

State Contest to Test Many Music Makers

Central Entrants Journey to Lincoln to Compete Against Other Towns

School Entries Vary Mrs. Pitts Sends Instrumental, Vocal Artists for Varied Places

To win places in the various events which they have entered in the State Music contest is the thought uppermost in the minds of the students who will go to Lincoln tomorrow. Central's contestants will leave on a special bus for Lincoln where they will compete at Lincoln high with entrants from all high schools of Nebraska.

Previous Good Record

Last year's Central record stood out pre-eminently, having to its credit three first places, three second places, and one third among the following events: Girls' and Boys' Glee clubs, cello solo, duet, and mixed chorus.

Solo selections will take place today and chorus numbers tomorrow. Seven events will be entered, four solos and three chorus entries, and it is expected that there will be keen competition in each.

Marie Uhlig '27 will accompany all of Central's contestants.

Individual Numbers

Following is the list of students who will take part in individual numbers: string quartet composed of Jessie Stirling, first violin; Carriebeth McGill, second violin; Helen Zabriske, viola; and Bettie Zabriske, cello. Alfred Heald will represent the school in clarinet solo, and Marjorie Smith in violin. A duet composed of Edith Cheff, soprano, and Stanley Kiger, tenor, will complete the list of entries.

The following girls were chosen for the Girls' Glee club number: soprano, Charlie Johnson, Frances Al-

Doris May '27 won first prize in contest held by the Greenwich Villagers Monday, April 25. Her work was a booklet on fashions of the older days and fashions of today. The prizes were: first prize, $15; second prize, $10, and third prize, $5.

Reginald Sires won second prize; he handed in a Batik of bird done in blues, violets, and greens, on an orange background. Mary Elizabeth Jonas '27 won third prize. She submitted a chalk drawing of two heads and an illustration of "Alice in Wonderland."

This is the third annual contest held by the Greenwich Villagers. The contest is open only to graduating seniors.

Vassar Awards Fund

Word has been received that Marion Cosney '26 was given the $400 scholarship to Vassar college for next year. This scholarship is awarded on the basis of scholarship attainment, character, and need of the student. Marion received a similar award last fall. Her sister, Beatrice '22, went through Vassar on the same kind of a scholarship during her four years there.

Papa Loves a Fiddle

"I'm not much of a Kriesler, but I can handle this fiddle well enough to explain how it works," said "Papa" Schmidt to his first hour physics class the other day.

Then he sawed away upon the little red fiddle, which squeaked and squeaked the best it could in spite of everything.

The classroom soon became a real concert hall, and the seats were filled with bewildered listeners as "Professor" Schmidt went on with the recital. He played marvelously, up the scale and down again. The class applauded as he finished the selection.

No, "Papa" isn't going to teach music. It was all just part of an experiment in sound.

Mrs. Milton Thorp, nee Miss Carrie Browne, former teacher of mathematics and French at Central, visited Omaha friends over the weekend. She now lives in Nebraska City, Neb.

'Saxophone My Meal Ticket' Declares Famous Rudy Wiedoeft, Riviera Artist, 'Jazz Music Too Tiring to Live Long'

"Do you want to know why I took up saxophone? Well, it's my meal ticket," laughed Rudy Wiedoeft, known as the American saxophone king, when interviewed backstage at the Riviera, Tuesday after his first performance. "I have played many other instruments, but the saxophone is my pick," he added.

Mr. Wiedoeft is practically the first man to compose a series of books to be used for instruction. "When I was on a ranch in California, my saxophone was my only companion, because of its approach to the human voice. With its introduction into the jazz band, the music has changed its course. But jazz will never live. In time it becomes tiresome."

After sending a composition to England to be played by a symphony, he received a sum of one shilling and eight pence. Later on a light airy piece, which Mr. Wiedoeft calls "hokum," brought him 62 pounds. "Also if I were playing to an audience of 3,000 people, about 2,980 of them would not appreciate the classic pieces, while 20 would. Should

I play to the 20 and receive an applause which I can hardly hear, or to the others, and have the result shake the building? Furthermore, no man can continue to play both of these types of music and do it well," Mr. Wiedoeft explained.

All of the artist's education was received in the United States. He has taught but two pupils and they reside in New York. Mr. Wiedoeft tours the country for about seven or eight months in the year and then goes to his southern summer home.

"My audiences never give me any inspiration, but last fall when I was very ill I received an idea from a little child about five years old. She came to visit me every day. Her lightness and tripping caused me to write my first part of composition after her manner. Later I heard the chimes of a nearby church and used them also," he smiled.

Suddenly he remembered that he had put the key to his dressing room in his pocket and probably his wife would be trying vainly to break in, so he disappeared backstage with the quotation, "Bye, Bye."

Central Crusaders to League Forces in Dandelion Hunt

Central Committee to Sponsor Third Annual Dig Over Campus

Armed with knives, Central's student body will turn out next Wednesday after school to rid the campus of its deadly enemy, the dandelion. Central Committee, who has made this an annual custom for the past two years, will be sponsors of the dig. Hugh Hickox and Lane Axtell are in charge.

Students who will have charge of various teams on the campus are: Tom Austin, Arthur Redfield, William Weber, Robert Thompson, Bernard Tebbens, Edward Tyler, Albert Johnson, Charles Gallup, Robert Powell, Richard Cowdery, Arthur Pinkerton, Harold Kendis, Olden Blandin, Sarah Pickard, Elizabeth Kieser, Etta Alice Howell, and Irma Randall.

Other clubs and organizations in the school will co-operate with the Central Committee.

Surprise Mass Meeting to Support Ball Game

Impromptu speeches by two members of the baseball team at the enthusiastic pep-mass meeting this morning was as much a surprise to the audience as to the speakers. The meeting was planned as a rouser for the Central-South game this afternoon. Charles Morearty, famous football alumnus of Central, gave the main address. Leon Fouts began the program by a snappy talk urging everybody's support.

The three Lefholtz sisters, Ruth, Lois, and Nynee, sang several popular selections.

"Bill" Johnson led the cheering. The Cadet Band played several selections at the opening and again at the close of the meeting.

Illinois Honors Alumni

Henry Glade and Verne Reynolds, both '26, have been elected to the Phi Eta Gamma, freshman honor society at the University of Illinois, according to a letter received Tuesday by Principal J. G. Masters. Membership in this organization is made up of freshmen that make a 4.50 average in their first semester or in their entire first year in the university. A 4.50 average is equivalent to one-half A and one-half B.

Verne had an average of 4.52, while Henry had an average of 4.76.

Civics Head Sends Data

Miss Autumn Davies, head of the civics department, has sent in the outlines, charts, and other material used in the civics department at Central to L. E. Aylsworth at the University of Nebraska, who has charge of that division in the state scholarship contest, in order to give him some idea of the teaching of civics at Central.

The scholarship contest heretofore has covered work not given at Central and therefore made it difficult for this school's contestants.

Big Program to Introduce Class Singers

Senior Girls' Chorus—Boys' and Girls' Clubs to Appear

Members of the Junior Girls' and Boys' Glee clubs and Girls' Senior chorus will give a concert Friday evening, May 12, in the school auditorium. The recital promises to be a very beautiful and effective affair and all students who are interested in music are urged to come.

"We hope to make this year's concert the best one yet," stated Mrs. Elsie Howe Swanson, director, Tuesday. Contrary to former occasions when instrumental numbers have always been played by girls, this year's concert will feature selections played by boys.

Accompanists for the concert are: Marie Uhlig '27, Jean Stirling, post-graduate, and Miriam Wells '26. The first group on the program will be three instrumental numbers; a violin solo, "Indian Snake Dance," by Burleigh, will be played by Jose Masters '30; a piano solo, "Scotch Poem," by McDowell, played by Robert E. Johnson '30; and Edward Row '30 will present "Waltz in E Minor," by Chopin.

"The River of Rest," by Platte, will be given by Girls' Senior chorus and Girls' Junior Glee club, after which Alfred Heald '30 will play a clarinet solo, "Shower of Gold," by Bouillon. In conclusion of the second group on the program Jack Niemann '30 will play a piano solo, "Mazurka," by Borowski.

Under the direction of Mrs. Irene Jensen, teacher in the music department, the Junior Mixed chorus will present two numbers, "A Caravan Song," by Chadwick, and "My Mammy's Voice," by Loomis.

The next group will consist of "Berceuse" from "Jocelyn," by Godard, and "Springtime," by Watkins, which will be sung by Girls' Junior Glee clubs. Three numbers by the Boys' Junior Glee clubs will be "Soldiers' Chorus," from "Faust," by Gounod; "Juanita," by Norton, and "Three for Jack," by Squire. Members of the Girls' Senior chorus will then sing "Goodnight, Goodnight, Beloved," by Pinsuti, and "June Rhapsody," by Daniels.

Concluding the program, the Girls' Senior chorus and Boys' Junior Glee clubs will sing "The New Dawn," by Forsyth.

Seniors to Be Honored

Mass Meeting to Announce Members of National Honor Society— People Now Chosen

Members of the National Honor Society are to be announced probably Wednesday of next week at a Rialto or Riviera mass meeting, according to Principal J. G. Masters. The committee of selections of members met Wednesday of this week to arrange the plans and to make recommendations.

"The recommendations are to be made according to character, ability for leadership, scholarship, and initiative," Mr. Masters added. "I am sure all the best students will make the honor society."

Wary Students Always Name Seat Preference

"Aw, can't you gimme 50 without my waiting around an hour for it?" and "I just must sit at that table, or I won't have my history!" Such are the remarks made to the girl who registers students for the library.

Anyway they all have good reasons for wanting their favorite seat. "Gen" Foley seems to be the most popular first hour, or else she helps 'em a lot. Donald Reed, "Dick" Woodman, and John Prentiss speak unanimously for 50 or 54 and how can three people all have the same seat or sit in even two seats? Well, it just isn't being done! So one of them has to take second place each day.

Kenneth Saunders blushed a beautiful red and wouldn't tell why he liked 50 or 54 fifth hour, but rumor has it that Alice Foltz is monitor at that particular time.

Now Herman Rosenblatt has a different excuse. He likes to sit at Jean Whitney's table seventh hour because, "You see I can talk to the monitor and not get an error."

Janie Lehnhoff seems to be the popular monitor fifth hour. At least John Sundberg and Whitney Kelley think so.

Three Graduating Senior Girls Achieve Unbroken Records of All "A" Grades

Having an all A record during the entire four years of high school is the honor of three senior girls, Margaret Wigton, Dorothy Baird, and Mary Frances Young. Mary Frances has been in Central for only two years.

"It's a mystery to me how I got my A's," asserted Margaret with a smile. "Although concentration and a definite time for studying are part of the secret," she added.

In her freshman year Margaret was president of the Freshman Student club, which was later formed into the Girl Reserves of which she was president last semester. Margaret was elected to the Junior Honor Society for three years. She is a member of the Central Committee, Monitors' Council, O-Book staff, Mathematics society, and is secretary of the French club.

"Hard work, study, and perseverance is the formula for getting A's," declared Mary Frances Young. Mary Frances is a member of the Junior Honor Society and was in the Road Show.

Dorothy Baird is also member of the Junior Honor Society. She is a member of the Monitors' Council, is on the O-Book staff, and was in the French play. Dorothy was in the Commercial contest, both state and district.

Artists to Submit Series of Drawings to Office for New Choice

Aspiring artists who want to try out for the position of next year's Weekly Register cartoonist may enter the contest open to all underclassmen for the best cartoons or comic strips submitted to The Weekly Register in 32C before May 9.

Each applicant must hand in a series of three drawings that will be judged by their timeliness and the execution of the idea. "We want to begin early to find someone for next year who can do them," said Miss White.

The Publication Board will act as judges in this contest. In submitting the drawings it is necessary to observe the following rules:

1. All entries must be in 32C by 3 o'clock on Monday, May 9, May 16, and May 23.
2. Every entrant must hand in at least three cartoons or a continued comic strip over the period of three weeks.

Four Latin Students Win Prizes in Contest for Verse Translation

First prizes of $3 each were awarded to two people for their excellence in Latin translation by a "friend of Central high school and of Latin" who wishes to remain anonymous. In one division of the contest, which included translations of an editorial from a newspaper, a prose passage from any standard author, and a metrical translation of lines from Virgil, Alice Putnam '27 won first place. Joyce Hackett '27 won the second prize of $2 by translating passages from Virgil. Honorable mention went to Eleanor McNow '27 for her translation of the Twenty-third Psalm.

In the other division, which was a translation of an English poem, only one prize was given, as too few people entered the field. Lillian Field '27 won this honor. The committee picking the winners was Mrs. Bernice Engle, chairman, Miss Lola Oliver, and Miss Zora Shields.

Clubs Plan Second Concert

Because the concert of the Senior Glee clubs was so enthusiastically received by the audience at the First Presbyterian church, Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Carol Marhoff Pitts, head of the music department, has been requested to make the recital an annual event.

"The concert was a most beautiful and effective performance," declared Miss Jessie Towne Monday. "Each selection far surpassed the one preceding it."

Members of the Senior orchestra will play with the University Symphony orchestra at a concert to be given at the University of Nebraska at Lincoln Sunday, May 22. The orchestra will play one of Beethoven's symphonies.

THE STORY FOR THE WEEK

The feast is o'er. Now brimming wine is seen to shine in each lordly cup before each eager guest. Silence fills the crowded hall; then the noble host, the courteous Stanley, arises to propose a toast to the beautiful and proud Lady Gundamere.

At the word each gallant rose to his feet and shouted joyously. "Enough, enough," smiling said the host. "That all the ladies might have their due, each knight in turn must play his part and name the lady of his heart."

One by one, each guest sprang up, named the loved one's name, and praised her beauty, grace, constancy, or fame. The most gallant, the most envied, the most admired knight, Sir Leon, the flower of chivalry, sprang to his feet. Countless eyes were fixed on him as he poetically began thus:

"I drink to one whose image never may depart, deep graven on this grateful heart until memory be dead; to one whose love for me shall last when lighter passions long have passed; so holy 'tis and true; to one whose love hath longer dwelt, more deeply fixed, more keenly felt, than any pledged by you."

Such a beautiful poem, but each guest upstarted at the last word, his hand upon his sword, with fury-flashing eye. Stanley asked the name of this most peerless dame, far surpassing all others mentioned.

Sir Leon paused, then bent his noble head reverently, as he gently said:

"My mother."

FRESHMEN, READ THIS EDITORIAL

This editorial, though written for the benefit of the freshmen, easily might become the concern of the upper grade students not familiar with the library.

Miss Zora Shields, the librarian, is urging all freshmen to be sure to register in the library before the end of this semester. Monitors in the library are for the special benefit of the undergraduates, but the seniors seem to make twice as many errors as the freshmen do. To avoid this situation, register during the first year, so that the seniors four years from now will be orderly and will set a good example for incoming students.

Why are freshmen urged to register in the library and charge books before the end of their first year in Central high school? One reason has been mentioned above: to save errors. Library material helps in school work. Sophomores are required to do a few library problems. These students will be saved much embarrassment if they know how to go about finding material in the library.

Lastly, what's the use of having an almost perfect library, wonderful material, a good system, monitors, and efficient librarians, if no one will use it?

The wonder of the senior class: what has become of a certain garrulous, loquacious, talkative, urging business manager?

THE JUNIOR HONOR SOCIETY

With the advent of spring, once more comes the election to membership in the Junior Honor Society. This important annual election took place yesterday. The organization, founded four years ago by Principal J. G. Masters, is to the undergraduates what the National Honor Society is to the graduating seniors.

To be eligible for membership, the student must be carrying at least four full subjects with A and B grades. He must have shown himself ambitious, obedient, and enterprising both in and out of the classroom.

The committee of the faculty upon whom rests the responsibility of selecting the members of this organization has had a difficult duty. One-tenth of the entire class, which is the maximum membership of each chapter, or nearly one-tenth, has been elected to membership each year up to the present time. The organization is divided into three chapters: Gamma for the juniors, Delta for the sophomores, and Epsilon for the freshmen.

WHO KEEPS CENTRAL RESPECTABLE?

Who digs the dandelions on the campus? Who keeps ink in the study halls and has broken seats mended? Who directs an after school study room? Who helps the janitor, the faculty, and the student body to put things across?

Several years ago Mrs. Ada I. Atkinson and a group of students formed an organization called the Central Committee. The purpose of this club is service to the school.

One of the things Central Committee has done was the carrying on of a contest for a definition of "School Spirit." The following was chosen because it represented the ideals of not only all true boosters but also the Central Committee:

"School Spirit is devotion to a school and its traditions; it is a steady loyal force ruling the uncertain waves of victory or defeat; it is the principle guiding him who seeks through study and co-operation to benefit his school."

Cal: "Well, don't think I'm not sick of waiting to hear you yell 'next' to be necked."

Soly: "I suppose the food here is no good also."

Cal: "Your Hebrew is terrible. Where were you educated?"

Book Review

"TOMORROW MORNING"

By Anne Parrish

Kate, the protagonist of this novel, starts out as a rather dully uninteresting bride. It is what life and the breaking of her illusions make of her that captures a reader's sympathy, and causes him to love the common little heroine at the end of the book.

Anne Parrish, recounting the life of an artist-girl who marries and sinks to the level of mediocrity, carries her through a long chain of incidents to the time when she soothes her own son, who is giving up his wife and baby girl.

Her writing is made successful both by an interesting style (she is one of very few who handle well the psychological manner of expression) and by the rather neglected expedient of having something to say.

In the abstract the theme of "Tomorrow Morning" is the revelation of a secret little fear that stabs now and then at the brain of every artist; the fear of his own laziness, of waiting for an inspiration to clear, or failing to respond quickly enough to a creative mood until the chance is gone.

Fortunately, "Tomorrow Morning" does not preach. Though one does feel dissatisfaction and pity for all those might-have-been pictures; still he feels a creeping assurance that if tempestuous life can make of a woman what it made of Kate Green, it matters little whether or not she does get up at the call of her alarm clock, "to paint the dawn, perhaps, —tomorrow morning."

Central Student Works Ten Hours Each Day and Also Keeps Up Studies

"It is pretty hard to keep your studies up besides working ten hours a day, but I am managing to handle it," said Marvin Balzer '28 when interviewed at his corner at Twenty-fourth and Farnam streets Tuesday morning. Marvin stated that his earnings, which amount to about $25 a week, enable him to support himself.

Marvin and his family after enduring 13 years of oppression and hardship under the regime of Czar Nicholas of Russia, came to this country in 1921. The first thought occurring to the motherless youth was the means by which he could acquire an education. With the aid of some friends, Marvin found a job selling papers, at the same time attending Kellom school.

Marvin completed the eight-year grade school course in four years and entered Central in June, 1925. In the meantime, besides "hustling" his way through school, he helped to buy a home for his family. For the last four years he has been selling papers

TO MY MOTHER

When I think of love that you have given me,
 You—so true as only you could be;
 When I recount the deeds that you have done
 To make my life a full and happy one,
 O'er me there steals a deep, a sacred mood;
 For you alone is felt a glorious love,
 A love for you, My Mother, who has been
 My moulding power, my closest, dearest kin.
 Ah! That in some way I might to you show
 The gratitude that in my heart does glow,
 If but in some clear way I could express
 Delightful thoughts of you that I possess;—
 A Tower of Adoration I'd erect,
 To prove to you my love, pure, so direct.

Manual Arts Weekly of Manual Arts high school, Los Angeles, Cal., celebrated its fourteenth birthday with the issue on April 19. The paper believes it is unique for a seven column high school weekly in that the subscription price is 25 cents for the semester.

Senior week was celebrated at North Platte high school, North Platte, Neb., from April 18 to 22. Features of the week were the senior play, "Pots and Pans," and the senior edition of the school paper.

How Much Do You Know About Central?

Another bunch of questions, more scientific than geographic, this time! Algebra, arithmetic, and engineering are in this set.

1. How high is the smoke stack?
 2. How many rooms, counting cubby-holes, are there in the building?
 3. Where is the tunnel? Which way and how far does it go?
 4. Who are the advertising managers of the Student Association, and what do they do?
 5. What two big rooms used to be study halls?
- Answers to last week's questions are: 1. Over the shelves holding glasses; 2. behind the attendance desk; 3. second lunch, because first lunch is too crowded; 4. three; 5. military drill; 6. outside 120; in the library, over biography reserve section.

Court Flourishes With Young Blood of Peonies

New, young blood in the old, aristocratic court? A most shocking procedure, indeed; nevertheless, there in the court stands the young blood, quietly but firmly, ready to grow up into flourishing, blooming peonies to show what young blood will do. Of course, the infants are rather frail and have to be hedged about with sticks to keep the young bloods of the human race from knocking them down until they are old enough to be plainly visible.

The peonies are acting in a two-fold capacity. They are bringing something new and colorful to brighten up the minds of exam-laden students, and their sticks serve as a fence to protect the grass beyond. The flowers are the first indication that Central may have trees some day.

Thoughtful Centralites Send Mothers a Card

Monday—"There, that's 30 cents that I saved today. I sure missed my daily cake and ice cream, though. At this rate I ought to be able to get mother something good by Friday for Mother's Day."

Tuesday—"Gee, I only saved 20 cents from my lunch money today. But what can you do when they have coconut cake and swell ice cream? I had to get one piece at least. Anyway, I've got 50 cents now. Maybe I can get a silk scarf for her."

Wednesday—"Shades of Hesperides! If I didn't go and spend all but 15 cents today. So far, I've only got 65 cents. I thought I could get by the cake counter without succumbing, but the temptation was too much."

Thursday—"Hurray, I've got $1 at last. And if I save some more tomorrow, I can go downtown after school and get a peachy present. Gee, that cake looked good today."

Friday—"Oh, well, Bob said I could get a good looking car for 10 cents. I'll go down to Kresge's after school. How can they expect you to keep any money around here when Eskimo pies are so good?"

Teachers Urge Students to Think Up New Excuses

If students are ever late, WON'T they think up some new excuse? The teachers in charge of the absence and tardiness would probably appreciate it. Most people say the following over and over again for a whole year: "The clock stopped." "Had car trouble." "The whole family overslept." "Just missed the street car." "The street car was overcrowded and the motorman wouldn't stop." or "Had to get a little brother (or sister) off to school."

Of course, if one isn't original he'll say, "Well, I'm late because I'm late." Think up a new one on the way to school next time.

Hamilton Gives Results

Results of the popularity contest held in Speakers' Bureau last week were announced at the banquet held last Friday evening at the Ad-Sell restaurants. Fifty-two students attended.

Fred Hamilton, chairman of the contest, announced the winners. Each title holder had to give a speech, sing a song, tell a story, or dance.

The winners are: one who has done the most for Speakers' Bureau, Justin Wolf; best student among the girls, Edith Victoria Robins; best student among the boys, Joe West; best speaker among the girls, Caroline Sachs; best speaker among the boys and best dressed, Justin Wolf, and best dressed girl, Josephine Monheit; boy who wears the loudest ties, Herman Rosenblatt (unanimous); worst poet, Paul Prentiss; worst flirt, Ruth Correa; sheik, Charles Hansen. "Chuck" was also declared the best looking boy.

Ruth Correa carried off the remaining titles for the girls. She is held as having the most "It," as the sheba, the most popular, and the best looking. Justin Wolf has the most "It" and is the most popular among the boys. Miss Floy Smith, sponsor, was voted the littlest filibusterer, and Arthur Redfield was unanimously elected the biggest one.

Latin Class Sends Members of Contest

They say that Latin is all the bunk! Well, maybe it is, but there is something fishy some place when six out of a class of 13 will represent Central in the Nebraska Academic Scholarship contest. How come? That's just the question. Anyway they are all in room 119 first hour in a Latin VI class, and they are quite proud of themselves.

Those brilliant students who will go down to Lincoln in the month of May are: Edith Thummell, first in trigonometry; Edwina Morgulis, first in second year French; Adele Wilinsky, first in Latin VI; Mary Lou Effe, alternate for Latin VI; Mildred Goosman, second for Latin VI; and Andrew Towl, alternate for trigonometry.

'Magic Squares,' is Chinese Work

"Magic Squares are made up of squares numbered in such a way that their sums when added horizontally, vertically, or diagonally are the same." This definition of Magic squares was given by Dr. A. L. Candy in his lecture last Friday in the auditorium.

According to Dr. Candy, magic squares were first worked out in China and were called "magic" because they were supposed to possess the power to keep away evil spirits, especially if engraved on brass plates and hung on the wall. Dr. Candy used lantern slides in explaining the different types of magic squares and pointing out the remarkable things that might be done with them.

Dr. Candy is head of the mathematics department at the University of Nebraska and has been teaching there for over 30 years. Be that as it may, he scorned the use of a stage door, but nimbly climbed onto the stage.

'Register for Books,' Says Head Librarian

All students, especially freshmen, are urged to register for the library and to take out books. "It is easier to learn the ways of the library now than to wait until the actual time of great need comes," wrote Miss Zora Shields, head librarian, in the circular to freshmen in the library Friday.

"We believe that this familiarity is a great help in your work, a sort of insurance that you should take out as a freshman to help in your sophomore, junior, and senior years," the letter continues. Every Friday fifth, sixth, and seventh hours are set aside as browsing hours. During this time the students may read any book, magazine, or newspaper.

Students Take Exams

Eight students of Central high school are beginning to work on the College Entrance Examinations which will be held at Central from June 2 until June 25. A few of the students have been tutoring outside of school, and the rest will soon begin a complete review.

"A good review now followed by a more rapid one just before the examination is the best thing for you," declared Principal J. G. Masters. Vice-Principal J. F. Woolery added that usually only 58 per cent pass the examination, proving that a complete knowledge of the subject is necessary.

Those preparing for the examinations are Blanche Blundell, who will go to Smith; Estelle Foreman, Wellesley; John S. Williams, Harvard or Princeton; Englebert Folda Jr., Yale; Adele Wilinsky, Bryn Mawr; and Dorothy Blanchard, Smith.

Applications for these examinations were to reach the college board today.

INTERCLUB COUNCIL Deciding to use some of the club money to buy a piano, the Interclub Council Tuesday morning planned to select the instrument immediately in order that the O-Book picture of the club room, 439, may be taken some time next week. It is believed that a good piano can be obtained for $100.

The committee having charge of the cretonnes displayed samples, and the club selected the one it preferred. The work on curtains and pillows and cushions is now progressing rapidly.

SPANISH CLUB The Spanish club held their meeting Tuesday after school in room 215 at 3 o'clock. Plans for the joint picnic to be held some time this month with the French club, were discussed. A committee was chosen to make plans with the committee chosen from the French club.

DEBATE CLUB Adoption of a constitution was the feature of the meeting of the Debate club held after school last week in room 140. No definite plans have been made for the club, though the debaters are working for the contest with Creighton Prep. At the present time, Joe West '28 is judging at the interclass debates at Technical high school.

LITERARY CLUB Contemporary women writers of England was the subject discussed at the meeting of the Literary club held Monday afternoon in room 221. SPEAKERS' BUREAU H. E. Dickinson, general superintendent of the Northwestern railroad, spoke to the Speakers' Bureau Tuesday morning on "Safety First." He made a plea for more careful automobile driving, saying that more cars hit trains than trains hit cars. Mr. Dickinson also said that many accidents are the result of three people sitting in the front seat. Speakers' Bureau will go on a drive next week to urge more careful driving and to tell about the essay contest on Safety First.

Press Club Sets Date for Banquet

To elect new officers and to decide the date of the banquet was the purpose of the meeting of the City Press club last Thursday at 4 o'clock in the journalism room at Technical high. Representatives from North, Tech, South, Creighton, and Central were present. Anne Rothenberg of Tech, retiring president, presided.

The new officers elected were Mary Bassinger of South, president; Milo Sorenson of North, vice-president; and Ethel Ackerman '27 of Central, secretary.

May 17 was decided upon as the date for the banquet, which will be held at South. The price per plate is 60 cents. All journalism students and those interested in the newspaper work are invited to attend.

Special invitations will be sent to Abraham Lincoln and Thomas Jefferson high schools of Council Bluffs to attend the banquet.

Sportsman Relates Unusual Experience When Interviewed

"What is the most exciting experience I have ever had? That's rather hard to say since I've had so many," smiled Morris Ackerman, prominent Isaak Walton league member and Cleveland sportsman, when interviewed at the Ad-Sell Restaurants last Monday evening.

"Once when I was hunting big horn sheep in Nova Scotia, I was standing on the top of a snow-covered peak about a half mile in height. All of a sudden my rifle slipped out of my hand and when I tried to grab it, I fell and went tumbling down the cliff head over heels. About two seconds and a half a mile later I hit the bottom, my rifle coming in a bad second, four yards behind. Of course, snow and sharp rocks are rather hard on the constitution, but fortunately mine is tough so I suffered no ill results."

Mr. Ackerman has toured over all of the United States and Canada, making several moving pictures of his own experiences and those of his companions while fishing and hunting. At the Ad-Sell meeting last Monday evening, he showed three very interesting films about muskellunge fishing and big horn sheep hunting in Canada and duck hunting in the United States.

"I've traveled and hunted in England and Europe, but the best hunting and fishing and scenery of all can be found right here on the North American continent," he emphatically declared.

Mr. Ackerman is editor and publisher of the Ackerman Sportsmen's Guide, editor of a hunting and fishing column of The Cleveland Press, and a writer for a newspaper syndicate. His slow drawing nasal voice gives emphasis and a touch of humor to everything he says.

Slugfest Goes to Tech Team

Grayson Gets Three-Bagger, Single—Fouts Gleans Two Hits

Final Count Is 12 to 3

The traditional saying that when Central meets Tech something interesting is bound to take place, was true with a vengeance in last Tuesday's mix on the Thirty-second and Dewey diamond. Tech won, and by a decisive margin of 12 to 3, but the swiftest was none the less interesting.

Slugging prevailed. No less than two home runs and three triple baggers were poled out. Two Central pitchers were knocked out of the box, as was one Tech man, and a total of sixteen hits was piled up. Not a little action for a seven inning game! Junior Grayson, the fourth hurler F. Y. Knapple has used this season, was in the box for Central during the first five and one-third innings and performed well until the fatal fifth when the Techsters decided a riot was in order and poled out seven runs and four hits. Bruner relieved him, but flung 'em over for less than an inning.

As the sixth period opened, Leon Fouts was sent in. Retiring the first two up, the Eagle captain looked pretty good. Then Walthers advanced to the bat. Nonchalantly he poled a high one clear out to the boulevard and trotted around the bases while Grayson was searching for the pill. With seeming ease, Mosgrey, the next batter, repeated the feat, but Tomasek was thrown out, Nielsen to Solomon.

The Purple tallies came in the sixth. To the wonderment of all, Nielsen and Tollander both smacked out singles, and Grayson's triple brought both in. Fouts in turn drove in Grayson, and the Central rally ended.

Feminine Diamonders Have Initial Workout

The initial senior-sophomore baseball practice was held in 425 after school Monday. As only two seniors were present, two mixed teams were picked, and these were headed by Margaret Thomas and Dorothy Zimmerman. Dorothy's team came out on the big end of the score in the short practice game played. Elly Jacobsen, Margaret Glow, Anna Hendrickson, and Ruth Chadwell showed good batting ability.

'AIM OF AMATEUR BASEBALL IS TO ENCOURAGE THE YOUNGER PLAYER'

"Our amateur baseball leagues are not organized for the purpose of developing professional ball players, but to give the youngsters in the game an opportunity to show their wares and develop their talents," was the explanation of the purpose of the Mundy Baseball association given by John T. Dennison, secretary, last Wednesday in his office at the city hall. "Dynamo," as he is popularly known, explained that amateur games of all kinds help the young fellow who would otherwise be a habitual patron of some pool hall or "of cars and girls."

"We are above all encouraging the youngsters, because they are the material for our class A ball teams of tomorrow, although the association gains no financial aid from any of the slower leagues," stressed Mr. Dennison. "We reward the champs of all leagues by a trip to Kansas City, even the Sunday school winners going."

Teams Johnny has managed have won their league pennants every year except one, the unlucky year being his last season as an active manager when his team, the Bowen Furnitures, bowed to the Murphy-Did-Its in 1921. Besides attaining this honor, "Dynamo" managed the Luxus team which played for the world's amateur championship title at Cleveland before a crowd of 125,000, the largest ever to witness any athletic event with the possible exception of the Dempsey-Tunney fight.

Mr. Dennison began his own baseball career at the age of ten. He became a pro in 1911, starting out with Shenandoah in the M-I-N-K league. From there he went to the state league and was afterwards sold to St. Joe in the Western. But he failed to report and was suspended for five years. However, his interest was turning to amateur ball which was at that time just coming into vogue, and he never cared to take the trouble to be reinstated.

For some years he managed and played with various Omaha amateur teams and gained such a reputation that he was called the McGraw of Omaha. Becoming supervisor of amateur baseball in 1923, he has developed interest to such an extent that Omaha now has more ball teams in proportion to its population than any other city in the country.

When questioned on the subject of high school and college stars breaking into professional baseball, he said, "Any young fellow of ordinary intelligence is capable of earning $100 a month. The highest salary a rookie in the Western league receives is $150. But the rookie is not sure of his job. I think it best for a college man to wait until he graduates before getting into professional ball. "To take a specific example," he continued, "Jimmy Kaufman, who has been going to Creighton and had the makings of a fine athlete, signed up with Omaha this spring. I see by this morning's paper he has been farmed out to some bush league, and like as not he'll stay there."

"Dynamo" Dennison, as his name implies, is Irish. He has the welfare of amateur athletics in Omaha at heart. Regardless of having only a grammar school education, he speaks faultless English, and one would take him for a college graduate.

North Trims Ears of Knapple's Nine

Both Pitchers Are Sophs—Both Show Good Wares

Allowing but five scattered singles, enough to win an ordinary game, "Ronnie" Bruner, soph hurler, pitched good baseball in spite of a 6-to-1 defeat at the hands of North last Friday on the newly constructed Thirty-second and Dewey diamond. He was forced to bow to Groves, another sophomore, who pitched just a little better ball and who allowed but three bingles to the Purple team.

Junior Grayson was the outstanding performer for Central in the fray. His fielding was letter-perfect, the dusky center fielder safely accepting six attempts. When he came to bat in the seventh as first man up and his team as yet scoreless, he smacked the pill into right field for a long clean single and stretched the bingle to four bases when the North right garden man was unsuccessful in fielding it.

Central's two other bingles of the afternoon were off the bat of "Wes" Laugel, Eagle lead-off man. After fanning in the first inning, Laugel got sore and planted 'em his next two times at bat.

Horace Jones and DeWitt McCreary were both back in the Central lineup for the fray. It was Jones' first combat in two years, although he lettered as a sophomore, he has been unable to play since on account of injuries. McCreary had been absent from school for over two weeks, and it was his first encounter since the pre-season Papillion mix.

Central, Southmen Cross Bats Today

Having been rather unsuccessful in the first round of the city baseball tournament, Coach "Yost" Knapple's diamonders will have a chance today to redeem themselves in their second meeting of the season when they meet the Packers for the second time, at Thirty-second and Dewey. The desire for revenge burns high within the Central men's breasts, as South already has one victory over the Eagles to her credit for this year. The Packers have not dropped a single encounter so far this season.

The Creighton Prepsters meet the Purple diamond crew Tuesday to avenge the two defeats handed to them in 1926. They have only to triumph next week over the Central nine to complete their vengeance, as earlier in the schedule they trimmed Coach Knapple's boys by an 8-to-3 count.

Golfers Drop Initial Meet to South High

Central high's niblick artists lost the first dual meet of the year to South, 7 to 3, last Friday at Dundee golf course. Rodney Bliss saved the Centralites from a shutout by defeating his opponent, 3 to 0, while Wallace Chadwell lost to Johnny Goodman, former city champ, 1 to 0, and Allan Chadwell and Ben Cowdery both lost their matches, 3 to 0.

One point is given to the player who wins the first nine holes, one point to the winner of the last nine holes, and an additional point to the player winning the 18 holes.

This Friday afternoon Central will oppose North in the golf league. The match will be played at the Dundee course at 3:30, and Coach Andrew Nelson plans to use the same men.

Purple Place Third at M-I-N-K Classic

Cackley, Fouts, Chadwell Best Point-Getters for Central

With six of Central's crack track performers competing in the Drake relays in Des Moines, an abbreviated crew of Purple cinder path and field men walked off with third place in the M-I-N-K meet at the State Normal college at Peru last Saturday. They garnered 21 1-6 points, only two markers behind the Falls City aggregation who took second position. The Tecumseh representatives headed the list with 41 points.

Cackley, Fouts, and Chadwell were the outstanding men in the meet. Each of these three placed in two events. Encell tied for second in the pole vault, and Johnson tied for fourth position in this event. Cackley took second in the discus and third in the shot put.

Allan Chadwell came in third in the 880-yard run and fourth in the 220 low hurdles. Another second place was annexed by Fouts in the javelin throw. He also tried for fourth ranking in the high jump.

Central's only position in the 120-yard high hurdles was copied by Norman Carlson. Paul Enger was third man to cross the tape in the gruelling mile run and Wilhelm showed his stuff by completing Central's list of four second places.

Coaches Put Javelin Throw into Discard

At a meeting of the high school coaches held last Monday at the city hall, it was decided that the javelin throw would be abolished in the coming city meet. Because of the danger thought to be involved in this event, most of the coaches were in favor of discontinuing it.

Coach "Papa" Schmidt thinks it best to leave the javelin throw on the list of field events so long as it is still continued in the state meets. The javelin sport was introduced into high schools only about three or four years ago. A new event, the mile relay, was added.

The high school track mentors also decided against having the freshman relays. Although there has been much talk about developing athletes from their first year in prep school, this incentive to frosh runners nevertheless followed the unlucky trail of the javelin throw.

Junior Girls Trim Freshmen Handily
Playing a fast game featured by hard hitting, the junior nine defeated the freshmen Wednesday by a score of 19 to 2. As yet the playing is ragged and there are many trying out for each position.

Eagle Relay Men Fail to Get Place

But School's Baton Passers Make Good Showing in Prelims

In the 18th annual Drake relays held at Des Moines last Saturday, the Purple baton-passing crew failed to place in any of the events they were entered in, the 440, half-mile, or mile relays. They displayed good time in the preliminaries, even though they did not qualify.

Groupings for the 440-yard event put Cedar Rapids, Wichita, and Central in one heat. Cedar Rapids won this in the time of 44.4 seconds, and the Kansas boys were second. Central's time was 45 seconds, which beat the time of the other two heats as the results of these were 46 and 46.5 seconds. Clarinda was the winner of this event.

The preliminaries for the 880-yard run turned out the same way. The Eagle men were in the fastest group again and, though failing to qualify, beat the time of the victors in the other two heats. Wichita ran the distance in 1:35.5, Lincoln was second, and Central last with the time of 1:35. In the other preliminary groups Cedar Rapids made the time of 1:36 and Sioux City, 1:36.6. In the finals Cedar Rapids led the field and established a new Drake record of 1:32.7, knocking a tenth of a second off the former mark.

Purple hopes in the mile preliminaries were shattered by the fleet legs of Davis, dusky Carroll, Ia., man, who offset the ample lead set by "Heinie" Nestor. The colored boy negotiated his distance in 50 seconds flat, while all the Purple men were timed under :54 in the mile relay.

Bluffs Relays Next on Menu

Schmidt Enters Full Quota of Athletes for Games

Purple Should Be High

At last, an opportunity to see Central's trackmen in action! Followers of the cinder path stars will be interested to know that the first local meet of the season will be held in Council Bluffs at Thomas Jefferson field, tomorrow, among various Omaha, Council Bluffs, and other Nebraska and Iowa teams.

The different teams entering will be divided into three classes according to the size of the school and the merit of its teams. Silver loving cups will be presented to the winners of the three classes and medals and ribbons will be given to the individual winners.

Coach "Papa" Schmidt is planning to enter men in all the regular relays and individual events. Central's relay teams and her entries in the dashes and field events have shown that they can more than hold their own in fast competition. At Peru last week Central's team composed of men in the dash and field events copped third place and at Kansas the mile relay team took fourth place.

880-yard relay (four)—Nestor, McNamara, Lieben, Mortensen, Cackley, O'Hanlon.

Two-mile relay (four)—Chadwell, McGrew, Kelley, Enger, Gallup, Fouts.
