O'LANTERN-HALLOWE'EN

WEDDING ONE OF THE SMARTEST OF FUNCTIONS.

Many Noted Guests Present—Ceremony Performed
by Father Time.

Did you know there was a wedding in the woods the other night?
With all the stars for candles and the moon for electric light
When the bride who was the dearest and the sweetest ever seen
Was wed to Jack O'Lantern—for the bride was Hallowe'en.

October was the bridesmaid, for by a freak of fate,
November, who was chosen, got in a day too late;
So October (gowned in yellow, to carry out the plan)
Smiled across the altar at Jack Frost who was best man.

The Seasons were the ushers and were in greatest glee,
Miss Nature flirted with them—in truth quite shamelessly.
Old Father Time as bishop was very dignified
But 'twas said, his blessing given, he slyly kissed the bride.

The music was enchanting, the wedding march sublime,
Sir Wind with his reed organ was voted quite divine;
The guests were all assembled in a little wooded dell,
There were no pews but toadstools which answered just as well.

The church was decorated without regard to cost,
The gorgeous scheme of color was planned by Mr. Frost.
When the two had been united, the ceremony o'er
It took but half a second to clear a dancing floor.

The dell was soon resounding with laughter and with mirth
While a bounteous wedding feast was served by good old Mother Earth.

They filled their acorn cups quite full of elderberry wine
And drank long life and happiness to all the Pumpkin line.
Then the groom, a courtly gentleman of good old Irish pattern
Proposed they drink a standing toast to Mrs. J. O'Lantern.

—P. G., '09.

October.

How dear are these October days!
 So full of life and joy are they,
 That all the world sings out their praise
 From dawn's first flush till close of day.

The bird's sweet song is heard afar,
 The lingering flower its face upturns;
 In all the land there's naught to mar;
 On every road the sumac burns.

Each hillside is ablaze with glory!
 All nature is one grand array,
 Thus nature doth reveal her story,
 In this clear bright October day.

The wind with its ever willing way,
 Calls many a richly painted leaf
 Over the meadows with it to play
 And often plucks it from shrub or sheaf.

The roadside is in colors gay
 With its crimson monarch burning red
 All is as happy as the May
 The nuts are ripening over head.

The brook, a mirror for trees and vines
 Seems also a new joy to know,
 As through the bounteous wood it twines
 Carrying its leaf-gifts to and fro.

How clear are these October days,
 So full of life and joy are they;
 My wish is that they'd always stay
 Or last from now till early May.

—H. D., '09.

On October 30th occurred the death of Mamie Edling. Miss Edling was a member of the class of '07, but on account of her ill health she was forced to leave school in the early part of the year. We extend our heartfelt sympathies to the members of the bereaved family.

High School students! Are we receiving all the pleasure and benefit for the time that we are spending in the High School? We are not if we are limiting our education to that which we receive from our studies. We fail to get from our studies

HIGH SCHOOL HONORS AND ORGANIZATIONS. many qualities that are necessary in every walk of life, such as self-control, tact, resourcefulness and many others. Our system is not at fault, as it is an impossibility to arrange courses of study that would meet the requirements and develop every faculty of the student.

The large part of our education that we can't get from our studies may be secured from the efforts we put forth to achieve High School honors, and from the various organizations of the High School. We are to blame if we neglect these opportunities for self-improvement, from which a great deal of pleasure and honor may be derived. The drill in the battalion inculcates habits of neatness, promptness, obedience, and gives to the student a straight and erect carriage. In the offices, especially the commissioned offices, the student learns to be alert, to have self-control and to use tact; then there is considerable honor attached to these offices. These are the benefits received by those who drill with a right spirit and attitude.

In athletics, a student develops not only a strong body, but he must learn to think and act quickly. The honor in representing his school, and the pleasure from the games, the trips which the team takes and from various other sources, amply repay him for the time, energy and patience he expends. In debating, the student must apply his knowledge of mathematics, English, history and of various other subjects; he must learn to have self-possession and to speak convincingly, while the distinction and enjoyment he receives is sufficient reward for the efforts he puts forth.

We have every reason to be proud of our battalion, athletics and literary societies. The work of the boys' debating societies is above criticism, but the deplorable fact is that two or three hundred boys are not receiving this valuable training instead of only ninety. May a number of students, who have a great deal of ability and time, take advantage of the possibilities to win laurels and to improve themselves, that our battalion, athletics, debating and literary societies are offering.

Organizations.

BROWNING SOCIETY.

On October 4th the Brownings held a meeting, at which Mrs. Fleming was chosen society teacher. The following week they gave a carnival program, under the leadership of Ruth Byers. The "free show" was represented by Mae Engler as tight-rope walker. The "Midway" contained Carolyn Harding as a fortune teller and Emily Dyer as a Spanish dancer. Nellie Elgutter had charge of the wheel of fortune, in which bags of fudge were given as prizes. Ruth Byers, as general spieler, pointed out the attractions. On October 18th an English fairy program was given, under the leadership of Margaret Fahs. It consisted mainly of readings, and included a sketch from Act III, Scene I, of the "Midsummer Night's Dream."

GERMAN SOCIETY.

The German Society has started the year with an enthusiastic membership of one hundred and fifty-one. No programs have been given as yet, but several folk-songs have been learned and sung very creditably. Edith Puls, the pianist of last year, is back this year to aid the society in their musical numbers.

PRISCILLA ALDEN.

The Priscilla Aldens held an interesting meeting at the home of Miss Mary Beth Wallace, one of their society teachers. Different ages of the world's history were represented in characteristic ways, ending with the medieval period, which was shown by an illustrated poem. On October 18th a program illustrating various nations was enjoyed. The girls taking part were dressed in costumes representing the nations rendered. Ruth Best gave a Japanese reading; Frances Damon, an essay on Indian customs; Hilda Sandberg, a Dutch recitation; Emily Chase, a chalk talk, and Grace McBride, a violin solo.

PLEIADES.

A large number of the Pleiades were present at their first meeting. The election of officers was held, with the following result: President, Pra Russell; vice president, Mary Roe; secretary and treasurer, Margaret Fast; sergeant-at-arms, Freda Cayley. On October 11th Louise Copeland's division gave the following program:

1. Original story.....Irene Shepard
2. Dialogue.....Grace Miller, Margaret McSweeney
3. Original poem.....Irene Kessler
4. The "Star".....Ruth Sheldon, Joyce Barnes

LATIN SOCIETY.

The Latin Society held a purely business meeting on October 9th, when subjects were chosen for the following term. The song "Lawieger Horatius" was sung to the tune of "Maryland, My Maryland." On October 23d the following program was given, under Miss Copeland's charge:

1. "Greek and Roman Theaters".....Edith Shrum
2. "Stage Appliances in Classic Plays".....Amy Nelson
3. Recitation, "Puer ex Jersey".....Marjorie Beckett
4. "The Making of Latin Books".....Mae Engler
5. "How Latin Manuscripts Are Prepared".....Beatrice Evans

MARGARET FULLER.

The Margaret Fuller Society gave a very interesting program on athletics October 18th. The various numbers consisted of papers or recitations on the chief athletic sports, accompanied by appropriate tableaux. Our modern football hero was represented by Master Leroy Scott, a rather small specimen of the type. A fudge party followed the program.

ELAINE SOCIETY.

The last program of the Elaine Society was a decidedly original one on college life. An original story, a recitation, a reading on the funny side of college life, and the recitation on "Feminine Arithmetic," a college story, and some college jokes comprised the program, which was followed by a fudge party.

HAWTHORNE SOCIETY.

Two interesting programs have been rendered by the Hawthorne Society during the past month. The first was on the carnival, and had as its chief interest a debate on whether the carnival was a benefit to Omaha or not. The second program was on Venice, the land of the carnival. The history and points of interest in this city were discussed, and the program ended with a reading from the "Merchant of Venice."

THE WEBSTER SOCIETY.

Under the able leadership of George Giwits, chairman of the program committee, the programs of the Webster society for the past month have been exceptionally good. Several interesting debates have been held and the indications are that the Webster society will have a strong representation in the preliminaries.

LININGER TRAVEL CLUB.

At the first meeting of the Lininger Travel club officers for the year were elected: President, Blanche Deaver; vice president, Wylda Rhamey; secretary, Pearl Janney; treasurer, Lucile Hager; sergeant-at-arms, Helen Lindquist; editor, Elizabeth J. Becker.

The last meeting, which was held at the Lininger Art Gallery, proved to be a most enjoyable program. It consisted of the following numbers:

Violin solo, Elizabeth Becker; paper, "Nuremberg," Eula Crawford; recitation, "Lady Clare," Perl Janney; paper, "Lininger Art Gallery," Blanche Deaver; reading, "The Blue Flower," Georgia Taylor; biography, "George W. Lininger," Helen Cook; "Tribute to the Memory of Mr. Lininger," Pauline Rosenberg; music, Bertha Storz.

The social life of the High School is very dull at the present time and it might be well to remember that all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy.

Miss Helen Chesney entertained thirty of her junior friends on the afternoon of October 19.

Friday night, November 1, Miss Alberta Field entertained a number of her junior and senior friends.

Miss Borglum gave a Hallowe'en party at the Barnard on the mystic night of Nov. 1. About sixteen seniors were present.

On the evening of November 16 the first of the High School dances will be given at the Rome Hotel by Harry Carpenter and Merle Howard.

June Greevy entertained the Rolyé Club girls at her home on Friday evening after Hallowe'en. A jolly evening was spent, with hard-time costumes and old-fashioned refreshments as special features.

The Les Hiboux club gave a delightful dinner party at the Happy Hollow club on Saturday evening, September 28. Covers were laid for twenty. The Ak-Sar-Ben colors were carried out in the decorations. After the dinner the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

OUR CHRISTMAS ISSUE.

Every effort will be put forth to make the December number of the Register the finest that has been issued for several years. It will contain a picture of our football team and a number of other cuts. We need five or six good stories, several poems and a number of good squibs. We hope that a number of students will respond to this request and that we may not lack material.

Last month we enjoyed a visit from Mr. Golf, who is superintendent of public instruction in British Columbia.

We are sorry to hear that Earl Davenport, '09, one of our most prominent debaters, has left us to attend Bellevue College.

Mr. Wigman has taken an active interest in squibs by remodeling our squib box, which is now ready for use and not abuse.

Miss Katherine Morse has gone to California for the benefit of her health. In her absence, Miss Edith Butler has charge of her classes.

Students of botany will find a path for rare research by journeying to Mr. Fleming's room, where beautiful shrubs have been sprouting from the wall.

23 CALIFORNIA VIEWS and five colored postals, 15 cents; if you mention this paper, 10 cents. F. E. Rydall, 218 South Broadway, Los Angeles, Cal.

Miss Bertha Philippi, the registrar, has resigned. The reason will be forthcoming in the near future. Miss Mary Stearns is now filling the position.

Both students and faculty should avail themselves of the opportunity to attend the entertainment course of the Hanscom Park Methodist church. (See page 79.)

On November 11 the Senior class will hold its first meeting, in which officers for the ensuing year will be elected. The Juniors will organize a short time after.

For several weeks there was a genuine famine of paper, which caused even the most extravagant students to practice economy and the more frivolous ones to abstain from writing notes.

Milton Williams, a prominent member of the Senior class, has gone to Boston for his health. He will enter the Brookline High School, preparatory to going to the Boston Technical School.

Leonard Larnon, '09, who has been seriously ill with typhoid fever is improving rapidly. He expects to go to Stanton, Iowa, soon to visit on a farm where he hopes to fully recover from the effects of his illness.

The sensational press has been aiming its arrows at us once more, the particular cause being the gay and patriotic stocks of our masculine members. We must admit that it would be easier to study in a more quiet atmosphere.

On the night of October 24 a number of High School students took advantage of Dean Beecher's invitation to hear Mr. Mellemer's lecture on Wireless Telegraphy. Mr. Mellemer is installing a wireless system for the Union Pacific railroad.

All material for the Register must be handed in to the editors of the various departments, or left at the Register office for them, by the 23d of each month, written neatly in ink on one side of the paper only. Department editors must hand in their material by the 25th of each month. The Register will be issued about the 8th of the following month.

Would you like an education that will help you to earn a larger salary?

A thorough course in the Mosher-Lampman Business College will greatly increase your earning capacity. Students are entering this school at a rate that proves that the public appreciates the superiority of experienced teachers, fine courses of study and first-class equipments. No other school in Omaha ever opened with anything like the number of students enrolled in this school. The undertaking has proved to be a huge success from the very first day. If you are busy so that you cannot attend our day school, you should by all means enter our night school. It is the best in the city. By spending three evenings each week with us, you can learn bookkeeping or shorthand before the winter is over, or you can learn to write a fine hand or double your skill in figures.

Ask for catalogue today. Call 'phone Douglas 6610, or address

MOSHER-LAMPMAN BUSINESS COLLEGE,

17th and Farnam Streets, Omaha, Neb.

Miss Carolyn Harding, one of our most popular Senior girls, has been obliged to drop out of school because of ill health.

We regret very much to lose Mr. Pearson, our mechanical drawing teacher, who has resigned to take charge of the foundry and shop work in the mechanical engineering department at the University of Nebraska. We extend to him our best wishes for his success.

At the first football game of the season with Council Bluffs all those interested in the subject of school-spirit had the opportunity of seeing a practical demonstration. The Omaha students were alive with spirit and enthusiasm from the beginning to the end of the game and also on the trip home, which proves that our spirit has not entirely disappeared.

Mr. and Mrs. Morand solicits the patronage of young people of High School age for their Saturday assembly in Creighton Law School building, 216 South 18th street. First, because we have made it possible for them to receive lessons at a very moderate price. Second, we will teach you the waltz and two-step perfectly in a few lessons; which will enable you to enjoy the assemblies the rest of the season. Third, we have now enrolled thirty-two pupils and we want to double this number before the second Saturday in November, thus making it more enjoyable for all present.

Call and see the class. You will find some of Omaha's best families represented. Fourth, the Assembly room, dressing rooms and parlor are conveniently located on the ground floor. Terms: Season, one pupil, $8; two pupils, lady and gentleman, $12. Lessons for beginners every Saturday at 7:30 p. m. Assembly 8 p. m. Orchestra and programs.

Of course references are required from applicants who are not personally known to us.

Recently a meeting was called by Mr. Waterhouse for all boys interested in the subject of debating. A large number responded to the call which resulted in a most enthusiastic and successful meeting.

Plans for the future were discussed to quite an extent by Mr. Waterhouse and various members present, which if they materialize will result in a very interesting and satisfactory season. As a result of the conference with Principal Ricker of West Des Moines High School, Mr. Waterhouse spoke of a plan in which Des Moines, Omaha and Kansas City would enter into a debating league, each school to debate against the other two. There will be two teams to represent each school, an affirmative and a negative, one team will be sent away to compete with an outside team and one to remain at home and debate with an outside team. As a result there would be three strong debates, one in each city on the same night. A special advantage of this plan is that it gives six boys an opportunity to make the two teams instead of only three to make the one team. Another plan was to have the various debating societies as representatives of the High School debate with corresponding representatives of South Omaha and Council Bluffs.

With these debates and our annual debate with Lincoln, our prospects for a successful year seem to be very bright.

Battalion.

The promotions and assignments taking effect within the last month are as follows:

To be Captain of Signal Corps—Lieutenant Herrick Swan.
To be First Lieutenant—Cadet David L. Oberg.
To be Second Lieutenant—Cadet Harry Summers.
To be Sergeants—Cadet John Chambers, Cadet Sit Moore.
To be Corporals—Cadet Mac Parkinson, Cadet Harley Deams, Cadet Will Kennedy.

With cold weather in sight the captains are carefully drilling their men in the squad movements, as the cadets will soon have to do all their drilling inside. Although comparatively few of the men appear in full uniform, the companies present a remarkably good appearance and are fast rounding into shape, due largely to the attention and interest which the men, both old and new, are taking.

A very radical change has been made within the last month; the hospital corps has been abolished and united with the signal corps, which has been made into a company. This is a very wise move on the part of Captain Oury, as signal work proves excellent and also useful training, and the work is more suitable for boys than that which is found in the hospital corps. Among the new features which Captain Oury intends to introduce are the study of telegraphy and telephoning and signaling at night with acetylene lamps.

The band is not making as fast progress as the other organizations of the battalion, due largely, to the lack of material and also the loss of its most efficient leaders through graduation and for various other reasons. However we feel sure that under the able leadership of Prof. Nevotti, and by hard practice, that the band will come up to its usual standard.

Mr. Ricker, principal of West Des Moines High School, was a visitor here during the latter part of last month. He came to discuss plans with Mr. Waterhouse in regard to the debating interests between West Des Moines and Omaha High School.

The first of the four statues given to the school by the class of '07 arrived last month. It is a handsome bronze figure of "Mercury," an exact reproduction of the famous "Mercury" sculptured by John Bologne. It stands on a pedestal of green marble in the east alcove of the library and commands the admiration of all who enter. The rest of the statues failed to arrive, but will be here in a short time.

O. H. S., 26; Beatrice H. S., 0.

The reputation of our football team was still to be made when the boys went down to Bellevue, almost a month ago, and held the college team of men down to a score of 5 to 0 in a practice game. The previous hard practice had not sufficed to awaken the student body to this year's possibilities; it took forty minutes of hard play with college men to introduce the coming champions of Nebraska and western Iowa high schools. But when we did wake up, what an awakening! It really did the players good to hear us yell

"Hokus, pokus, dinky, daw,
Get there, get there, Omaha!
End and center, tackle, guard,
All together, hold 'em hard!
O-O-O-M-A-A-A-A-H-A—
O-MA-HA—High School."

After the Bellevue game came another week of hard practice, with valuable coaching and encouragement from Charley Lehmer, Al Fairbrother, Ben Cherrington, Homer Searle and other loyal alumni. The players began to show up in their best form and many close contests for places on the team ensued. Selby and Gardiner were on almost equal terms as punters; Howes and Warren Howard were promising ends, with Reel not far behind; and Wilson, Jensen, Carlson, Curtis and Salisbury had a lively time trying to win guards' places. Latenser and Whinnery showed up well as tackles, and McWhinney and Flack were out for center. Both Pixley and Lehmer were in good form at quarter, and the other places behind the line were filled, in practice, by McKinney, Charlton, Wentworth, Gardiner, Selby, Entriken, Nagl and Merle Howard.

By Saturday, the 12th of October, the team was in fine shape, and we played Council Bluffs with the following line-up:

L. E.—Howes.	R. E.—W. Howard.
L. T.—Whinnery.	Q. B.—Selby, Lehmer.
L. G.—Nagl.	L. H. B.—M. Howard, Entriken,
Center—McWhinney.	R. H. B.—McKinney,
R. G.—Wilson.	F. B.—Gardiner,
R. T.—Latenser.

Everybody knows we won, and against such a team as that to win was a distinction, more than a fulfillment of expectation. The day was ideal, the play fast and close, and things were coming our way, but— Every rose has its thorn. Before the ball had been in play five minutes Merle Howard, our student coach and manager, who was playing left half back, was disabled by a broken collar bone, and had to leave the field. Thus the most unfortunate thing that could have happened to the team occurred in the very hour when success was imminent. Howard has done much for O. H. S. football this year and last, and his forced retirement from the game is the worst kind of bad luck, both for the team and for him. But, like the sweet scent of the thorny blossom, Merle's work showed itself in the midst of the misfortune, and under Captain Latenser's leadership the team pitched in again with a determination to win any how, and they did.

However, don't think that determination was the only factor. Nor was the excellent playing of Selby, Lehmer, Gardiner, McKinney, Whinnery, Entriiken and all the other fellows entirely responsible for the score. All these things, together with the enthusiastic support of a loyal bunch of rooters, are what told the tale. And, not being satisfied with mere yelling, some of the leather-lunged aggregation almost wore out Mr. Fitzgerald's bell rope, and burned up a cord or two of wood in a public celebration.

Next came the game at Harlan on October 26, when the Iowans were smothered with forty-three purple and white blankets in return for our defeat last year. The contest was well fought, but was Omaha's from the first. Every play gave good gains, and all the players worked so well that any notice of individual playing would be incomplete without the name of every man. However, the work that counted most for scores was done by Lehmer, Whinnery, Selby, Latenser, Entriiken and Gardiner. Nash's work in defense and interference surprised every one, as he was taken to Harlan only as a substitute for the regular guard. All the other men, including the substitutes, showed up well and did their part towards making a championship team. This was the line-up:

L. E.—Howes.
L. T.—Whinnery, Entriiken.
L. G.—Nagl, Flack.
Center—McWhinney.
R. T.—Latenser.
R. E.—W. Howard.
Q. B.—Lehmer, Pixley.
L. H. B.—Entriiken, Gardiner.
R. H. B.—McKinney.
F. B.—Selby.

Last week the school's athletic enthusiasm showed up well in the giant mass meeting held in 204, when the old songs and yells were practiced and new ones learned. Captain Oury's speech was heartily appreciated, as were also the talks by Mr. Waterhouse, Mr. Bernstein and Mr. Congdon.

And, of course, after such a mass meeting, we couldn't help defeating Beatrice, whose strong team was outplayed by our boys to the tune of 26 to 0. Captain Latenser made two of the touchdowns, one being after a long return punt by Selby, whose other work was good. McKinney, aided by some of Entriiken's fine interference, made the other two touchdowns and kicked all four goals. The other two points were made on a safety. Nash showed up strong at left guard, and both Lehmer and Pixley did well at quarter. Howes and Howard put up hard, steady work throughout the game and made a number of excellent tackles. McWhinney and Wilson deserve mention for creditable work, and Whinnery made good gains. Charlton and Gardiner each played for a few minutes in the second half and their work was up to their regular standard. The line-up was as usual, except that Nash took the place of Nagl, who was out of practice on account of a lame shoulder.

What's the matter with the team?

It's all right!

What's all right?

The team!

Now for the games with York, South Omaha and Lincoln. The last two are scheduled at Dietz park, and to result successfully for Omaha must also be well attended. So, everybody come; stay together in the grandstand, wave your pennants and yell for the

Purple and white, purple and white;

Omaha High School, she's all right!

Omaha's second team is fast and strong this year, and makes the first team work to beat it. They played Benson about two weeks ago, scoring 30 points to their opponent's 0.

O. H. S. TENNIS.

Among the prominent athletic events of the season was the championship tennis tournament for both singles and doubles, which was held during the former part of last month. Although the weather interfered considerably, the tournament was quite a success, it producing many strong players, which makes the future of the game here very hopeful.

Sam W. Reynolds won the tournament and championship by defeating Sam Carrier 3-6, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4. This match was by far the most interesting and exciting of the tournament, both players playing with remarkable ability. Although Carrier had the lead on his opponent at the end of the third set, he was unable to hold out against the swift net smashes and brilliant lawfords of the champion. His ability to return balls that seemed almost impossible to get, won for him many points, but he was unable to keep it up. However, the match was not won until the last point played, it being anybody's game throughout. In Reynolds the challenger of next year will find a difficult man to deal with. He handles his racket with comparative ease and has the ability of placing a ball with plenty of force in any position of the court he chooses.

Robert McCague and Robert Thompson did very well in the semi-finals. The former was defeated by Reynolds 6-1, 6-4, 7-5; and the latter by Carrier in a hard fought match, 6-4, 7-9, 6-3, 6-4. But where they failed in singles they excelled in doubles by defeating in the final round Rayley and Peters, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4. The champions made a splendid team with Thompson's wonderful reach and McCague's happy faculty of "getting there." In the semi-finals Carrier and McConnell lost to Rayley and Peters, 6-2, 6-1, 4-6, 7-5, and Bowers and Gifford to Thompson and McCague, 6-4, 6-0, 3-6, 6-2.

BASKET BALL.

After football is over, basketball will be it. Four of last year's players are still with us, but there will be plenty of chances for new material. All fellows who wish to try out for the team should begin training now.

As yet no basket ball teams have been organized, but there is plenty of strong material from which several excellent teams will be formed. As usual two teams will be formed from the Sophomore class, one from the Junior class, while the Senior team will be composed of girls who have taken gymnasium work for several years, as the number of Senior girls taking gymnasium is so small. The annual tournament between the class teams will be held some time in February instead of at the closing days of school.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

(This new department has been opened because of the increased demand for information on various subjects. All questions cheerfully answered with certain reservations.)

S. C.—No, Gretchen is not much interested in the anti-fat movement lately started, she believes in getting stout.

Inquirer—We cannot be positive, but it is rumored that Mr. Barnes does not carry a pocket dictionary.

Literary Student—Yes, Sam Reynolds' new book, "All I Know," is out. The book is noted for quality, rather than quantity. It is very attractive, however; worth double the price, which is 5 cents.

Freshy—No, you can't tell whether you've flunked or not until after the exams. Then probably you won't tell.

Interested—We hear that Irma W. has a bright future in store (Storz) for her.

Pa heard Willie give the High School yell,
For joy he could not speak:
"Oh, mother, do just listen to
Our boy reciting Greek."

EXCHANGE CRITICISMS.

The Scribe, Oakland, Cal., is a very pleasing exchange. The form is very good, the quality of paper excellent, and the material interesting. Papers like yours are a pleasure to examine.

The Forum, St. Joseph, Mo., is a good exchange. The October cover design is attractive, as are also the cuts. "The Confessions of a Student," is a very clever selection of verse. Your Exchange Column also looks neat.

We have received some very good exchanges this month, and the Poly Prep, Brooklyn, N. Y., ranks among the best of these. It is printed upon very good paper, and has excellent form. The generous margins are restful to the eye, and the cuts are appropriate. Its literary material is as good as its form, and we seldom find such a good collection of strong editorials, interesting stories, and excellent poetry combined in one book. There is, however, one small criticism—print your city and state in some prominent place, so it can easily be seen. You may well be proud of your paper, for it is deserving of much praise.

The Purple & Gold, Bellevue, Neb., is a good paper. Your cover for October is very effective. Your literary material is good, but where is your exchange editor, and his column? Your jokes are also rather scarce.
