SPORTSMANSHIP

Babe Ruth knocked three homeruns in one game down at St. Louis the other day. Although the play lost the game for them, St. Louis fans gave Ruth the applause that was due him.

HONESTY PAYS

If you were walking down the street and stepped on a pocket-book, and upon opening it up, you found that it contained a couple of diamonds, a big roll of bills, and a little white card with Mr. John Smith, 1926 Paradise Vista avenue written on it, what would you do?

THESE SOBER HAT BANDS

Have you noticed the extreme sobriety and dullness of the bands encircling the men's bonnets this season? Neither have we. Black bands on men's headgear have gone out of existence with mustache cups, buggy rides, pre-war stuff, and other vestiges of a past generation.

SCHOOL ROOM CHANTY

The constant drip of water wears away the hardest stone; The constant gnawing Fido masticates the toughest bone.

AMERICA'S GREATEST THINKER

Who is America's greatest man of learning? Recently the professors of the University of Washington selected the world's 18 greatest men of learning. Their busts will be placed on the facade of the new library building of the university.

Then and Now: Time was when you could go into a store and the clerk would say unto you, 'What I can do for you, sir?'

Which they do: The expression, 'They shall not pass,' was supposed to have originated with the allies in France regarding the Germans.

Mercy: The quality of mercy is not strained. It droppeth from the gentle hearts of teachers.

Laws of Physics: Verily he who goes up shall come down. Verily he shall come down faster than he did go up.

A Glorious Defeat: 'Twas not for the sake of glory Of honor or of pride. That he said, 'Lady have a seat And I will step aside.'

Mid-Term Exam: Answer the following questions: Who Stole My Heart Away? Where'd You Get Those Eyes?

Worrying: Well, now we have something else to worry about, to-wit, mid-term exams. You see, it's like this: If you're smart you have nothing to worry about.

Initiation Rites of Speakers' Bureau Discloses Many Amusing Predicaments

From a declaration of love's sweet dream and a male beauty contest, conducted on an even more spectacular scale than Atlantic City's, to a hog-calling contest, a demonstration of the crawl stroke, and an instrumentless jazz orchestral Shades of what has been taking place in golden rule time!

KATTY KÖRNER

Was it magic that the great big, round apple came rolling from the crowd just when it was Joyce's turn to treat?

It's all right, 'Simp,' to stick the thermometer in your mouth just when the nurse comes in sight, but be careful you haven't laid it on a hot water bottle.

According to Mrs. Irene Jensen, the football members of her seventh hour chorus class have very lady-like voices.

Well, well, Maxine, how does it feel to have the fine points of the game explained and to be fed pop-corn?

We wonder how Esthyre manages to have two teachers embrace her in one day.

High school girls don't usually treasure kittens, Jo, unless they are gifts from the opposite sex—we wonder?

Be careful, Arthur dear, nice little boys don't usually fight in study halls.

We wonder why 'Bill' Gordon hurries to get in front of 228 every morning. Perhaps Betty could tell us.

Maxine, we thought that you had gotten past the stage where you shrieked at the sight of Henry's back.

We wonder what caused the great automobile race (perhaps we should say Ford race) from the game to the hospital Saturday. It is said that speed limits were broken by both parties.

John Carmello, remember in the future that 'Papas' in Spanish and 'papas' in English DO NOT have the same meaning.

It is rumored that Caroline Sachs is becoming superstitious. At any rate she seems to take great stock in fortune telling. And no wonder—the cards seem always to turn in her favor.

Some freshmen think that Greenberg and Thompson is some kind of a dry goods store, and that Solomon and Schrimpf are a couple of fish (salmon and shrimp).

Emmett has been swept into the eternal struggle of man between a blonde and a brunette. Though it's a very interesting matter to watch, we do wish he'd hurry and make his choice for we want to know who will lead the C. O. C.

LOYALTY!

Some of you seem to think that because Central has only two veterans on its football team that other schools are going to have one each time in wiping Central off the football map this year.

Two Irishmen stopped at a fruit stand to survey some grapefruit on display. 'Begorra, Dan,' said one, 'I wouldn't take many of them oranges to make a dozen.'

Parents Meet with Teachers Tuesday Night

Miss Towne Explains How Activities Assist Students

high school," she said. Miss Towne favored activities if not carried to an extreme, but she declared that the main purpose of Central is to educate.

Dr. E. T. Manning, director of health education, spoke on "What the Parents Can Do in the Health Line in Central." "We lose the children about the eighth grade when the boys get to the stacom age, and the girls begin to use accessory cosmetics and see runners in their stockings. The parents also lose them about this time," he said. Dr. Manning emphasized the importance of watching the health of high school youth.

"What the Parents Should Do to Co-operate," was the theme of the address by George E. Mickel of the Mickel Music house. "It is necessary for boys and girls to have an ideal and to be as earnest in school as they would be in work. Parents should enter into activities and interests with their children," he said.

"In the old days we believed in repression; now we believe in expression," stated J. G. Masters, principal, in his address on "Activities." "The point system limits activities and stimulates scholarship," he said. "We believe they give boys and girls a chance to grow, develop, learn fair play, achieve, and work with others. To carry responsibility, people must have a chance to practice it; activities make for initiative and leadership."

At the close of the meeting, Mr. Pierpont urged the fathers and sons to attend the Father and Son banquet on November 12.

Treasurer Announces Increase in Deposits

Increase in the amount banked and the number of depositors was shown in this week's banking results, according to Andrew Nelsen, treasurer. Eleven homerooms deposited $24.50 this week as compared to $20.75 last week, while the number of depositors was increased by nine.

Mrs. Elsie Howe Swanson's homeroom holds the banking record this week with $6.45 from nine depositors.

Mysterious Flowers on Teachers' Desks Arouse Conjectures

What is the meaning of a vase of flowers on a teacher's desk? The blossoms are often merely to add beauty to the classroom or to please the teacher or students.

Still, a bouquet of bachelor buttons and daisies in a glass jar of water on the desk in room 111. Bachelor buttons and daisies! These flowers almost always signify romance and sentimentality. Was there ever a rustic love story where the heroine didn't pluck the petals of the daisy to learn the true attitude of her lover? Of course these deductions from the innocent bouquet are merely speculative and not insinuating toward the person responsible for the daisies being there.

Then on the desk in room 220 is a black and white urn-shaped vase which looks as if it might be called a "vahze." This vase presents a most dignified appearance as though it had crossed the Atlantic ocean from Europe.

The bright orange bittersweet which the "vahze" contains appears very festive, but the name, bittersweet, it is hard to tell why a person would choose this flower for adornment. Surely not because of the name which places two opposites together thus each canceling the other.

Nevertheless, some say that character is often depicted in handwriting and such things; then why not in flowers and vases.

Old Fashioned Garden Lacks Parking Rules

There are no parking rules in the "Old-Fashioned Garden." Mysterious, what? Follow "Memory Lane" to the auditorium. Still more so. "Old Black Joe" is singing "Love's Old Sweet Song."

Ask Mrs. Irene Jensen! Ask Mrs. Elsie Howe Swanson! After a perspiring reporter had chased them for two weeks straight, and then walked into Mrs. Jensen's room and—well, "we want you all to come and help us make a nice noise at our singing festivals in the auditorium, otherwise known as mass meetings."

Among the Centralites

Robert Clark '29 will return this month from a year's trip abroad.

Della Lee Gowen '27 and Louise Tanner '28 entertained at a formal tea for Miss Gladys Shamp Thursday afternoon at the home of their camp fire guardian, Mrs. Irving Benolken.

Winifred Kent '27 entertained Betty Sein of Lincoln last week-end.

Miss Elizabeth Kiewit, history teacher, spent the week-end in Lincoln.

Harriet and Barbara Fair, '27 and '29 respectively, visited in Lincoln over the week-end.

Frances and Margaret Turner, both '29, spent the week-end in Lincoln.

Sam White '27 spent the week-end in Lincoln.

The Misses Belle and Jo von Mansfelde, mathematics and English teachers, respectively, spent the week-end in Ashland, Neb.

Virginia Ralph '30 went to Lincoln for the week-end.

Marie Conoyer '27 spent the week-end in Valley, Neb.

Jayne Fonda '27 spent the week-end in Valley, Neb., as the guest of Jane Whitmore.

Miss Amanda Anderson, mathematics teacher, spent the week-end in Lincoln.

Alma Warner '29 attended the Nebraska-Missouri game last Saturday at Lincoln.

James Bednar '29, president of Speakers' Bureau, is recovering from a slight attack of pneumonia.

Claude Gillespie '28 and Albert Lucke '28 drove to Lincoln last Saturday to attend the Nebraska-Missouri football game.

Ralph Rutherford '28, formerly of Denver, Col., is now enrolled at Central.

Elsie Koch and Ellen Niles, both '27, motored to Lincoln last Saturday to attend the Nebraska-Missouri game.

Georgene Rasmussen '27 is planning to spend the holidays beginning November 4 in Chicago.

Polly Robbins Helps Direct at Playhouse

Former O-Book Editor Tells Experiences at Community Theater

"I am sure that Central high school students would enjoy every one of the plays that the Community Playhouse will present this season," declared Miss Polly Robbins '22, assistant director of the Community Playhouse, when interviewed about her work October 6, in her office at the Mary Cooper studio, between acts of "Merton of the Movies."

Miss Robbins, editor-in-chief of the O-Book in 1922, specialized in dramatics during her four years at the University of Nebraska.

"I never realized before how little I knew about directing and managing a play till now. I felt 'green' like Merton in the play tonight. I am learning to paint, glue, design, and move scenery and to take orders for tickets. Ticket ordering is an art by itself for one comes in actual contact with all sorts of people," laughed Miss Robbins.

Polly, who has golden brown hair, a winning personality, and a pleasing smile, closed by saying she hoped every student at Central high would take advantage of the Community Playhouse and see a great many of its productions during the present season.

Tickets, which may be purchased for $5, admit to the season's program of eight plays. "Merton of the Movies" was given October 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8. The seven other plays that are to be given in their respective order are: "Anna Christie," "The Youngest," "He Who Gets Slapped," "Pygmalion," "Lady Windermere's Fan," "The Guardsman," and "R. V. R."

the teachers cannot take time for these contests in classes, but anyone interested may get further information from Miss Sara Vore Taylor, head of the constructive English department. The contest closes March 20, 1927, and winners will be announced in the student-written number of The Scholastic to be issued April 30, 1927.

Central's Boosting Units

MATHEMATICS SOCIETY

A program preceded the regular meeting of the Mathematics society held in 439 last Friday after school. Several harmonica solos by Herman Rosenblatt '28, a reading by Francis Simon '27, and a talk on her trip to Europe by Miss Amanda Anderson, mathematics teacher, were given.

An amendment, introduced at the last meeting and providing that the membership be limited to 60 students recommended by a mathematics teacher, another teacher, and a member of the club; and that a waiting list be kept, was adopted. A committee was chosen to elect from the number of applicants enough to fill the quota.

Initiation of new members will be held October 22, after a banquet given for them. The price of banquet tickets is 65 cents.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

Officers for the year were nominated at a meeting of Le Cercle Francais a week ago Wednesday in 439 at 3 o'clock.

Nominees for president were Georgene Rasmussen, Gretchen Goulding; vice-president, Marian Clark, Sarah Pickard; secretary, Margaret Wigton, Gertrude Marsh, Marjorie Gould, Virginia Droste; treasurer, Margaret Lavelle, Lucille Gesman; sergeant-at-arms, Jayne Fonda, Mary Elizabeth Jonas, Mildred Goozman, Charlotte Purdy, Harriet Guild; chairman of program committee, Dorothy Graham, Neva Hefin, Ruth Dahl, Blanche Blundell.

Election of the officers will take place Wednesday. Isabel Lehmer was appointed chairman of the program committee for the next meeting.

NATURAL SCIENCE CLUB

The Natural Science club will sponsor an illustrated lecture on "Fossils of Nebraska," by Doctor Erwin H. Barbour, nationally known geologist and professor at the University of Nebraska, on Friday afternoon, October 29, in Central's auditorium.

All members of the club will be admitted on the presentation of their 1926 membership cards, and all teachers are especially invited to attend.

"Because of the large size of the club it is impossible to have regular meetings," said Gerhardt Dorn, vice-president.

CENTRAL COLLEENS

New members of the Central Colleens were welcomed at a party held last Thursday in 445 after school. Purple and white ice cream was served.

A special program in honor of the new members was given at the meeting. Jayne Fonda '27 gave a reading entitled "A Pleasant Half Hour on the Beach." Isabel Lehmer '27 played a selection on the piano, "Etude," by Cyril Scott, and also accompanied Jean Whitney '27 who sang "Marcheta." Gertrude Marsh '27 was in charge of the program.

At a short business meeting held before the party, Miss Pearl Rockfellow and Miss Bess Bozell, French teachers, and Miss Irma Costello, history teacher, were elected sponsors of the club for the coming year.

The club also decided that mem-
