FIVE CENTS

'Sound-Off' To Disclose Miss NCOOC

Intermission to Include Appointments of Cadets; Door Prize Is Offered

By Tom Troyer

This year's "Sound-Off," Central ROTC's junior version of the much-heralded Military Ball, will be held November 18 in the Central High ballroom.

The evening will be highlighted by the election of a Miss NCOOC by the ROTC cadets present at the dance. Nominations for this honor were made several weeks ago by members of the Non-Commissioned Officers' club in a secret ballot. The four nominees are Sharon Margolin, Marvel Ann Reynolds, Janice Carman, and Ruth Young.

After this selection is made, Miss NCOOC of last year, Jean Fraser, will present to the newly-elected Miss NCOOC a bouquet of flowers, donated to the military department by the Dundee Florist Shop.

As another feature in the evening's entertainment, Captain Pillsbury, the new head of Central's ROTC department, will announce the non-commissioned officers' promotions. Captain Pillsbury will also announce the commissioned officers' appointments, to be effective until the Military Ball.

To add a further spark to the gala entertainment of this affair, the Brodkey Jewelry company is donating a door prize.

Richard Lorimer is in charge of planning and arranging the details connected with the "Sound-Off." Assisting him are four major committees: the program committee, whose chairman is Brooks Poley; the decoration committee, whose chairman is Lawrie Pollack; the food committee, whose chairman is Darrell Cox; and the ticket and invitation committee, whose chairman is Dick Hendrickson.

Though only ROTC cadets will be allowed to vote in the Miss NCOOC election, the dance is open to everyone.

Junior Girl Excels in 4-H Club Work

A champion with over 107 ribbons and 11 medals—that's Aloise Hageborn, a member of the 4-H for four years.

Aloise earned the awards for outstanding work in 16 projects including cooking, poultry, sewing, yard beautification, clothing, health, and safety. These projects were exhibited at the County Fair and the State Fair; most of them earned purple and blue ribbons.

Aloise, a junior, was state health champion, poultry champion, and clothing champion. She also received awards from Ak-Sar-Ben for outstanding work and a special award from the Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce for receiving the purple ribbons on exhibits. Last year she went to State Club Week at Lincoln and is planning to go again this year.

This year Aloise exhibited 36 things and received ribbons on all of them. She received several championships again including girls' record champion, and at the State Fair she won 10 ribbons and a medal for judging. Since her team was highest judge, she will leave for Chicago on Thanksgiving morning to judge chickens at National Club Week.

Next year Aloise plans to lead a 4-H club in Douglas County.

Teachers' Helpers Omitted

Omitted from last week's teachers' helpers list were Marie Longo and Ann Paulsen, Miss Angeline Tauchen's helpers, and Karen McKie, Shirley Greenberg, and Dorothy Geffen who help Mrs. Augusta Turpin.

Also omitted were Donna Reynolds and Barbara Mettlen who work with Miss Martina Swenson, and Judy Levine and Shirley Gimple who are helping Miss Alice West.

'Hopalong' Clark Sports Stylish Ten-Gallon Hat

Even Central is being affected by the western fad. W. Edward (Hopalong) Clark has a new hat that's right in style. His new Stetson cowboy model is the latest rage. The reason for this change is unknown, but one guess is that he has been watching his favorite program on television from five to six every Sunday afternoon.

Any day now one may expect to see cowboy boots and hear strains of ukulele music coming from Room 337.

Juniors File For County Election

Boys' and Girls' County election, to be held November 30, is open to any junior with at least a 3 average and good citizenship. He may file with his or her counselor on November 9 and 10 for one of the following county offices: commissioner, clerk, register of deeds, assessor, clerk of district court, treasurer, judge, superintendent of schools, surveyor, coroner, or sheriff.

The candidates will be announced November 16, and on November 20 they will be elected in their individual homerooms. The following day they will be formally sworn in by Vice-Principal Andrew Nelsen, the school's notary public.

Each student elected to an office will represent Central at Boys' and Girls County at the Douglas County Courthouse on November 30. They will spend the day observing the department which they have been chosen to head.

The purpose of this election is to study county government. The plan was originated last year by Nebraska's Chief Justice Simmons, and it proved so successful that it is being tried another year.

Work of Former Student Shown in Art Exhibition

The Greenwich Villagers art club will sponsor a traveling exhibition on November 13-25 in Room 249. The display is prepared by the Traphagen School of Fashion in New York City and will feature the work of a former Central student, Toulia Adams '49. She has attended the school for one year.

Mari Ann Feller heads the arrangement committee for the exhibition. Members are Scott Chiles, Jergen Barber, Jackie Heath, Janet Johnson, and Ed Oathout.

The club invites Central students to come in and see it.

Register Members Will Visit Lincoln For Press Meeting

Come Friday, November 17, and 32 Central High journalists will be Lincoln, Nebraska, bound. They will represent the Register at this year's Nebraska High School Press association, to be held at the Capitol City on November 17-18.

The Register staff will lead a 50 minute panel discussion on "Heads That Tell the Story." Talks on headline writing will be given the first 35 minutes; the remaining 15 minutes will be devoted to specific questions from the floor.

Editors Panel Members

Bill Buffett, managing editor of the Register, will head panel members Sally Nevel, editor-in-chief; Gary Fuller, sports editor; and Jim Olsen and Dick Hendrickson, make-up editors.

Talks on editorial and business aspects of yearbooks, mimeographed publications and newspapers are scheduled for Friday afternoon and Saturday morning.

Contents in newswriting, journalistic vocabulary, headline writing, sports writing, feature writing, copy reading, and editing will be open to all.

Others Attend Also

The Centralites attending the convention include Myra Abramson, Sandra Brown, Marilyn Bryans, Bill Buffett, Lois Deane, Harris Dienstfrey, Jo Ann Doyle, Jim Farber, Bonnie Fenson, Gary Fuller, and Alice Gilinsky.

Others going are Carolyn Graves, Dick Hendrickson, Elaine Hess, Shirley Johnson, Guinter Kahn, Mary Sue Lundt, Janet Manger, Alan Marer, Arlene Moskowitz, Sally Nevel, Jim Olsen, Lawrie Pollack, and Mary Renna.

Sally Solomon, Toby Southern, Howard Vann, Marlene Willie, and Barbara Witte will also attend.

Central Art Students View Miniature European Rooms

Globes the size of cranberries, books smaller than postage stamps.

These were the most fascinating articles to Central art students last week as they viewed the Thorne Miniature European Rooms at Joslyn Art Museum. The thirty rooms were copied from historical rooms in Europe by Mrs. James Ward Thorne in the scale of one inch to one foot.

All work was done by skilled craftsmen — furniture, rugs, even paintings and carvings are done in great detail. Each room is insured for $5,000.

Senior Class Candidates Hold Three-day Campaign

Modern Cafeteria Serves Students

Between 1,000 and 1,100 people buy their lunches in Central's new modern cafeteria each day. These lunches consist of at least a main dish, vegetable, fruit, milk, and bread and butter.

In preparing last Friday's lunch 24 pounds of macaroni and 45 pounds of cheese, 40 pounds of fish, 80 pounds of meat, 500 pounds of potatoes, 400 salads, and 80 loaves of bread were used. In addition 400 pieces of cake, 1,600 half-pints of milk, and 400 Sweden cream cones were sold.

A great deal of equipment is needed to prepare this much food. The modernization of the cafeteria this year has added many new features to the kitchen. Each item sold is prepared in a special division of the kitchen. These divisions are equipped with stainless steel sinks and cabinets with wooden tops.

The desserts are made in two large mixers. Twelve large ovens take care of all the baking, and steamed foods are cooked in a kettle which has a diameter of over four feet. A large electric potato peeler peels about 500 pounds of potatoes every day.

An electric dishwasher and garbage disposal have also been added this year.

Student Ushering Task Headed by Mel Hansen

The job of seeing that the right number of ushers go to the right place at the right time is the job this year of Mel Hansen.

A large number of the ushers are obtained from the ROTC department. Jack Lewis, working with Mel, is assigned the task of organizing cadet ushers. Cadets receive a ribbon if they have ushered five or more times during the period of a school year.

The cadets are assigned in their job by members of the Student Council.

Ushers are used not only for school programs, but also for many programs held at the city auditorium and Joslyn Memorial.

So far the fall play and open house have been the only events which have needed ushers.

Council Committee Plans Open House

Wednesday evening, November 8, the doors of Central High were open for the annual open house. The Student Council sponsors the event and this year the arrangements were made by Joyce Jensen and the members of the courtesy committee.

Many parents inspected the cafeteria to see the redecorating and modernizing which has been completed there recently. Coffee, milk, cake, and homestyle were served.

The clarinet quartet, including Peter Weil, Frankie Tirro, Arnold Epstein, and Larry Schwartz, provided entertainment.

The Student Council and some of the homeroom representatives acted as hosts and hostesses for the parents. Homeroom representatives who assisted the Council members were Warren Hopson, Max Bear, Ned Sackett, Dick Lundgren, Janice Farrell, Jeannie Loomis, Joyce Wright, Judith Lundt, Suzanne Sorensen, Annie Thompson, and Virginia Lueth.

Also assisting that night were Carol Mieklin, Nancy Farber, Barbara Ruback, Jean Innis, Corrine Houser, Karen McKie, Mary Cosford, and Dona Wells.

Debaters Compete In Tech Contest

Central's debaters invaded Technical High school, November 4, for the first practice tournament of the year. The tourney is held annually at the beginning of the debate season to allow the students in the Omaha area to discover the weaknesses of their cases and to provide them with some experience for the important meets later in the year.

Central entered eight teams, four affirmative and four negative. The teams included Tom Troyer-Pete Weil, Laura Reynolds-Byron Blanchard, Don Madgett-Ed Hulac, Franklin Pepper-Barry Veret, Mary Little-Irene Brown, Mary Counsel-Max Baer, Jerry Brodkey-Manny Goldberg, and Lois Shapiro-Doris Raduziner.

Serving as judges were Karen McKie, Dave Taylor, Jerry Brodkey, Joe Armstrong, Al Marer, and Marge Shapiro.

Farris, Graves, Killion Keerans, Nelson File For President's Office

By Carolyn Graves

The brightly-colored tags, posters, hats, and blackboard art that suddenly blossomed forth last Friday was the beginning of senior election campaigns. To open the campaign, the candidates were introduced in homeroom Friday. For three days—Friday, Monday, and Tuesday—the halls were alive with campaign stunts, but outside of school, there could be no advertising or bribes such as parties or giving out cakes or cookies. No campaigning was to be done at any dance or gathering.

The school was rather quiet Wednesday since that was the day all seniors voted in their homerooms in the primary election. The three candidates for each office with the most votes will run in the final election.

Seniors filed for their office on October 23, 24, 25. To file for an office, a senior must be in the top third of the class and must not carry a ten point activity.

Presidential Duties

Those up for president are Ray Farris, Carolyn Graves, Don Keerans, Jim Nelsen, and Jeanne Killion. The official duties of the president are to preside over the meetings of the executive board, composed of all senior officers, to preside at senior homerooms, to be master of ceremonies at the senior banquet, and to preside at the graduation ceremony. Jackie Gaskill, Dick Hendrickson, Shirley Johnson, and Jane Madden are hopeful of becoming the vice-president who steps into the president's shoes when he is unable to fulfill his duties.

Candidates for secretary, who takes minutes at the executive board meetings, are Chris Crowder, Orville Menard, Mary Sue Lundt, Lois Ostronic, and Marlene Willie. All financial affairs of the class will be handled by Marilyn Bryans, Harris Dienstfrey, Jim Olsen, Lawrie Pollack, or Mary Renna.

Bob Burns, Gary Fuller, Robert Hill, and Dave Taylor have filed for boy sergeant-at-arms. The post of girl sergeant-at-arms will be filled by Myra Abramson, Janet Manger, Anita Reznicek, Dorothy Seig, Margie Shapiro, Joan Sokolof, or Tobianne Southern. The sergeants are on the executive board and help with any business in senior homerooms.

Finals November 22

After the field is narrowed down by the primary election, the remaining finalists will form tickets and begin campaigning again on November 17. As before, the excitement will last three days and it will be even more hectic than the first campaign.

The big day will be November 22, when all seniors vote for the officers of their choice.

Someone has to be in charge of the plans and that someone is Miss Irene Eden, senior sponsor. Working with her is the election committee, which assigns blackboards and bulletin boards, keeps a check on the campaigning, and distributes and counts the ballots. Chairman of this committee is Joe Armstrong. Members are Marlene Abbott, Jane Beber, Darlene Book, Bill Buffett, George Cogan, and Marshall Forbes. Others are Delia Gardner, Betty Hamilton, Virginia Pearson, Ken Richards, Doug Srb, and Kleith Weideman.

Former Student Honored

A former student of Miss Mary Angood has made quite a name for himself in the world of art. He is Raymond Wendell '36, who has just had his painting "Dream World" chosen to hang in the Metropolitan Museum show, "American Painting Today—1950," from December 9 to February 26. His work was one of 300 chosen from 7,500 entries, which were judged by two juries.

After attending Central, Raymond was graduated from the Yale School of Fine Arts with cum laude honors. He now teaches art at the University of Omaha.

Rehearsals Progressing for Gala Opera, 'Sweethearts'

By Myra Abramson and Sally Solomon

Rehearsals for the Victor Herbert opera, "Sweethearts," have been progressing rapidly for the past week under the direction of Mrs. Elsie Howe Swanson. The opera, which will be presented by the a cappella choir in the Central High auditorium, December 7, 8, and 9, is a fast moving comedy with the color, romance, and freshness of good music that will help to make the opera a thoroughly delightful show.

The story takes place in Bruges, Belgium, where the Princess Sylvia, played by Alice Middlekauff, had been carried by the politician Mikel, portrayed by Joe Smith. He abandoned the baby princess, who is the rightful heir to the throne of Zilania, in the tulip garden of Dame Paula, played by Janet Page, who operates the White Geese Laundry.

Paula Raises Daughters

Dame Paula, known as Mother Goose, raises Sylvia as her daughter, although she has six daughters of her own known as the "White Geese." The parts of the six daughters, Lisette, Clairette, Babette, Jeanette, ToINETTE, and Nanette are taken by Betty Steele, Darlene Montaux, Dona Wells, Carol Tietgen, Patsy Kavan, and Carol Combs respectively.

Mikel, after discovering the throne of Zilania is about to be offered to Prince Franz, played by Bill Burke, conspires to restore the throne to Sylvia and returns to the laundry in the disguise of a monk.

Meanwhile Prince Franz, traveling incognito, falls in love with Sylvia but finds a rival in the man Sylvia is betrothed to, Lieutenant Karl, portrayed by Jim DuBois.

Mikel finds his plans are endangered by the schemes of Hon. Percy Algernon Slingsby, Petrus von Tromp, and Aristide Caniche, who wish to purchase Prince Franz's estates in Zilania for their own purposes. Bill Buffett, Harlan Peckham, and Philip Abramson portray the parts of these three plotters.

Complications Set In

More complications arise when Jean Madden as Lianae, a milliner of Bruges, takes temporary employment in the laundry of the "White Geese" and is mistaken by Mikel and Slingsby for the lost princess. In the end, however, Sylvia's real identity is established, and all live happily ever after.

Some of the famous songs sung in the opera are "There Is Magic in a Smile," "Sweethearts," "Every Lover Must Meet His Fate," and "Pretty as a Picture."

New Time Clock Installed

Central's teachers now find it easier to check in and out as a result of a time clock in the office. The new clock is fully automatic. When a card is put in the top, the time is stamped without pulling a lever. The exact time is shown on the front of the clock.

THE LEADS OF "SWEETHEARTS"—Alice Middlekauff, Jim DuBois, Bill Burke, and Jean Madden.

Words of Great Men Should Remind Us--

Armistice Day—November 11, 1950
 Wut's words to them whose faith an' truth
 On War's red techstone rang true metal,
 Who ventured life an' love an' youth
 For the great prize o' death in battle?
 —J. R. Lowell

 We'll grasp firm hands and laugh at the old pain
 When it is peace. But until peace, the storm,
 The darkness and thunder and the rain.
 —Charles Sorley

 There never was a good war or a bad peace.
 —Benjamin Franklin

 For him who had joined in that game overseas
 Where death stood to win:
 Though his memory would borrow
 A brightness therefrom not to die on the morrow.
 —Thomas Hardy

 I would that wars should cease;
 I would the globe from end to end
 Might sow and reap in peace —
 —Alfred Tennyson

Give it a little thought!

Let Your Motto Be: "Smile, Smile, Smile"

Many times, as you have probably noticed, the first impression that you receive of someone is likely to be the one that remains.

If, on being introduced to someone, that person has a sour expression and an unfriendly tone of voice, you are not likely to consider him a pleasant fellow. If, on the other hand, he greets you with a warm smile and friendly handshake, chances are that your reaction will be to consider him a pretty good Joe.

Let's not kid ourselves. First impressions are important. All through high school and college, you will be in a position where you'll be constantly meeting new people; teachers, students, and, in some cases, employers. In these meetings, that first impression is a key to future success.

Recognizing the value of a good first impression, the next step is to put into practice these precepts. When you're being introduced to someone, DON'T BE A GROUCH. Give 'em that world-famous smile that everyone knows you have and greet 'em with a good solid handshake.

For Freshman Only

Absence checks! Tardy checks! Even seniors get confused!

Here's the newest wrinkle: Immediately upon returning to school after an absence, armed with an excuse written by one of your parents, go to the nurse's office—that is, if you were absent because of illness. After she has okayed your excuse, go to Mrs. Graser's office, right next to the regular office. Mrs. Graser will give you your absence check.

If you are absent because of an appointment or business, go directly to Mrs. Graser's office. Be sure to have every teacher from whose class you have been absent sign your check, and be sure to turn your check in to your last teacher. Try to get to school early on the day after you have been absent. There is usually a line of students waiting.

If you fail to reach your homeroom before the last bell rings, report to your counselor's office. If you come to school after 10:30, go through the same process you would if you were absent.

Introducing---

Harold Eggen

If you see a tall, blond, good-looking Biology teacher strolling down the halls, you're sure to have found Mr. Harold Eggen. Besides teaching about the birds and bees, Mr. Eggen is also the newly appointed senior boys' counselor. He takes his new job seriously, and is diligently trying to become acquainted with every boy in the senior class. The large number of boys makes this a difficult job. Of course he has numerous other problems. He has to contend with the boy who thinks it is smart to try to take a short ride on his scooter-bike during the four minute break between classes, and there is always the fellow who thinks it's in vogue to receive a tardy check every day. Mr. Eggen says that his one hope this year is to help the boys realize how important their high school work really is. He believes that a person can't really accomplish anything without a good education.

During the war, Mr. Eggen was a member of the Armed Guard, a gunnery crew on a merchant ship in the U. S. Navy, where he was commissioned a lieutenant (j.g.). Mr. Eggen saw active duty in the Pacific and the Philippine Islands; he also did counselor work in the two U. S. hospitals. He jokingly stated that his life in the Navy was typical of the musical, "South Pacific".

Mr. Eggen was previously interested in such hobbies as photography and golf, but for the past few years he hasn't had much time for either. He has been too busy building his own home, now nearly completed.

Mr. Eggen has two more problems. One is Elaine, his 13-year-old daughter, and the other is his four-year-old son, Rick. He believes that they're as big a problem as his counseling job at Central. Rick is the cause of one of the Eggen's most embarrassing moments. Last Christmas Rick was happily riding around in the kiddies' train at Toyland in Brandeis Store. When he was told that he had ridden long enough and it was time to go home, he refused to budge from the train and began to scream at the top of his lungs. A very embarrassed father carried a very unhappy little boy home that evening.

Besides his work at Central, Mr. Eggen has taught night classes at the University of Omaha. He is an active member of the National Science Teachers' group, and the Nebraska Academy of Science. He is also interested in the Junior Academy of Science which he encourages Central students to join in connection with the Science Club at Central.

Mr. Eggen's pet peeve is seeing pretty girls put on their make-up during lab periods, but a ready response to what he likes especially is, "pretty girls".

Tips for Teens

We've been reading a book on dating, and we'd like to pass on a few of the tips we've come across.

Aren't you glad you live in America? How would you like to have your parents chaperone you every place you go? Well, that's the way it is in other countries. Time was, you only knew the girl or boy who lived next door, but now everyone can get around more and meet new people almost any place.

To all you gals who have been in doubt about whether it's proper to give a boy you have just met your address and your phone number, it's O.K. If you're sure he's the type of a fellow you would care to date, it's not correct, though, to go out alone with him until he has met your parents. You should invite him over for a home date so you and your family can get better acquainted with him.

You shouldn't go on a date with a fella or gal you don't like, just to be seen around. This merely shows bad judgment. On the other hand, your friends should not influence you as to whom to date. Some teenagers, even though they like the person who asks them out, will not accept the invitation because their friends have turned thumbs down on him or her. But just remember, what you think is the important thing, so have the courage and poise to stick up for the fella or gal you'd like to date.

Places to go on dates are always a problem, but it won't be if you go about it right. Don't urge your girl to go places her parents wouldn't approve. Such high-jackin' tactics will make you rate mighty low with your favorite gal.

Double dating is always fun. First, when you invite your girl, tell her it's a double date and mention the names of your companions. Don't steal the other gal's date. It puts you in wrong with others, who will certainly hear about your behavior.

We hope some of these hints have been helpful to you. Be seein' you next time, with some more Tips for Teens.

Bye now,
Toby n' Mary

Tops In Entertainment

on the ice

If you are tired of movies and yearn for something new, November offers a variety of welcome changes.

Do you know where birthday cakes, cup-cakes, and gingerbread boys are coming to life? They're at the Ak-Sar-Ben Coliseum to participate in the "Ice Follies of 1951". They will continue to salute the baking industry through November 12 in this, the most superior and colorful of the Shipstad and Johnson ice shows.

on the stage

Do the titles of "So In Love", "Wunderbar", and "Why Can't You Behave?" strike a chord of remembrance for you? You can refresh your memory when "Kiss Me Kate" brings its music and comedy to the Omaha theater from November 28 to December 2. A dozen other beguiling Cole Porter tunes highlight this old Broadway companion of "South Pacific".

Do you know how you might see Cinderella with two male stepsisters or maybe a dancer disguised as a dog? A ticket to the Sadler's Wells ballet on November 22 is a chance to dwell in a land of glittering make-believe. The famous old tales of "Don Quixote", "Hamlet", and "The Sleeping Beauty," are included in the repertoire of this great British company. Typically British is the "Dante Sonata", a study of the confusion and agony of the war years. To make it more unusual, this number is danced barefoot.

Heading the company is Margot Fonteyn, one of the world's greatest prima ballerinas; also starring are Moira Shearer and Robert Helpmann, who co-starred in the movie, "The Red Shoes".

on the printed page

"Nobody was more surprised than I (unless it were Mike) the day we were married, twelve days after we had met." Thus Ruth McKenney begins "Love Story", the story of her marriage—a marriage which started in 1937 in a whirlwind, bounced gaily along in pre-war Greenwich Village, matured in war-time Washington, nearly blew up in Hollywood, and now the five Lymans are a true family.

At times this story by the author of "My Sister Eileen" is uproariously funny, and at times it causes a catch in the throat. It always carries a love of life and a straight-forward facing of reality.

If you enjoy a fast-moving, entertaining comedy, be sure to read "Love Story."

Central Profile

Letter Man

Mel Hansen

A man of letters is Mel Hansen - - - in more ways than one. Both scholastically and athletically, Mel has become a prominent figure at Central. Being a member of the Student Council, a representative to Boys' State, and a two year member of the O-Club are just a few examples of his accomplishments.

Although Mel shines in many fields, his athletic achievements are the most outstanding, for he is the proud possessor of five letters, two in football, two in baseball, and one in basketball. Mel was All-City in baseball last year, and received All-City and All-Sstate mention in football.

The sports world is not new to him, however; for he has been an enthusiastic fan and participant since he was given his first football at the age of two. Then, when his dad presented him with his first baseball glove just one year later, his future was assured.

Mel is not only an old hand as an athlete, but also as a celebrity. While in grade school, his champion football team received many honors—even to the note of having its picture in the paper.

His promising future was nearly halted once, when a mighty kick by ten-year-old Mel sent a stray football hurtling toward a window against which a teacher was leaning. The glass wasn't shattered, but the nerves of the indignant teacher were, and the incident ended in a near catastrophe. Since that time, Mel has become a more careful individual - - - it's safer that way.

Although sports have always been his chief interest, Mel once found a few other occupations appealing. Raised on a farm, he decided that farm animals were just too tame, and he developed an overpowering desire to see some real, live bears. When the first one he saw tried to climb into the car with him, he quickly changed his mind, deciding that perhaps farm animals were better after all.

His experience with farm work began early, but his interest was rather shortlived. Although his parents objected to his innocent exhibition of milking a cow through a fence, Mel didn't lose his confidence. In fact it wasn't until he was ten and a tractor he was driving went out of control, causing the destruction of various farm equipment, that he finally decided to confine his farm work to summer vacation, and devote his time to his real interests - - - sports.

Mel plans to attend the University of Nebraska next year, and after graduation, he hopes to play professional baseball.

Mel, known to some as the strong, silent type, loves to eat, and says that he could live forever on strawberry malts and hamburgers.

He likes to see girls in sweaters and skirts but definitely objects to short hair - - - that is, too short.

And oh, yes, if in the near future, you can't find Mel playing basketball, baseball, or football, you might look for him at Ak-Sar-Ben. He likes to ice skate.

Then Who Makes "Ones"?

I think that I shall never see,
A grade as lovely as a three.
A "three" that means I've passed the course
That takes away all past remorse—
Fives are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a "three".

What Would Have Happened

If a certain table in library had gotten caught with Treats (Halloween was over last week for most people)?

If Joyce Jensen had gotten caught dumping the ashcans on Halloween?

If Chuck Carter had shown up for his date Saturday night?

If the teachers had forgotten to come back from vacation (wishful thinking)?

If Barbara Witte ever got a 5?

Now is the time for all students of Central High to check into the requirements for entrance into the college of their choice.

Ordinarily, the requirements for graduation from Central, plus well selected electives cover the general requirements of most universities and colleges. However, many specialized schools ask for more units than others. To learn of these definite requirements, a student should consult the school's catalogue or talk to a representative from that school.

The general minimum requirements for most colleges and universities are as follows: 1, graduation from an accredited high school; 2, completion of fifteen units of specified work; 3, completion of three years of English (in many eastern colleges this implies four years' work); 4, high scholastic standing some schools require that the students rank in the upper quartile of the class; some, the upper fifth; some ask for an average of 3; others give examinations to applicants of lower rank; 5, recommendation from the principal of character and personality.

Those students who are as yet undecided as to which college to attend should consult their counselors and read over the catalogues of various colleges. Application for entrance should be made some time early in the senior year by writing to the Director of Admissions of the school.

General requirements of cross sections of those colleges and universities most attended by Central graduates are found in the Purple and White Handbook.

Miss Fawthrop at New Teaching Job

Miss Grace Fawthrop, former Central teacher, is serving as Dean of Girls in the San Marino Hall School for Girls in South Pasadena, California. Ninety-one girls of junior high and high school age attend the high school.

Teaching only one class, English X, in which there are seven girls, Miss Fawthrop has supervision of study periods. She also chaperones groups of girls from the school to operas and other events in Los Angeles.

Miss Fawthrop still has her home in Orange, California, where she spends weekends.

New Students From All Over the Country

The list of new students at Central, who have registered since September 22, include pupils from all over the country.

Several new students have moved here from Colorado. They are Macie Lanier Caldwell and Bert Zampese from Denver. Ann Strang and Kent Strang have moved to Omaha from Edina, Minnesota. Richard Churchill is a new student from Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. Henry Saunsock has transferred from Macy, Nebraska, and Nedra Mulleneaux is a new student from Oceanside, California.

Carole Ann Okun moved to Omaha from Long Island, New York, and Alexander Bernhard comes to Central from Salisbury, Pennsylvania. Jerry Fitzsimmons from Minneapolis, Minnesota, and Barbara Thomas from Scottsbluff are the newest arrivals to Central.

Snakes Get Feature In Activity Assembly

"Your Friends the Snakes," a unique educational program full of interest, inspiration, and humor, presented by Elmer and Lew Johnson in an activities assembly on November 16, will feature about 75 live snakes, lizards, toads, tarantulas, black widow spiders, and other creatures.

The program is part of an educational drive to acquaint the American people with true facts about wild life.

After this program was presented to other high schools around the country, people in the audience, who were formerly afraid of snakes, were so convinced by the speakers that they put on a nice snake-charming act in connection with the lecture.

Alumnus Jack Wolfe Attains Leading Role

Jack Wolfe '49 will play the role of Homer in "The Warrior's Husband" at William and Mary College, Williamsburg, Virginia.

Last semester Jack, who is the only boy from Nebraska attending the school, was one of 79 boys on the dean's honor roll.

While at Central, Jack participated in many school activities and had a lead in Central's production "The Man Who Came To Dinner."

Club News

Colleens Sell Popularity

"Popularity Plus" is what the Colleens are advertising this week. The members of the tea committee are selling pocket edition books called "Popularity Plus" for 20 cents a copy. The money raised from this project will go into the funds of the adopt-a-family committee of Colleens. This book is considered one of the best written on the subject of popularity.

Membership Drive Started

The Junior Red Cross Council is sponsoring a membership drive November 13-17. Homeroom representatives are handling the collection of enrollment money. Every Central student is expected to join. Each student enrolling will receive a membership card and a tag.

Clubs Hold Joint Meetings

Contrary to last year when the clubs convened separately, Junior Town Meeting and the National Forensic League are holding joint meetings this year. Joe Armstrong, N.F.L. president, presides one month and Tom Troyer, J.T.M. head, takes over the next month.

In their last meeting the clubs discussed methods of writing original oratory and announced that the rough drafts of orations for the American Legion oratorical contest must be in by December 1.

Anyone interested in entering the contest with a speech based on the Constitution should see Miss Marian Mortensen in Room 329.

Hansen Heads O-Club

Mel Hansen is the newly-elected president of the O-Club. The other officers elected last week are vice president, a tie between Jack Lee and Joe Prucka; secretary, Eddie Handelman; treasurer, Don Sirles; and sergeants-at-arms, Bob Mancuso and Leonard Rosen.

French Choir Organized

Arrangements are under way for the organization of the French choir under the direction of Frankie Tirro. About 65 people have signed up, but the number probably will be decreased when rehearsal dates and other meetings are straightened out. As the plans stand now, rehearsals will be twice a month on every second and fourth Tuesday.

Anyone who likes to sing and is a member of the French club is eligible to belong. Choir members sing their French songs at the various meetings of the French club and the Alliance Francaise.

Spanish Club Elects

The Inter-American club elected officers for the 1950-51 school year last week. The new officers included Bill Nielson, president; Louis Pantano, vice president; Corinne Houser, secretary; and Wilma Tschirley, treasurer. The new sergeants-at-arms are Joe Gaeta and Jackie Young.

Choir Sings Indian Songs

Thirty members of Central High's a cappella choir, under the direction of Mrs. Elsie Howe Swanson, sang November 2 over KOWH on the program, "We March with Faith."

The choir members sang two Indian tribal numbers, one, "The Victory Song" of the Pawnee Indians, and the other, "Sun Worshippers," a Zeuni ceremonial song. Johnny Vana, accompanying the numbers on his drums, provided a background of tomtoms. Bill Burke sang two solos, "Pale Moon," and the "Omaha Indian Prayers."

Chessmen Cop Meet; Four Boys Get Prizes

Central's four aces of the chess-board recently swept the field in the intercity high school chess tournament held at the Y.M.C.A. last Saturday. Don Madgett '54 took the top spot with six straight wins. Dave Schenken '54, Mike Bleicher '53, and Sandy Bernard '53 also placed in the tournament.

Prizes for the three top places totaled $1.50. Seventy-five cents was awarded for first place, 50 cents for second, and 25 cents for third.

Hildegarde Begins Show at Tech High After Colorful Arrival

Can you imagine yourself swathed in platinum mink, touring the country in a Cadillac limousine? Behind you on the road is a huge pastel-colored Mack wardrobe truck with your name in big letters on the side. In another car are your secretary and your manager followed by three cars with the men in your own personal orchestra.

The "incomparable" Hildegarde arrived in Omaha last Friday at the head of just such a caravan. Hildegarde, world famous singer and pianist, was brought here by the Chamber of Commerce, Women's Division. She appeared at a benefit bazaar and gave a concert at Technical High school. Proceeds from both events went to the Childrens Memorial hospital.

"My mother found my unusual first name in a novel, but it was Gus Edwards, the man who discovered me, who suggested that I drop my last name," Hildegarde said in an interview Friday. "I have never used my last name since."

Asked to what she attributed her success, Hildegarde asserted that talent was not enough, but that she attained fame only by patience and perseverance.

"I sing 'Darling Je Vous Aime Beaucoup,' 'The Last Time I Saw Paris,' and 'Suddenly My Heart Sings' every night before I go to bed out of gratitude for the success they have brought me," Hildegarde said.

Miss Clark Receives Pin for Show Case

Gene Sunken '54 has given a silver identification pin for Miss Clark's case. This pin must be worn by those who work in the various occupations at Pearl Harbor. Each occupation has a different style pin. A relative of Gene's sent the pin to him from Pearl Harbor.

Register's Prices Raised to $150

Cost of Photographing, Printing, Engraving Up

Like everything else the cost of printing has gone up until it now costs approximately $150 to publish one issue of the Register. The 1949-1950 Register spent $2660 for the printing of 2000 copies of 18 issues.

Engraving fees of $192.92 and photography fees of $58.50, along with the cost of office supplies, periodicals, and other miscellaneous articles brought the total expenditures to $3180.84 for the year. Receipts from advertisements brought in $1252.43 and an allotment of 90 cents from each S. A. ticket sold totaled $1448.90. Subscriptions and transfers increased the income of the paper to $2735.62. A balance of $576.46 was left from July, 1949, while the July, 1950, balance was $131.24.

The 1950 O-Book received $2554 from the advance sale of 1261 O-Books. Fees from 70 activity pictures, 20 club president pictures, and 18 miscellaneous pictures totaled $757.50. The 385 senior engraving fees equaled $577.50 to bring the total income to $3896.

The printing cost of the 1950 O-Book was $2500. Engraving fees for over 102 pictures and 38 seniors panels were $848.10. The cost of the book's make-up, which included the cover, lining papers, divider sheets, and four snap shot pages was $195.74. The photography cost of $206.24 for 84 pictures made the total expenditures of the 1950 O-Book $3750.56. A balance of $145.44 was left.

Sportlite by Vann

... and so boys, remember that you played for Central High, the best school in Omaha!

Those were the final words that Coach Frank Smagacz had to say to his gridders as a group last Friday night before the players handed in their togs.

Most important though, this coach, and his able assistant, Tom Murphy, had taught the boys real football tactics.

Although the records show three wins and five defeats, Central outplayed most of their opponents but was unable to get the touchdowns or breaks.

Here are two predictions: North will slaughter South this afternoon for the Intercity title, and next year Central's team will pack enough power to explode to top position in the state.

While looking down the football roster, I see that many promising varsity boys are returning for action next season.

There is also a number of able-bodied boys from the reserves eligible to help out.

Here's a cheer for all of Central's cheerleaders. They really pepped things up this year.

Down at the University of Nebraska, Tom Harper and Herb Reese, two Central alumni, are helping the Cornhuskers win many football games.

When the basketball season starts down at U. N., another ex-Centralite, Subby Ruma, will be trying for a position on the cage team.

The grunt and groan boys are at it again! The mighty Eagle grapplers are looking forward to another successful season.

Four Flushers Bowl Over King's Men, Share Lead

After last Wednesday's games, the Central High Boys' Bowling league is tied in knots.

The Four Flushers won two out of three from the King's Men to tie the losers for the top along with the King Pins who won three from the Ten Pins.

In other games the S.S.S.S. team took three games from the hapless Lucky Strikes while the Pinboys were winning two from the Pin Heads.

Sports Staff, Coaches Pick All-Intercity Football Team

Table with two columns: FIRST TEAM and SECOND TEAM, listing players and their schools.

The sports staff, Director of Athletics F. Y. Knapple, Coach Smagacz, and Coach Murphy had little trouble in selecting this year's All-Intercity League football team.

Creighton Prep, outstanding defensive team in the league, placed three men on the mythical eleven.

Chosen from the Hilltop school were John Welch, end; Bernie Hazuka, an aggressive tackle; and Frank Rizzuto, a standout back.

George Mink, the towering end who was the only bright spot of Benson's drab season, was the number one candidate for the wing position.

Selected as the outstanding lineman in the league was Central's Mel Hansen, a unanimous choice at center.

Dewey Wade, crushing Vike runner, was voted outstanding back of the campaign.

Rounding out the line are Charles Bryant, Packer guard, and Central's defensive demon, Joe Prucka.

Due to the absence of T.J. on the Central schedule and their ineligibility for the championship, no members of the Tee Jay squad were considered for this team.

Reserves Hit A. L., South

The Eagle reserves, held scoreless in the first half, bounced back to score two touchdowns and defeat Abraham Lincoln, 13-7, at A. L.'s field on October 25.

The Eagles broke the ice in the third quarter. Andy Cousins smashed through the Lynx line and scampered 50 yards to pay dirt.

A series of passes tied the contest up for the Lynx, as they took to the air after being unable to dent the Eagle forward wall.

With four minutes left in the game, and the score tied at 7-7, the Eagles took the ball and marched down the field to score.

The line play was very good, sparkling in some instances. Coach Harris was satisfied with the improved offense, and the play of the backfield and linemen.

Eagle Frosh Edged, 6-0; Fumble Crucial

Although the Eagle freshman offense sparkled all through the game, South's pigskinners capitalized on one break to score the lone touchdown of the game and win, 6-0, on October 20 at Athletic Field.

South recovered an Eagle fumble on the Central 45-yard line in the second quarter, and rolled to a first and ten on the 35. One more play chalked up five yards, and then came the winning touchdown.

The Lil' Eagles showed a surprisingly strong offense. They constantly moved the ball downfield but were halted every time short of the goal.

Outstanding players for the Eagles were Gene Haman, Chuck Boetel, Terry Moshier, and guards Jerre Brisky, and Anthony Caniglia.

The Central Eagles' reserve football team ended their season with a flash of brilliance as they defeated the South seconds, 20-0, Thursday, November 2, at Athletic Field in South Omaha.

Central's win was sparked by the smooth playing of Mort Wetterling. The hard-charging fullback made two touchdowns as the Eagles won their third game of the season.

After five minutes of the first quarter had gone by, Dale Spindler recovered a South fumble and ran to the Packer 15-yard line before being downed.

In the second quarter, Wetterling intercepted a South aerial and scooted 80 yards to pay dirt.

Central's final tally came late in the fourth quarter. The Eagles were scrimmaging on their own 20-yard line when Mickey Skinner handed the ball to Wetterling, who tore through the line and kept going until he crossed the goal line, 80 yards away.

Coach Smagacz Given Cup at Pep Assembly

Coach Smagacz and the football team received fifteen cheers from the student body and the gold cup at Friday's pep assembly.

Joanne Jacobs, president of student Council, introduced Larry Carlson who led the cheers with the assistance of the cheer leaders and pep squad.

The humorous side of the program was furnished with Frank Tirro in his Lower Slobovian attire, a mythical North High tin pan parade, and a picturesque North team portrayed by some of Central's tiniest freshmen.

Wade's Three Touchdowns Lead Vikings Past Eagles

WHOOPI! ... Looks like the end of the line. Mel Hansen and Jack Lee stop North's Bill Englehardt.

Lee Sparkplugs Win Over Lynx

Central's footballers overcame Abraham Lincoln's early 7-0 lead to take a hard-fought game, 21-13, on October 27 at A. L.'s field.

Abraham Lincoln electrified the partisan Council Bluffs crowd on the second play of the game, when Phil Leggio capped his recovery of Jack Taylor's fumble with a 42-yard run to pay dirt.

The first quarter ended that way, but the Eagles started an early second period drive which netted them their first touchdown.

Later in the second quarter, fleet Arnold Whitner took the ball on the A. L. 32-yard line and started rambling in the general direction of the Lynx goal.

Central scored a gain in the third period. Field general Lee maneuvered the ball downfield, then tossed to Whitner, who rambled to the Lynx 11-yard line.

Abraham Lincoln closed the gap to eight points in the fourth quarter. Roy Waters passed to Frank Dibiasi from his own 49-yard line, and Dibiasi made it to the Central eight, a gain of 43 yards.

Game captain Ed Handleman was one of the sparkplugs of the Eagle line, along with tackle Bassie Johnson, who played a tremendous defensive game.

The Eagles led in the statistics, too. They chalked up 11 first downs to A. L.'s 9, and 193 yards rushing to A. L.'s 162.

Girl's Sports

Even though Irene Lister doesn't wear lace on her panties, she is gaining fame for her tennis success.

Kay Talty, known for her success in several junior contests last summer, won over Carolyn Abbott, 6-3; 6-3, to lead the intermediate division.

Mary Ann Leo will play one of the three following girls for the consolation position: Kaywin Tomes, Eleanor Rohmeyer, or Julie Vogel.

Badminton is now over with the following doubles teams ranked in the advanced division: JoAnne Holmes and Carole Nygaard; Pat Kidwiler and Joan Peters; Irene Lister and Suzie Bengston.

Big North Back Scores on Two Long Runs, Plunge; Final Game 20-0 Setback

Only one thing bothered the Central Eagles in their game with North, Friday, November 3, at Benson stadium.

That one item was Dewey Wade, the Vikings' line-smashing fullback who defies the adage "the bigger they are, the harder they fall."

Central did a good job of stopping the three speed demons, Bill Englehardt, and the Tannahill brothers, Jerry and Dick.

After the Vikes intercepted an Eagle pass in the opening minutes of the game, Wade took a lateral from Welling and broke around the left side of Central's line.

The Vikings were wide awake on defense too. They intercepted the first four Central passes and converted two of them into Wade's first two scores.

"Devastating Dewey" ended the evening's scoring in the third period when he ran into the right side of Central's line, cut between Jack Lee and Jack Taylor, and steamed 67 yards to pay dirt.

As far as statistics are concerned, the Eagles won everything but the game. They had 13 first downs to eight, 365 total yards to 329, and less penalties.

Central used several surprise plays for the first time this year without much success.

The Eagles ended the season with a record of three wins and five losses.

Freshman Team Drops Last Gridiron Tilt, 15-0

The Central freshman football team ended a disastrous season by losing to Creighton Prep, 15-0, October 31, at Prep.

The Lil' Eagles showed flashes of power both offensively and defensively, but several costly mistakes determined the outcome.

When Central did get the ball, they hung onto it until they were within striking distance of the goal.

Prep got its second score in the third period when an alert Creighton back intercepted a Eugene Haman pass and raced to the goal.

The remaining two points were the result of a safety in the second period.
