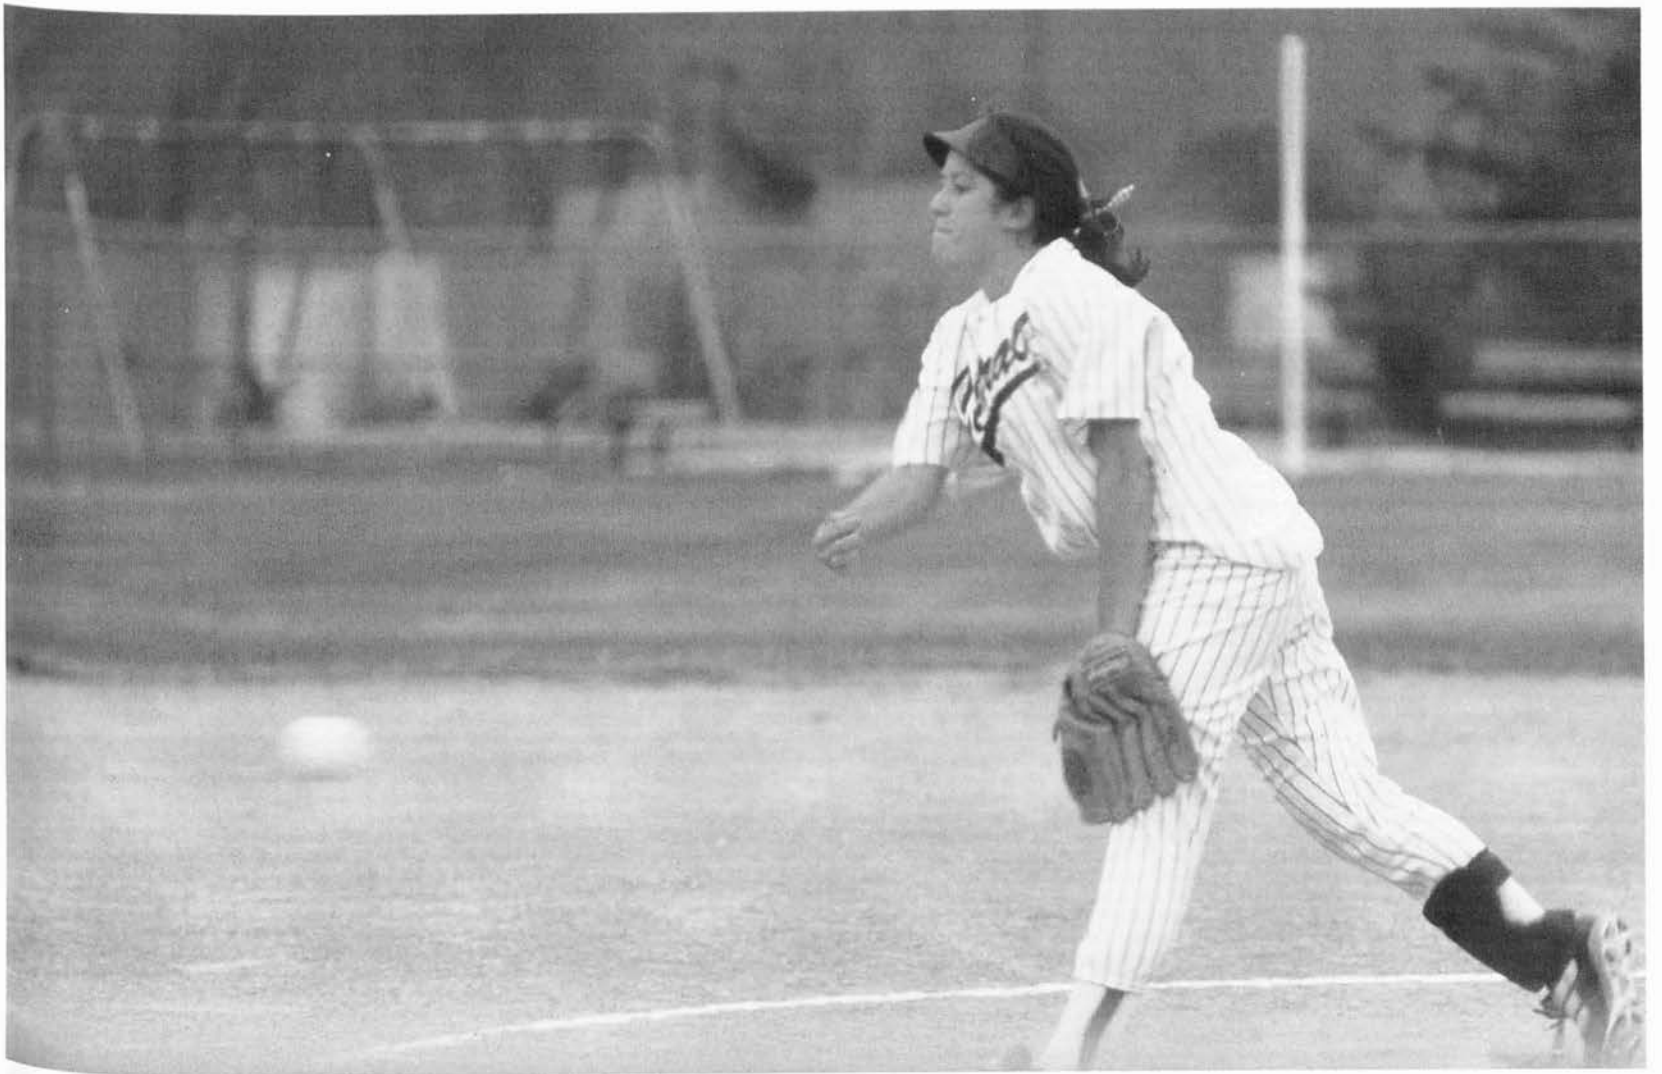

"The new coaching staff really worked hard," Sophia Theophilopoulos (10) said. "We all clicked. We've had a great season and the team got along really well."

Underclass Softball swings into winning season

By Mikayla Ward

The Junior Varsity Softball team had a great season with a 8-6 win over Marian at the Burke Invitational Tournament.

"The Eagles were successful because they never gave up," Coach Jim Monen said.

Mary Anderson (10) made many miracle catches in the outfield including a gamesaver in the win over Marian. Dana Hendee (11) hit a triple to beat Bellevue East. Miranda Edmonds' (9) rocket throws to the catcher put an end to most opponents' thoughts of stealing.

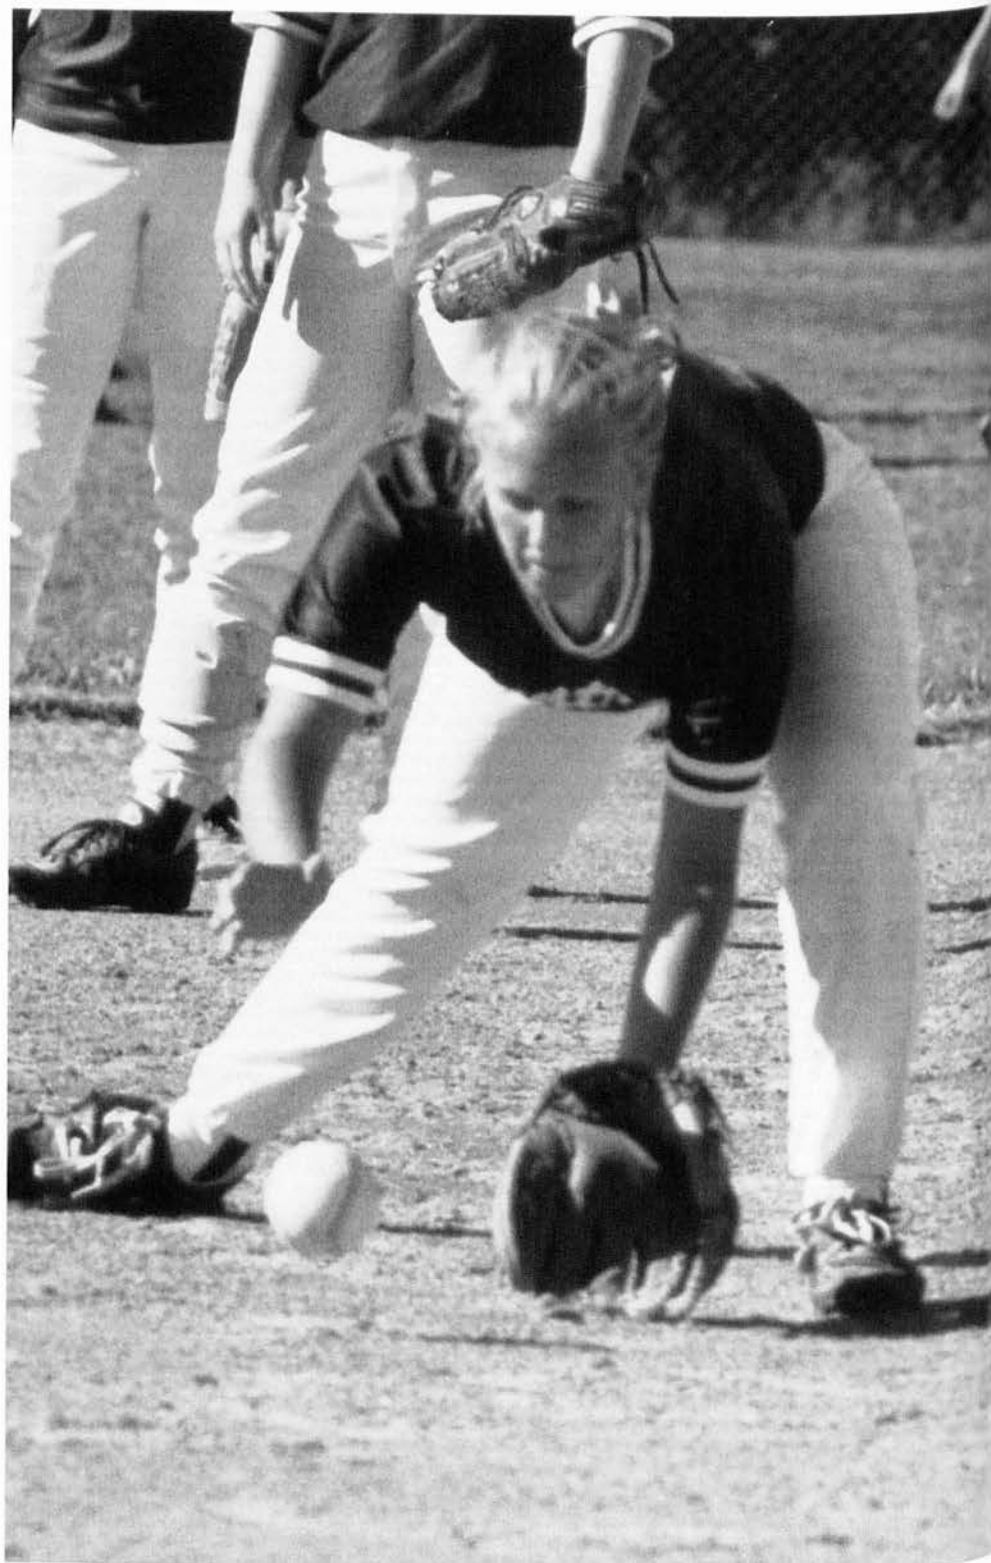

Shana Voycheske (10) hit a home run against Lincoln and helped the team by hitting triples. Maddie Wessleman (10) batted-in and scored the winning runs against Marian. The team's final record was 10-9.

"The Junior Varsity Team was one of the best in terms of working together. We fought hard every game and never gave up." Dana Hendee (11) said.

Mens Tennis swings into action

By Brooke Kelly

The Central High Men's Tennis team started and finished the season with impressive victories.

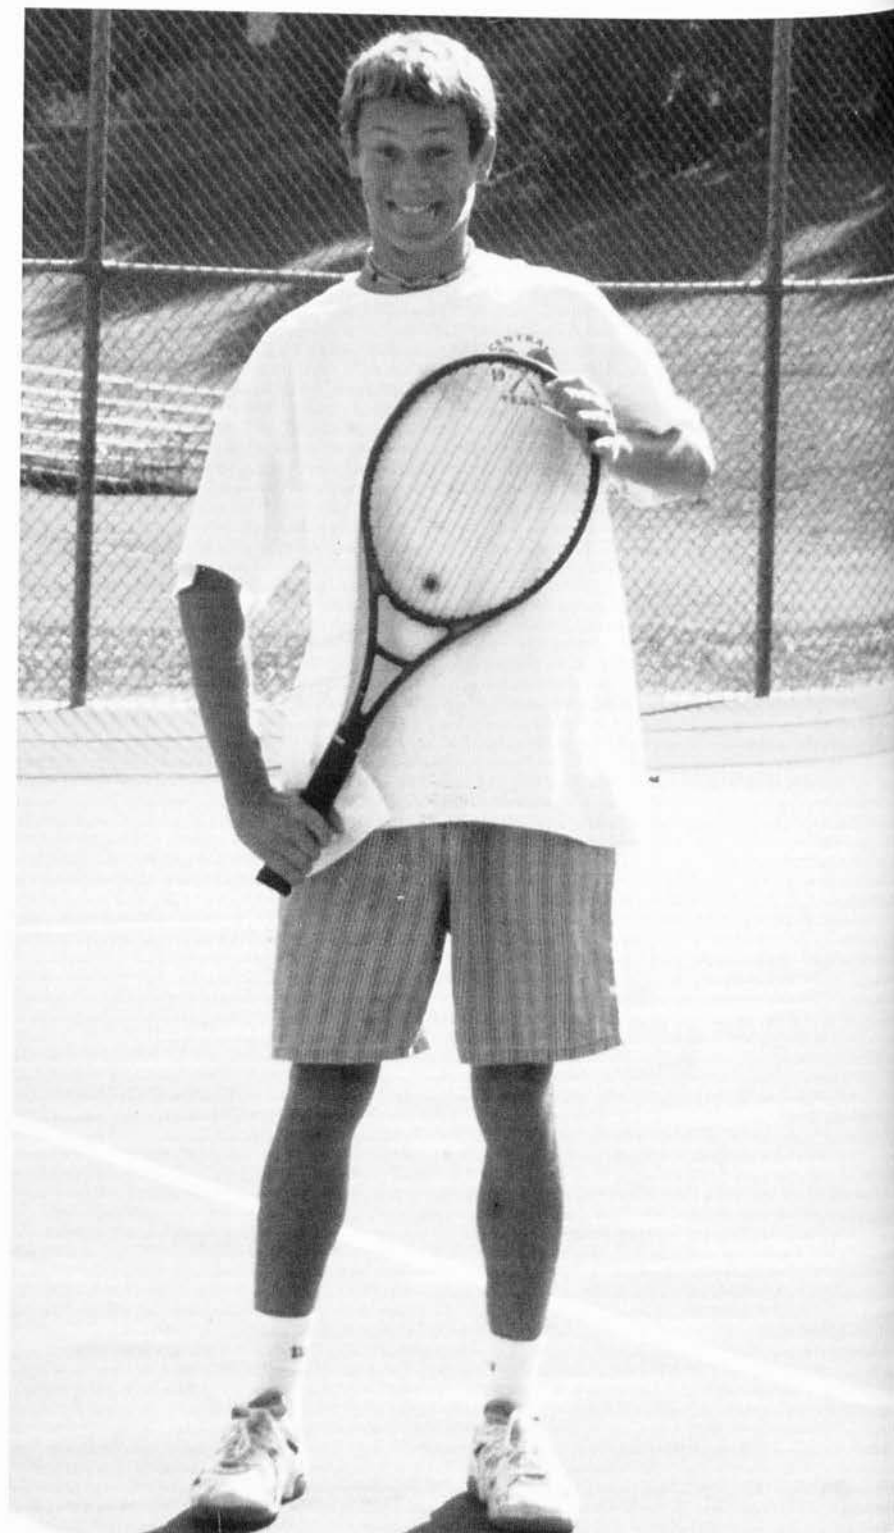

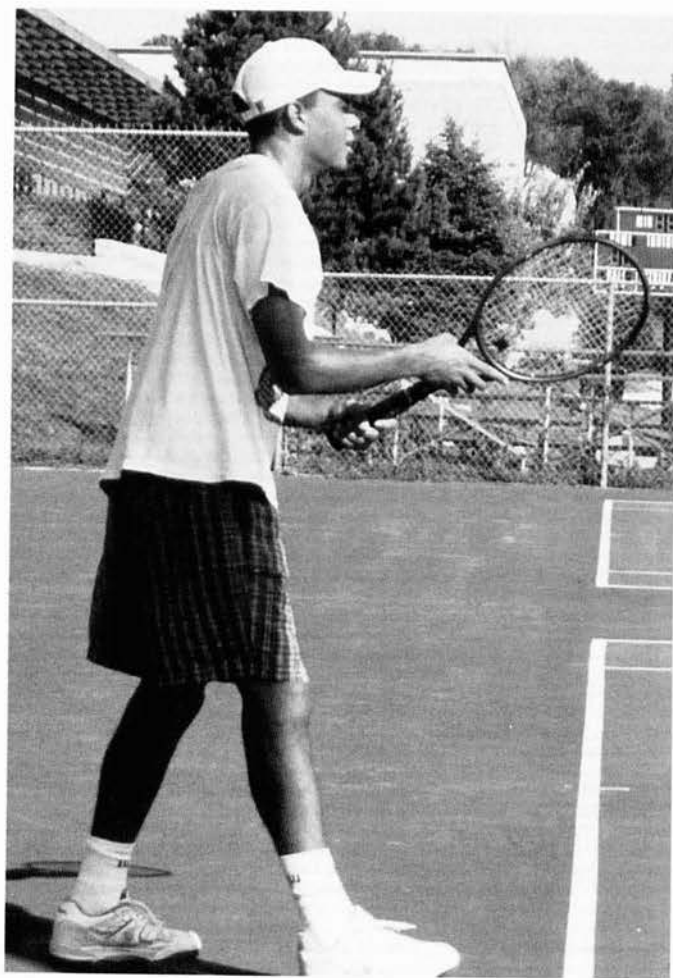

The team started practicing in mid-August, but some players participated in pre-season tournaments.

"Our team was very competitive this year. Overall we placed high throughout the metro and state," Charlie Carlin (11) said.

During the season, the team won the Millard West Invite, placed fourth in the Metro Conference and took fifth place at The State Tournament. Stuart Waters (11) also finished second in singles at Metro and took first in singles at State.

"It was a wonderful season," Coach John Waterman said.

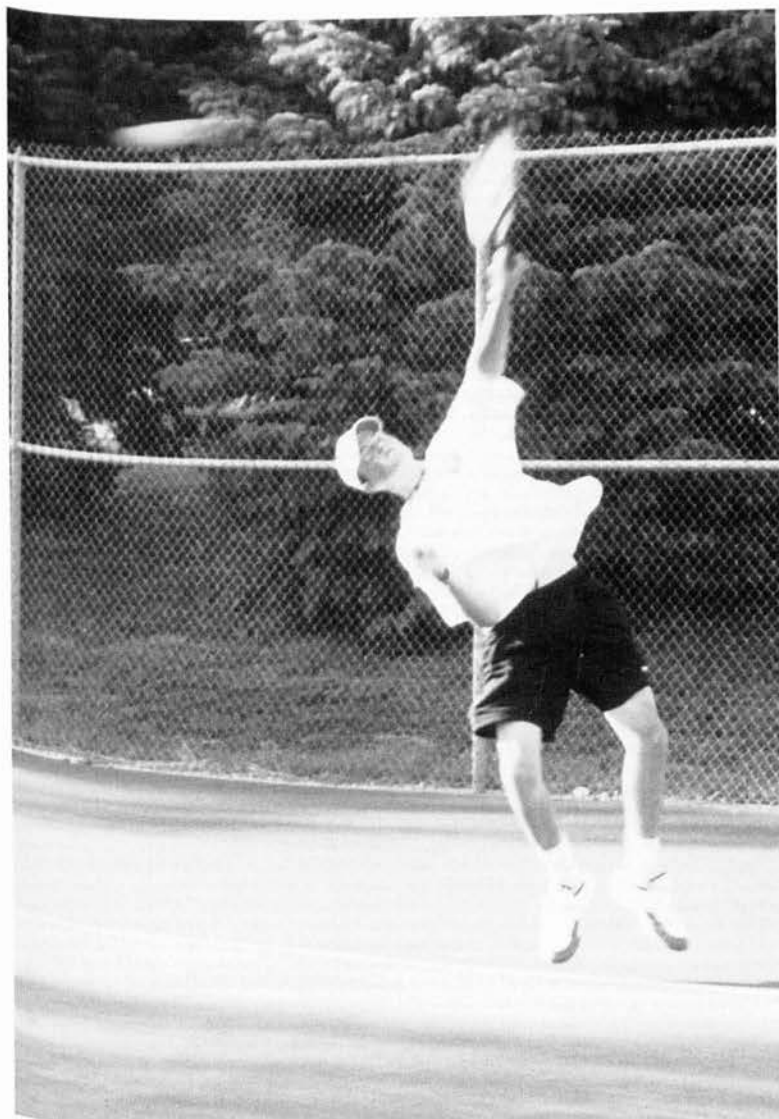

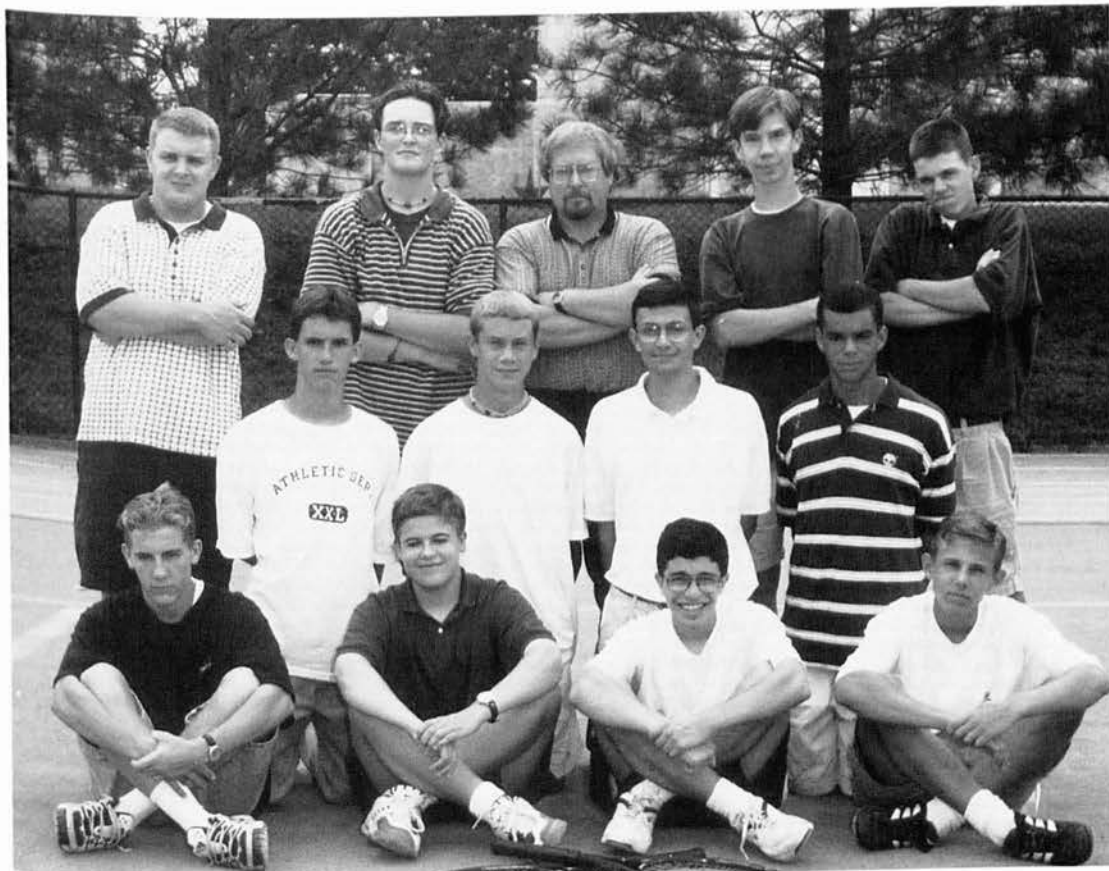

With players like Stuart Waters (11), Charlie Carlin (11) and Chris Ochsner (10) returning next year the tennis team has a bright future.

Girls Golf putts to rewarding season

By Mikayla Ward

The Girls Golf team started out strong this year with the addition of many new players.

"It was rewarding and fun to work with this group," Coach JoAnn Dustako said. "They were a fun group and to see them succeed was very rewarding."

The players were young, fun, spirited and very dedicated. They were ready to improve and learn new techniques. The team consisted of nine sophomores, two juniors and one senior.

Rachel Slosburg (12) and Stacy Cramer (11) were the returning lettermen and provided leadership for the other players. Rachel placed ninth in the Abraham Lincoln Invite. Stacy placed seventh in the Abraham Lincoln Invite.

"Playing on the Golf team was a lot of fun and hard work, but it was definitely worth it," Jessica Boro (10) said.

Cross Country keeps up the pace

By Brooke Kelly

The 1997-98 Cross Country team finished with yet another successful season.

Coach Tim Shipman said this year's team was successful because of its hard work and persistence.

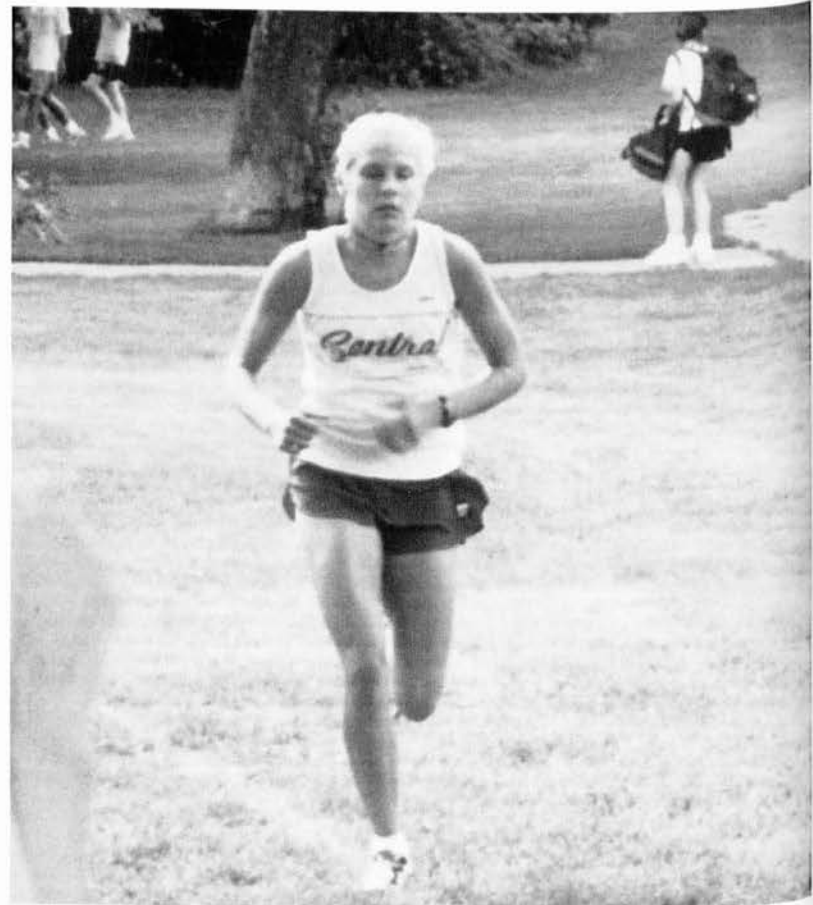

In order to prepare for this year's season, the members of the team had practices every Wednesday morning during the summer at UNO.

"There were many highlights during the season, but working with the kids was definitely one of the best," Coach Tim Shipman said.

Another highlight of the season took place when Annika Carlson (11) finished first at the State meet and took second at the Ralston meet.

"I think Cross Country was so successful this year due to the team unity and support for each other," Chris Scofield (12) said.

With many of the underclass runners returning, the team is prepared for another great season.

Varsity Volleyball shakes things up

By Lauren Pettit

The Lady Eagles Varsity Volleyball team proved this year that their hard work and dedication has finally paid off.

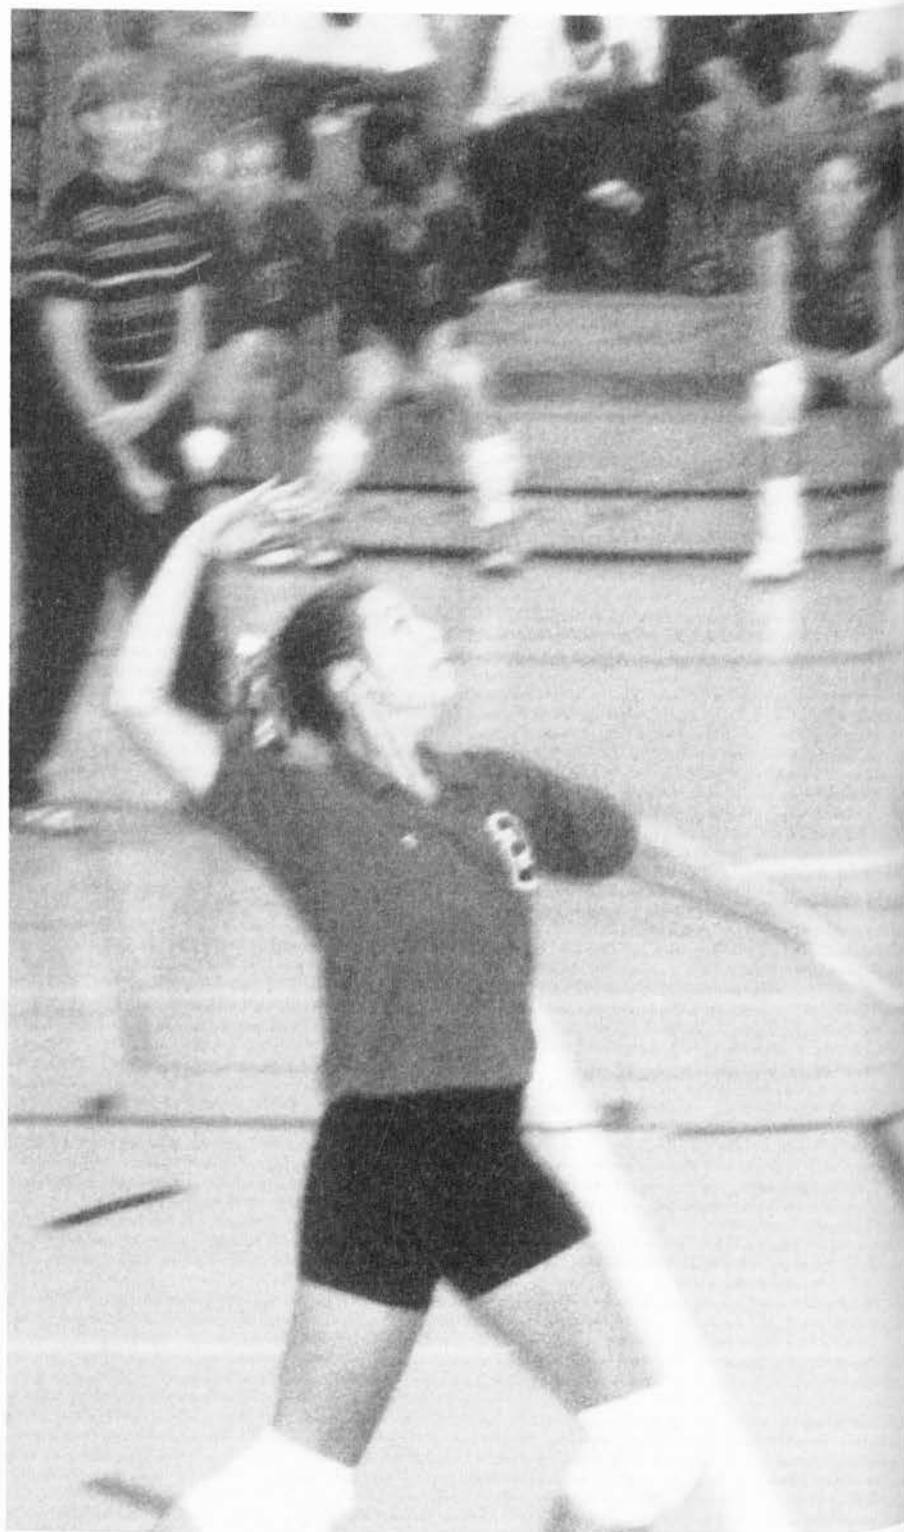

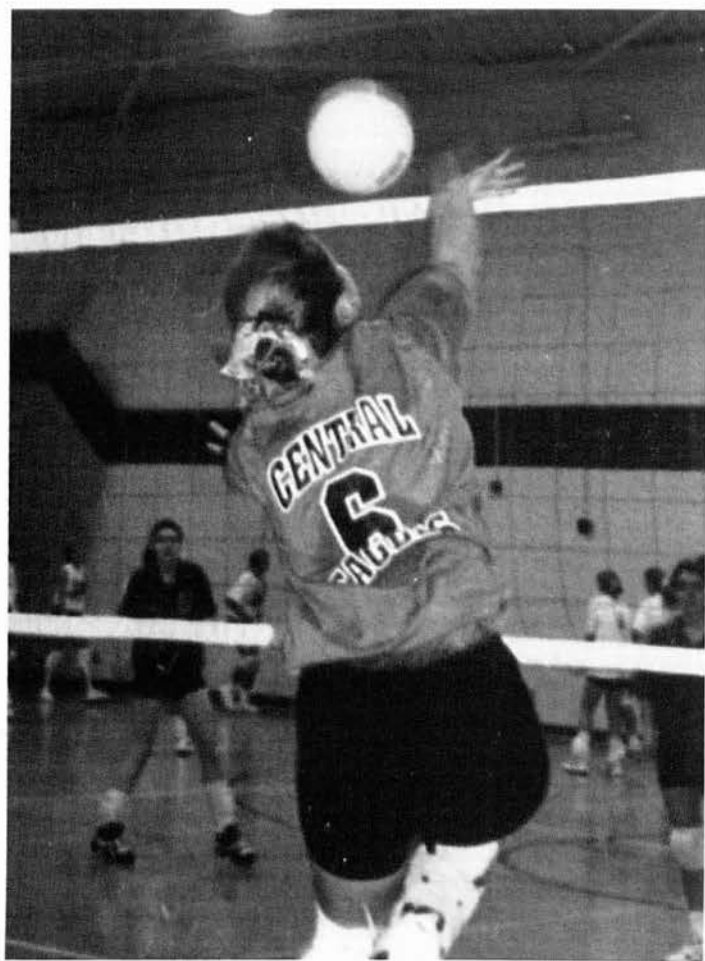

The girls trained hard all summer to make this season a successful one. The team started the season out strong with two wins over South and Northwest.

"This year was a turning point for our team," Jessica Mouton (12) said. "It's about time people started respecting Central volleyball and recognizing us a threat."

Throughout the season, many of the girls led the Metro Conference in every aspect of the game including aces, attacking, set assists and digs.

The team agreed that much of their success was due to having experienced players on the court.

"Overall, the season went really well," Cara Steffensmeier (11), team captain said. "We have a lot of team unity which really helped us pull through and win the close matches."

Underclass Volleyball looks to the future

By Lauren Pettit

The Freshman, Reserve and Junior Varsity Volleyball teams have all shown promise for years to come.

The Junior Varsity team worked hard in practice to make the season a successful one.

"I feel this volleyball season has taught me a lot about myself and my teammates," Katie Foley (11) said. "I think everyone is talented and has a lot of intensity."

The girls said they agreed that overall the season was a great learning experience and it really prepared them for Varsity level competition.

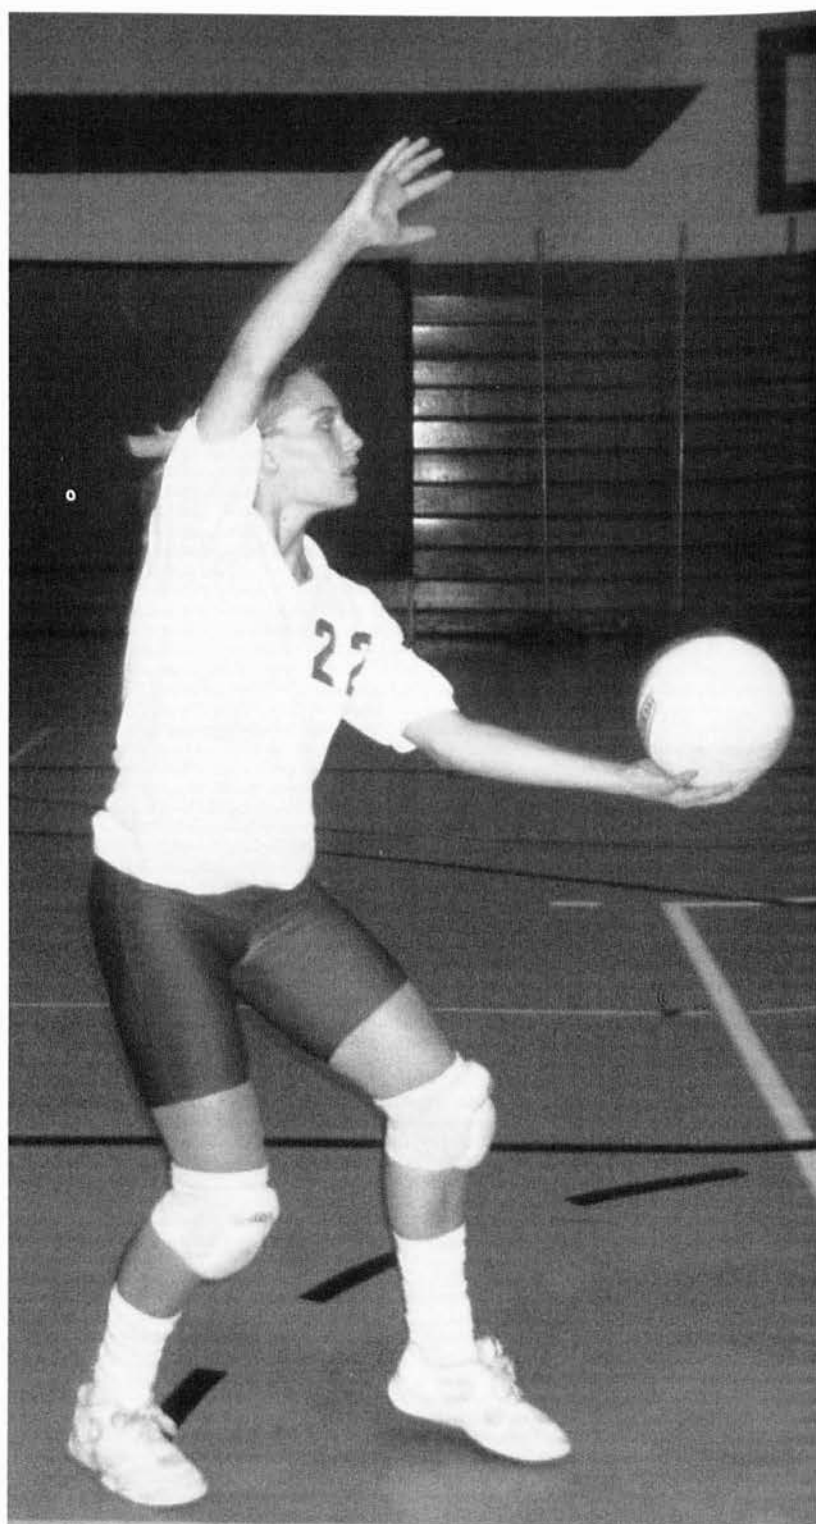

The Reserve team was composed of eight girls who said the season provided them with valuable playing experience.

Many of the Reserve players moved up to the Junior Varsity level, which motivated their teammates to improve their level of play.

This year's Freshman team also had an impressive season, according to Coach Tammy Wade.

"Volleyball was a fun experience for me," Kailey Grant (9) said. "I learned a lot and hopefully I'll play throughout my high school years."

With so much young talent, the Central Volleyball program has a very promising future.

Varsity cheerleading urges teams to victory

By Mikayla Ward

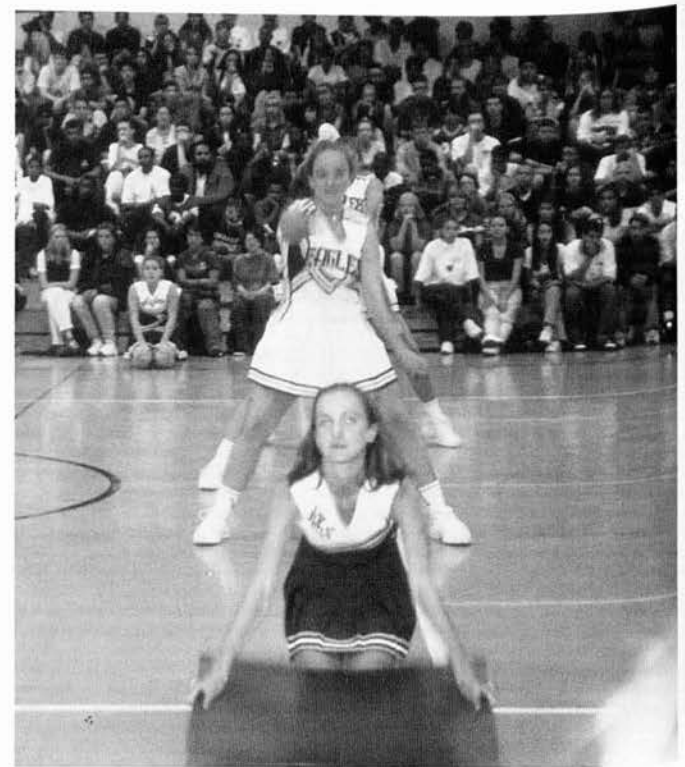

The Varsity cheerleading squad worked hard to learn cheers and dances to perform at athletic events and pep rallies, Mrs. Cheryl Ripa, sponsor, said.

"This year there has been a lot of stress on the squads because of all the changes, but they did a good job," Melissa Blair (12), varsity captain, said.

The squad held summer practices which enabled them to meet new members and become acquainted with their new sponsor, Mrs Ripa. They also gave the captains, Melissa Blair and Vanetta Bailey, a chance to learn their responsibilities.

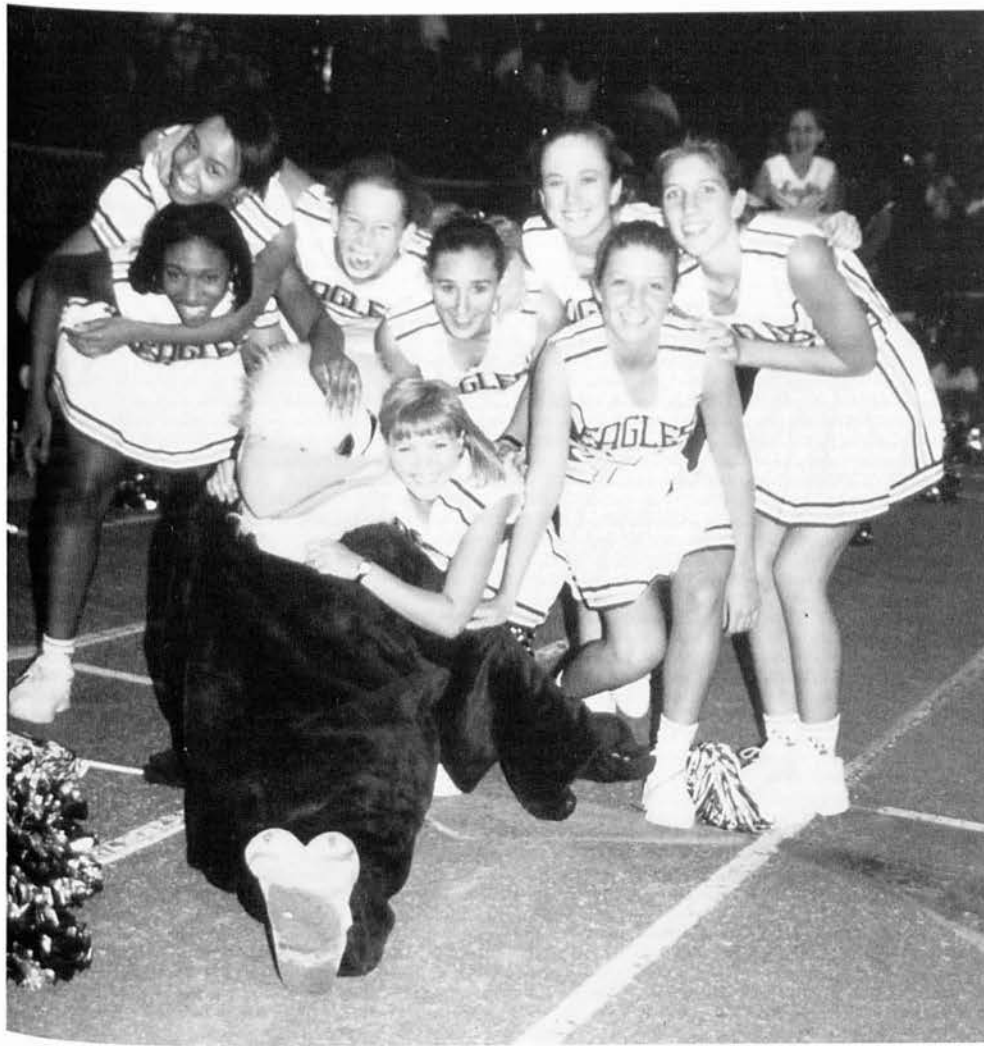

The squad participated in the UCA cheerleading camp at the University of Kansas, held at the beginning of July. During the school year, the cheerleaders helped to decorate the school for spirit week and homecoming.

"The squads improved greatly in their skills and did a good job in promoting school spirit," Mrs. Ripa said.

Underclass cheerleaders

By Brooke Kelly

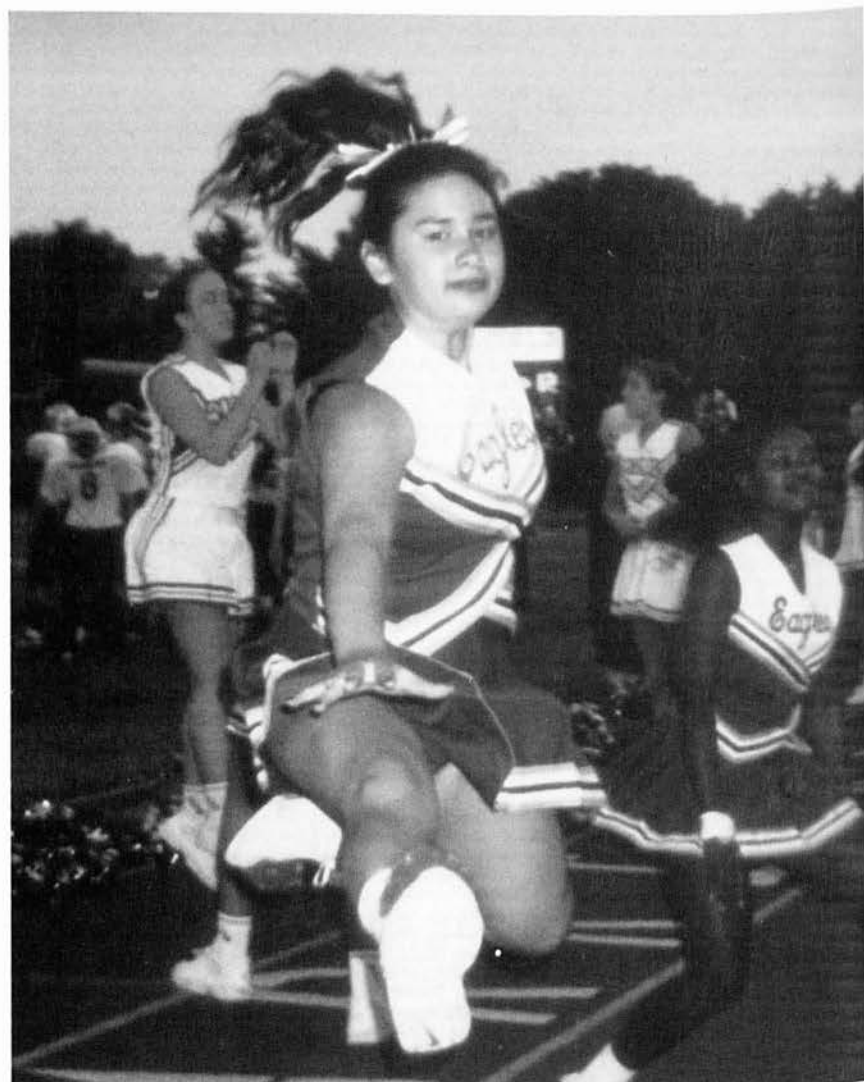

This year the Underclass cheerleaders spent their time cheering on their school and fellow students.

To prepare for this year, the cheerleaders attended a camp and had practices on weekday mornings on the summer. Some members of the squads even participated in pre-season competitions.

"Cheerleading has been a great experience and I've been able to meet a lot of new people," Audrey Kosmicki (10) said.

The cheerleaders helped immensely with homecoming preparations. They organized king and queen elections, sold tickets to the dance and decorated Ak-sar-ben for the occasion.

"The cheerleaders this year were more involved in performing for the students and getting the student body involved in athletic events," Mrs. Cheryl Ripa, cheerleading sponsor, said.

Pom Squad motivates crowds

By Lauren Pettit

Pom Squad worked its way through another exciting year promoting school spirit to many students.

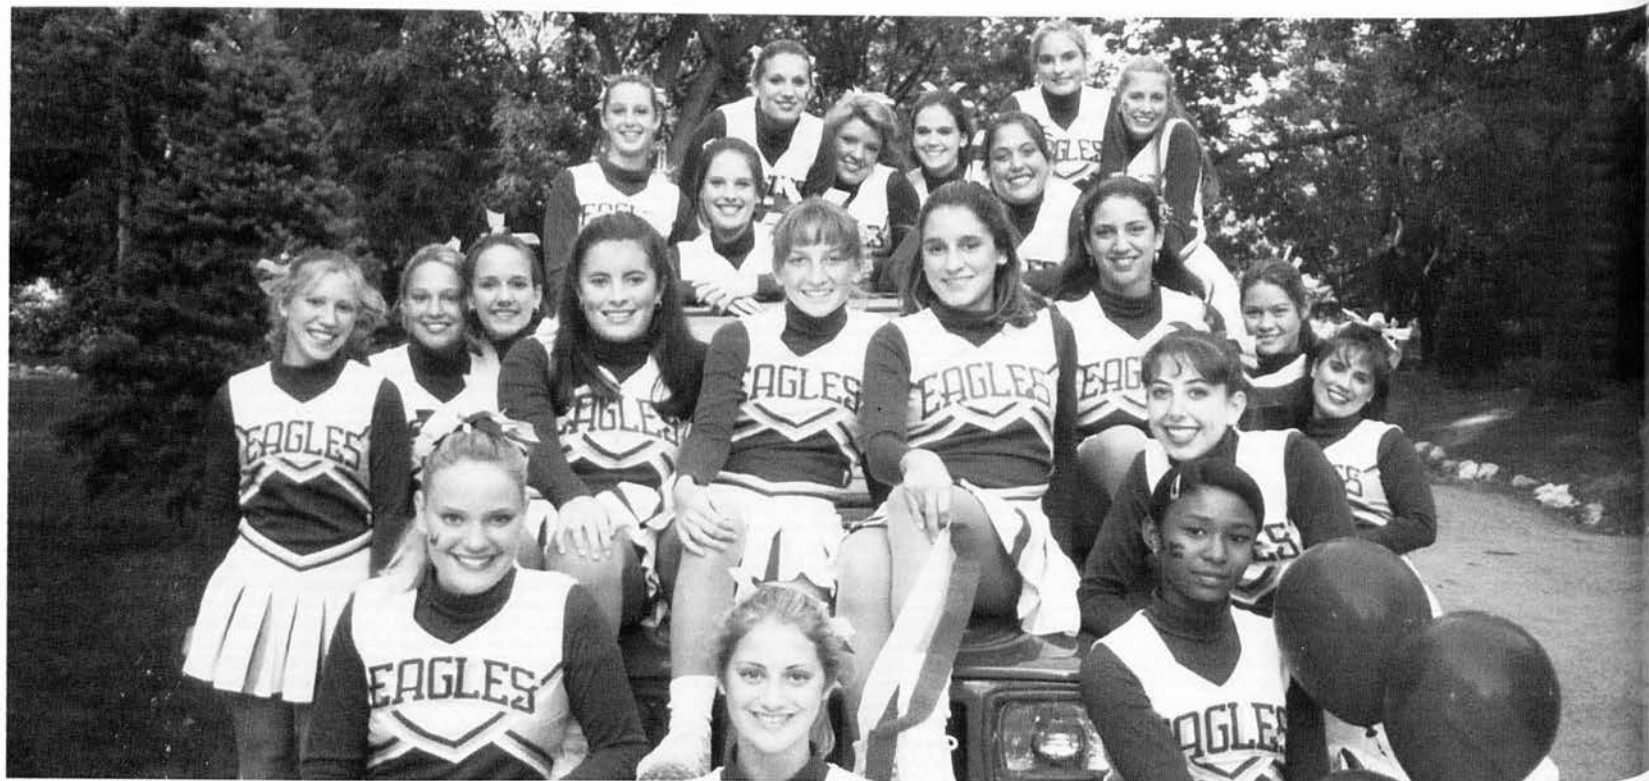

The squad worked hard all summer in preparation for the year to come. They displayed remarkable routines which proved the amazing strength of their school spirit.

The Pom Squad worked throughout the entire year participating in many events such as UDA summer camp, The Metro Dance Competition, Kiddie Dance Camp, football and basketball games, car washes, homecoming decorating and pep rallies.

"I think the determination, energy and spirit of the 1997-98 Pom Squad made us a squad which was admired and respected by our peers," Sarah Wiedman (11) said.

Many of the Pom Squad members said that their squad reached new heights thanks to their unity and motivation as a group.

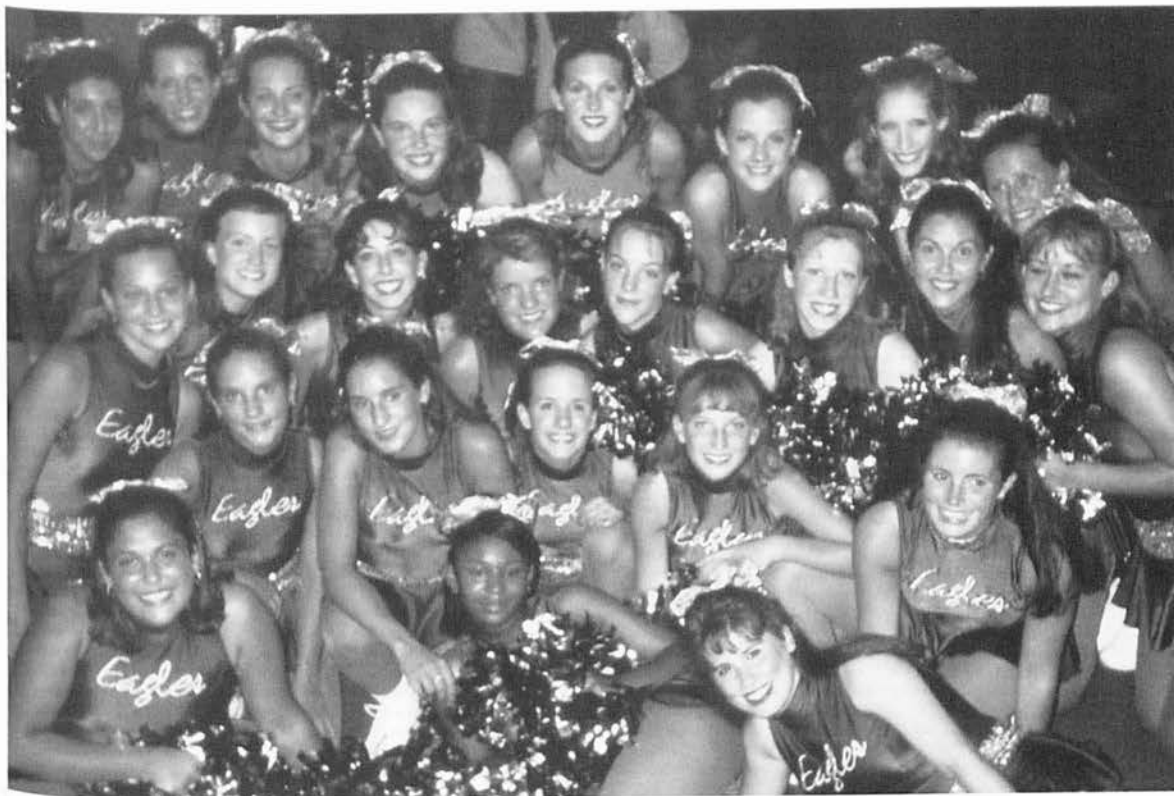

"Pom Squad worked hard to promote school spirit and we had tons of fun bonding as a squad," Sonja Shelstad (11) said.

Men's Varsity basketball

By Brooke Kelly and Lauren Pettit

The Varsity Men's Basketball squad consisted of a group of well-rounded athletes, Head Coach Rick Behrens said.

Coach Behrens said that although the team was rather inexperienced, they improved individually, as well as a team throughout the season. Due to the graduation of six seniors, all of which were starters, this year's team was forced to start from the beginning.

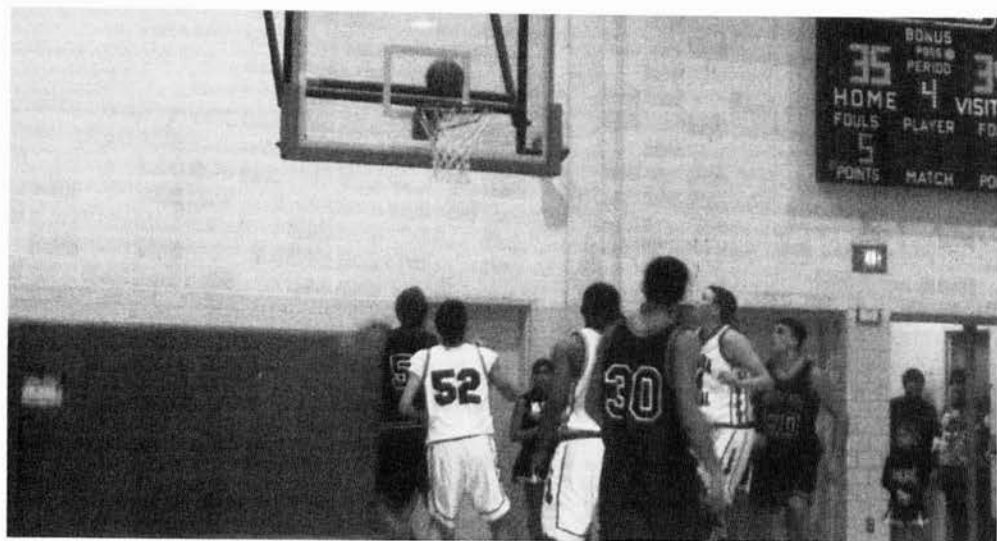

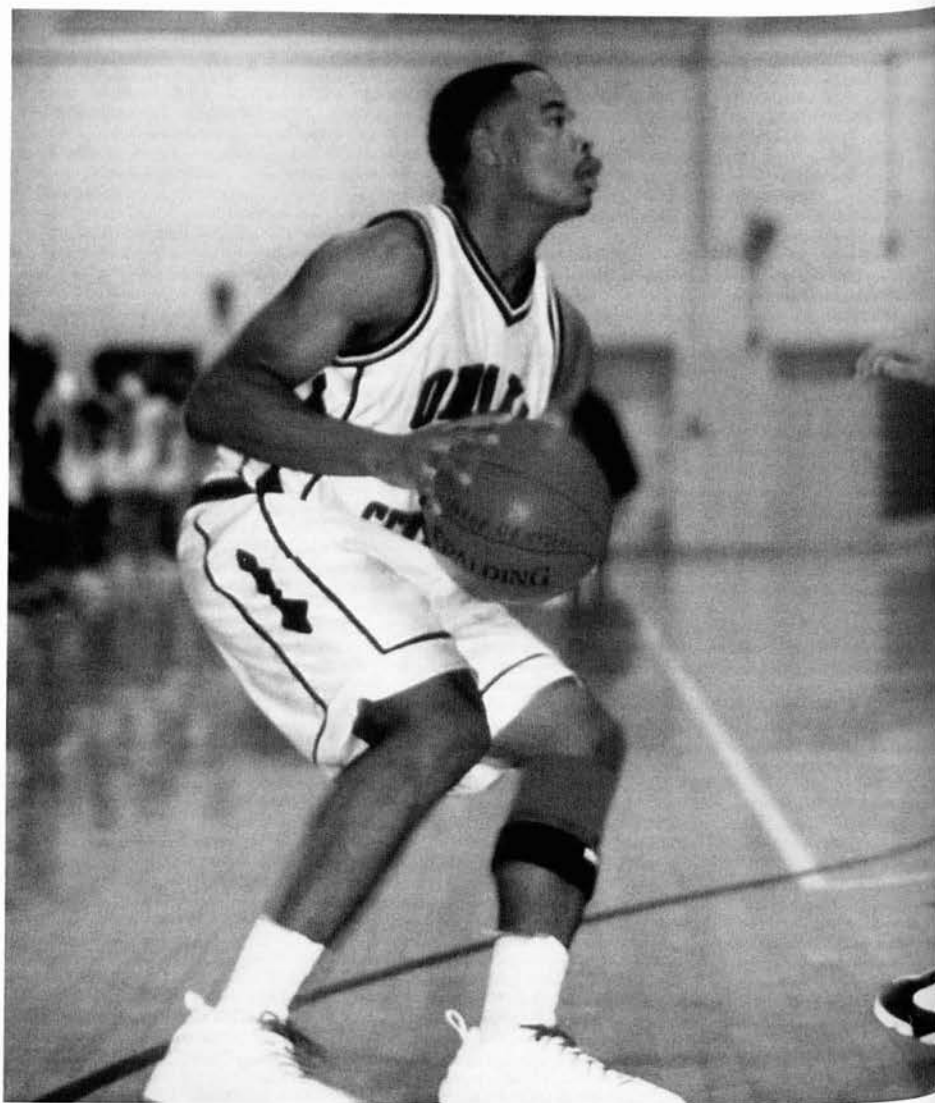

"We had an inexperienced team coming into this year, but every week we learned and improved as a team," John Franzese (12) said.

The team developed together as one and beat some teams they were not expected to beat.

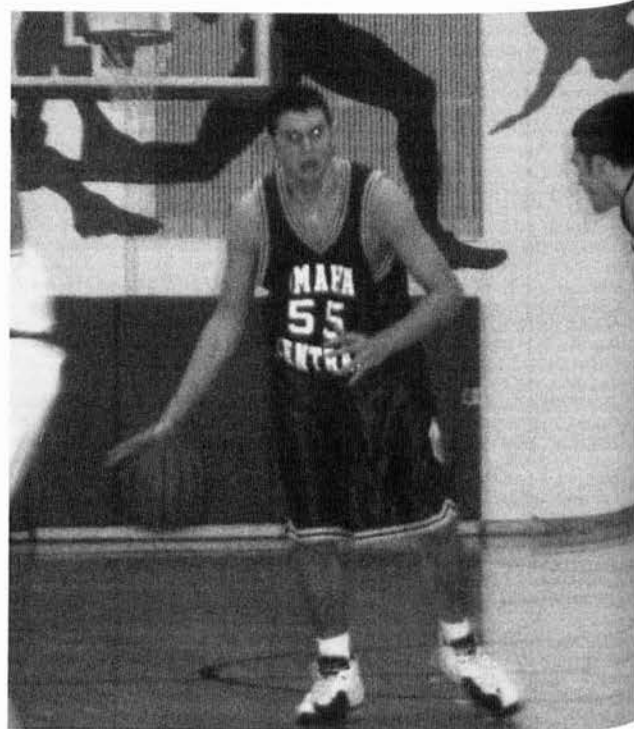

"We have an outstanding group of young men on our basketball team," Coach Behrens said. "They represented Central High School well."

"I felt good about the Reserve team. Right now I would have put them up against any team in the city," Coach Stan Standifer said.

The Reserve team played well together, passed the ball well, executed offense and played tough defense. The Freshman team emphasized team unity and focused on improving its basketball skills, Coach Greg Hansen said.

The Junior Varsity team had some close games this season, by practicing and playing hard. The key to the JV team was rebounding and accurate shooting, Andre Minnifield(11) said.

"I believe that we had one of the best all around JV teams in the metro and finished fairly strong," Clydell White (9), JV team member, said.

Girls Varsity Basketball

By Brooke Kelly, Audrey Kosmicki and Lauren Pettit

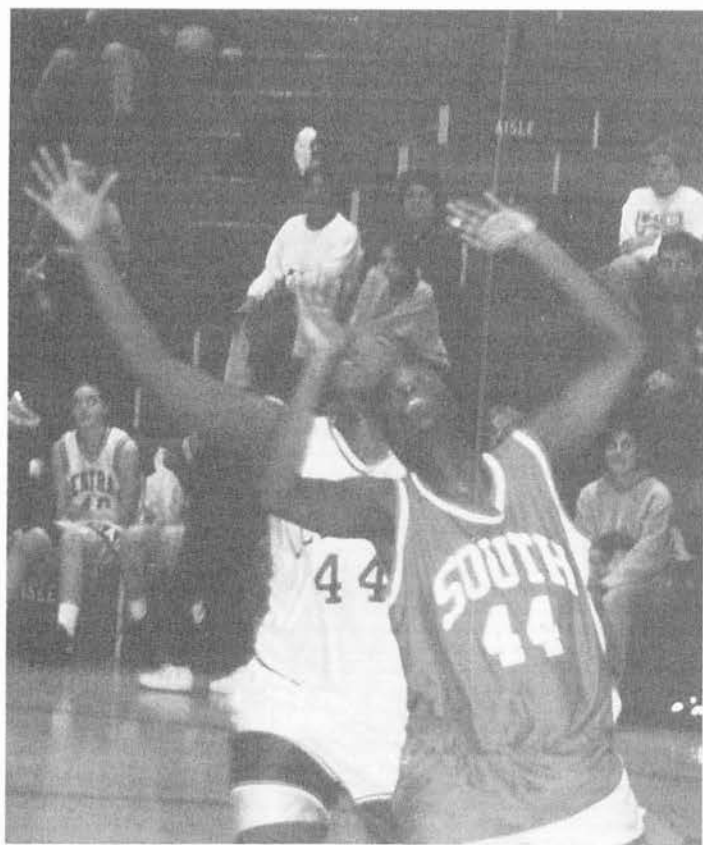

Girls Varsity basketball worked extremely hard to do their best all year long, Coach Dave Feleci said.

This year's team was composed of only three seniors and seven sophomores. Coach Feleci said that the underclassmen were forced to mature quickly in order to fill the positions that most upperclassmen could have held.

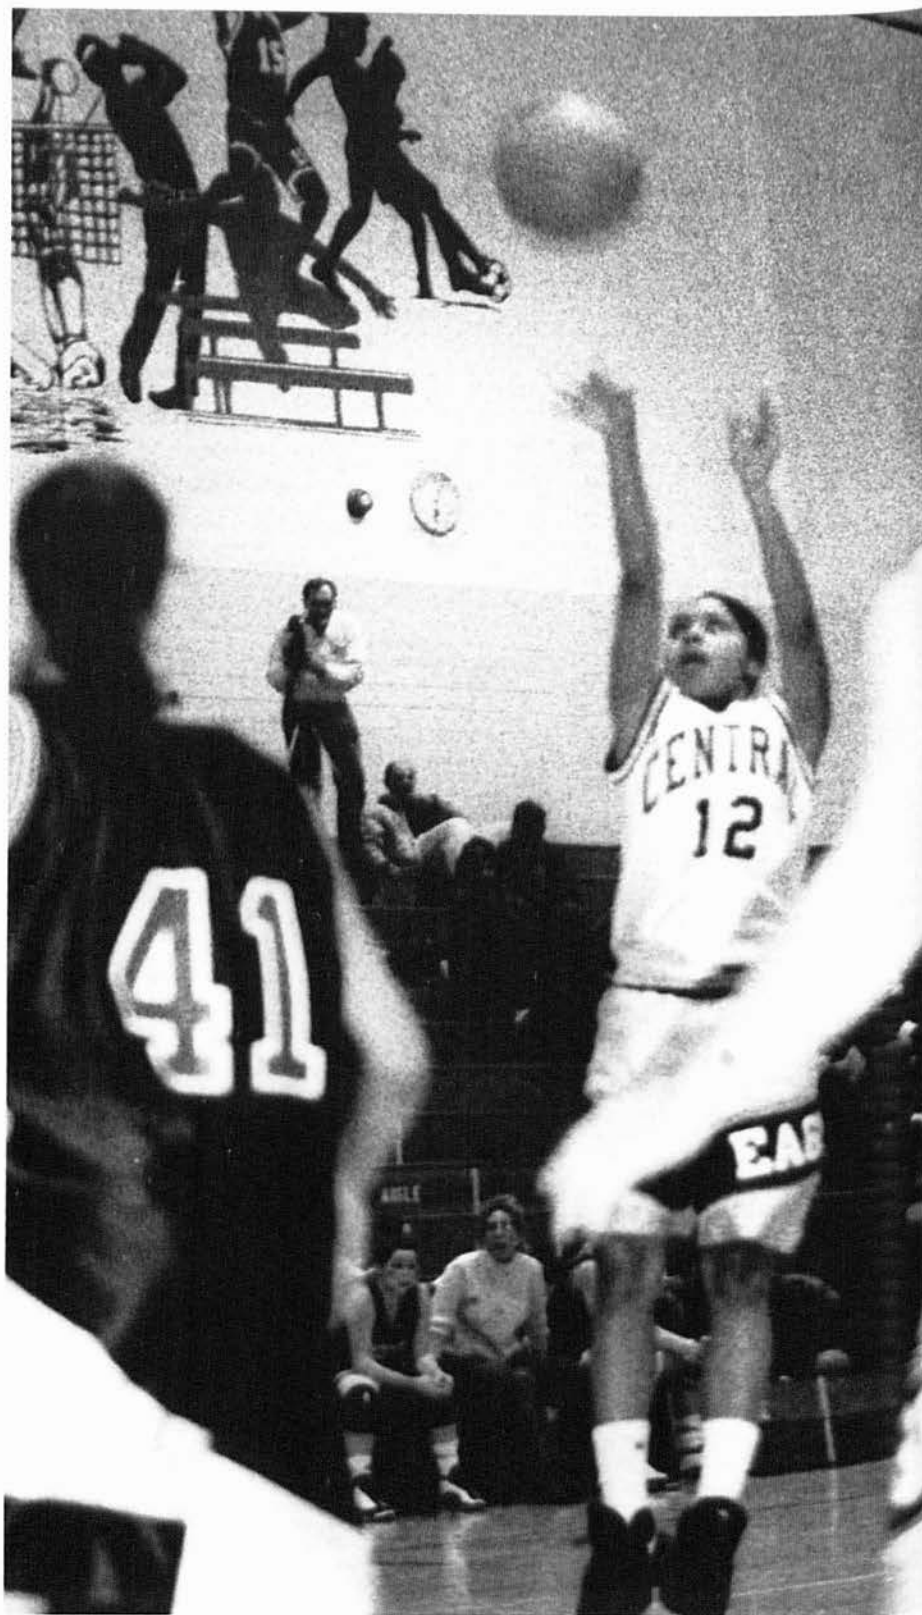

"The seniors have shown a lot of leadership and have been a good example of how to work hard," Mandy Frank (10) said.

The team came out of the season with an exciting victory against Bellevue West in which they won by 25 points. They were also in close competition with Bryan and North.

"We had good students on our basketball team," Coach Feleci said. "They worked extremely hard and did their best each game."

Girls' Underclass basketball shoots for goals

By Mikayla Ward

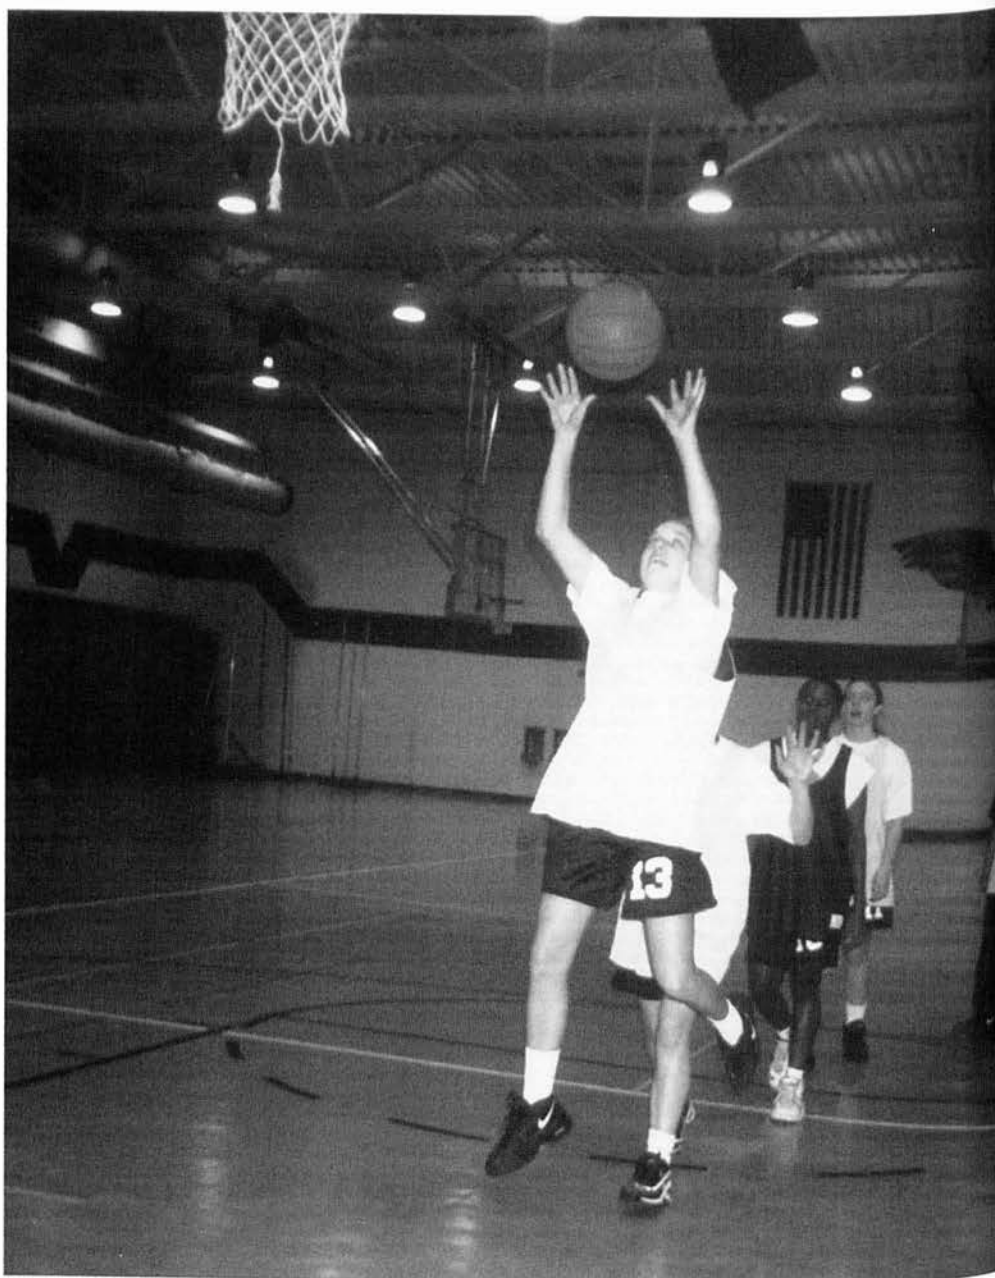

"Hard work and dedication went into making the Girls' Underclass basketball a strong program by stressing fundamentals and playing like a team," Ms. Michele Roberts, Freshman basketball coach, said.

The Freshman A and B teams played well and were evenly matched against the other OPS freshman teams.

The Reserve team played well and their skills progressed over the course of the season.

The Junior Varsity team played some tough opponents and always put in 100 percent effort. With some help from key players, Mary Anderson (10), Oscaretta Campbell (10), Mandy Frank (10), Mary Tritsch (10), the JV team gained victories.

"We all improved from last year by working and pulling together as a team," Anna Treantos (10), Reserve Team, said.

Central swimming and

By Brooke Kelly

The 1997-98 Central Swim team dove into another season with many new swimmers, in addition to the returning lettermen.

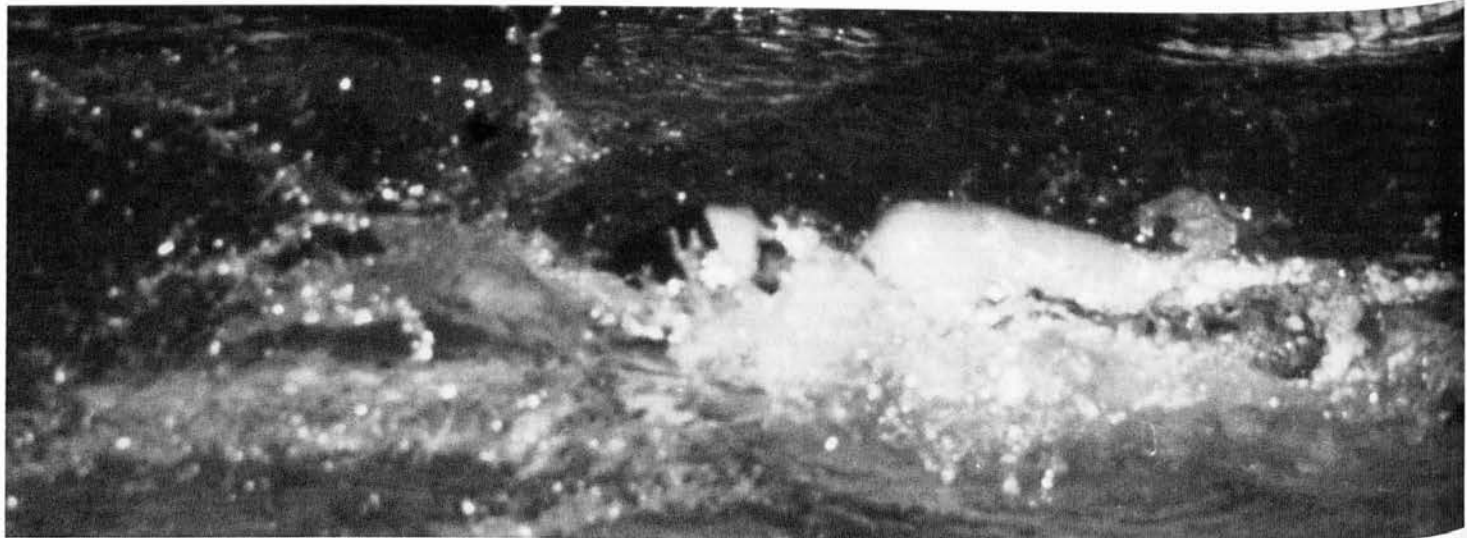

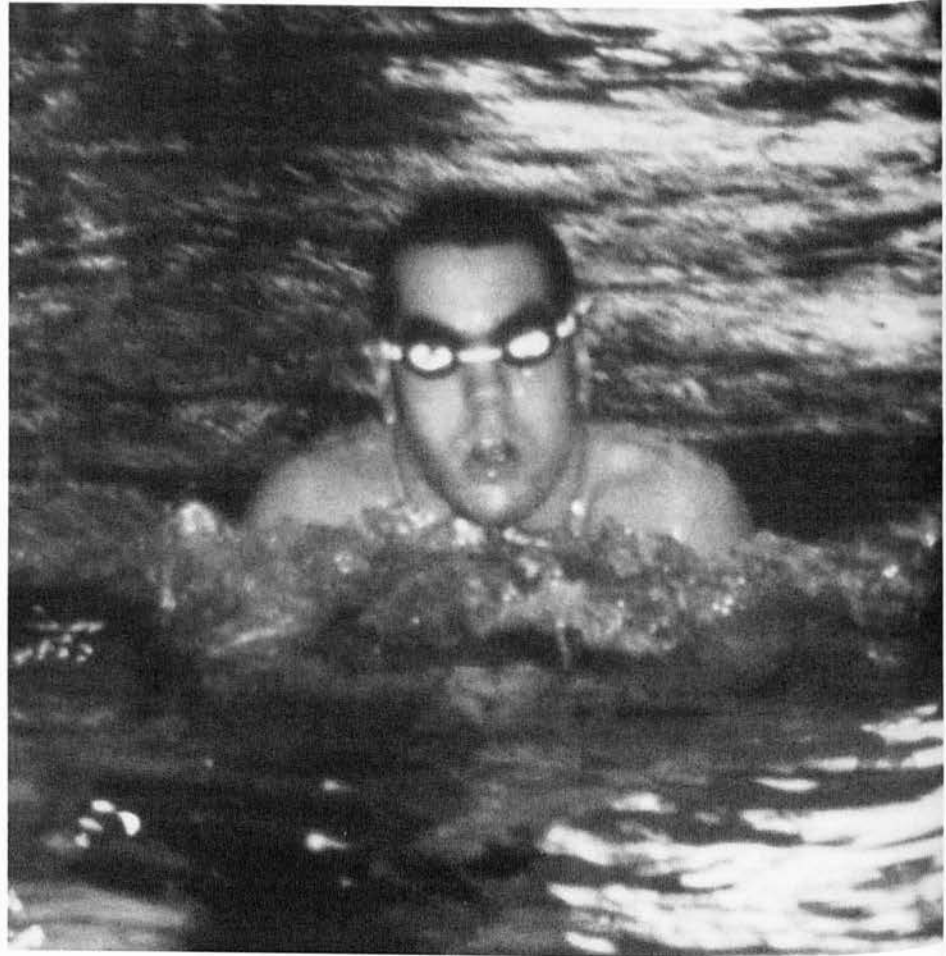

With most of last year's team returning, and many new swimmers joining the team, Coach Mike Steele said that he thought this would be a good year to rebuild the team's strengths.

"We started the year with a hard practice schedule, including morning practices," Eddie Piatt (12) said. "But in the end all of our hard work and dedication paid off."

The men's team, led by captains Eddie Piatt (12) and Chris Scofield (12), showed their improvement through a victory at the OPS Invite held at Bryan.

The women's team, led by captains Erin Jenkins (12), Brooke Kelly (12), Jenny Link (12) and Erin Quinlan (12), also showed tremendous progress in both relay and individual events.

"Overall, the team worked hard and tried to do their best and that's really all that we asked them to do," Coach Steele said.

Wrestlers pin competition

By Mikayla Ward

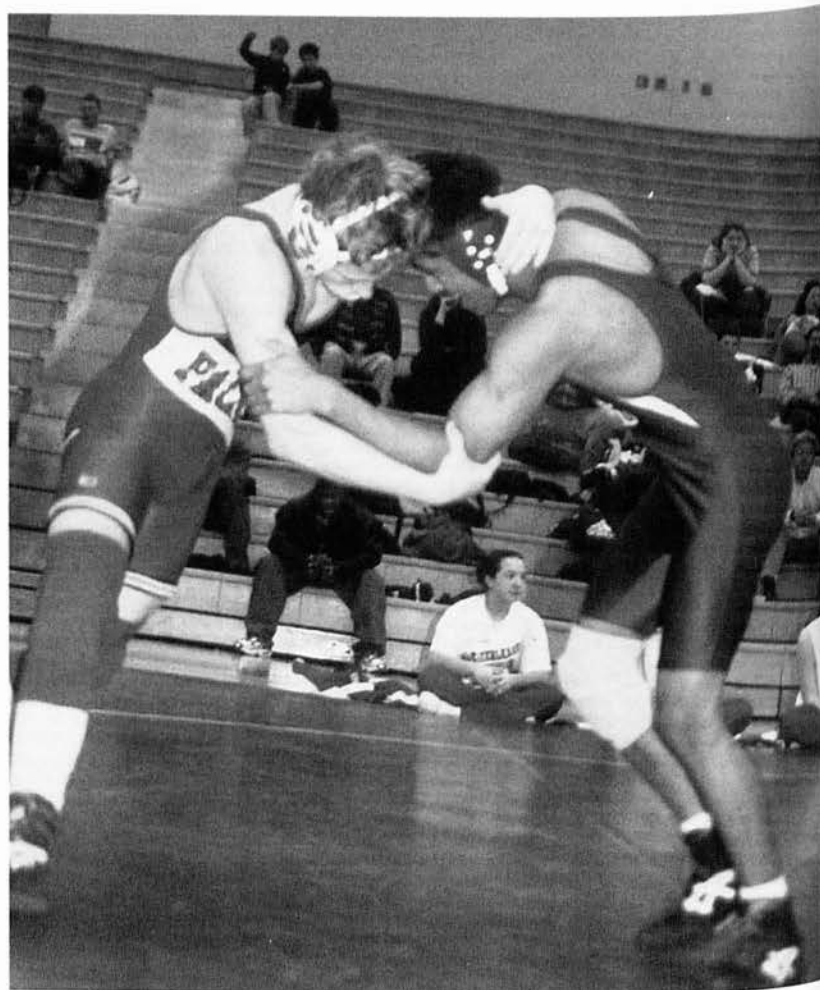

As the season started out, the wrestling team began to build and achieve goals for the end of the season.

"The wrestlers are a good group of hard workers that expect nothing but the best and hopefully that will carry on through their high school careers," Coach Jimmy Foster said.

They continued to grow and improve as a team throughout the season. The hard work and dedication paid off.

William Garcia (10) had the fastest pin on the team, 27 seconds. Anders Christensen (9) had a record of ten wins, ten losses and three ties. Eli Bainbridge (12) and Max Kenny (10) had the most pins for the team.

"The team did good for being a nine- person team. We needed to attack more to conquer the whole match," Will Garcia (10) said.

Powerlifting pushes its way to the top

By Lauren Pettit and Audrey Kosmicki

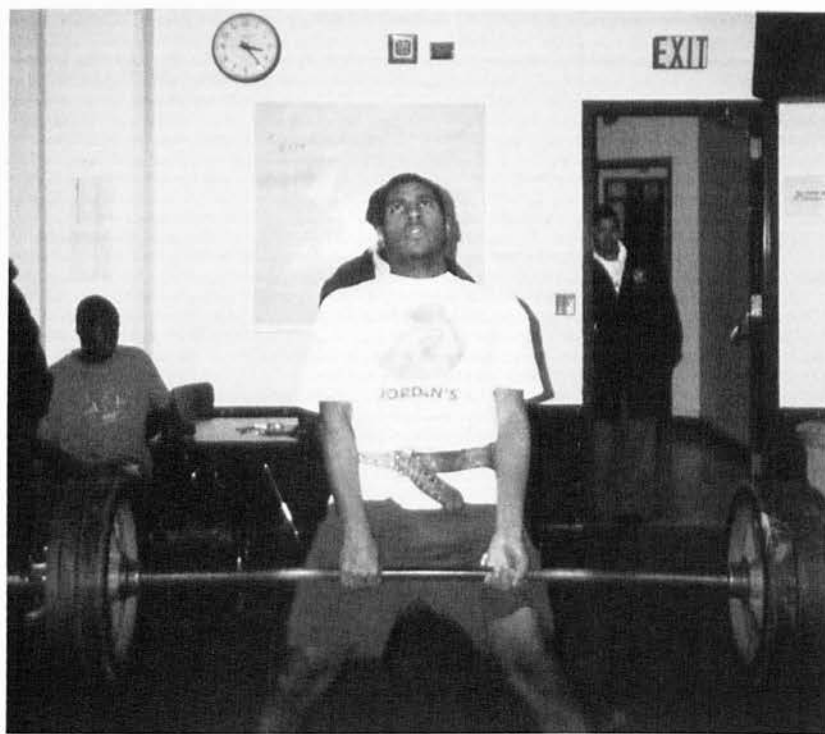

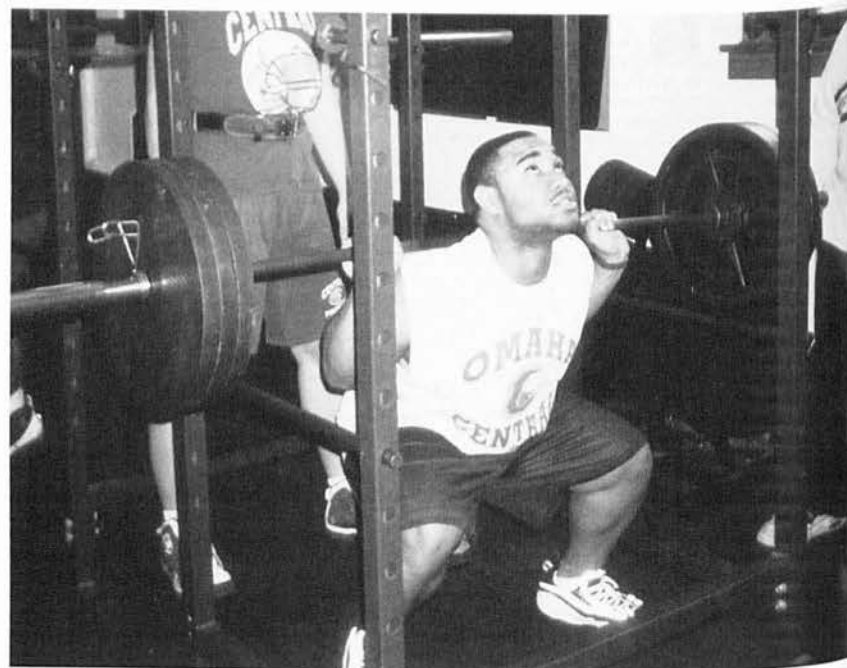

This year's Powerlifting team set their goals high, Coach Joe McMenemy said.

"I really felt that we had a good chance to challenge other teams for state," Coach McMenemy said.

The team practiced twice a week and many of the lifters trained twice daily. Coach McMenemy said that the practices were filled with intensity and all the lifters showed a strong sense of dedication.

The team was very experienced because more than half of its members were returning lettermen. Jason McFarland (11) and Jason Galaska (12) were both returning state champions. Lamare Fuller (12), Jamaine Billups (10) and Courtney Dawson (11) all contributed to the strength of the team.

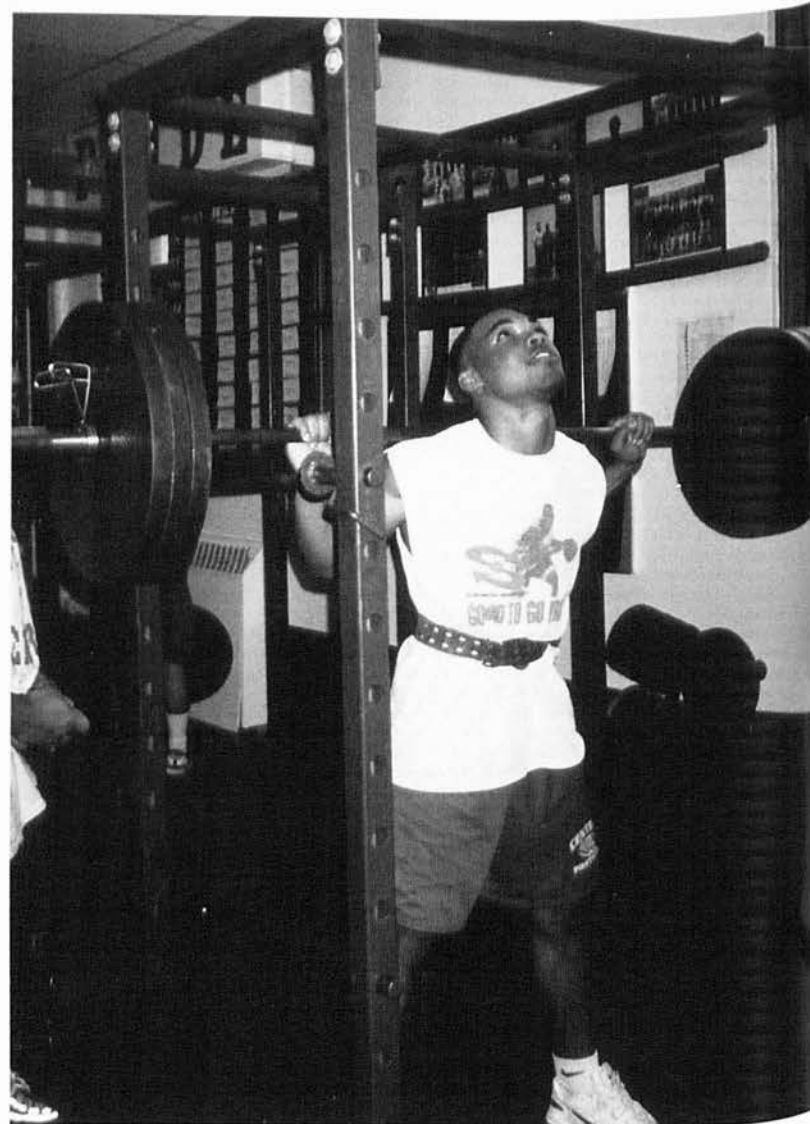

"This year's team worked hard," Jason McFarland (11) said. "We were really glad with the way things turned out."

Men's volleyball goes in for the kill

By Lauren Pettit

Central's Men's Volleyball team improved steadily throughout the year, Coach Brad Reichmuth said.

This year, three teams were chosen, making Central a recognizable threat. The Varsity Purple team was coached by Brad Reichmuth, the Varsity White team by Steve Hernandez and Steve Quackenbush and the JV team by Trent Lodge.

"I feel this is the most experienced team Central has had, even with just one senior," Coach Reichmuth said. "Most players have already played in a national tournament."

Coach Reichmuth said that athletically they are one of the best teams in the metro and they are in a good position to win state and qualify for nationals.

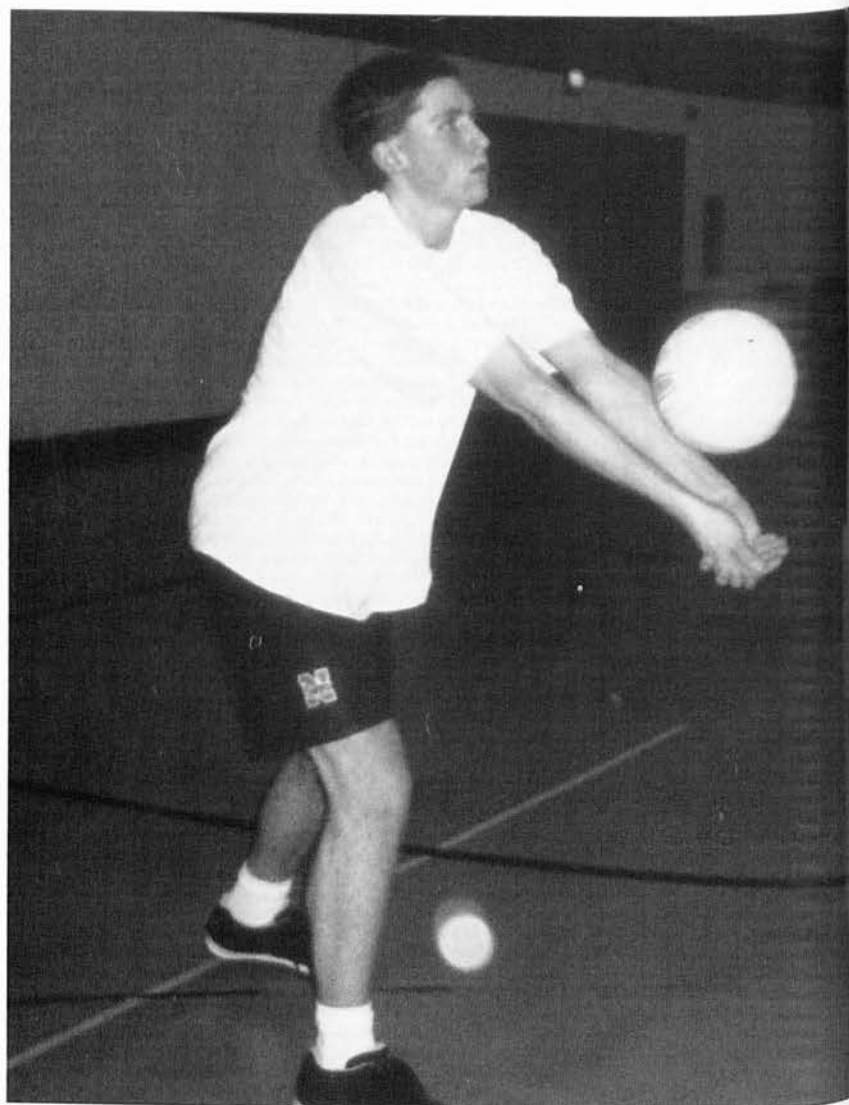

"This year's team was very close, so that pushed us to try even harder," Joe Greco (11) said. "By playing in a national tournament we all gained a lot of experience."

My dad always said after high school that time would fly by...and it did...and it still is. You have made it to your last year and you are excited and thrilled to be done...while we are in shock and a spin as to where the time has gone. After high school, your time on earth will also go quickly by. Make the most of every second of it, but don't get caught up in the temporary. Enjoy all the great and awesome, yet passing things of this life, and remember the Great Giver who loaned them to you to enjoy. As you live each passing moment with all the gusto that you can, live it for Jesus Christ and for eternity's sake, why waste it just for the "now." Strive for an eternal perspective, because life is short. Live in a manner worthy of the Lord, to please Him in all respects, bearing fruit in every good work, increasing in the knowledge of His will, because He is so worthy. Spend time getting to know Him, because the people who know their God will display strength and take action. He is The Truth, He is The Life, He is The Way, He is The Risen One Who Lives and he is coming back again with the clouds and every eye will see Him. One of my prayers is, that when your faith becomes sight, and you meet Him face to face you will hear the words, "Well, done My good and faithful servant". Then you will have known more than this life has to offer!!! We love you Brandon Jay Roberts and desire the Lords very richest for you.

Mom and Dad

Brandon,

Well, now is the time for eloquence. I'm supposed to have all the right words and say something really inspired, right? I guess, and I'm sure you would agree, that eloquence is not my gift, so I won't try to use any. I just keep thinking about the past 18 1/2 years and trying to sum it all up to fit on this little page, and this is what pops into my head. "Fix your eyes on Jesus...who endured such opposition from sinful men so that you will not grow weary and lose heart." Hebrews 12:2-3. That passage reminds me of you. Throughout the last four years, you have been a wonderful example to me of a "Kingdom that cannot be shaken." I have never see you grow weary or give up, and I am confident that the strength of your faith alone is a testimony that few will forget. I know that I never will. Now, as you deal with the changes ahead, although you are not a "girl" like me, know that at times it will be difficult. Do not ever forget your foundation and remember that NOTHING compares to the promise you have in him. Continue to see God with all of your heart. He is the ONLY thing worth pursuing because he will never disappoint you. I am so proud of you, Brandon, and I am so thankful God allowed me to have such an awesome best friend - my brother. I love you.

Love, Jill

"Look toward the Sun and the Shadows will fall behind you."

You were God's first gift to us and you will always be our treasure. Use the many talents you possess with kindness, generosity, and love and you will elevate the human mind and spirit.

You have a style of your own that we look forward to seeing developed as you further your education and work toward making your dreams come true.

Our hope for you is to have as much success as you desire and as much contentment as can fill your heart.

With all our love,
Mom, Dad, David and Jubilee

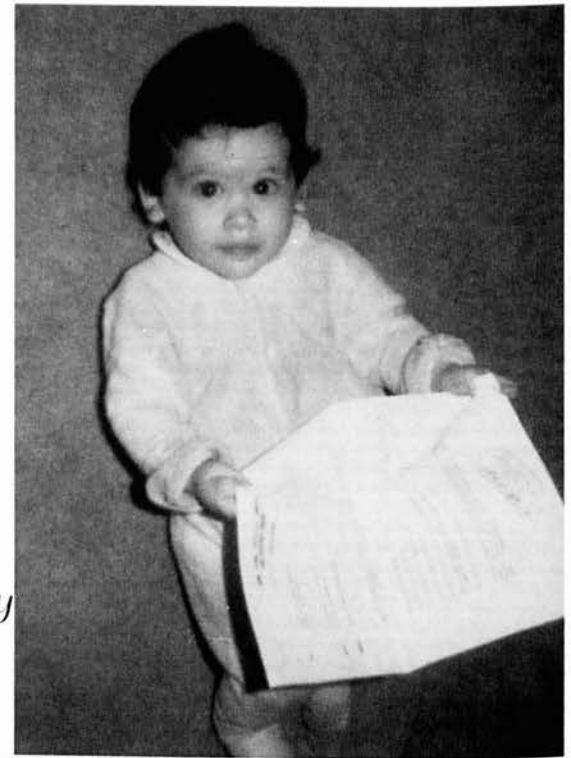

Stephanie

*We are very proud of you and all that you've accomplished. You're on the road to success!
We Love You!
Dad, Mom, Michelle,

*Lauren/Scout,
From the first day,
you've been a joy!
We wish you all the happiness life
can hold.
Our pride in you
and love for you, will travel along wherever you go.*

*Congratulations and Love,

mother*

Go placidly amid the noise and haste,
 And remember what peace there may be in silence.
 As far as possible without surrender
 Be on good terms with all persons.
 Speak your truth quietly and clearly;
 and listen to others, even to the dull and the ignorant; they too have their story...
 If you compare yourself with others,
 you may become vain or bitter;
 For always there will be greater and lesser persons than yourself.
 Enjoy your achievements as well as your plans...
 Be yourself. Especially, do not feign affection.
 Neither be cynical about love; for in the face of all aridity and disenchantment it is as perennial as the grass.
 Take kindly the counsel of the years,
 Gracefully surrendering the things of youth.
 Nurture strength of spirit to shield you in the sudden misfortune...
 Beyond a wholesome discipline, be gentle with yourself.

You are a child of the universe,
 no less than the trees and the stars;
 You have a right to be here.
 And whether or not it is clear to you,
 No doubt the universe is unfolding as it should.
 Therefore be at peace with God,
 whatever you conceive Him to be.
 And whatever your labors and aspirations, in the noisy confusion of life
 Keep peace in your soul.
 With all its sham, drudgery and broken dreams,
 It is still a beautiful world. Be cheerful.
 Strive to be happy.
 From "DESIDERATA," by Max Ehrmann

Lema -- We are so proud of you! We missed you so much last year, but you have returned more mature, more self-confident, and more sure of what to make of your future -- and what a wonderful future it will be. We'll never be far away, always ready to help you in any way we can. You will always be in our thoughts and in our hearts.
 Be happy, be healthy, be safe -- be yourself! God grace your way as you make your dreams come true. Go in Peace.

With Love, Rifaat, Mona and Mustafa

Jane,

Through Chinese food, movies, (R&J) guys, TCBY and other nameless things- I've had the time of my life these past two years. You've been the best friend I could ever have. Have fun senior year!
Love, Steph-Betty Vista

Steph, How do I sum up the past two years as your friend? All I can say is, "Our Freindship is forever." Love Always, Jane

The Marketing Program recognizes students' interests in being a leader at Central High School. The Marketing course, DECA, the marketing club and the marketing internship program offer students valuable experience and opportunities while in high school.

Students enroll in marketing as a junior elective course. It is offered at 7 a.m. (zero hour) through 5/6 hour daily. The course is designed to compliment any field of study students may currently be pursuing—college prep, business, industrial technology or a combination of any of Central's programs. Understanding how economics, product development, business ownership, sales and management operate in today's global world, gives students the competitive edge in future endeavors.

Marketing Internships involve over 130 local businesses which provide employment opportunities in basic marketing skills. Internships also provide assistance in setting future goals from three qualified coordinators, as well as developing useful employment skills, work ethics, and a network of business people in the community who can help with future plans. Marketing Internships also allow students to earn money while receiving high school credit.

The 1997-98 O-Book would like to give an appreciative acknowledgement to the following OUTSTANDING people: Ian Simmons for all of the hard work he put into the folios and other talented artwork displayed throughout the O-Book. Josh Priluck for scanning in all of the folios and performing other graphic tasks. Dean's Camera Center for developing, enlarging and reducing our photographs. Marsicek Photography for taking all of the student and faculty pictures. Jostens for producing the yearbook and their representatives for their helpful advice and cheerful attitudes. Stephen McKee for answering our complicated layout questions. Jay Anderson for loaning us the color swatch and addressing all of our questions with patience. The Register for their humor and support during our hectic deadlines and the 'quote of the day' bulletin board. Nicole Dubas, Emily Martin, Corey McCallan, Megan Mullen, Stacey Nguyen, Dave Rennard and Becca Starr for enthusiastically hanging upside down for the Table of Contents photograph. Erin Jenkins and Lynn Anderson for their artistic help with the posters featured on the Table of Contents page. Thanks to all who submitted their own pictures and the math office (especially Alyssa Arthur, Jenny Queen & Mary Lynn Super) for their friendly conversations and willingness to pose for pictures. Kelsey Stump for her fantastic work as Clubs Editor during first semester. (We miss you!!) Gail Braddock and Alexa Christon for lending us some of the action photos found in the sports section. The devoted staff for all of the humorous, frustrating and cheerful moments that they shared during the production of this year's O-Book. Mr. Matt Deabler for the huge amount of time and dedication he put into the success of this yearbook. Your expertise and jokes helped us get through the most stressful deadlines.
